Mark Senn (Con., Haldimand) said the food corporation set up under the Wartime Prices and Trade Board was purchasing, at export prices, cattle which would normally go to the United States. This was being done to preserve domestic beef supplies, but he could see no evidence that farmers were sure to benefit by these export prices which were sometimes far ahead of those prevailing in Canada. There was nothing to prevent a buyer obtaining cattle from the farmer at the Canadian price and then selling to the food corporation at the export price, without any benefit going to the farmer.

Prices Board regulations and the changes in them had caused confusion, Mr. Senn said. The minister should seek action to reassure those in beef-producing areas who felt their position was endangered.

Registrations Increasing.

Questioned by G. K. Fraser (Con., Paterborough West) on reports that pure-bred cattle were being slaughtered or exported Mr. Gardiner said the registrations of pure-bred cattle sheep and swine were steadily increasing.

Joseph H. Harris (Con., Toronto-Danforth) asked the minister to urge the priorities division of the government to give consideration and right-of-way to provision of machinery required for processing flax and other farm products. He also suggested that more food processing should be carried out west of the Great Lakes.

L. E. Cardiff (Con. Huron North) ing machines as a means of meetsaid those who wished to buy milking the labor problem had been unable to obtain such equipment. The government should arrange to increase the number of milking machines available.

Duff Report

H. Hatfield (Con., Victoria-Carleton) Mr. Gardiner said there was a program underway to increase sheep flocks by 1,000,000 head through cooperation with the provinces.

The Government is supplying rams and paying freight on ewes shipped from one place to another for breeding purposes.

Mr. Gardiner told other questioners of progress made in providing a supply of garden seed from domestic sources to make up for the lost sources in Europe.

This year he expected Canada would produce 251,250 pounds of mangel seed against normal requirements of carrot seed.

Wants Canning Factory at The Pas.

John R. MacNicol (Con. Toronto Davenport) asked the minister if a canning factory could be placed in The Pas area where he said there was great opportunity for vegetable production. The same was true of Northern British Columbia.

Mr. Gardiner said the great difficulty was to obtain tin. Only on Wednesday, he said, he had received a large delegation from Ontario seeking assurance that they would get supplies of tin, even a percentage of past requirements, to meet their canning requirements.

In response to other questions regarding food storage facilities Mr. Gardner said there would be a supplementary estimate, the amount of which he would not yet reveal to provide for "a limited number of cold storage plants."

In a discussion on apples Mr. Gardiner paid a warm tribute to the Canadian Horticultural Council for the manner in which it had cooperated in meeting the problem created by loss of the British market for apples.

When the House was discussing Bills based on budget resolutions Mr. Hanson suggested that the system of preparing Canadian budgets be changed to permit the Government to make fuller use of the knowledge of practical business men. They might give their views on proposed taxation before a House committee.

Finance Minister Ilsley said he preferred the method of preparing the budget in secret with the aid of Government experts and having injustice corrected later.

MOBILE FIRE UNITS

CROYDON, England—(CP). — A first fighting "flying column," the first of its kind in Britain, has been established here. At five minutes notice the column can go anywhere to help a raided town. The Canadian volunteer firemen who have come to Britain also plan to establish themselves as "flying columns."

Trust Is Blamed For Killing Of Ship Contract

WASHINGTON, July 25—(AP).—Charges that men acting as advisers to high United States Government officials while retaining connection with steel and shipbuilding corporations "influenced" decisions to cancel a contract for a new shipyard and 200 cargo ships were made before a House of Representatives committee yesterday.

The assertion came from L. E. Detwiler, assistant to the president of the Higgins Corporation, New Orleans, in testimony before a merchant marine subcommittee studying cancellation of the contract awarded the Higgins Company by the Maritime Commission.

Detwiler said that Navy Secretary Frank Knox, "is not a shipbuilder, he is a newspaper publisher and has to rely on Joe (Joseph W.) Powell, who came from the Bethlehem shipbuilding Corporation." Powell is an assistant to the Secretary of the Navy.

Detwiler also asserted that "influence" had been used in other quarters. Asked if "those influences brought about the cancellation," he replied "Yes."

Detwiler, asked by the committee to "get down to brass tacks" in stating his opinions about the cancellation, asserted that the "shipbuilding trust" feared competition with the Higgins production line method of ship construction.

He said that Higgins and Henry Kaiser, west coast shipbuilders, had worked together on the production line principle, and that after Kaiser demonstrated that the system could be effective "the shipbuilding trust knew we could better Kaiser's speed by at least 50 per cent."

"When that got out it was known something had to be done to stop that situation," he declared.

Asked whether he believed "they figured this was the death knell" of the present system of shipbuilding, he replied that he did.

Removing Equipment.

NEW ORLEANS, July 25—(AP).—Removal of construction equipment from the Higgins Corporation's Michaud shipyard near here and liquidation of the various dealings involved in the cancelled 200-ship contract was under way.

The proposed $59 million plant, under construction in a low, swampy section, included few completed buildings and they will not be demolished, Sanford said. Some pile drivers are being moved off the job along with some cement mixers and similar equipment.

Yesterday's Order-in-Council gave authority to boards of education to postpone the opening of the secondary schools. Mr. Hepburn explained that pupils had been of great help to farmers and growers, and could continue to be of assistance in the production of foodstuffs.

The Order-in-Council provided that pupils who, with the approval of the principal, are engaged in farm work from Sept. 8 to not later than Oct. 9, shall be credited with attendance for that period and, if the school is closed, the attendance of all pupils shall be credited from Sept. 8 until the date of the opening of the school.

The order may apply also to pupils working in canneries, cheese factories and creameries if it can be shown that their work is needed to take care of this year's crops of fruits and vegetables or to prepare milk products for shipment overseas.

Proceeds Of Salvage Collection To Provide Troops Recreation

OTTAWA, July 25—(CP).—Proceeds from salvage collection across the Dominion will be used henceforth to provide recreation facilities for Canada's fighting men through citizens committees, it was announced yesterday at a press conference here.

The announcement was made jointly by Charles LaFerle, national salvage director, and George Pifher, director of voluntary and auxiliary services, who outlined salvage progress to date and told of the new plan, which will mean that money from salvage will be used in the community where it is raised.

The committees will co-ordinate all voluntary services in their respective communities, including the provision of dry canteens, entertainment, spors facilities, reading rooms, housing committees and other facilities. The change applies only outside military camps, with the Dominion government continuing to provide money for entertainment.

Formerly, local salvage committees sent money derived from their collection to recognized charities of their own choice Mr. Pifher said the new plan, now operating successfully in Winnipeg. London, Ont., St Thomas, Ont., Toronto, Kingston, Ont., Montreal and Fredericton has already served to stimulate salvage collection in these districs.

5,000 Registered.

With the development of citizens' committees, Mr. Pifher announced a change of policy in the operation of war charities, of which about 5,000, including branches, now are registered with the Department of National War Services.

The Department now will rest on the advice of the local citizens' committees in respect of registration, or renewal of registration of war charities. This would "enable the committees to aid in eliminating waste of funds, waste of effort and overlapping, while seeing to it that no useful program is overlooked."

Mr. Laferle said the new plan was drawn up at a meeting in Montreal several weeks ago, attended by the members of salvage committees across Canada and presided over by Mr. Justice T. C. Davis, Associate Deputy Minister of National War Services.

Charitable organizations which formerly received the proceeds of salvage sale, such as the Canadian Red Cross Society, were consulted and they agreed to step out of the picture.

Collection of salvage will be made by the municipalities with their garbage trucks. It is planned to make collections once or twice a month for scrap rubber rags, paper, metal and other salvage but twice a week for bones and fats.

Soviet fliers assisted ground troops in resisting a German effort to regain the initiative, destroyed several dozen German tanks, more than 300 motor vehicles and 40 field and anti-aircraft guns, the information bureau said.

Following the Russian drive upon the Bryansk front, the Germans were declared to have sacrificed more than 1,000 men in seven counterattacks against a recaptured hill.

Local fighting continued on the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow and German infantry broke into Russia trenches at one point. The information bureau said few of these survived the hand-to-hand fighting which followed, 150 perishing.

Russian tanks, artillery and infantry captured a German strong point on the Leningrad front after several hours of fighting, it was announced.

Captured Trucks Save Six British Officers

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer.

CAIRO, July 23 — (Delayed). — (AP). — Six officers of the Army of the Nile who escaped from their Axis captors at Sidi Barrani have regained the British lines after a hard trek across many miles of desert swarming with enemy troops.

To avoid dying of thirst on their long, hazardous journey the officers pulled up clumps of camelthro—which grows sparsely along the coast—and sucked the moisture from the roots.

One of the group, Lieut. Jim Logan of New Zealand was captured with his tank crew near Sidi Barrani when caught between anti-tank and machine-gun fire.

Held under guard in the desert with other prisoners, Logan made his escape at night when a sentry moved a short distance away to talk to another guard.

Five English officers followed him. The six walked all that night toward the East, hid in the desert the following day without food or water, and started out again under cover of darkness.

The second night they captured a truck by surprising the Italian driver while he slept. The Italian handed over his water, food and cigarettes, but the officers could not get the truck started and went on again by foot.

The third night they came upon a German and an Italian with a captured British truck. The pair surrendered when the officers jabbed pieces of pipe in their ribs, pretending they were revolvers.

In the truck, the fugitives continued eastward, drawing gasoline from abandoned vehicles.

On the fourth night they made a dash through the Axis front lines, eluding two German armored cars which gave chase.

Cathedral Is Hit, 5 Churches Burn In Norwich

NORWICH, July 25.—(CP).—Historic Norwich Cathedral was damaged and five churches and a synagogue were destroyed in the ancient city during a Nazi Baedeker raid last month, it was announced last night.

More than 800 incendiary bombs were dropped in the vicinity of the Cathedral, which was saved from destruction by resolute action of civil defences The fire was fiercest in the north transept where a large section of the roof near the base of the tower was destroyed. Several incendiaries struck the tower itself.

Burned-out buildings surrounding the Cathedral included the lodge of the Grammar School which dates back to the 17th century and two flint houses incorporating parts of old monastic buildings.

The churches destroyed were St. Julians. St Paul's and St. Michael-at-the-Thorn. St. George's Roman Catholic church in Fishergate was hit by several fire bombs and damaged St. Mary's Baptist church and Trinity Presbyterian church were burned out.

Six U.S. Reporters Two Canadians Subjected To Torture

NEW YORK, July 27—(AP).—The New York Times reported today in a Lourenco Marques dispatch from Otto D. Tolischus its former Tokyo correspondent, that one Canadian and six American newspaper men and one Canadian newspaper woman were arrested by the Japanese in Tokyo and Yokohama and held for six months in solitary confinement and conditions of severest hardship.

Tolischus said they were charged with espionage and with violating Japan's National Defence Act by sending out political, economic and diplomatic news.

"During examinations the American newpaper men: Walter R. Wills, publisher of the Japan Newsweek and representative of the Columbia Broadcasting system; Jasper N. Bellinger, an employee of the Japan Times Advertiser, a Canadian; and myself, and Miss Phyllis Argall, correspondent of the News-Chronicle of London, were subjected to physical torture," Tolischus reported. 5 U.S. Officers Beat Japanese

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, July 27.—(AP).—Five United States naval officers who escaped from the Philippines in a primitive native outrigger sailing boat just a step ahead of the Japanese arrived today in Australia after an adventurous two-months' journey.

They said their most exciting experience was being chased for two hours by a canoe manned by fuzzy-haired New Guinea natives who later proved friendly.

One of the officers said they left Cavite naval base separately for Bataan and Corregidor and were reunited again on the island of Cebu on a confidential mission.

The Japanese came to the island the morning of April 9. The officers got away that afternoon with a small crew of Filipinos.

Villages Wiped Out

LONDON, July 27—(CP). —Witnesses reaching Britain declared today that the Gestapo had wiped out the Norwegian village of Televaag on the island of Sotra, near Bergen, in reprisal for the shooting of two members of the secret police.

Josef Terboven, Nazi chief of the Norwegian security police, personally directed the burning of the village leaving 400 to 500 persons homeless.

Before the fires were started 18 Norwegian hostages were executed, witnesses said. The rest of the male population of the village was sent to labor camps in Germany.

Great Fires Are Left Behind Following Raids

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 27.—(CP Cable).—Four Canadian bomber squadrons took part in week-end attacks on Hamburg and Duisburg, with fliers reporting great fires left burning in these two Nazi ports.

R.C.A.F. headquarters quoted a member of a squadron led by Wing Cmdr Douglas Bradshaw of London, Ont., as saying the attack on Hamburg "was better than the 1,000-bomber job on Bremen"

The weather was perfect and the big port was bathed in moonlight

Sqdn. Ldr. Len Fraser of Vancouver, who flies in an R.C.A.F. Halifax squadron commanded by Wing Cmdr. John Fauquier of Ottawa, said:

"The fires we saw as we left were bigger than those of the 1,000-bomber raid on Essen. The docks, buildings and some streets were clearly visible."

His squadron dropped 4,000-pound block-destroying bombs.

"The moon was so bright I used it to set my bombsight," said Sgt. Observer N. W. Morrison, who rode in an aircraft piloted by Flt.-Sgt C. W. Higgins of Charlottetown, P. E. I.

4,000-Pounders Dropped

"The city was already burning when we dropped our 4,000-pounders. From 18,000 feet I saw one of them go off with a big flash that spread out in a dazzling, whitish glow."

Fauquier summed up conditions in these few words:

"You might do 30 trips and never see the target like that again."

German ground and air defences were more active than usual and several fliers had brushes with enemy planes. Flt. Lt. J. D. Pattison of Toronto, at the controls of a Wellington bomber nursed his machine home from Hamburg on one engine, and crash-landed in England. The crew were unhurt.

Demand Tabling Drew Letter Causes Uproar In Commons

OTTAWA, July 27 (CP)—A tumult of shouting, in which Prime Minister Mackenzie King described opposition members as a "mob" and defied them to silence him, marked the end of the morning stage of the Hong Kong debate in the House of Commons today.

The uproar started when John Diefenbaker (Con. Lake Centre) had called upon the Prime Minister to table the evidence taken before the Hong Kong inquiry and a letter written to Mr. King by Lt.-Col. George A. Drew, Ontario Conservative leader and one of the commission counsel, criticizing the report.

Mr. King raised a point of order, calling for a declaration from Speaker Glen that contents of the Drew letter could not be used in the debate.

When the shouting continued Mr. King was heard to say, "that is a typical Tory method, shouting people down," and, later, "I have the right to speak on a point of order and if any mob opposite think they can oppose me on that they are greatly mistaken."

Speaker Glen ruled that none of the commission evidence apart from that contained in the commissioner's report could be used.

The incident came just before the lunch adjournment at one o'clock and at times both the Prime Minister and Conservative House Leader Hanson were on their feet at the same time, waving their arms and shouting, their voices drowned in a chorus of calls and order from all quarters.

Mr. Diefenbaker spoke after Howard Green (Con., Vancouver South) opened the Hong Kong debate and moved an amendment to a motion to go into committee of supply, calling for an expression of opinion that the inquiry had revealed such incompetence as would demand "comprehensive reorganization of the Defence Department Reading from a book of lectures distributed to the Canadian forces to teach them citizenship, Mr. Diefenbaker revealed extracts praising Prime Minister Mackenzie King as an upholder of freedom of speech and of the principles of freedom for which his grandfather(William Lyon Mackenzie, fought.

Mr. Klung sought in vain to interrupt Mr Diefenbaker who would not yield the floor until he had fanished speaking. When Speaker Glen advised Mr. Diefenbaker his 40 minutes had expired, Mr King rose

He said the book had been circulated without his knowledge, and that he had no knowledge of its contents although he had no doubt they were true.*

Regarding the request for publication of the Drew letter, he said:

"Were I to take that step I would be taking steps which William Lyon Mackenzie did his utmost to prevent the undermining of the judiciary and of our established instructions."

There was so much shouting that it was impossible to hear from the press gallery all the Prime Minister said.

Mr. Hanson jumped to his feet and shouted: "The Prime Minister cannot hang his hat on the judiciary."

"The Chief Justice of Canada is being maligned in this House at this very minute," Mr. King shouted.

He contended to Mr. Speaker that nothing in the Drew letter could be used in the debate for the purpose of maligning the Chief Justice.

When the shouting continued Mr. King was heard to say "typical Tory methods" and "if an mob in the opposition thinks the can oppose me on that they are mistaken."

Order Restored

Speaker Glen restored order with his ruling as to the use of the evidence in debate and, at the request of Conservative House Leader Hanson gave Mr. Diefenbaker five minutes more because of interruptions which had occurred while he spoke.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he would again appeal to the Prime Minister to give all the evidence and all the facts to parliament and let it judge the circumstances.

He appealed also for a declaration from the government that the charge which was brought against Col. Drew for his criticism of the report, and later withdrawn, was unjustified.

And in conclusion he asked the Prime Minister not to "call us a mob." He recalled that a few days ago he had been reported as having been "howled down" in the House. That sort of thing was bad enough in peace time but had no place in time of war.

Howard Green made his amendment to the motion to go into Committee of Supply upon which the House was given an opportunity for discussion of the Hong Kong incident.

Mr. Green was first speaker in a debate which was expected to take up the whole day.

He said the report revealed the Canadian force sent to Hong Kong last Oct. 27 was but partly trained and that the men had not handled some of the weapons they would be called upon to use.

Mr. Green called for a change of policy which would ensure Canadians complete battle training in Canada, so it might never again happen that they were sent into action untrained against seasoned troops.

Felt War Coming

Mr. Green said Pacific coast residents were fully impressed with the imminence of war and that they "shuddered" when they saw Canadians leaving for Hong Kong.

But the authorities in Ottawa, including the Cabinet War Committee, the External Affairs Department and Defence Headquarters, who should have known, seemed to feel that the Japanese would not fight and that the Canadins would be engged in quiet grrison duty, Mr. Green sid

His amendment read:—

"This House is of the opinion that such of the evidence taken before the inquiry into the despatch of the Canadian Expeditionary Force to the Crown Colony of Hong Kong as has been disclosed reveals convincing proof of incapacity on the part of the responsible military authorities and demonstrates the immediate and urgent need for a comprehensive reorganization of the Department of National Defence."

A total of 1,985 Canadian officers and men went to Hong Kong and after the fall of the colony last Christmas Day the Japanese reported that 1,689 of them were taken prisoner. Some are known to have died subsequently, in custody. The other 296 are dead or missing.

Cavern Hermit Sets Off Blast

RIVERSIDE, Calif., July 27.—(AP).—The weird suicide of 57-year-old Frank Kritzer, Cavern hermit, who blew himself to bits with a 200-pound dynamite blast in the San Bernardino desert rather than submit to arrest, puzzled officers who were still seeking a motive today.

Undersheriff Steve Lynch said Kritzer was being questioned last Friday about the disappearance over a six-months' period of explosives and gasoline in several desert communities when he told three deputies they would not take him from his underground home alive. Kritzer then connected two wires to a plunger, which set off the dynamite.

Nazi Raiders Bomb 24 British Areas Machine-Gun Streets

LONDON, July 27—(CP).—The big port of Hamburg, Germany's second largest city and greatest submarine building centre, was hit hard last night by the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. in the heaviest assault on the Reich since the 1,000-plane bombing of Bremen late last month.

Without disclosing the number of bombers participating in the attack—the sixth on Hamburg this year and the 91st since the war began—a communique announced that 29 of the raiders failed to return.

(On the basis of losses of slightly under five per cent., which British authorities have reported as the cost of similar recent heavy raids, this would suggest a striking force of at least 600 planes)

The communique said a "very strong force" attacked the city of 1,700,000 population whose Blohm and Voss shipyards alone are said to have a capacity to build 25 U-boats at a time, and whose war industries, working day and night, include oil refineries, explosives works and a big seaplane factory.

Germans Hit At Britain.

German raiders, striking at England out of the low clouds of the early morning, bombed 23 areas, including one within 50 miles of London.

Two brief daylight alerts were sounded in the capital, and for the first time in many months work-bound residents of inland communities saw bombers marked with the black cross sweep low to the attack, then dodge back into the clouds with aircraft fire around them and British fighters roaring in pursuit.

The German bombers, for the most part operating singly, machine-gunned streets and houses and dropped bombs on western England, the south, the Midlands, the east coast, and towns and villages of East Anglia.

Casualties (their number not disclosed) mounted with late reports of persons trapped in the wreckage of their homes or dug out by sweating rescue crews.

It was the fourth attack on Germany in six nights and followed a series of raids on Duisburg.

A special communique issued by Maj.-Gen. Carl Spaatz, commander of U.S. Army Air forces in the European theatre, disclosed that seven American fliers accompanied R.A.F.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., July 27—(CP).—Found in possession of a small arsenal consisting of two revolvers, a rifle and 100 rounds of ammunition, besides new clothing, leather wallet, camera and cigaret cases and lighters, a 15-year-old boy was arrested here yesterday.

Police arrested the boy after he had stolen a bicycle from outside a church. The other articles were found in his room.

Police said the boy was on parole from Bowmanville training school.

Profit System Is Blamed For Hong Kong

TORONTO, July 27 (CP) — The private profit system was to blame for the lack of training of some members of Canada's Hong Kong expedition, M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader in the House of Commons, told the opening session of the party's national convention here today.

"We know beyond a shadow of a doubt," Mr. Coldwell said, "that the Hong Kong expedition, largely trained in Jamaica for 16 months, had never used a trench mortar, an anti-tank gun, a modern tank of any sort, a rifle grenade or any of the modern implemets of war.

"Indeed, during their long sojourn in the West Indies and in Canada many of them had never fired a rifle even on a rnge. Why? because, as I was told authoritatively last week, the equipment was not available. Then why was it not available? because you cannot operate a modern war on the basis of the contract private profit system."

Complete Public Control

The lesson to be learned from this was that there must be complete public control, national planning and co-ordination of the Dominion's entire industrial system so that every plant became a unit in the national plan for maximum production.

Russia Cries For Equipment.

Mr Coldwell said that much had been made of the need for conscription of manpower for service anywhere. Yet Russia cried aloud for more equipment. China lacked the guns, tanks and planes without which modern war could not be waged. Much of the demand for conscription has been promoted by 'powerful interests which saw an opportunity to regiment human labor and to safeguard their own profit-making enterprises.'

'That is why,' he continued, 'that from the day war broke out we of the C.C.F. have never retreated from the position that industry and wealth must be conscripted too if our human resources were to be forcibly mobilized. We believe that such a policy is the only one that both win the war and bring some measure of equality of sacrifice.'

Must Have Social Reform.

Social reform could not wait until the war had been won because, up to the present, the United Nations' inability to win had been in no small measure due to the pro-

City Of Rostov Holds Although Nazis Break Into Defences

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, July 27 —(AP)—The Germans hurled into battle today the great weight of reinforcements they have held for the campaigns against the North Caucasus and Stalingrad on the Volga, sending tanks and planes in a furious assault in an effort to widen their footholds south of the Don River near Tsimlyansk.

The Russian air force pounded the moving columns of German men and guns by daylight and under the nearly full moon by night.

The Stalingrad-Tikhoretsk Railway, last rail link with the Caucasus, undoubtedly has undergone heavybombings. There were, however, no reports suggesting that German land forces had reached this line, which runs south of the Don barely 50 miles from Tsimlyansk.

(The German high command said its troops had smashed across the Don and captured the "strongly fortified and tenaciously defended town of Bataisk, 20 miles south of Rostov on the rail line to the Caucasus oil port of Baku.)

Already, 30 German tanks have been put out of action in one sector alone, the mid-day Russian communique said. The tank battle is continuing as the Germans seek to cross the Don simultaneously in several places.

Earlier the Russians had acknowledged the establishment of at least two German bridgeheads in the Tsimlansk area.

"Our men have pinned down numerically enemy forces and are preventing them from advancing," the Russian communique said.

Rostov Holds

At the same time, the Germans hammered mercilessly at Rostov with some success and the Russians said that at one point the Nazi drive had broken into the heart of the Soviet defences at a tremendous cost.

In a few hours, the Russians said, the Germans lost 20 tanks and more than 700 men.

On the Bryansk front, southwest of Moscow, the Russians reported a new surge of activity and capture of War Course Worries Britain

German Armies Spreading Over Russian Granary

LONDON, July 27—(CP).—British military and political circles were gravely concerned today over the course of the Russian fighting and described the current battle as "the most important yet fought," both from a military and an economic point of view.

These sources described the German assaults in the Tsimlyansk region as the "crucial battle" for southern Russia.

They said the danger that there would not be enough food saved for the Russian people had increased in the last few days They pointed out that if the Germans could establish an hold bridgeheads over the Don at Tsimlyansk they would be less than 200 miles from the oil convoys on the Volga and oil installations at Maikop.

The lands just conquered or now threatened by the German drive in some parts are richer than the Ukraine and are almost as extensive, it was said.

In the Kursk and Voronezh provinces, 30,000,000 acres of wheat are under cultivation and there are even more extensive fields of wheat in the Azov-Black Sea area around Rostov and the north Caucasus.

Altogether, it was said, 33 per cent. of the Soviet Union's cultivated land has been lost or threatened since the latest German offensive began. If the Germans reach the Volga at Stalingrad they will have gained almost half of Russia's cultivated land.

Establishing Of Second Front Costly Job

Britons Ready To Face Threat Of Invasion To Give Aid To Russians

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The spectacle of a vast concourse of people milling about Nelson's monument in Londons ancient Trafalgar Square, shouting for a second front to support the hard-pressed Russians, is further exemplification of the truth of a remark made to me the other day—that few war problems have so gripped public imagination as this one.

Warnings that the feasibility of such a hazardous operation cannot be decided by the public, but must be left to the Allied High Command, seem to have little effect. Indeed the most significant moment of the Trafalgar demonstration came when Dr. Tagden Guest, Labor Member of Parliament, told the assemblage that an effort to establish a new front might mean an attempt at counter-invasion of Britain by Hitler, and asked if they were ready for this. The crowd 'yes.'

Dr. Guest was speaking a great truth That's one of the grave risks the Allies must run when they undertake the invasion of Europe.

Should the attempt meet with disaster, its likely that the Nazi chief would strike forthwith at the British Isles. He long has had a fleet of invasion barges ready for such an attempt, and apart from water transport he could move troops and equipment by air. He could spare troops from the Russian theatre, if necessary, by performing a holding operation there.

Even at its best, the establishment of a second front is going to be a costly affair. To put 500,000 or 1,000,000 men ashore from barges in the face of heavy defence means heavy sacrifice. Many men must die; a great fleet of vessels, both warships and supply craft, will be sunk; an armada of warplanes will be destoreyd. That will be the dangerous price even of success.

Of course, all the Allies are ready to make great sacrifices — to dare greatly.

But is is absurd to leap without taking a look first. The last thing the Russians want the Allies to do is commit suicide for the sake of sentiment.

The amount of risk the Allies are warranted in taking must depend on the situation on the Russian front, and the Allied High Command must decide that.

Lord Strabolgi, Labor peer, said in an aid to Russia speech that now, when the military situation in Southern Russia has reached its most critical stage, the United Nations must strike in the west.

He called upon the Allies to open one or more European fronts, warning that if no action is taken the

U-Boat Attacks Fisherman

Canadian Boat Off Nova Scotia Sent To Bottom

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, July 27—(CP).—Capt. Percy Richardson, master of the Lockeport, N.S., schooner Lucille M., which was sunk by shellfire from a Nazi submarine, expressed belief today the attack on his vessel indicated a change in German U-boat policy and said he thought other fishing boats would be attacked "sooner or later."

The unarmed Lucille M. was the first Canadian fishing schooner to be shot upon by a submarine in this war, though there have been occasions when U-boat commanders questioned fishermen at sea.

A number of Canadian and American fishing boats were sunk off the East Coast in the First Great War.

Four members of the Lucille M's crew were injured when the big submarine opened fire without warning just before dawn. Capt. Richardson said al 11 men on the boat got off in two dories within five minutes and rowed 100 miles in 36 hours to land on Cape Sable Island, just off the southern tip of Nova Scotia.

JAP AND ALLIED LAND FORCES CLASH ON THE PAPUAN PENINSULA

Bombers Hit Tobruk In Big Raid

Enemy Supply Ports Suffer Heavily In Bomber Attacks

CAIRO, July 27 — (AP). — A heavy force of bombers blasted the Axis supply port of Tobruk again last night, touching off fires and explosions and scoring a direct hit on an enemy ship, British Headquarters announced to-day.

Long range fighters of the R.A.F. meanwhile attacked Axis barges off Sidi Barrani, another enemy supply port on the Egyptian side of the Libyan frontier a communique said.

Low clouds and dust storms were reported to have limited aerial operations yesterday in the battle area, where the Germans and Italians were said to be digging in in anticipation of a renewal of the desert battle in which they were driven from ridge positions west of El Alamein last week.

Land Operations Limited.

British light bombers ranged over the enemy lines yesterday, blasting at troop concentrations and supply columns. Land operations were limited to minor skirmishes and artillery exchanges.

A British communique said that United States heavy bombers had gone into action with the R.A.F. again on Saturday night, carrying out successful attacks on Tobruk and Crete—from which the Axis forces have been reported drawing supplies.

There was comparatively little enemy air activity over the weekend. Axis airmen did not take advantage of bright moonlihgt on Saturday night to carry out their usual attacks on British bases and strongpoints.

British fighter planes, however, were credited with shooting down a German reconnaissance bomber over the Nile Delta and two other enemy aircraft off Port Said.

fit-making system under which they tried to operate.

Just as intelligent, democratic planning was necessary in time of peace to cope with unemployment and to provide an abundance of goods, so in far the same kind of planning and control was necessary to achieve the maximum production essential for victory. 'That is why we have contended that total mobilization for total war is an essential prelude to total victory.'

Mr. Coldwell said that now was the time to start planning a better world for the young men and women fighting the war. "We can, if we will, banish unemployment and distribute both the goods and leisure to enjoy them... When the war ends our society will plan or perish and we believe that such planning must begin now."

The people of Britain meant to have a new deal when the war was won but the people of Canada lacked that hope and that is why our effort lags. It is our privilege to plant that hope, to make it a desire and to plan to realize it when this war is done.

"The old parties, the average financial and industrial leader still talks as if, when the fight is done, we shall return again to the kind of living we knew before this war... A few dollar-a-year men lent to the government by monopolistic industry look forward to salvaging the new government-owned plants, or protecting their vested interests when peace returns again."

There were exceptions, but too many of them thought in terms of their own interests in post-war years. Some complained about taxation, forgetting that the burden fell most heavily upon workers in the low income groups. Only last week the leader of the opposition in the House of Commons (Mr. Hanson) had complained "that the taxation on his own substantial income was too great."

U.K. Going Easy On War Dramas

LONDON, July 27—(CP).—Public reaction to recent war films so alarmed British producers that a number of planned war dramas have been put on the shelf. Comedy, it seems, gets first place in the fans' choice.

One picture scrapped before it reached the set was a merchant navy epic, 'This Breed of Men,' which was to have starred Michael Redgrave. Instead, this popular British actor may be seen in 'Fanny By Gaslight,' with Phyllis Calvert.

Gainsborough studios are finishing an army picture, 'King Arthur Was a Gentleman,' but it's not about the war and comedian Arthur Askey plays the lead. The same company cancelled plans for a Commando movie.

Another Commando film, Paul Soskin's 'The Day Will Dawn,' survived public opinion and is playing to good houses in the provinces after completing a successful London run.

Japanese Agents Put In Australia

CANBERRA, July 27—(AP).—The Australian Government disclosed today it believed enemy agents, possibly landed from submarines, are operating in Australia and secret military movements had been learned by the Japanese.

No details were given except for a statement that the suspected agents may have landed from submines at lonely coastal spots and been harbored by anti-British elements.

A report from Moose Jaw said the first crash occurred when a plane went into spin, crashing to earth. The second crash occurred while several planes were on a formation flight.

The plane at Brandon was on a routine flight. It was a twin-engined crane trainer.

'Cause of the accident is obscure,' said a statement from No. 2 command, Royal Canadian Air Force 'An inquiry has been ordered.'

Names of two of the men killed at Brandon were released.

Cpl. G. McIntosh, an aero-engine mechanic. His next of kin is his wife in Brandon.

The third airman was from overseas, and his name was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Names of the men killed in the crash at Moose Jaw were not immediately disclosed.

27,000 Jews Placed In NaziCamps

Increased Pressure Placed On French For War Supplies

NEW YORK, July 27 —(AP)— Twenty-seven thousand persons, mostly Jewish residents of Paris, have been rounded up and sent to concentration camps by the Germans, according to reliable information reaching The Associated Press in New York, as a measure of increased pressure on the French to supply the Nazi war industry with more skilled workers.

The arrests were effected by the French police on orders from the Gestapo (German Secret Police), it was learned. The seizures, however, aroused such resentment among the people of Paris that they now have been discontinued.

Jumped Out of Windows

Numerous suicides have been reported by persons who managed to delay police a few minutes before they were to be taken into custody. Some of those threatened with arrest have thrown themselves and their children from windows rather than submit, the sources said.

Similar roundup tactics have been prevented in Unoccupied France but the demand for more laborers, in the opinion of some observers, might soon result in strong measures there. It has even been suggested that forced mobilization of workers might be demanded by the Germans.

So far about 18,000 workers have gone to Germany from Vichy alone, including 3,000 specialists, the latter of the greater interest to Germans and the only workers for whom war prisoners are exchanged.

The number of those who have gone to Germany is considerably below the number requested by the Germans and European diplomatic circles have predicted that some new action might be expected within the next 10 days.

handcuffed when she was arrested and was repeatedly slapped until her face was cut," the dispatch to the Times said. "Mr. Wills was slapped during the whole examination period, lasting more than three months. He was forced to squat for hours in Japanese fashion, with the result that he is still suffering an injury to his left knee.

"I likewise was accused of espionage and secret intelligence work for the American and British embassies and of coming to Japan on a 'secret mission" which the police seemed to connect with the German-Japanese alliance pact.

"To force a confession the police threatened me with firing squads as an alternative to the instantaneous death at the hands of the examining police. For four days early in January I was forced to squat for hours in the Japanese fashion while four policemen slapped my face, kicked me and made feints at strangling me until my knees were covered with open wounds and I was a physical wreck.

"'All newspaper men are spies,' the police said, 'because they try to find out the truth. Japanese correspondents abroad are spies; so are Japanese newspaper men at home. We could arrest all of them.'"

Escaped Violence

Tolischus said other arrested correspondents, Max Hill, chief of the Tokyo Bureau of the Associated Press, Percy Whiteing, former Tokyo correspondent of the Canadian Press, Richard Tenelly and Ray Cromley, were questioned on similar charges, but escaped violence.

"In May," Tolischus reported, "all the arrested correspondents except Mr. Bellinger were sentenced to 18 months to two years imprisonment. Though the defendants were represented by a lawyer, some of them never saw them. The presiding judge, in announcing my sentence, said: 'This is war and Japan must protect her national interests.'

"Two Axis newspapermen, Richard Sorge of the Frankfurter Zeitung, and Branco de Vukelith, a Yugoslav representing the Havas Agency, were reported to have been sentenced to life imprisonment on charges of spying for Russia.

"During their imprisonment the correspondents were kept in solitary confinement in tiny, unheated cells. . . .

"Investigation revealed that the police had been watching all foreigners for months and possessed records of conversations in clubs, private homes and even in embassies. In the case of Mr. Wills the gendarmerie produced photostat copies of minutes of staff meetings at the British Embassy and reproduced at least one conversation of Ambassador Grew at the American Embassy."

Sgt. William Rowland of Brussels, Ont., whose aircraft was damaged by a fighter which eventually was driven off, said the fires in Hamburg could be seen for 30 miles.

Hamburg Hit Hardest.

"The fires in Hamburg were the most intense," said Flt. Sgt. William Kauffman of Kitchener Ont., a member of Bradshaw's squadron. "You could see them more than 60 miles away. It was a real do."

Similar reports were given by Sgt. Lloyd White of Saskatoon. Fires and explosions were so widespread, he said, the crew of his aircraft was unable to distinguish the bursts of its own bombs.

An aircraft piloted by Sgt. C. P. Lundeen of Preeceville, Sask., with Sgt. V. A. Murray of Penetanguishepe, Ont. as fear gunner, was attacked by two Junkers 88's after dropping its bombs.

Their aerial was shot away and their wings, fuselage, and tail hit in several places. The Canadians held their fire, let the Junkers come to within 100 yards, then Murray and an R.A.F. gunner opened up. One Junkers rolled over sharply, went into a dive, and disappeared into the clouds. The second Nazi plane turned and headed for home after a short burst of lead penetrated its fuselage.

Pattison, who nursed his bomber home on one engine, was 200 miles from his home field when one of his two motors caught fire and died. The machine lost altitude, but the Toronto flier kept it from dropping below 2,000 feet.

When he reached England, Pattison circled the airdrome and made a perfect crash landing.

Flying with him as second pilot was F. Bob Scott of Westboro, engineer officer in Wing Cmdr. John Fulton's squadron.

Tabling Drew Letter

Mr. Green said the Government authorities should have known war was imminent.

"The fact was well known on the Pacific Coast," he said. "When we knew the destination of these lads was Hong Kong we shuddered and hoped they were properly trained and fully equipped and that there had been no bungling among the higher-ups."

Protested Scrap Iron Shipments.

The Pacific Coast had protested against scrap iron shipments to Japan, had warned of the possibility of invasion of Canada via the Aleutian Islands, and "we were right about the men sent to Hong Kong."

Ministers were too busy at their offices and the External Affairs Department was too busy with its "appeasement policy" to heed the warnings from the Pacific. There hed been "a damning failure" to realize the importance of th change in the Japanese Government in October, 1941, when Premier Tojo violently pro-Axis, took office.

A British cable dealing with the developing situation in the Far East should be tables in its complete form, Mr. Green said.

Authorities at Ottawa had been lulled into a sense of security at a time when conditions were actually dangerous in the Pacific. The Defence Departments should know what was going on beyond Canada. The External Affairs Department, staffed with able men — "perhaps too theoretical"—would be strengthened by the addition of "a few hard-boiled realists."

Canada should not let others do her thinking for her. The Hong Kong garrison had been treated as in the same category as a garrison sent to Newfoundland or the West Indies. The arrangements for sending the battalions to Hong Kong were not even carried through by senior Defence Department officials but were left to directors.

Do Own Thinking.

"We must not depend on others to do our thinking for us," said Mr. Green.

There had been "a subtle placing of the blame on Great Britain in regard to the Pacific situation infoformation."

In spite of the Hong Kong expedition, Canada still followed the policy of giving preliminary training in Great Britain. This could be called "a 1914 policy."

As a result of that policy the Canadian force was sent to Hong Kong partly trained, to meet seasoned Japanese troops, veterans of a long campaign against China and reorganized as "the most savage killers loose in the world tody."

"They did not have a chance from the moment they left canada," Mr. Green said. Some of the troops had told friends in Vancouver before embarking that they were uneasy about the fact they were inadequatey trained.

Reviews Report

Mr. Green reviewed in detail the Duff report's disclosure as to the lack of actual training or handling of machine guns, mortars, tommy-guns and anti-tank guns which had not been available for these troops in training in Canada.

There was a part in the report which indicated that the Hong Kong expedition was made up of the best-trained troops in Canada. If that were true it revealed a situation that should be remedied at once.

The force left Vancouver October 27 and landed at Hong Kong November 16. Three weeks later it was in action. Mr. Green said the force left Canada without having even handled in training some of the most important weapons they would be called upon to use in action.

Mr. Green said some day Canadian troops must meet other seasoned Japanese troops and Canada should make sure her men were ready when that time came.

There was 'a note of tragedy' in a message from Brig. J. K. Lawson, commander of the expedition, in respect to weapons and his men's experience in their use. Mr. Green questioned whether there was 'the slightest possibility' of training in new equipment while the men were on shipboard proceeding to Hong Kong.

Finish Training in Canada.

'Wishful thinking' had been displayed in regard to training of the men. The report clearly demonstrated the necessity of giving Canadian troops their complete training in Canada. They should have commando training. There should be paratroops. But there had been 'delay, delay, delay' on these matters.

The 'slipshod work' in Hong Kong expedition arrangements would not have been tolerated in the old Canadian corps, said Mr. Green as he spoke of organization work demanded by Gen. Sir Arthur Currie in the First Great War.

There must be efficiency at National Deefnce headquaters. The lives of thousands of Canadians were involved Canada was in the hands of the senior defence officials and had the right to insist on efficiency.

There must be co-ordination, an the relationship with civilian departments was of vital importance.

If the government was ready to remedy quickly the defects in the was machine disclosed in the Hong Kong inquiry report, it might yet be the means of saving Canadian lives.

John Difenbaker (Con. Lake Centre) saiad that 'if there has been negligence that negligence should be punished.' But the proposed to deal with another aspect of the incident—'the preservation of the right of democracy.'

Not All Evidence Available.

He protested that parliament was not given the whole of the evidence on which the Duff report was based.

Mr. Diefenbaker said an Order-in-Council passed March 2 provided the inquiry be held in camera but was "concealed until April 20, either intentionally or unintentionally. The House had received 360 pages of statutes substituted or amended by Order-in-Council. These orders were an indication of how the Government was ruling "without parliament."

Col. Drew had made a comment in regard to the report of the Hong Kong Drew expedition, a comment which could not have brought assistance and comfort to the enemy, but he had been prosecuted "on a charge of disloyalty."

'This Parlaiment should not be given an expurgated edition of the evidence,' he said. Parliament and press should have the complete evidence in order to be satisfied as to the efficiency of Canada's war organization.

The only portions of the evidence used in the commissioner's report were those portions which supported the report's conclusions, said Dr. Diefenbaker.

Defence Minister Ralston interrupted to say that Mr. Green's criticism of the government was based entirely upon evidence quoted in the report.

Mr. Difenbaker said the whole procedure leading up to the Hong Kong report 'has been to prevent criticism and conceal facts in anticipation of what that criticism would be. He quoted the order-in-council calling for secrecy of proceedings before the Royal Commission.

That order-in-council constituted a 'most dangerous infringement of the right of members of parliament' in that it gave power to proceed against any person violating the secrecy during or after the inquiry.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King interrupted to say Mr. Difenbaker was endeavoring to make it appear the order was designed to prevent criticism of the government. He said it was drafted 'at the request of he Chief Justice himself, for his own protection.'

"That was the next step and the people and the press became aroused at autocratic control," said Mr. Difenbaker.

Then the Government retreated and the charge was withdrawn, but in retreating the Government did not say that Col. Drew was innocent.

It retreated because of fear of criticism and the reason given for the retreat was that parliament should have freedom to debate the report.

The next step was a letter written to the Prime Minister by Col. Drew, about the inquiry. The Prime Minister had said he would table the letter if a member took the responsibility of asking that this be done and a member (M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. House Leader) took the responsibility.

"Another strategic retreat followed," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

Parliament was a supreme authority, but the Government went a "a lawyer in Montreal (George C. Campbell of Montreal) to see if the Prime Minister was right when he said he would table the drew letter.

The letter had not been tabled because it had been held to contravene a government order-in-council providing for secrecy of the inquiry and because it contained in part, a criticism of the presiding judge at the inquiry.

The people sought assurance through inquiry that events such as those which had happened in respect to the Hong Kong expedition would not be repeated. The mistakes might be avoided in the future through open inquiry, but instead of co-operating in this attitude, the Government had "bumbled and stumbled."

Torture Is Used As Main Weapon On U.S. Reporter

LOURENCO MARQUES, Portuguese East Africa, July 27 —(AP)— "American! This is Japan!"

From the cold draughty corridor of the Sugamo Prison in Tokyo a sullen guard whispered his hatred of foreigners through the peep-hole of my cell on the night of Dec. 8. In Japanese time that was the day Pearl Harbor was attacked.

Five police had arrived at my home early in the morning and marched me off in military fashion to the district station where I was told I was accused of sending stories detrimental to Japan's diplomacy.

In the 15 days following I remained in solitary, knowing only that war was declared and hearing an unsubstantiated rumor that Pearl Harbor had been bombed.

Throughout my confinement the police used torture as their main weapon. Once I was told the gendarmes were taking me over and that I would be court-martialled instead of remaining in the hands of

Allies Hammer Jap Bases In New Guinea

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, July 27—(CP).—Junglewise Allied patrols clashed with the Japanese during the week-end on the Papuan peninsula of New Guinea in the first land action of that new invasion theatre as Allied planes continued to blast enemy bases there and on other occupied islands north of Australia.

The Japanese struck back with a three-plane raid upon Darwin last night, their second raid in as many nights. They bombed Townsville, Australia's "capital of the north" on the northeast coast, Saturday night in their deepest penetration yet of this country. None of the enemy attacks caused any serious damage, a communique said.

Near Where Japs Landed

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters said the land skirminishing on the Papuan peninsula, described as light, occurred at Awala, about 25 miles inland from Buna, a point on the coast near where the Japanese landed last Wednesday.

The communique told also of another clash between tough Allied outpost forces and the Japanese recently at Mubo near Salamaua, 150 miles north of Buna, where 60 Japanese were killed in a thwarted patrol attack upon the Allied-held village. This enemy attack followed an Allied Commando swoop early this month on Salamaua in which another 60 Japanese were killed.

Air Assault Continue

Allied airmen, meanwhile, kept up their assaults on the Gona Mission-Buna sector, dumping their bomb among anti-aircraft and machine-gun batteries, food stores and ammunition dumps. The communique described the destructive attacks as "continual." One Japanese fighter was downed and the Allies lost two panes in these operations.

In the week-end surge of activity, other Allied planes raided Kieta on Bougainville Island, in the Solomon group, and Buka and Sorani Islands in the Buka Passage north of Bougainville.

60,000 Demand Second Front

LONDON, July 27 (CP).—A crowd which the press association estimated at 60,000, jammed into Trafalgar Square Sunday and shouted approval of immediate opening of a second front even though told it might mean another battle of Britain.

Dr. Leslie Haden Guest, Labor member of Commons from Islington, said:

"It might mean another battle of Britain or an attempted invasion of Britain and hardships such as the people of these islands have not had to endure before."

"Are you ready for all this?" he asked.

A mighty "Yes" arose from the crowd.

W. Rust, editor of the banned Daily Workers, was chairman of the meeting, which heard many speeches, including one by a Canadian private, Constantine Olsninik of Toronto, who fought for the Republicans in the International Brigade in the Spanish Civil War and has seven brothers in the Soviet army.

Meanwhile, at Pontypool, Ernest Bevin, Labor Minister and member of the War Cabinet, declared in a speech that those who shouted for a second front were "feeding" Hitler and Goebbels by creating division in the country.

"Our friends of the Left who shout this slogan are creating the very condition we all want to avoid. ...Don't talk to me about a second front but help the Government all you can so there shall be no shortage anywhere," he pleaded.

Bevin said Russia "might be driven back and lose territory but I am confident Hitler will not break the Russian armies."

Japs Bayoneted Canadians In 'Death Gully'

A copyright article to New York Times and The Globe and Mail says:

LOURENCO MARQUES, Jauly 27. —Hong Kong's terrors are still fresh in the memories of evacuees in this portugese East Africa port on their way home, especially in the memories of Maryknoll missionary priests who had been stationed at the rest house at Stanley, where the British made their first landing 100 years ago and where they made their last stand last December.

The Japanese captured the Maryknoll rest house Christmas morning and tied up all thirty prieses together with several British officers station at the rest house and several score Canadian troopers and took them to what later became known as "death gully." Here officers and troopers were taken around a corner and the priests could hear their shrieks as they were being bayonetted.

One officer, trying to escape, was driven back with a bayonet within sight of the priests, who expected to be next. But after twenty officers and troopers had been bayonetted news of the surrender of the city arrived and the execution was stayed.

Before that a number of wounded soldiers in the rest house and all the wounded in the emergency field hospital at St. Stephen's College were bayonetted in their beds. Dr. Black, head physician of the hospital was shot, because he carried a revolver.

Three British volunteer nurses were raped, bayonetted and burned. Other white women and Chinese and Eurasian women were raped and a number were killed.

A British general reported he had seen the bodies of a number of beheaded Canadian troopers who apparently had been massacred. When their second demand for surrender of the city was refused the Japanese refused to give quarter until the city was captured.

After escaping death the Maryknoll priests were thrown into a garage and left there,, still tied, for three days and nights without food or water, while Japanese soldiers cursed them and threatened them with bayonets. The only relief came when a Japanese soldier sold them a canteen of water for a gold wrist watch. Later they were interned with other civilians in the Stanley concentration camp.

Although there is an inclination among Americans to criticize the defence of Hong Kong, all admit that despite severe handicaps the British and Canadian troops put up a brave fight and suffered severe casualties.

All civilians of the United Nations in Hong Kong, approximately 400 Americans, 2,500 British and 100 others, were interned. They were first marched ostentatiously through the streets to vermin-infested Chinese lodging-houses, where men, women and children were packed together in tiny rooms and left without light or adequate sanitary provisions and with little food.

All Hong Kong s suffering from a food shortage despite the fact that the Japanese are forcibly reducing the town's population by shipping Chinese to the mainland. Deaths from starvattion, cholera and other diseases are increasing.

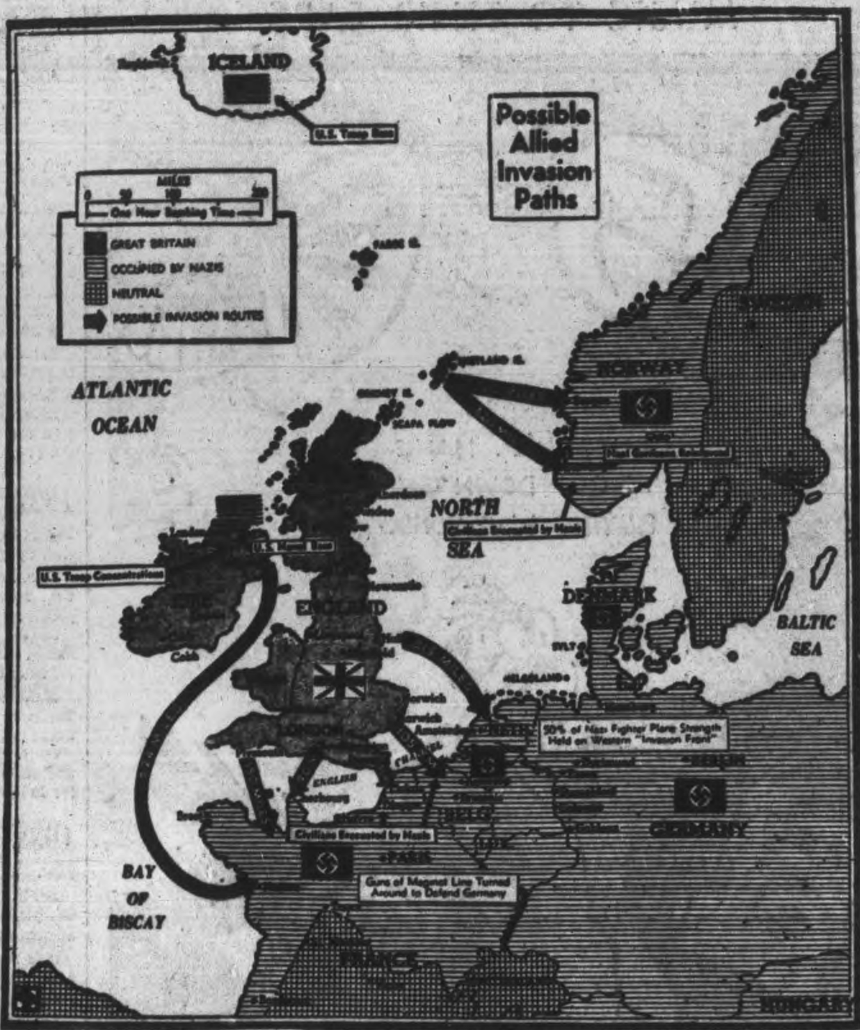
The Americans take pride in their valiant fight at Wake Island, but survivors of the Wake battle also remember a number of their comrades bayonetted by the Japanese after surrendering.

Actual conditions at Singapore are not known, but a Chilean newspaperman who was taken ashore saw British war prisoners doing road work under a blazing tropical sun clad only in shorts and without shirts or sun helmets.

62 Years In Pits

GRIMETHORPE, England, July 27, (CP)—Tom Simpson, 72, oldest miner in this Yorkshire village, celebrated his golden wedding by donning his pit clothes and doing a shift at the colliery behind his home. "I reckon I go up and down the pit 34 times a week," said the grizzed veteran of 62 years in the pits.

War Of Nerves Comes Home To Roost



The Nazis perfected the war of nerves and applied the technique as a prelude to every attack, but now they themselves are learning what it is like. The United Nations have been talking about the opening of a second front in Europe to relieve the pressure on the Russian armies and to bring the war to a swifter end. By his actions, Hitler apparently is wondering anxiously just where that second front may be opened. All along the coasts of Nazi-occupied Europe, from Norway to France, German troops have been placed to meet invasion. Forts and pillboxes have been erected. Bases for fighter planes have been cleared. Farther inland, the guns of the Maginot Line are reported to have been reversed to protect Germany itself from attack. The map ABOVE shows possible invasion routes that may be used by the British, Canadian and American troops in the British Isles who will launch the invasion when it comes. Also, preparatious that Germany has been reported to have made to meet the thrust are indicated.

Observer Swims Under Water To Escape Burns

OTTAWA, July 27.—(CP)—Swimming ability acquired "back home" in Bracebridge, was credited by Royal Canadian Air Force headquarters today with saving the life of Flt. Sgt. Observer Aubrey Shapter when a big British bomber fell flaming into the North Sea on the way home from a recent raid on Bremen.

The 26-year-old Canadian said the crew had only 30 seconds to get out of the aircraft after the crash—"and if you don't think we hurried you're crazy."

"As I climbed out she gave a sudden lurch," Shapter related. "Instead of landing on the wing where the dinghy was, I ended up on the other wing with flames all around me.

"Somehow, I had to get around to the other side, but blazing petrol was spreading over the water. So, instead of inflating my Mae West (safety jacket), I dived under the fire and underwater around the nose to the other wing."

Members of the crew, all Britons except Shapter, managed to reach the rubber dinghy uninjured, except for a few cuts and a singeing Shapter's hair suffered from the flames. Sgt. Jack Culley, the first wireless operator, had never swum before but made it "somehow."

"Nine hours later, after several British aircraft had sighted us and notified shore bases, we were picked up, Shapter said.

One of the first Royal Air Force aircraft to sight the drifting dinghy was piloted by Flt. Lt. James S. Counter of Pointe Clare, Que. Other Canadians who directed rescue operations included FO. John Spears and PO. Jack Waterman, both of Vancouver.

It was Shapter's eight operational trip and it brought one blessing—it completely cured a sore throat he had when taking off.

His wife, the former Dorothy Armstrong, lives in Guelph, Ont., and they have a two-month-old son, Ian. Shapter was graduated from the Fingal, Ont., Bombing and Gunnery, School July 5, 1941.

Frost Bitten

FORT BLISS, Tex., July 27 (AP)—A soldier reported to the post hospital for frost-bite treatment, although the thermometer reading was more than 100 degrees. In an effort to get cool, he explained to the regimental surgeon, he had been holding a piece of dry ice in his hand.

1st Payment In Instalment Buying Will Be Heavier On Some Goods

OTTAWA, July 27.—(CP). — The Wartime Prices and Trade Board today announced further restrictions on instalment buying through an order requiring heavier down payments on a large number of articles.

The order was issued by A. O. Heather, administrator of consumer credit.

After Aug. 1 wearing apparel —including footwear, headgear, haberdashery and lingeries—will be subject to a down payment of one-third, with no down payment less than $5. The maximum credit period will be six months instead of the year previously allowed.

Furs, fur-trimmed garments and wearing apparel forming part of the uniform of any armed service or of the merchant marine are specifically exempted from this provision.

The minimum down payment on furniture, mattresses and bedsprings for household use will be 20 per cent. instead of 10 when the new order becomes effective Aug. 1. As under the previous order, both new and used articles are affected.

The down payment must be wholly in cash and not less than 20 per cent. of the balance of the cash price after allowance for any trade-in. The maximum credit period remains at twelve months.

In a board order on consumer credit issued last December, sixty-one classes of articles, new or used, were designated as merchandise for which the down payment, wholly in cash, must not be less than 33 1-3 per cent. of the balance of the cash price after any allowance for trade-in. With certain exceptions, this percentage of payment has now been extended to cover "all goods not elsewhere specifically mentioned in the schedule."

List of Exemptions

The exemptions are:

"Farm machinery and equipment, fuel and ice, foods, beverages, drugs, pharmaceuticals, vehicles mechanically propelled and designed for carrying goods and trailers for use therewith, and textbooks authorized for use in schools, colleges, universities, conservatories, seminaries or other like professional or educational institutions."

Under recent arrangements made by the coal administrator to encourage summer purchases of solid fuels, special terms as to payment when the credit is acceptable to the coal dealer's bank have been arranged.

Purchasers of pianos are given a maximum of eighteen months in which to complete payments, with the minimum down payment not less than 20 per cent. of the unpaid balance of the cash price after deducting allowance for any trade-in. In no case may the down payment be less than $10.

Seasonal Vocations

Farmers, fishermen, prospectors, hunters, trappers, or other persons engaged in a primary or "extractive" industry, and ordinarily receiving the main part of their income in one season of the year, under the new order may not purchase any of more than sixty listed classes of articles to a value exceeding $150 through a seasonal account.

When a contract of sale is involved—any agreement other than a charge account or a seasonal account—the minimum down payment of automobiles has been raised to $25.

For the sixty or more other classes of goods mentioned in the schedule of the order no instalment or deposit except the last, payable under a contract of sale ,shall be less than $5 a month or $1.25 a week.

Sales of goods to any Governmental, municipal, religious, charitable or educational institution, or to a public hospital have been exempted from the credit restrictions.

Toronto Girl Is Queen Of Farmerettes

Chosen from among seventeen candidates, Pat was crowned farmerette queen at the armories here Saturday night when farm placement officials and district fruit growers gathered to honor the 1,300 girls who serve in Government labor camps and on private farms throughout Ontario.

Smiling from beneath her crown of wax fruit and flowers, Pat admitted she was too excited to explain how she felt about representing the typical Ontario farm service girl.

"I haven't had time to realize what it's all about," she said.

Addressing Hon, P. M. Dewan, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, Pat asked the Minister on behalf of the women of the Ontario Farm Service. Force to "accept this fruit for Her Royal Highness Princess Elizabeth, as a gift and token that we are marching tep by step with our British sisters." The recorded address and the farmerettes' gift of fruit will be sent to England and presented to the Princess there.

Included in the broadcast were short addresses by Dr. G. E. Rogers, Deputy Minister of Education; Mr. Dewan, Alexander Maclaren, director of the Farm Service Force, and Mayor Charles Daly of St. Catharines, who presented Miss Farmerette with keys to the city and a ring.

Patricia Abbott was the representative farmerette from Fenwick service camp. Like the other contestant, she was chosen in a camp competition in which she received 88 per cent of the vote—highest average of any camp returns.

In the final competition judges placed her first on a basis of her service, personality and camp spirit. Athough the final decision was not based on physical attractiveness, Pat would have little trouble to win top honors in any beauty contest.

As she smiled for photographers after the ceremony, Pat's dark curls and dimples attracted a group of sailors who posed in a group picture with Miss Farmerette.

"She's in good company now," said her mother, a medical officer in the Canadian army. "She wants to be a sailor, too."

She admitted her ambition to join the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service as soon as possible.

"I was going to study medicine next year," she said, "but now the war is so serious, I think it would be better for me to get into the service right away."

Miss Farmerette has saved $30 in her five weeks of service at Fenwick camp and has invested the money in war savings certificates.

Following are the names of the candidates who were chosen to represent their camps in the Miss Farmerette contest, with the name of the camp: Fenwick, Patricia Abbott of Toronto; St. Davids, Barbara Bonsell of Toronto; Vineland, Diane Griffith of Toronto; Beamsville, Jean Maclean of Toronto; Grimsby, Annabelle Meyers of Toronto; Saltfleet, Jane Bradshaw of Toronto; Wateford, Joyce Oneill of Toronto; Viners, Carol Kingsmill of Toronto; Scull, Marguerite Dodd of Woodstock; Oakville, Betty McBrien of Peterborough; Winona, Dorothy Robertson of Meaford; Jordon, Christine Sutherland of Parkhill; Gregory, Phyllis Johnson of Barrie; St. Catharines, Jean Forrester of Orono; Virgil, Mary Catharine Ives of Stayner; Queenston, Joyce Andrews of Hamilton.

Bank Is Introducing Mail Order Service

The Canadian Bank of Commerce is introducing and advertising an improved mail-order banking system in order to aid people in rural districts, particularly farmers, and busy industrial workers, who because of the heavy demands upon their time and restrictions upon the use of gasaline and tires, find it difficult, if not impossoble, to call in person at bank offices. The point is emphasized in the advertizing of the Canadian Bank of Commerce that anyone who has mail service can have banking service through this new mail-order system.

Most important of all from the public's viewpoint, however, is the fact that this service can save time, gasoline and tires for all who wish it.

Banking by mail has long been a feature of Canadian banking service, but some time ago special forms were introduced which simplified this service.

It is to be noted particularly that this service is not only for farmers and other rural residents, but also for busy industrial workers, even in the largest cities, whose working hours are such as to prevent them from going to a nearby bank.

In introducing this improved mail-order banking service, the Canadian Bank of Commerce hopes to assist in the Dominion Government's program to promote thrift.

Britain Must Sovietize Political Machinery or Future State Will Be Hopeless, Says C.B.S.

AYOT ST. LAWRENCE, Hertfordshire, England, July 27—(AP).—George Bernard Shaw, 86 Sunday, says that Britain must Sovietize its political machinery after the war or "our future state will be a. hopeless as our past."

"Of all the possible systems of government," he said in an interview Saturday, "the British Parliamentary system, supposed to be a model for all democracies, is the very worst.

"It was invented 250 years ago to break the power of a parliament which wasn't disposed to do anything but compete for places on the front benches and collect money for war against Louis the 14th.

"Since then our parliament has not been able to do as much to develop industry and civilize the English people as Russia has done every 250 days for the last twenty years.

"Unless we restrict eligibility for public office—now open to every adventurer and ignoramus—to panels of qualified persons, municipalize the land, banking and insurance on a basis of nationalization, and Sovietize our political machinery, our future state will be as hopeless as our past.

Shaw was asked what he would consider the likeliest assurance of a permanent Anglo-American-Soviet partnership.

"Rather a dangerous question, isn't it?" he countered. "All three must extinguish Hitler first and foremost."

Th. playwright hasn't been making many observations since the war began. He was asked other questions, but he said vehemently:

"I don't deal in flapdoodle."

Then, with the old gleam in his eye, he added: "I might consider $100,000."

Postwar Reconstruction Plan Will Be Formulated By C.C.F.

TORONTO, July 27 (CP) — The national convention of the C.C.F. opening here today will issue a definite plan for postwar reconstruction, the first time the party has issued a complete plan of this kind. The draft of the plan will be placed before delegates tomorrow afternoon and officials said it is likely to pass without amendment.

Observers said the decision of many organized labor groups in Ontario to affiliate with C.C.F. gives added significance to the postwar program advocated by the party.

M. J. Coldwell, leader of the C.C.F. in the House of Commons, ast night hailed as one of the most significant moves in Canadian history the action of more thn 100 trade unions with headquarters in Ontario in deciding to affiliate with the C.C.F. He said approaches were made by the labor groups and not by the party.

"While we are at war we should be preparing definite plans for the construction of a better world after the war," said Mr. Coldwell.

The national council of the party, under the chairmanship of Mr. Coldwell, met here during the weekend to draft the agenda for the convention. The main business was consideration of a comprehensive statement of C.C.F. policies for victory and post-war reconstruction.

The morning session today will be open but the afternoon session will be closed, with only members of the party being admitted. The Tuesday morning session will be closed and the afternoon meeting will be open.

KINGSTON, July 27—An intensive three-week recruiting drive, aimed at increasing the strength of the Veterans' Guard of Canada has begun in Military District No. 3, it was announced today by Lieut.-Colonel W. H. D. MacMahon, district recruiting officer.

This drive, not solely a district endeavor, approaches a national scale with all military districts in Canada putting forth the same effort.

Plans for the campaign in M.D. No. 3 were discussed late Friday afternoon, when recruiting representatives of the Veterans' Guard of Canada from the district met with the senior recruiting officer for the purpose of correlating their recruiting programs.

Lieut.-Colonel A. L. Normandin, officer commanding the 2nd Battalion, Le Regiment de Hull and Ottawa area recruiting officer, addressed the gathering and at the conclusion of his talk answered questions concerning problems that might be met by recruiting officers during the campaign.

Speaking of the Veterans' Guard of Canada and the prominent role played by them in the present war, Colonel MacMahon stated: "The V.G. of C. are playing a very definite part in the second World War as thye did as younger men in the first World War. It is hoped that many who have not yet answered this second call will do so as soon as possible. Join up with your old comrades, now!"

Among tnose present at the meeting were: Major H. K. Clifton, No. 10 Company, Veterans' Guard of Canada of Farnham; Captain N. K. Harrison, No. 3 Company Veterans' Guard of Canada, Fort Henry, Kingston; Lieut. G. L. Howard, No. 10 Company, Farnham; Captain Jasper Dorman, Veterans' Guard of Canada. Farnham internment camp; Major C. M. McDowell, 21st Reserve Company, Veterans' Guard of Canada, Brockville; Major C. G. Bradshaw, No. 2 Company Veterans' Guard of Canada, Bowmanville; Major J. W. Cobb, No. 13 Company Veterans' Guard of Canada, Ottawa, and Captain R. A. Smart, No. 32 Company Veterans' Guard of Canada, Ottawa.

BUTTER is four Pats a Week in Britain

HITLER chose "Guns instead of butter." So the Nazis have guns! We must catch up . . . and beat them.

They tortured people to make them save. We must save willingly.

So it's up to us, each one of us, to economize of our own free will . . . buy War Savings Stamps and Certificates so that we can outstrip our enemies with planes and tanks and guns and ships . . . we must do more than merely meet the small requirements for compulsory saving. We must supply nearly half the money needed for the war—voluntarily.

Women must help by economizing in the kitchen, by patching and darning, by shopping carefully and cutting out waste. Make up your mind now to buy one, two, five or more War Savings Stamps every week. You can. You must!

Buy War Savings Stamps from banks, post offices, telephone offices, department stores, druggists, grocers, tobacconists, book stores and other retail stores. Certificates may be purchased for immediate delivery in denominations of $5, $10, $25, from Banks, Trust Companies and Post Offices.

A Special Canadian Award

The House of Commons Honors and Decorations Committee has made a recommendation which is worded thus: "That His Majesty's Government in Canada consider a submission to His Majesty the King, of proposals for the establishment of an order limited in number but not involving a title, for which His Majesty's subjects domiciled or ordinarily resident in Canada shall alone be eligible." This sounds like an excellent idea. The Chairman of the Committee, the Hon. Cyrus MacMillan, told the press that the Committee had in mind an award somewhat similar in nature to the Order of Merit, one of the rarest awards in Britain, for which Canadians are not eligible. The Canadian order, said Dr. MacMillan, might be limited to twenty persons who had done outstanding service to the country. It would not carry a title with it; as titles are felt to be out of keeping with the nature of the Canadian social system.

We hope that this suggestion will be accepted by the House, and that at some suitable time His Majesty will be approached in the matter; the King would hardly be likely to stand in the way of such a move. At present our somewhat churlish stand in the matter of titles and decorations prevents His Majesty from making awards when these are deserved, and the removal of this barrier would be a gracious act.

The Committee has also recommended that Canadians be eligible for other decorations not involving titles, including the orders of chivalry. This too is sound. A Canadian order would be a fine thing, but we are part of a large Commonwealth which exists under one Crown, and the existence of common honors and decorations in all parts of the Empire is an outward sign of its inward unity.

Second Front Flutterings

The peril in which Russia stands has made the matter of a second front immediately urgent, and there has been much fluttering among writers and speakers who seem to think that a second front can be established in a matter of a few days. Of course we are all anxious for a second front, but we have to be realistic about it. We think that the matter has been ably summed up by the Brantford Expositor, thus:

"The point is that the ways and means of effecting this purpose must be left to the military authorities. The latter, in turn, cannot be guided or governed by uninformed advice or popular sentiment, no matter how earnest or sincere that sentiment might be. Neither campaigns nor wars are won that way. Even where successful military strokes are achieved by 'intuition,' there must be accompanying expertness of direction. Many a good idea has come to grief because of amateurish execution. There can be nothing amateurish about either a second front or a major diversion, unless we wish to court disaster."

Important as a second front is, it is even more important that that front, when it comes, should not fail. We must possess ourselves in patience, and leave the matter to those who are in a position to see the whole problem.

America's Negro Citizens

It was inevitable that when the U.S. declared war on the Axis, propaganda directed at the republic's negro citizens should have been spread by those powers. Americans who are prepared to discuss the matter at all admit that the status of negros in the U.S. is unsatisfactory, and forms one of the weakest links in her democratic chain-mail. The negro problem is not a straightforward one; it is grounded in ancient prejudice and in some sections where its solution is most desirable it is virtually impossible for reasonable argument on the subject to be heard. But the war has goaded the democracies into action in many ways, and the ways in which the U.S. government is counteracting the Axis propaganda are highly advantageous to the negroes.

An earnest attempt is being made to understand negro difficulties and to reduce race discrimination wherever possible. Recently Paul V. McNutt and Wendell Willkie have addressed large gatherings of negroes in Los Angeles and New York on the theme of race imperialism, and they have had enthusiastic hearings. Negroes are well aware that Hitler has a low opinion of black men, and that his attempts to prove to them that the U.S. treats them badly are intended only to stir up trouble. They see clearly that loyalty to their own country is the best course for them, and they also see that an opportunity has come for them to improve their position. Already they are employed in all branches of war industry and are in all branches of the armed services, though their opportunities of advancement there are limited. Furthermore, the government is taking steps to break down the prejudice against employing negroes which exists in many branches of industry.

Social prejudice cannot be eliminated by governmental action, however, and Mr. Willkie has told the negroes that they must do the greatest part of the work in this direction themselves. He said, in his recent speech: "It is right that you should be alert to every opportunity to remove the discriminations that exist against your people. But you will find your largest opportunity to help your people in leading them to give their utmost to the preservation and advancement of our democracy. Thus by serving greatly they will share greatly in building among us a society in which all men will have justice and real freedom." Justice and real freedom are exactly what the negroes want, and it seems probable that they will take the course which Mr. Willkie advises in order to get those benefits. But we feel that a certain change of heart will be needed on the part of the white population before the problem is solved.

Half a Brick

A story used to be told of a tough section of London where the cry was frequently heard, "Here comes a stranger; heave half a brick at him," a certain section of the press seems to have a similar attitude—"Here comes a young man; heave half a brick at him."

Captain Randolph Churchill, the son of Britain's Prime Minister, recently arrived in New York on his way to London, where he is going to recover from an injury which he received while fighting in Egypt. Understandably enough, the newspapers sought an interview with him, and naturally, though unwisely, asked him when he thought the war would end. Randolph Churchill has never been celebrated for his reticence, and he answered the question thus: In 1942 if we are lucky, and in 1943 if we are not; in either case he thought the United Nations would win. This opinion was printed in the newspapers.

It is doubtful if Captain Churchill knows much more about the war than Senator May, who recently made a similar statement, but he was asked for his opinion and he gave it. Immediately a number of newspapers attacked him, questioned his right to say such a thing, and concluded by comparing him unfavorably with his mighty progenitor.

How ridiculous! There seems to be nothing against Randolph Churchill save that he is young, opinionated and fond of publicity; he has also shown himself to be a man of unusual ability and brilliance. Why should he be attacked bitterly when he gives a newspaper interview? Probably his statement was unwise; certainly there is little evidence for the confidence which he shows but his was not the first, and will not be the last foolish opinion about the probable duration of the war.

But no; the man is young, and therefore he must be denied the right to talk through his hat which is accorded so freely to his elders. Apparently there are many people who cling to the notion that in wartime a young man's duty is to fight and keep his mouth shut, leaving the delights of oratory to the infallible old. And of course Randolph Churchill has the disadvantage of being the son of a famous man, and it is a popular belief that the sons of famous men possess less than mediocre intellect. Obviously the man who expects a respectful hearing should arrange to be over fifty, and the son of parents who are poor, honest and as obscure as possible.

Keep These Papers Out

Editorial In THE MONTREAL STAR

WITH a consistency that would be admirable if displayed in an honorable cause The Daily News of New York persists in a campaign of mud-slinging and vilification against the British nation and the British Government. There seems to be a competition between The Daily News and McCormick's Chicago newspaper, The Tribune, as to which can most completely misrepresent the facts concerning Britain and the War and which can slander her the more viciously.

On its editorial page it runs a cartoon which shows two figures representing Hitler and the U.S.S.R. fighting at closet grips with daggers. The U.S.S.R. is shouting: "Help, John! What are you waiting for?" And the figure of John Bull, seated some distance away and holding a placard bearing the inscription, "2½ million first-line soldiers," is represented as turning to look at the fighting figures and saying: "I'm waiting for Sam." On the other side of the page is an editorial under the caption, "What Are They Waiting For?" from which we cite the following excerpts:

"Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, reports, after a visit to London, that there are tremendous masses of material and troops concentrated in England.

"'The troops,' says Mr. Curran, 'are practically standing on each other's shoulders'; and the British working people are 'all eager to open up a second front as soon as possible.'

"Curran, who is certainly a radical, and has sometimes been suspected of being a Communist, should know how British workers feel about a second front....

"What are the British waiting for?

"The only answer that we can figure out is that they are waiting for us; that they want to concentrate as many American as British soldiers in the British Isles before opening this drive."

THE intent of both the cartoon and the editorial is obvious and undeniable. They seek to convey the idea that Great Britain is funking the issue. The Daily News knows as well as any other paper in the world that it is guilty of deliberate misrepresentation of a most contemptible nature; it knows very well that if Britain falls, the last bastion between Hitler and the North American continent falls at the same time; it knows perfectly well that the policy of keeping powerful armed forces in Great Britain to defend that bastion has the complete approval of President Roosevelt and his advisers.

It also knows equally well that the shipping problem is quite as difficult for Britain, although she would only have a short distance to go, as it is for the United States. It knows further that the shipping problem is not a separate problem for Britain or for the United States, but a general problem, indeed, the most serious problem facing the United Nations as one body fighting for freedom today.

YET, knowing all things, The Daily News dishes up a tissue of falsehoods with the deliberate intention of misleading its readers and persuading them, to quote a pet phrase of the American isolationists and pro-Hitlerites, that "Britain is quite ready to fight to the last American."

THIS sort of thing has gone on too long. We do not presume to dictate what lies The Daily News or any other paper of its scurrilous type should print in its columns, but we do suggest that it is high time these poisonous papers were refused circulation in this country. The matter is one which is susceptible of very easy settlement by the authorities at Ottawa. All they have to do is to refuse the use of the mails to The New York Daily News as undesirable matter, and the sooner they do it, in our opinion, the better.

Unconsidered Trifles

A doctor was attending a pretty film star who had been ill for some time.

"You've got acute appendicitis," he announced.

The girl sat up indignantly.

"Say, cut out the freshness," she said. "I want to be examined, not admired."

Said Mr. Hobson: "A baby's troublesome, that's true; but remember the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world."

Replied his wife: "Well, then, suppose you assume world-domination for the evening while I go to the movies."

Three Canadian soldiers sleeping in a tent in an English camp were awakened by a terrific crash not far away.

"What was that—thunder or bombs?" asked one of them.

"Bombs," was the laconic answer.

"Thank heaven for that!" chimed in the third. "I thought we were going to have more rain!"

Not long ago a jury went out early in the day on a simple case, and when it came near the time for court to adjourn, his Honor sent for the jury, and asked the foreman if they required any further instruction. "We need no instruction, your Honor," replied the foreman, "but here are eleven pig-headed men who won't agree to anything."

A preacher had delivered a stirring sermon at a revival service, and a number of the listeners were moved to tears.

"Why should I be crying? I don't belong to this parish."

Called in to do some repairs to an A.R.P. wardens' post, a workman looked round for something to stand on. Spotting a rough wooden structure, he picked it up.

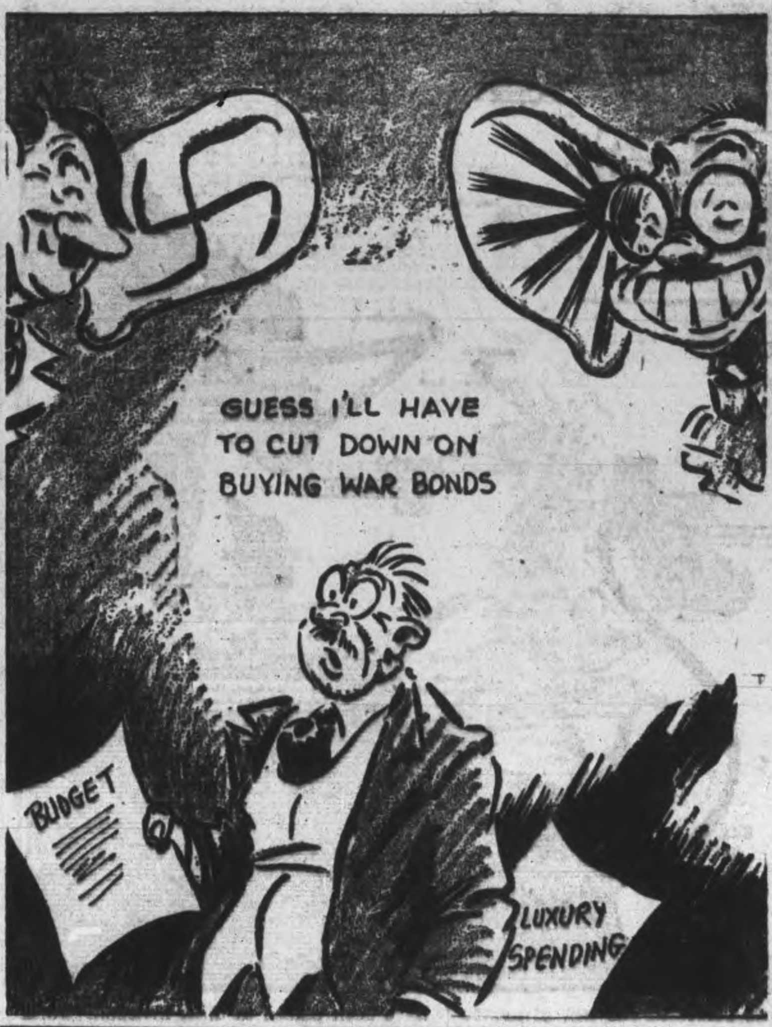
MUSIC TO THEIR EARS



Caucasus In Deadly Jeopardy

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press War Analyst

ANOTHER July fateful with grim portents for Russia is passing into history with little yet to indicate that Anglo-American might can be thrown into the battle scales in time to avert a disaster in Southern Russia for the Allied cause.

Compared with her situation a year ago, when it seemed gloomy enough, Russia's plight is incalculably more serious. She is all but cut apart from the Baltic to the Caspian by Nazi hordes pouring southeastward down the Don Valley.

Not only is her vast Ukrainian breadbasket in enemy hands, but her treasure-trove of oil in the Caucasus and the armies that defend it are in terrible jeopardy of being cut off. Her enemy now stands virtually upon the Don from close to its source south of Moscow to its mouth below Rostov. Even eastward in Siberia she is now menaced by the Japanese, flushed with victories in China, the Philippines, Malaya and the Netherlands East Indies.

RUSS ABILITY PROVED

Yet, harking back to those dark days in Russia in July, 1941, the essential fact is that she has endured through disaster upon disaster for twelve months as few British and American military authorities believed she could. Even now, and at the worst, there is small prospect that Hitler can force her to her knees or do more than prolong the war indefinitely if he succeeds in throwing Russian armies back eastward of a Volga-Don-Moscow-Leningrad line from the Caspian to the Baltic, which seems his purpose.

Not only Russian ability but Russian will to fight on against all odds have been proved in blood, German as well as Russian, in those twelve months. It is just about a year ago that President Roosevelt's emissary, Harry Hopkins, travelled from London to Russia by air. Just what he learned then of Russian determination never to yield to the Axis, or of Russian ultimate resources for war was not revealed.

Yet the information he brought back from Moscow must have played a vital part in the Roosevelt-Churchill conferences that produced the Atlantic Charter and pledged American as well as British help to Russia and all other nations which defied the Axis. It must have included factual assurances, now fulfilled, that Russia both could and would survive through another year.

Japanese entry into the struggle that ill-fated Sunday morning in December greatly changed the war picture in Axis favor. It definitely cramped both British and American immediate means of aiding Russia or massing for attack against Germany.

ALLIES' POWER RISING

But it also set the wheels of American war industries whirling at an all-out production pace still gaining momentum. It converted the Atlantic Charter into the foundation stone of a United Nations war fellowship of vaster latent power than any previous international combination.

The time will come, it must come, for Hitler as it came for the Kaiser when the limit of his powers of aggression has been reached while that of his aroused foes still climbs month by month, day by day. There is evidence of desperation in the nature of his far-spread attack on Russia. He is pouring out German blood in a frantic effort to attain some objective before the doom he has challenged can overtake him.

Whether that objective is oil in the Caucasus, reflecting his own dire and increasing oil needs, or a shorter Baltic-Caspian front across Russia to conserve his man and airpower against certain coming Anglo-American assaults from the west, is not clear.

It may soon be revealed on the Lower Don. Prompt expansion of his offensive into the Caucasus itself despite the risks of ever extending communication lines would indicate Hitler is gambling on reaching oil before winter, that his need is desperate.

Letter To The Editor

DR. T. T. SHIELD'S CAMPAIGN

Editor, Examiner.

Sir,—In reading, from time to time, about the more or less violent protests against the character of the speeches being made, in various parts of the country, by Rev. T. T. Shields, I have wondered whether many of us, in these violently distressing times, are not losing the saving sense of humor.

In an Ontario paper, not regarded by Catholics as unduly favorable to them, there recently appeared some editorial advice to Rev. Mr. Shields, intimating that if he has something better to offer than the religion he is attacking, he would be better employed in explaining its advantages, than in making bitter attacks on those who hold religious views which differ from his.

The editorial went on to speak of similar attacks made by individuals and organizations in years long gone by, and referred particularly to the formation of the P.P.A. (Protestant Protective Association) formed nearly fifty years ago for the purpose of helping the Orange Order to defeat the Government of Ontario, then led by the Honorable Oliver Mowat, who, a Protestant, speaking to Protestants throughout the land, had no difficulty whatever in convincing an overwhelming majority of them of the justice of what he was proposing to do in respect to a division of corporation taxes between the two system of schools, with, of course, the inevitable result, so far as the Protestant sense of fair play was concerned. The editorial then asked the pertinent question, "Where are they now?"

I remember that at about the same time a local celebrity, known as "Jumbo" Campbell, used to attract large crowds to Queen's Park, Toronto, every Sunday afternoon to hear him "paste the Papists," and he could do a far better job in that direction than Mr. Shields ever knew how to do.

With a recollection of Jumbo's classical "addresses" of other days I went one night to Mr. Shields' church to hear a much heralded denunciation and to make comparisons, and, frankly, was much disappointed. I almost felt sorry for the reverend gentleman when the collection plate, which had already travelled a long distance, passed me, with only about a dessertspoonful of small coins (not all silver) upon it. I had great difficulty (as may be imagined) in restraining myself from dropping in a ten dollar bill to help assuage his natural disappointment.

In Reverend Mr. Shields' "attacks" those of us, who stop for a moment to think, will recognize a perfectly natural phenomenon where men in various walks of life, invariably of quite mediocre ability, but with an extraordinary craving for publicity, do strange things. Thus, from time to time, we have an epidemic of attempts to break existing records as to the number of eggs or doughnuts, gallons of beer, or live goldfish that can be consumed at a single sitting. We have the "Jumbo" Campbells, and the Tim Bucks, and the flag pole sitters, and so on, ad infinitum, that come and go and are forgotten, producing little effect except perhaps a feeling of disgust by men and women of ordinarily decent sensibilities.

I was for a number of years the general chairman of the Catholic Taxpayers' Association in Ontario, and I know whereof I speak when I say that an overwhelming majority of Protestant men and women in this country are left absolutely cold by wild and bitter attacks on other faiths, and are deeply resentful of and humiliated by the attempts to have it appear that such attacks are made in their name. I have no hesitation in saying that history provides the Catholic people of this country with ample evidence that the Protestant body itself may be depended upon to take care of such matters when any real necessity for action on their part arises.

Meantime, nearly everyone has heard the story of the big man whose minute and shrewdish wife frequently was subject to "tantrums" during which she would pummell him with her little soft fists, and who, when asked why he permitted it, replied: "Oh, it amuses her and it doesn't hurt me."—Sincerely yours,

M. J. QUINN.

A Bible Message For Today

I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help.

My help cometh from the Lord which made heaven and earth.

He will not suffer thy foot to be moved: he that keepeth thee will not slumber.

Behold, he that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep.

The sun shall not smite thee by day nor the moon by night.

The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, even for evermore.—Psalm 121.

Leadership Problem

MANY Conservatives are discussing the position of their party and its leadership. Hon. R. H. Hanson has signified his willingness to continue as house leader but it is known he would like to relinquish the responsibilities of that position. Right Honorable Arthur Meighen, who was named leader of the party, has been silent since his defeat for election in York South, a blow not only to himself personally but to the party. Yet it is a pity that this great and historic Canadian party should be undecided about leadership.

Whether one is Liberal or Conservative, it is generally agreed that the best kind of government comes about when there is a strong opposition in the House of Commons and that helps good democratic government. It is known that here and there throughout the country, there are Conservatives who would be glad to assume the leadership of the party. There is Lt.-Col. George A. Drew, for instance, who is known to be quite ready, if invited, to take over at Ottawa. It is not good to have a great Canadian party without a leader as is virtually the case with the Conservatives at present. The present uncertainty is bad not only for Conservatives but for the government at Ottawa.—Niagara Falls Review.

Mr. Ilsley On Civil Servants

ONE passage from Finance Minister Ilsley's speech in Parliament on Friday will be noted, we hope, by outlanders. This:

"We refused permission to a great many civil servants to enlist. We have kept them in the Civil Service, and we work them to death, or nearly to death, in many cases, and we load on their backs these various taxes because we are asking them to make sacrifices."

Thus the answer to those outside Ottawa who still think of civil servants as "clock watchers," as a favored class dawdling away hours for good pay in pleasant surroundings; pets of the State.

The truth, as Mr. Ilsley testifies, is that there are no harder worked people in this country today than the Ottawa Civil Service. We hear of 40-hour weeks and 44-hour weeks, and so on and so forth. Yet there are civil servants in this city who put in as many as 80 hours a week, who hardly know what it is to spend an evening at home. And they don't get overtime.—Ottawa Journal.

Smartness Mixes With Rusty Grey In Convoy Going

By AGATHA PALMER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, July 25.—(CP).—A string of freighters, one behind the other, mathematical in their rigidity of procession, move slowly down the harbor. Before them three planes sweep in V formation towards the wider blue swell beyond the headland.

Another Allied convoy is moving out to sea.

A long craft, white and even a little weird, surges astern of us, gathers speed and passes. We recognize it as one of the 50 over-age destroyers which the United States swapped for 99-year leases in history's most spectacular of recent bargains. Beside the modern corvettes she had the appearance of last year's hat beside a 1942 creation. But there is no lack of smartness in her decks.

The freighters have the dignity acquired of years of sailing. They are battered, clumsy and resolute. Rust splashes their grey sides. At their sterns, guns stand levelled over the gurgling green-white wake.

Of Many Nations

The procession assumes an international character. Norwegian flags flap defiant crosses of red and blue. The blue and white flag of Greece flutters with almost feminine daintiness, as twentieth-century tramps bear out the traditions of the seakings of Crete. A tanker labors past with her low decks almost awash. Behind her comes a freighter piled high with drab lumber.

Sailors wave to us from the decks. An improvised clothesline flutters marine underwear just before the mast. One seaman is leisurely having a haircut on deck. Another is engrossed in a newspaper, probably the last he will see for many a day.

Several women stand on one vessel's deck. They too wave farewell to representatives of the world of street-cars, talkies and dishes that do not gambol as you eat.

Dropping the Pilots

A fighting plane swoops above them, turns, and flashes in the sunlight above us. Its roar drowns the throbbing of the freighters. Then as the long line swings further out to sea, the pilot boat stands by. Black figures slide down the ships' sides, and lean back on their oars as their rowboats rock with the wake. Columns of smoke plume the line now stretching beyond the harbor's mouth. The leading ships grow a little dim, merging in the dazzle of sunlight, mist and gulls.

As they fade away, they merge also with other processions, with a gigantic world procession, with the mingling lines of steamers, oil-burners and schooners that in the United States as in Canada, in Australia as in England, roll across the oceans that tide of armaments and men that already laps the beaches of Europe and must yet engulf the stronghold of Berlin itself.

Harle-Hetherington Vows Taken At St. Andrew's

The marriage was solemnized on Friday evening, July 24, at St. Andrew's United Church, of Helen Isobel, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hetherington, Stewart street, to Sgt. Observer Gordon Harle, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Harle, Rubidge street. The ceremony was conducted by Dr. E. W. Young, asissted by the bride's uncle, Rev. J. S. Ferguson. The church was decorated with standard baskets of gladioli and fern and Mr. R. B. Harle, father of the bride, played the wedding music. During the signing of the register Miss Mamie Biggs sang "At Dawning."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gracefully attired in a floor-length gown of white sheer, with lace yolk, Peter Pan collar, full bishop sleeves and lace gloves. The bodice was fastened with self-covered buttons from neckline to waist. Her white finger-tip veil hung from an embossed satin halo and she carried a bouquet of summer flowers.

Her maid-of-honor, Miss Irene Battle, wore a floor-length gown of pink sheer with matching net Dutch caps and lace gloves. Miss Betty Harle, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid and wore a blue gown in style similar to the maid of honor's. Helen Hubbell, niece of the bride was flower girl in a long dress of buttercup yellow taffeta with a gathered skirt, tailored bodice and short puffed sleeves, and a matching bo-peep hat. They carried bouquets of summer flowers.

Sgt. Gwillyn Williams, R.C.A.F., was best man, and the ushers were Sgt. W. H. Hutchinson, R.C.A.F., and Mr. George Cunningham.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Hooper's Palm Rooms where the bride's mother received, wearing a white and navy redingote frock with a navy straw hat and a corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a gown of burgundy sheer with beige accessories and a corsage of red roses.

After the bride and groom left on a short honeymoon trip, the bride wearing a two-piece beige dress with beige and rust accessories. They will live in the Maritime Provinces, where the groom is stationed.

Local Couple Surprised On Silver Anniversary

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Garside, 269 Thomas street, was the scene on Saturday of a surprise celebration on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary.

About 5.00 p.m. guests began arriving from Cobourg, Bowmanville, Hamilton, Port Hope, Newcastle, Welcome, and later from Oshawa, Toronto, Mount Albert, Omemee, Millbrook and the Peterborough district. At 8.00 p.m., Mrs. Ralph Kemp of Oshawa, accompanied at the piano by Miss Alma Duffy, entertined with a number of violin selections, and Mr. Jules Mercier gave several vocal selections.

This was followed by a mock wedding, "Lil Abner" style, conducted by Professor Walter Clarke of Hamilton. Those taking part in the ceremony were Miss Olga Preston as bride Daisy Mae, Miss Norman Adlam, bridesmaid, Elizabeth Myles and Carole Garside, flower girls. Mr. Jack Whielen, as bride-groom Lil Abner, Mr. Ralph Kemp as the bride's father and Mr. C. A. Cowan as best man. The bridal party were dressed Hill-Billy style and carried bouquets of vegetables and sucked lolly-pops and ate radishes.

Mrs. J. Londerville extended congratulations to Mrs. Garside and Mr. C. W. Cowan of Newcastle extended congratulations to Mr. Garside. Mr. Clark then read the illuminated address and Miss Beryl Hunter, on behalf of the friends, presented Mr. and Mrs. Garside with a silver tea service and tray, and other gifts. The bride and groom of 25 years made suitable responses, after which a sing-song was enjoyed. Refreshments were served, with Mrs. H. Glover and Mrs. T. R. Crossley of Port Hope pouring tea, and Miss Bernice Garside, Mrs. Myrtle Hunt, Miss Norma Adlam, Miss Marjorie Goldie, Miss Dorothy Crossley, Mrs. Cyril Jay, Miss Beryl C. Fowler and Miss Olga Preston assisting.

JUDGING BY very propitious testimonies of major planetary configurations solid and enduring progress and worthwhile benefits may be looked for. Through executive ability, well - organized strategies, sustained by attention to details and by initiative and bold strokes, long static situations may be spurred into surprising action and new efforts placed on firm foundations. There may be action in real estate, investments and other sources of income, and gifts or inheritance may figure. In a social way there may be festivities and lively functions.

Those whose birthday it is may look for ultimate recognition and benefits from long and meritorious endeavor. There may be gifts, endowments, and rewards for fidelity and steadfastness. As well, old stagnant conditions may spring into enduring life and solidity, activated by good judgment, executive ability, sound plans and wise programs. Property, investments especially in mining or kindred stocks should rise in value. The personal reactions may be pleasant and justify celebration.

A child born on this day should have much stability of character, with sterling and praiseworthy traits valued by its elders. Its practical abilities may be enhanced by artistic, literary and social talents.

Popular Bride Feted By Many Friends

Mrs. Gordon Harle (nee Helen Hetherington) was much entertained prior to her wedding on Friday evening. Miss Irene Battle entertained at a delightfully arranged linnen shower, at which the gifts were presented in a prettily decorated umbrella brought in by little Helen Hubbell, niece of the bride.

Miss Madeline Gilgour entertained at a miscellaneous shower for the bride, at which many useful gifts were presented. Streamers from the centre-piece of prettily decorated table contained clues as to where the gifts could be found.

The Misses Betty and Dorothy Harle, sisters of the groom, entertained at a miscellaneous shower at which she received many lovely gifts in a basket decorated in blue and white. The room was decorated with baskets of delphin- a number of the bride's associates iums.

Miss Irene Rumary entertained at the office of the De Laval Co. at her home, when the bride was presented with a white satin bridal set and a Royal Doulton pendant. The guests enjoyed games, after which refreshments were served by the hostess and her mother.

The choir of St. Andrew's curch, of which both bride and groom were members, presented the young couple wih a silver cream and sugar set and tray The Trinity knitting group resented Miss Hetherington with a modernistic picture. The members of the De Laval ofice staff gave her a solid walnut coffee table and a crystal rose-bowl in the cornflower pattern.

Mrs. R. B. Harle, mother of the groom, entertained for her future daughter-in-law, at an aftenoon tea at her home on Rubidge street. The guests were received by Mrs. Harle, Miss Hetherington, and Mrs. George Hetherington, mother of the bride. Mrs. E. W. Young poured tea from a prettily decorated table centred with white madonnal lilies. Mrs. G. A. Gillespie was tea room hostess and Mrs. B. Fowler, and Mrs. Pinkham assisted.

SHOULD AN ADOLESCENT GIRL BE SENT AWAY TO SCHOOL?

It Will Take Care of Trying Time When She is Neither Child nor Woman.

A MOTHER wants to know what I think about sending Janey off to college. Well, speaking by and large, I think that it is a good thing to send adolescent girls away from home because it takes care of that hobbledehoy period in which they are neither children nor women, but in which they think they are wiser than Solomon and more sophisticated than Mae West, while Mother considers them mere toddling infants.

It is a time that tries the souls of both, for it is one prolonged battle over clothes and dates and lipstick and red finger-nails and boy friends and the use of the telephone and punching the home time clock and about everything else in life. Only too often it ends in making a breach between Mother and daughter that they are never able to bridge.

The years go by so quickly that Mother cannot realize that Janey is no longer a babe who has to be held by the hand, but an adult capable of standing on her own feet. And Janey considers Mother a fossil, with ideas left over from the Stone Age; and so they clash at every turn. But let Janey go away to school for two or three years and Mother gets accustomed to the thought of her being grown up and entitled to the privileges that go with it, and Janey comes to perceive that Mother is a pretty smart old gal, after all, and knows a lot about men, even if she did marry Father. And so they are able to meet harmoniously on the common ground of womanhood.

So much as to the advisability of sending girls off to school, considering it as a general proposition. Specifically, the wisdom of doing so depends, I think, upon three things. First, on whether the girl is college material. The fact that Janey clamors to be sent to college is no indication that she thirsts for knowledge. Half the time she wants to go only because she thinks it is the smart thing to do, and because the girls she runs with are going, and because she has heard alluring tales of dormatory frolics, and not because she has any designs whatever upon the higher education. And she will come out just as innocent of culture as she went in.

Unfortunately, parents are rarely able to distinguish their geese from geniuses, but before they invest a a large number of their hard-earned dollars in a college course for Janey they will do well to take her school reports into consideration; and also try to recall whether they had to scourge her to her homework, or whether she leaped at it and got more thrill out of working out a problem in geometry than she did out of going to the movies. If she barely made her grades and got through Hi by the hardest, it would seem to indicate that Nature intended her to carry the key to a cosy little cottage instead of wearing a Phi Beta Kappa one.

The second point to consider in deciding whether to send Janey off to college is the family exchequer If there is plenty of money, by all means let Janey go if she wants to, whether she is highbrow or lowbrow.It disposes of her, as has been said, during the stormy adolescent years and makes for peace in the household. It is just one of the luxuries in which her rich family can afford to indulge.

But it becomes a tragedy when a poor family practically starves itself to death to send a girl of mediocre ability to college in the fond belief that they are giving her advantages that will magically open the doors of success to her. In this country, where we have a fanatical faith in the power of a college diploma, it is pitiful to think of the poor fathers and mothers who work their fingers to the bones, who do without food they need and the medical attention that would save their lives, to get one for Janey, only to find out it is just a scrap of paper, after all.

And, lastly, whether parents should send Janey to college depends, to a great extent, upon whether she possesses that strange intangible gift that we call "IT" for want of a better word. If she is homely and lacking in personality; if her Fairy Godmother didn't put the come-hither look in her eyes and she is plainly destined for single blessedness, give her all the education she can take. It will be a tool in her hand to enable her to support herself.

But if she is one of the girls whom men flock around as bees around a honeypot, it is foolish for her parents to sacrifice themselves to give her what we call educational advantages. Indeed, a college degree is a handicap instead of a help toward getting a husband.

Birds And Blossoms

By ALICE ALDEN

THE TINY toque massed with trimmings of bows, birds or blossoms is a favorite and appears in every collection and on every pretty head. Joan Fontaine is addicted to this type. It is made of fine black felt with black and white birds massed in a mist of white apple blossoms shading to palest pink. Soft pink veiling is a final alluring touch.

Shut Out Wins $88,250 Arlington Race

CHICAGO, July 27 — (AP). — Shut Out clinched the three-year-old championship of the year on Saturday by galloping to ivctory in the $88,250 Arlington classic under one of the most magnificent rides ever delivered by Jockey Eddie Arcaro.

The son of Equipoise, owned by Mrs. Payne Whitney of New York, won by three-quarters of a length to th cheers of 45,000 spectators. Valdina Orphan was second, four lengths ahead of With Regards. King's Abbey was fourth in a field of nine.

The winner ran the mile and a quarter in 2:01 2-5 equalling Omaha's record for the stake and was only one-fifth of a second off the track record established by Discovery in 1935.

Shut Out closing at odds of 3 to 2 paid $5.00, $2.80 and 2.40. The place price on Valdino Orphan, coupled with Rounders as an entry was $2.80 with $2.40 to show. With Regards returned $3.20 to show.

Shut Out, winner of the Kentucky Derby, the Belmont Stakes, the Blue Grass Stakes, and the Yankee Handicap had won $148,747 in eleven starts this year and added $69,700 as a result of this triumph.

Dogpatch Fifth.

Trailing the first four across the finishing line in the order named were Milky Way Farm's Dogpatch, Valdina Farm's Rounder, Col. E. R. Bradley's Bless Me, Mrs. E. H. Augustus' Trelawny, and Hal Price Headley's Anticlimax. The original field of eleven was reduced by the withdrawal of Aletern, owned by A. C. Ernst Cleveland and Bolus, a surprise nominee entered by Mrs. Emil Denemark of Chicago.

Valdina Orphan's share of the purse was $10,000, while With Regards earned $5,000, and King's Abbey $2,500.

Shut Out was successful in eluding the jinx that trailed Johnstown, Bimelech, and Whirlaway in the procession of defeated champions, in winning the classic, richest 3-year-old race of the year. It was the first time since Granville won in 1936 that a favorite triumphed.

With Regards Early Leader.

With Regards went winging from his No. 1 post postion but he could not draw clear until the field hit the backstretch. Going into the club house turn With Regards, on the rail, had a slight lead over Valdina Orphan, which in turn was almost lapped on Rounders and Bless Me, racing alongside.

Arcaro eased up Shut Out after the start and at the club house turn the champion had just King's Abbey beaten. King's Abbey stumbled slightly at the start and was ninth.

Down the backstretch it was With Regards in front with Valdina Orphan at his neck and Bless Me third. Arcaro hogged the rail with Shut Out. Slowly the son of Equipoise moved up. He passed one horse, then another.....always on the rail.

With Regards set a hot pace—:45 4-5 for the half, 1:10 1-5 for the three-quarters. Shut Out kept charging ahead with Valdina Orphan and With Regards in front of him.

Arcaro abruptly took Shut Out off the rail at the top of the stretch and sent him through a narrow opening between Valdina Orphan and With Regards.

Shut Out caught Valdina Orphan near the final eighth pole, and with Arcaro hand riding for all he was worth, the champion slowly drew out to victory....the first winning classic favorite since Granville.

Water At Cobourg Warm For Bathing

COBOURG, July 27 — (ENS). — Fine weather brought many to Cobourg for the week-end ,the tourist camp being well filled. For the past four or five days the water has been quite warm and the beaches have been thickly-populated with bathers. Up until then the lake water has been cool. Many local citizens, who usually went away for their Sundays, are obliged to stay more at home due to the gasoline restrictions, but are beginning to find that their own Victoria Park is about as pleasant a spot as can be found anywhere.

Provincial police recovered a car during the week-end, stolen from Wesley Minifie, near Gore's Landing. The car was found in the Rice Lake district out of gas.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Luckies and Royals will battle it out in a City League game tonight at Riverside that will have a lot to do with the final standing in the loop. It is the last regularly-scheduled game for both teams before the playoffs and both outfits want the win badly. If Royals should come through they would be only a half game behind Plazas who wind up their end of the schedule with a game against Soldiers Wednesday night. On the other hand Luckies want a victory to climb out of fourth place if possible for the team finishing fourth has to meet the club at the top in the semi-final round of the playoffs while the second and third teams meet in the other bracket. Tonight's game should be a real argument. The pitching choices have not been announced from either camp but it could be that the two pitchers who faced each other in the Genelco-C.G.E. game Saturday night will be the opposing heavers tonight. Akers may be the Royal selection while Bev Gray is a likely starter for Luckies. Royals will be without the services of first baseman Arnold Smith who has an injured knee and big Ed Niziol will likely cover the initial sack. Otherwise the two clubs will have their regular lineups in action. The game will start sharp at 7 o'clock and one of the largest crowds of the season should be in the stands.

Westclox who won three games in a row last week are getting little rest. The schedule throws them right back against Brintons tomorrow night and the game should be one of the best of the campaign in the Girls' League. The Carpetmakers gave the Big Bens their toughest opposition of the week when they clashed Thursday night and Westclox just did manage to eke out a one-run victory, taking the decision 10 to 9, although Brintons made it so close that the tieing run was on the bases in the ninth when the last out was registered. The losers outhit the Westclox on that occasion and with a little better support Leila Hughes, Brinton pitcher would have turned in a win. She will be on the firing line for the Carpetmakers tomorrow night facing tireless Marg Watson who pitched and won all three games for the Big Bens last week. The game rates a real turnout of fans.

With the proceeds going to the Canadian sailors Wednesday night's battle between the league-leading Plazas and the powerful Soldier team looms up as one of the tid-bits of the City League game. This is the last fixture in the City League schedule before the playoffs start and the result may have a decidedly important effect on the loop standing. If Royals defeat Luckies tonight Plazas have to take the Soldiers to finish in first place. On the other hand the Soldiers may need a win to make sure of at least third place. Both clubs will be at full strength for the crucial struggle and it promises to be a thriller. It remains to be seen whether the batting of such military stars as Sero and Thompson can offset the offensive power of the Plazas who have plenty of strength up there at the plate. Tom Parsons will probably be on the firing line for Plazas while Stan "Irish" Kilfoyle looks like the most likely starter for the Soldiers inasmuch as Southpaw Ken Fleming has left the local camp for other duties. It's a great game for a great cause.

C.G.E. All-Stars staged the fastest bit of scoring seen in these parts in many a moon in the frist inning of Saturday evening's game with Genelco when they actually registered five runs on the first seven balls delivered by Pitcher Collins, starting hurler for the losers. Even Ripley would hardly believe that but it really happened. Earl McNabb, first up for C.G.E. hit the first ball for a homer and you can't score any faster than that in any league. Art Heal beat out a bunt. Crowe singled on the next ball. Hawks did likewise and another run was in. Eddie Starr slammed a triple down the right field foul line, knocking the foul marker over and two more runs crossed the plate. On the second ball to Pryde he hammered a fly to left field and the fifth run of the frame was in with only seven balls thrown by Pitcher Collins. C.G.E. slammed out two more hits in that inning before the side was finally retired, making a total of seven safe blows in the opening session.

Peterborough-Whitaker's Cricket Club registered a win at the expense of the Oshawa Cricket Club at the Oval Saturday, despite the fact that a number of the local eleven were absent at military camp. Oshawa batted first and were all out for 35 runs. That looked like an easy task for Peterborough-Whitaker to handle but runs came so slowly at first when they opened their inning that for some time there was doubt as to whether or not the small total registered by the visitors from Oshawa might not prove margin enough to give them a victory. However the Peterborough players finally got their attack moving and put together a score of 48, not very robust scoring it is true, but ample under the circumstances to give them a win over the cricketers from the Motor City.

A busy week-end schedule in the big leagues failed to show any threat either to the New York Yankees or the Brooklyn Dodgers, both of which increased their margin as a result of the Saturday when the Pittsburg Pirates defeated Curt Davis 4 to 1 thanks to smart six-hit pitching by Gornicki but the Dodgers bounced back Sunday. St. Louis Cards took a decision over Boston on Saturday afternoon 6 to 3 but Javery turning in one of the best efforts of the year held them to three hits in the first game of Sunday's double-header, holding them to three hits and the Braves won 5 to 2. Beazley was the victim. One real feature of the National League race yesterday was the fact that the Philadelphia Phillies really won themselves two ball games, defeating the Chicago Cubs 4 to 3 and 6 to 1, a real achievement for the lowly winners.

* * * * * *

In the American League the Yanks are steaming right along. They won single games Saturday and Sunday over the Detroit Tigers with Hank Borowy and Red Ruffing the winning pitchers and Charlie Keller who hasn't been able to punch himself out of a paper bag most of the season had two home runs Sunday to help Ruffing grab off his tenth win of the season. Boston Red Sox managed to knock off St. Louis 9 to 8 in a twelve-innings' affair Saturday but ran into plenty of grief Sunday when Denny Galehouse held them to four hits and the Brownies won 9 to 2. One of the four Boston hits was a homer by Ted Williams, a sort of a decisive answer to the challenge from Chet Laabs which saw the latter tied with the Red Sox powerhouse until Williams drove his 20th four-master of the year out of the park yesterday. Williams also got a homer in the second game. Sid Hudson delivered a nice pitching effort for Washington in the first game against Cleveland Sunday, blanking the Indians 2 to 0. The Tribe took the second game easily 7 to 1. * * * * * *

Local golfers who often blow an easy one may take a little comfort out of the fact that Byron Nelson failed t sink a four-footer in the Tam c'Shanter $15,000 open golf championship at Chicago yesterday and instead of winning the affair went into a tie with Clayton Heafner of Linville, N.C. and the title will be decided today. There was $2,500 riding on that putt yesterday and Nelson failed to come through. They can all miss them, even in the highest company.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Sergt. Harold Robson sends along a postcard from the Rangers camp in British Columbia, showing the hockey arena at Prince George....It is a safe bet that Les Burton has already looked the place over carefully....Peterborough-Whitaker cricketers have Art Pagett, former ball player, to thank for their win over Oshawa Saturday....Pagett came up with a score of 26 runs out of 45 scored by his club and was the only player on either side to do much with the bat....The St. Louis Browns have climbed to within three games of second place....If they had to play the Boston Red Sox all the time the Brownies would be leading the loop....All but one of the C.G.E. team Saturday were City League players while on the Genelco only Bev Gray and Ed Niziol have performed in the City Loop....Johnny Loaring, Windsor sprinter who is on loan to the Royal Navy won two events in a big wartime track meet at Epsom, England....Petty Officer Dutch Pammett, former local lacrosse and hockey player, is home on furlough from the Canadian Navy....He recently returned from England where he had a chance to visit the Glengarrians and said that he saw so many Peterborough soldiers that it was just like getting home...

Scoring Low As Locals Beat Oshawa

Local cricketers had their old oponents from Oshawa as visitors at Nichols Oval on Saturday, and in a low-scoring interesting game scored a win by a margin of 13 runs the final score being Peterborough-Whitakers 48, Oshawa 35.

Both sides were weakly represented, the locals being without Langhorne, Williams, and W. Dyer, away in camp with the Rangers, but some new players turned out who should prove useful with practice.

Oshawa batted first and fared badly against the bowling of Dyer and Colbran and 5 wickets were down for 13, and then two veterans, W. Sargent and N. Hodgson, took it to 33 before the latter was well caught by Thorpe and the total was 35, with M. Craig, 10 top scorer. Dyer took 3 wickets for 6 runs and Colbran 5 for 26.

The locals have to thank Pagett for their win—going in first he was last out and scored 26 out of 45 from the bat. He showed strong defence, and hit loose over hard. He got little help the other end and 5 wickets were down for 31 but Thorpe stopped in until the match was won and the total reached 48, leaving the local team the winners by 13 runs. W. Howarth took 4 wickets for 4 runs and Hodgson 4 for 29.

TORONTO, July 27.—(CP). — A strong admixture of tears and jeers followed the yarn about Dizzy Dean pitching for Superior against Winnipeg in the Northern (Class C) League). Diz bounced in a couple of innings, and the day after the story appeared fans and writers across the country either wept for the shame of it all or concluded sorrowfully that Dean had lost his mind.

But it turns out that the mighty one hasn't fallen so far that he has forgotten what buys bread and cheese. Maurice (Winnipeg Free Press) Smith reports that Business Manager Johnny Petersen of the Winnipeg club tried to engage Dean for an appearance at Winnipeg. Dean's answer: "Sure. For return transportation from St. Louis and 40 per cent. of the gate."

Each bowed and scraped, inviting the other to putt. Both accepted. Each stepped to his ball, stroked swiftly, and the balls toppled into the hole simultaneously.

Churchill Joins R.C.A.

HALIFAX, July 27.—(CP).—Winston Churchill has enlisted in the Royal Canadian Artillery. Arriving in Halifax during the week-end, Winston Churchill, 25, of Hantsport, N.S., told military authorities it wasn't a gag. He had been named after Britains Prime Minister, he said, while Churchill was First Lord of the Admiralty in the last war.

With The Boy Scouts

Camp for Week-end

It is planned to hold a leader's camp for Saturday and Sunday of this week, August 1 an 2, an the committee met at home of Commissioner Hornsby and drew up all plans.

It was emphasized that members of the group committees would be urged to attend; also members of the local association; that much can be done towards the unification of the movement by a better understanding of the work by all concerned.

We would ask any one planning to attend to get in touch with Commissioner Hornsby at once that plans for food can be arranged

If sufficient members wish to stay over we understand that the camp may run over until Monday. This is the first leaders' camp planned in this district; let us make it a success.

St. John's Cub Pack

Attention, all members of St. John's Wolf Cub pack. Akela Frank Pammett will take over some of the pack activities on Friday of this week, and we ask every member to attend.

Akela Pammett is home on furlough from the West, and it may be a long time before he is back with us. So let us give him a good farewell by our attendance.

On Friday of last week the pack met at the church, then went to Nicholls Oval to enjoy a series of games.

A Camp Call to Boy Scouts

A call to boy scout leaders across the Dominion to overcome the wartime problems involved and secure a fortnight's camping for their scouts this summer has been issued by the executive board of the boy scouts' association. The object is to eusure both the camp training that has proved so valuable a feature of scouting, and the health benefit of changed surroundings and the full outdoor life, particularly for the new and younger scouts. Older scouts not otherwise employed will be working on farms. For there are recommended camps in locations from which the boys can go to their farm work ,then continuing farming and some scouting. For the young scout, where transportation is a difficulty, near home hike-distance camps the recommended. It may be possible to locate such camps on farms where the boys can help with berry picking and other lighter farm work. Chairmen of group committees are called upon to do everything possible to arrange camps and to secure the needed camp leadership.

Meet Ty Cobb

Pte. Tyrus Raymond 'Ty' Cobb, of Nashville, Tenn., is shown shouldering the kind of weapon that made his namesake famous as one of baseball's immortals. This "Ty" is a distant relative of "the Georgia Peach," and is with the U.S. armored force at Fort Knox. He plays ball, too, but is contemptuous of his average "I could never get my average above .350," he says. So maybe he's a nearer relative than he thinks.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

As far as our lawn bowling schedule is concerned we have passed the half-mile post, and we have passed the three-quarter mile post and are now heading down the stretch for the dash to the finishing line. What will be the final positions Will the leaders hold their positions or will they tire and drop back? Will some dark horse come dashing up on the outside to nip the leader by a nose at the finishing wire? Will some unknown slip through on the rail and come home a winner with a photo finish? We dont know—but we do know that the finish is going to be one of the closest and the most exciting in the history of our club. Each team in Group No. 1 has thee games to play, and in Group No. 2 each team has four games to play. From now on the games will be played very carefully — one slip might mean the leadership. By the end of this week we should begin to see daylight.

Now about this doubles tournament on Wednesday afternoon. Play will commence at 130 o'clock and will continue till 6 o'clock. Three ten end games are to be payed and the fee is set at $1.00 per pair. Thte committee has decided to accept as entries a lady and a gent; or two ladies but not two gents. It is felt that if the women are sports enough to enter and try their hand against strong opposition, why good luck to them. Please let us have your entry at once. Dont be surprised if you have a big crowd out on the half holiday.

We understand that there was a nice crowd out last Saturday evening It seems that these week-end tourneys are growing in popularity as the season goes on.

22 Hits Made Off 2 Pitchers By Electricians

C.G.E. All-Stars carried too much power for Genelco in the benefit game at Riverside Park Saturday evening between the two divisions of the big south end plant, defeating the armament lads 14 runs to 5. The Electricians garnered 22 hits off two Genelco pitchers while Ronnie Akers of the Royals was holding the losers to eight blows.

George Hawks led the onslaught with five singles in six trips to the plate, Don Crowe had two doubles and a single, Eddie Starr, a triple and single in three times up and Art Heal three singles. For Genelco Niziol, Hodgetts and Kennie Kane each had two hits and Moffatt and Maloney were the only other two to hit safely.

The game was played in aid of the British War Victims' Fund and the sum of $16 was raised for that worthy cause.

There was some good fielding. Ded Eason had a nice running catch in left field for Genelco and Maloney also came through with a nice grab. Art Heal played fine ball at shortstop for the winners.

The game was really settled in the first frame when C.G.E. greeted Collins, starting pitcher for Genelco as if here were a long-lost cousin. They combed him for seven hits, including a homer by Earl McNabb off the first ball pitched and a hard-hit triple by Eddie Starr, and a total of five runs in that first inning and then came back with another in the second on hits by Heal and Starr. Bev. Gray who has been pitching for the Juveniles went to the hill top for Genelco in the third and stopped the C.G.E. attack effectively for the next five innings, allowing only one run, made by Crowe who doubled to right and scored on a bad throw to third. However the Electricians broke loose again in the eighth when they banged out five hits for the same number of runs and again in the ninth when four hits gave them two more counters.

Genelco's only run off Akers in the first six innings came in the first when Maloney reached second on an error by Heal and scored on a couple of wild pitches.

The losers did not score again until the seventh when singles by Kane and Hodgetts, an error and a double steal gave Manager Art Pilling's club two runs. They added another pair in the ninth when Kane doubled, Hodgetts walked, the two moved up on a wild pitch and scored on a couple of infield outs.

The teams:

C.G.E.: McNabb, 2b; Heal, ss; Crowe, 1b; Hawks, 3b; Starr, c; Mowry, c; Pryde, lf; Stewart, cf; Moorhead, cf; Whitehill, rf; Akers, p.

Geenlco: Busby, cf; Maloney, ss; Colins, p; Gray, p; Niziol, 1b; Dundas, rf; Moffatt, c; Kane, 3b; Hodgetts, 2b; Eason, lf.

By innings:

C.G.E.	510 100 052—	14	22	3
Genelco	200 000 202—	5	8	4

Gyro Golfers Out On Cobourg Greens

COBOURG, July 27.—(ENS). — Response to the three-day special golf program at Cobourg Golf Club was very gratifying to the committee responsible for its arrangement. Wednesday was for the novices, some of whom never had a golf club in their hands before. Thursday and Friday was for the ladies and the players under 18. Saturday a two-ball foursome was held.

Winners in the non-members class on Wednesday were R. Gardiner, Tom Wilson and C. Ralls. G. Wheeler led the members' competition, with Jack Cooke second and Dr. Oliver Kerr in third place. Winners of the two-ball foursome were Dr. L. Jordon and Mrs. R. Parker; Miss Muriel Hayden and Ken Haig; Goldier Wheeler and Mrs. W. H. McGuire.

THE RAM TANK

One of the mightiest and fastest "land battleships" ready to be hurled against the Axis panzers is the Ram tank, a cruiser which is the equipment of Canadian Armoured Divisions. Ram tanks travel at 30 miles per hour and weigh more than 30 tons. Anti-tank and machine guns are mounted for their protection. Intercommunication is by two-way wireless. The Ram is made in Canada.

LEAFS WIN TWO OF THREE WEEKEND TILTS WITH NEWARK BEARS

Coombs Hurls 6th Shutout For 13th Victory

By the Associated Press.

He's only a little guy, 5 feet 9 inches to be exact but if you ask any member of the Jersey City Giants they will tell you that Bobby Coombs is a mighty big man when he toes that rubber.

Coombs hurled his 13th victory and sixth shutout yesterday as the Giants twice defeated the Montreal Royals 3-0 and 4-2 to move back into second place in the International League standings.

Newark Bears split a twin-bill with Toronto Maple Leafs winning the opener, 8-7, and losing the nightcap 4-3. The Bears piled up a 5-0 lead in the lid-lifter mainly on two homers by Russ Derry and one by Aaron Robinson and went on to win.

Home runs played a prominent part in the twin-feature between Syracuse Chiefs and Buffalo Bisons. Syracuse won the initial encounter 6-5 on first baseman Eddie Shokes' four-master in the 12th inning.

Bufalo agined an even break for the afternoon when Lambert (Dutch) Meyer drove a homer in the eighth inning of the finale with the bases jammed to give Andy Sierra a 4-0 conquest.

Baltimore Orioles staged a seven-run rally in the eighth to defeat the last-place Rochester Red Wings 9-8 in the first game of a bargain bill.

The aftermatch was all Rochester, the Wings pounding out 15 hits in hanging up a 13-4 verdict.

The Leafs on Saturday got four runs in the last two innings, two of them in the ninth with two out, to nose out Newark Bears 8-7. Syracuse got four-hit pitching from Blackwell to beat Buffalo 1-0 and Montreal squelched Jersey City 3-2 with their second game being called at the end of the ninth with the score 2-2. Baltimore drubbed Rochester 7-1.

Laurel Ladies Queens of Track

TORONTO, July 27 (CP)—Laurel Ladies' Athletic Association were crowned Queens of Ontario track and field at the 18th annual Women's Ontario track and field championships at Beaches Stadium here Saturday. St. Cair Ladies' Cub, so of Toronto, was second.

Joan Davis, of St. Catharines, who entered the most unattached, was in third place and Hamilton Olympic Club finished fourth.

Miss Davis won the 80 metre hurdles event in 12.9 seconds, one second slower than the Ontario and Canadian record of 11.9. Her defeat by Jean Lowe of the Laurel Club in the running high jump was one of the features of the day. She was second in the running broad jump, so won by Miss Lowe.

Another upset at the meet was the defeat of Winnifred Rudge, former St. Catharines track star, now member of the Royal Canadian Air Force (Women's Division), by T. Lee Warner of Victoria, B.C., in a special military women's 60 metre sprint. Miss Rudge was second in the senior 200 metres sprint.

Nelson Shoots 77 On Course With Par Of 70

CHICAGO, July 27—(AP).—Byron Nelson, shaken by one of the most amazing collapses in the history of big-time golf, went out bleakly today to battle Clayton Heafner of Linville, N.C., in an 18-hole playoff for $2,500 first money in the Tam o' Shanter Open tournament.

Nelson, the tall ex-Texan, was a woebegone figure, and a lot of exceptionally smart money had been bet overnight that he would lose to Heafner, the blonde giant who won the Hahoning Valley tournement at Gerard, Ohio, a few weeks ago with an astonishing 72-hole total of 264.

It was a crusher—what happened to Nelson yesterday. One of the world's great golfers, he shot a miserable 77 over a course whose true par is about 70, to dissipate a lead that had looked impregnable and finish in a tie with Heafner, each with 280 strokes for the four rounds.

Heafner, having posted an ordinary 72 on his final round, and harboring no real hope of anytring better than second or third money, became one of possibly 30,000 spectators who watched almost unbelievedly as Nelson blew sky-high in the course of a stretch duel with Lawson Little. Golf's oldest heads could not remember such a spectacular blow-up.

The scoreboard read: Nelson, 280; Heafner, 280; Little, 281. Nobody else was even close. Harry Nettlebladt of Avon, Conn., held the next place all by himself at 284.

A 69 was posted by Frank Stranahan of Toledo to give him a 288 aggregate to pace the amateurs competing in the Open.

Howard Wheeler, the long-hitting cross-handed golfer from Los Angelest, scored a par 72 in the final round to lead the negro trio with a total of 300. Zeke Hartsfield of Atlanta, Ga., had 78 and an aggregate of 305, and young Calvin Searles of New Orleans had a disastrous 88 to finish with 311.

Dodgers Take Two Games From Pirates

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

St. Louis Cardinals, who appear to be the only outfit able to make things interesting for Brooklyn Dodgers, wheel into Ebbets Field today for a three-round showdown with Durocher's darlings.

The last time they visited the banks of the Gowanus, the Cardinals dropped four games out of five to the Flatbush flock, but they went home and developed a counter-punch that flattened the Dodgers three times in a recent four-game set at St. Louis.

The pace-setters coasted up to the important series yesterday by stopping Pittsburg Pirates twice without dipping into the "big four" of their pitching staff, while second-place St. Louis split with Boston Braves and slipped back another notch, seven lengths behind.

Scores Early in Games

The Dodgers nipped the Pirates 3-2 and 5-3, scoring all the runs they needed in the first three innings of each game. Joe Medwick drove in all the Brooklyn markers in the opener with a pair of doubles as Johnny Allen shaded Bob Klinger in a mound duel and Dolph Camilli paced the attack in the nightcap with a triple, double and single.

After two weeks in Casey Stengel's canine cottage for loafing on the mound, Tom Earley stopped the Cardinals cold as he pitched the Braves to a 5-2 decision in the first game. The Cardinals took the second 5-3 with the help of some nifty relief hurling by Harry Gumbert.

Cincinnati Reds regained third place by whipping New York Giants 6-2 and 2-1. Max Marshall's three-run homer was the big blow of the first game, while a four-bagger by Frank McCormick decided the issue in the second.

At Philadelphia, three home runs in one game by Catcher Clyde McCullough couldn't keep the Phils from turning back Chicago Cubs, 4-3 and 6-1.

In the American League, New York Yankees downed Detroit Tigers 5-2, in the only single game of the day, but added a game and a half to their long lead with the help of St. Louis Browns, who took a pair from the second-place Boston Red Sox, dropping them 13 games behind.

Denny Galehouse pitched the Browns to a 9-2 decision in the first game, holding the Red Sox to four hits, while the heavy hitting of George McQuinn carried the Brownies through, 4-3, in the nightcap. Ted Williams of the Red Sox hit a home run in each contest to regain sole possession of the major league leadership in that art with 21.

Indians Blanked

Sid Hudson of Washington Senators blanked Cleveland Indians 2-0 in the first game, but the tribe bounced back in the second, 7-1, with Bus Mills showing the way on a triple and three singles.

Chicago White Sox and Philadelphia Athletics split, Chicago winning the opener for Ted Lyons, 2-1, on a triple by Joe Kuhel and a single by Bob Kennedy in the ninth and Philadelphia taking the second, 3-2 in 10 innings, with Luman Harris tossing a four-hitter.

Hank Kornicki got his first Pittsburgh victory of the season by beating the Dodgers 4-1 Saturday on six hits, a performance bettered in the National League only by Lon Warneke, who threw a five-hitter at the Phils for a Chicago Cub victory. The Cards had it easy, turning back the Braves 6-3, while Cincinnati won a slugfest from the Giants, 8-6.

In the American League, the Yanks defeated the Tigers 7-2 with Hank Borowy tossing a seven-hitter, while Phil Marchildon beat the White Sox 2-1 for the Athletics, Washington clubbed the Indians 10-6 with a four-run outburst in the 13th inning and the Red Sox got a 10th-inning tally to defeat the Browns 9-8.

Dubois Retains Singles Crown

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont., July 27.—(CP)—Theo Dubois 31 year old Ottawa war worker, was the only one of the three major titleholders to retain his crown—the senior single sculls—as oarsmen from two nations wound up the Royal Canadian Henley's 60th regatta here Saturday.

Toronto Argos dethroned Buffalo Westsides as aggregate titleholders and an Ecorse, Mich., crew won the Hanlan Memorial Trophy, emblematic of the senior eight-oared championship, defeating Westsides who last year won that pagticular major event.

Argos won the aggregate title, held by Buffalo in 1941 and 1940, through five meet victories, six seconds and two thirds for 60 points against Buffalo's four first places, three seconds and two thirds for 43 points The Ecorse oarsmen were third with 33 points. The Toronto entrants won only one race Saturday, final day of the three-day regatta, but that triumph — Ken Thorburn's victory in the 145-pound singles sculls—together with four second and one third place was enough to keep the Toronto double-blue ahead of the onrushing Buffalo men who stood in third place at the conclusion of Friday's racing.

NEW YORK, July 27—(AP). — Joe Louis turned his ankle slightly at Fort Riley Wednesday....But that story about a broken leg is strictly the stuff you slice thin and shove between two pieces of pumpernickel....Shelton Bell, the Toledo thumper with the Bachelor of Science degree, is challenging light-heavy boss Gus Lesnevich after racking up seven straight wins... They're tagging him "Liberty Bell" now—but nobody seems to be able to ring him.

To-day's Guest Star

Deak Morse, St. Johnsbury (Vt.) Caledonian-Record: The Dodgers are each giving a pint of blood to the Red Cross...No army in the world'll be able to out-talk our soldiers if they can find a way to split Durocher's donation among all the boys.

Pinch-Hitter Strikes Out

Pitchers better head for the storm cellars: Fullerton gets back to-morrow....Thanks for lis'nin... Manager Willis Hurlin's son is the bat boy for his pop's Little Rock club...and got the heavy-o from the umps the other night...If Mungro can knock off the Dodgers just once, the Giants'l l probably give him a bonus...But it better not be a trip to Havana.

GMC War Output 628 Million Past 6 Months

DETROIT, July 27 (AP).—General Motors Corporation reported today that its plants in the United States and Canada have delivered $628,439,152 worth of war materials in the first six months of this year.

Of the total $370,959,781 worth was produced in the second quarter of this year. Deliveries in the first half of 1941 totalled $131,800,082.

A summary of monthly production since the United States entered the war shows that June deliveries almost doubled those of January this year. The January total was $78,048,424; June deliveries were $141,601,064, up $22,268,948 from the preceding month.

The report showed that during the week ended July 5, total General Motors hourly rated factory employment in the United States was 213,488, an increase of 17,666 over the week ended June 6. The average number of salaried and hourly rated employees on the company's payroll in the United States was 262,787 during the month of June.

On The High Road To British Dromes

By DON WHTIEHEAD
Associated Press Staff Writer

AN AIR BASE SOMEWHERE IN NEWFOUNDLAND, July 27—(AP).—Newfoundland never had seen anything like Michael Patrick Ryan Efferson, a self-appointed ambassador of good will from the United States.

He sort of dropped in unannounced on this remote outpost on the trans-Atlantic ferry route, looked the situation over and proclaimed himself the mayor and president of the chamber of commerce, of which he is the only member.

Officially, the red-faced, blue-eyed Texan with a battered canvas hat over his thinning hair holds an important position in the Royal Air Force Ferry Command.

A plane seldom leaves the field for the long hop to Britain that he doesn't see it off and give the boys a thumbs up.

"And I ain't lost a ship yet that I've given the old thump," Mickey boasts.

He greets all visitors with a speech of welcome and presents them with the key to the city—which he promptly takes away from them to be autographed. The names of Molotov, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr.; Col. Bill Donovan, Lord and Lady Halifax and others are thick on his key.

The Newfoundlanders still can't figure out the shrewd, good-natured Texan. They see him hobnob with cooks, laborers, truck drivers and the lowliest of the workmen. Five minutes later he'll be chatting with a visiting Ambassador or an English Lord.

Efferson came here only a few weeks ago, but already he knows most of the people by their first names. If there ever is an election, Mickey could win hands down.

The Mick is a product of Brady, Texas, and a veteran of the First Great War. He got his start in aviation as a parachute jumper and wing walker in the old barnstorming days. He's twice a member of the Caterpillar Club—men who have jumped from planes to save their lives.

They Caught It But Not For Long

HASTINGS, July 27 — (ENS).—It's not often that three experienced anglers lose a 15-pound muskie, especially when he's securely fastened to the boat. Nevertheless, that is just what happened to Rufus McKnight of Hastings, Frank Zanders of Canton Ohio, and Carmen Ingram of Elmvale, Ontario.

The trio were trolling near Wallace Point on Thursday afternoon and after a couple of hours had managed to catch two 'lunge weighing about five pounds each. They fastened these to the stern of the boat with light chain lengths and snaps, and allowed them to remain in the water, a common practice among fishermen.

After landing the 15-pounder the three experts fastened him to the boat also, but in this case the snap was not strong enough. Frank Zanders hauled the two small 'lunge into the boat, but when the big fellow came up he did a graceful flip-flop, broke the snap and disappeared.

To top it off, Rufus McKnight also did a not so graceful flip-flop right into the water in a futile effort to retrieve the lost prize. He sustained nothing worse than a good ducking.

Chief William Wellman of Hastings, himself an angler of repute, is not allowing the three experts to forget about the big one they could not hang on to.

Plant Not On Call

WINDSOR, Ont., July 25—(CP).—The Hiram Walker and Sons Ltd. distillery here is the least adaptable of all plants under control of the parent company, Hiram Walker-Gooderham and Worts Ltd. for manufacture of butyl alcohol and therefore the least likely to be converted in event government orders for the product, to be used in synthetic rubber manufacture, are received, it was indicated here today.

"It is quite definite that the government is proceeding in this direction," H. C. Hatch, president and chairman of the Board of Hiram Walker-Gooderham and Worts Ltd. told reporters.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

BELLEVILLE PRICES

Belleville market prices Saturday included: corn 40c a dozen; red raspberries 25c a box; butter 0c; potatoes $2.15.

HONEY RESTRICTION

Use of honey for industrial purposes will be limited to the amounts diverted quarterly last year. The government is trying to ensure an adequate supply for Canadian consumers, supplying wartime needs of Great Britain and preventing industrial consumers from outbidding wholesalers and retailers to obtain a substitute for sugar.

TOO MUCH NOISE

Residents living on Ruhidge street above the Canadian General Electric would like to get their hands on the driver who comes along around twelve o'clock just when they have begun to drift into dreamland and who starts honking a musical horn, which they claim is not so musical as its operator seems to think.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Answering a complaint from the Empress Hotel that a man was prostrate in the yard of the hotel premises, Constable Leo Murphy brought Ralph Winters to the police station, on a charge of intoxication. Early Sunday morning the man complained that his back was hurt and Dr. Herb. Young was called and ordered the removal of Winters to St. Joseph's Hospital, where it was discovered that the man's back had been badly hurt in some way

IT'S RISKY THOUGH

Children on bicycles can do an amazing number of things and still manage to hang on to their machines and ride. One boy wheeled up George street at five o'clock Saturday afternoon in the midst of heavy traffic carrying five bottles in his hands, which left him no chance to touch the handlebars. Still and all, he made the trip all right and performed the same stunt coming back down town, with apparent ease.

KNOCKED DOWN BY BICYCLE.

Mrs. Alfred Coddy, 35 Edgewater Boulevard, had her knee bruised and her elbow and hand injured when she was knocked down by a bicycle while crossing the C.P.R. footbridge Saturday. Mrs. Coddy was walking with her sister-in-law, who was pushing a baby carriage when two cyclists approached and one of them rang a bell. Mrs. Coddy stepped out of the way to let the first machine pass, but was struck and knocked down by the second bicycle.

A BEAUTIFUL DREAM

With visions of the money he would receive for a nice pelt, George Lynch, 466 Rubidge street, who is an employee of the Post Office, went after a muskrat swimming in the water out at Lake Chemong Sunday. But the results were a little different from those anticipated, and instead of a nice pelt Mr. Lynch received a bite that went through his hand. In future he and muskrats will not be on speaking terms, he says.

PROMOTED

P.O. Gordon Harle, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Harle, 336 Rubidge street, who was married Saturday, received his commission on Sunday. P.O. Harle has just graduated from Rivers, Manitoba, and has been granted an extension of his leave.

MILITARY CALLS

Military calls arrived over the week-end for quite a large number of local men, many of them in the age category of 35 to 40 years.

LOTS OF PEOPLE

Many of those who were unable to leave town Sunday spent the afternoon at either Inverlea Park or over at the canal, and swimming was the most popular thing. Whole families gathered together there for several hours in the afternoon and evening.

COME AND GO

TOURIST CALLED HOME

James A. Horton, Akron, O., who had been holidaying at Foley's, in the Keene district, had his vacation cut short Saturday when word was received that his father had died suddenly. Mr. Horton left for home immediately after receiving the telegram.

CANTEEN Is ROBBED

Peterborough had another week-end burglary over Sunday when thieves broke into the premises of B. F. Ackerman, Son and Company, gaining entrance through a window at the back and robbed the canteen. So far as is known the loot included about $14 in cash and cgarettes valued at about the same amount.

TAKING IT EASY

A young man appeared in Victoria Park about 10 o'clock Sunday morning and stretched out comfortably on the grass to rest and to try to remain cool. Besides the pillow and other things needed to make him comfortable he brought along his own entertainment, that of a portable radio, and a number in the park benefitted from it.

SMALL BOYS' HEROES

"I'd rather be Superman," said one of three small boys, evidently arguing about their fictive heroes. "There ain't nothin' he can't do. He even can see through walls, and lift anythin'." But he don't go all the places like Flash Gordon," another of the trio contended. "He can kill dragons with a ray gun, and a motor boat that can go faster than a mile a minute I'll bet." "I'd rather be Aladdin Jr.," the other boy declared with warm loyalty to his juvenile paragon. "All he has to do is to ask for something and he gets it, just like that. If he wants a cone it's right in his hand. I'll betcha he can see through a wall if he wants, too. That's who I'd rather be...."

Bail Driver At $500 After Remand

Percy Campbell, charged with drunken driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident, following a collision with a couple of parked cars succeeded in securing a remand when his case was called before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning.

"The accused has been sick and has not been able to secure his witnesses," said T. J. Carley, K.C., who appeared for Campbell. "That is not a very substantial reason for another delay," said Magistrate Langley and Crown Attorney McElderry, K.C., said that he had three other witnesses in addition to police present.

Campbell was finally remanded until Wednesday on both charges on cash bail of $500.

Fire Destroys Prince of Wales Cheese Plant

CAMPBELLFORD, July 27. — (ENS).—Farmers of the neighborhood saved 100 boxes of Cheddar cheese from the cool curing room of Prince of Wales factory which was destroyed by fire early Saturday afternoon with a loss to Grant Anderson, owner, estimated at about $7,000.

The cheesemaker, E. K. West, was at dinner with his wife in their upstairs quarters. Mrs. West noticed tendrils of smoke apparently coming from the ceiling of the dining-room. First efforts were directed to finding the seat of the fire, and then while her husband carried on in a single-handed struggle to locate and fight the fire, Mrs. West ran five hundred yards to the nearest telephone to appeal for help.

A detachment of the Campbellford fire brigade responded, but by the time of their arrival at the doomed factory flames had broken through the roof. One hundred farmers from the district did splendid work in loosening and rushing out the presses and vats and other parts of the machinery. They even saved the day's make of curds which were taken to the Trent Valley factory here, also owned by Mr. Anderson.

Two weeks' output of the factory, about one hundred cheese, were carried from the cool curing room and piled under a shade tree for a short time until they were removed to Campbellford.

Mr. Anderson informed The Examiner that the factory was partly covered by insurance, but that his loss would be something more than $1,500 according to a first estimate. He also said that he would probably rebuild at once.

The factory was constructed 53 years ago by James Shillinglaw, who sold it to John Murray, both of them outstanding cheesemakers in a district that is famed for the quality of its Cheddar. John Campbell was the next owner, and finally Mr. Anderson acquired it five years ago.

Dairy farmers of that part of Seymour were talking Saturday of immediate arrangements to divert their milk to the nearest factory for the rest of the season.

Only person to receive any injury during the fire was Bill Murray son of Dairy Instructor J. A. Murray, a patron of the factory who lives less than a mile farther north. Bill was among the first to reach the scene and was assisting in the removal of equipment from the vat room when a burning ember from the ceiling fell on his back. His injury was not serious and he continued to assist with the salvage efforts till flames drove everybody across the road. The cheese were insured, so patrons will not have to take a loss on them if they are graded down below the 93 or 94 score which Maker West has been getting for them since the factory started operations for the season on April 20.

Skunk Expert Called

Guelph, Ont., July 27 (CP)

THREE skunks who started an offensive against the Guelph General Hospital when they accidentally fell into a basement window pit were subdued by Shack Barber, Guelph skunk expert, who released them from their prison.

2nd Battalion Colors Laid In Ottawa

OTTAWA, July 27.—(CP). — The colors of the 2nd Canadian Infantry Battalion of the First Great War Expeditionary Force were deposited in the Dominion Archives Sunday during an impressive ceremony at the Military Museum.

Col. Lorne T. McLaughlin, former commander, presented the colors to Dr. Gustave Lanctot, Dominion Archivist, while former members of the battalion flanked the color platform and members of the 21st Canadian Armored Regiment, Governor-General's Foot Guards and the Peterborough, Ont., Prince of Wales Rangers, two regiments which perpetuate the old 2nd Battalion, ranged the aisles.

Col. McLaughlin paid tribute to the dead of the Old "Iron Second" whose spirit, he said, would "live on forever with their glorious deeds never to be forgotten."

Fern Blodgett Weds Ship's Master

A wartime romance of the sea culminated in the recent marriage of Fern Blodgett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Blodgett of the American Hotel, wireless operator on the Merchant Ship "Mosdale," to its master, Captain Gernar Sunde.

FERN BLODGLTT

Captain Sunde's wife was the first girl in Canada to graduate from the special wartime course in wireless operating, and her distinction was featured in the press of the country when she was appointed to active duty in the wireless booth of the "Mosdale." She was the first girl and so far, from all accounts, has been the only girl in this country to venture into the wireless field for hazardous service at sea.

Looking around for some branch of war work she enrolled in the military wireless school in Toronto, a solitary girl in a large class of men, and came through with a high standing. She then volunteered for active duty, and was assigned to the "Mosdale," and has been at sea for about eighteen months.

And as such things happen, Captain Sunde fell in love with his wireless technician, and favor and luck were with him. He and Miss Blodgett decided a month or so ago to get married as soon as opportunity ashore offered to them.

Somewhere down by the sea a week ago today the spirit and courageous Peterborough girl became the wife of the Mosdale's Captain, at a quiet ceremony that was but a brief interlude in their seafaring.

Engineer Swims Otonabee To Rescue Cow

It isn't every day that somebody will swim across the Otonabee and haul a drowning cow out of the water, but Stewart Munro, an engineer at the Raybestos company, did just that Sunday evening on the Lakefield Road, a few miles beyond Nassau.

Mr. Munro had been out picnicing for the day with Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Holt and on their way home, just as dusk, a crowd of tourists hailed them and asked if they could do something about a cow that had slipped into the river across on the far bank. They drove on to try and locate a farm house, and the first one at which they stopped, the woman said she thought it was a cow belonging to H. Beavis, R.R. No. 4, but he was away for the day.

So they turned and went back to the place where they had been hailed and found a crowd lined up, but nobody was volunteering to do anything. Stewart Munro, who is an all star athlete, plunged into the river, which is fairly wide at this point, and swam across battling against a very strong current.

When he reached the cow it was lying flat on its back and was pretty well gone. But wastings no time, Mr. Munro grasped it by the hind feet and shoved it over and finally managed to get the animal up on its feets. Having been under water close on to 20 minutes, with its nostrils just clearing the surface the animal was pretty well water-logged and had to be held up for several minutes before with a good deal of pushing and shoving on Munro's part the cow scrambled up the incline on which it had slipped, and rejoined the others of the herd.

The cow was a good milker and worth considerable to its owner and it was sheer luck that Mr. Munro appeared and volunteered to see what he could do. Otherwise there would have been one less cow in that particular herd.

Two Neighbors Total $204 For War Victims

A group in the South-end of the city, which originated through two good neighbors who organized and set about the task of raising funds to help the victims of air raids over Britain through the Peterborough and District British War Victims Fund, have made a really notable success of this self-imposed labor of love.

Headed by Mrs. P. Kitchen and Mrs. W. Townsley of 58 and 60 Ware Street, this group has since the first of this year raised and turned into the fund the splendid total of $204, a creditable showing, with their latest cintribution amounting to $23.00 which is recorded in to-day's list for the fund.

This latest contribution was raised through three afternoon euchre parties held at the home of Mrs. W. Townsley, Ware Street Mrs. Donaldson, Aylmer Street, and Mrs. Clifford on Perry Street in the order named, and marks the eighth time that the fund has benefitted through their work.

Keeping up the good work, two events of a similar nature are planned by this group for the immediate future, in itself an indication of how interested they are in helping the people of Britain and the cause for which the Empire is fighting.

No less than four personal donations are listed among to-day's receipts, all of whom have previously given help to the fund.

One donation for $2.00 was handed in with instructions to use no name but did not specify in what way the fund secretary could acknowledge it, so it is being listed under the name of "A Helper for Those in Need."

Sidney Boyles of Cavan, veteran of World War I., is again heard from, and "A Friend from Crawford's Grove" makes a repeat donation of $10.00 which has appeared on a number of occasions, while William A. Taylor adds his contribution of $3.00; and thus each one shows the desire to be of some personal help to those who have suffered by attacks from the air.

Speaking of personal help there can be no doubt that some feeling of personal responsibility actuates all who give in this manner, and such, if faced by all in everything that pertains to success in this titanic struggle, would undoubtedly hasten the day of victory.

Previously acknowledged	$44,055.67
Mrs. P. Kitchen and Mrs. W. Townsley, proceeds of euchre parties held at the homes of Mrs. Townsley, Mrs. Donaldson, and Mrs. Clifford	23.00

Constable Denies Clouting Prisoner

That he had been hit over the head with a billy while being brought into town after being arrested by Special Constable Carman English at Chemong Park early Sunday morning was the evidence given in police court this morning by a young engineer who faced a charge of being drunk in a public place.

Evidence of the constable in regard to that phase of the case was that the accused must have struck his head against the police car while being put into the vehicle and Gerald Westlake who was with the officer on the trip into town said that the accused had not been hit.

It was stated that after being locked up here accused has asked for a doctor and when Dr. Bob Young was called the engineer was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital suffering from a bad bruise over the eye. He was released from the institution this morning.

Arrested As Drunk

Constable English and Westlake swore that the accused was drunk when he was placed under arrest and Provincial Traffic Officer L. A. McClure who saw him after he had reached the police station here said that he was under the influence of liquor.

A companion of the accused said that the man was not drunk. Accused himself admitted having a couple of pints of beer before leaving Peterborough and a pint and a portion of a second pint at a cottage at Chemong.

Dr. Bob Young said that the accused was sober when he saw him at the police station at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, two hours and a half after his arrest.

Magistrate Langley said that he was satisfied that the accused was intoxicated within the meaning of the section but that it was not a serious case of intoxication and for that reason he was merely going to impose minimum costs, making the fine $10 and $1 costs.

Doesn't Get The Breaks

AUBURNDALE, N.S., July 27. — (CP).—If it isn't one thing it's another. Alexander Osborne, 70 year old farmer of this Lunenburg county village, lost his barn and most of his livestock when lightning struck three weeks ago. On Saturday one of his few remaining horses kicked him. Now he's in hospital with a broken leg.

War—25 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press.

JULY 27, 1917.—British and German governments ratified an agreement on the treatment and exchange of prisoners. British Commons rejected German "peace resolution" by 148-19 vote. Allies captured La Basse, Fere-en-Tardenois and Roncieres on the Western front.

Bell Recalls Hallowe'en Student Coup

The bell of the old Collegiate Institute on the north side of Murray street opposite Victoria Park, has been removed from its penthouse, disclosing the date of its casting, 1837.

Fred Finnie, building supervisor for the Board of Education, has been directing the re-roofing of the building, and in the course of that work it was decided to find some other place for the bell. It will perhaps be set up indoors.

Several students of the old Collegiate in the days when the late Cortez Fessenden was principal will recall, if they read these lines, Hallowe'en exploits which once every few years reached their objective, muffling the bell. A small band of students, on one of those occasion, armed themselves with a ladder, climbed to the roof of the eastern porch to which they then hauled up the ladder and by several stages they reached the main roof. They left the rope intact except a few strands remaining uncut, hanging by a hair. Next morning Mr. Fessenden gave the yanking end of the rope the usual nine o'clock pull, and it slithered down about his feet. And it failed to do any gonging.

Down the hall there was a wall bell, and the principal tried it next, but even it did not work. The students had silenced it, and some of them were peering out of doors down the hall watching the "Old Man" in his embarrassment. Mr. Fessenden strode back to his room and got a handbell, rang it up and down the corridors, and out on the entrance walks.

The prank was a complete success, with great but furtive glee for its perpetraters.

MANY GRADES

There are some 125 grades of iron and steel in a modern automobile.

MUST NEED THEM

There are 17 types of sergeants in the U.S. Marine Corps.

Many Recruits Failing To Make Grade

Although there were a goodly number applied to the Medical Board over the week-end, there were a large number who were unable to make the grade, but the new week started off with a bang when twelve recruits went before the Medical Board at the Training Centre this morning.

The following were in the A1 and A2 category, and will leave for Kingston today: Carl Laing, 337 McGill street; Francis MacMurray, 185 King street, and Roger S. Blackwell, who has already left.

Those in B1 and B2 category are Alfred Fairfield, R.R. No. 4, Omemee; Wallace Muir, 182 Hunter street east, and James Cross, 464 Driscoll terrace.

The following were passed into a temporary category: Edward Cook; Bewdley; Elmer Tripp, 529 Aylmer street; Lorne Ventress, Haliburton, and Jacob Gill, Lindsay, deferred.

Those who enlisted for service and who were rejected because they were medically unfit for service are: Arthur S. Goodman, 227 King and George streets; Hugh C. Johnston, Belleville, and Harold S. Ephgrave, 187 Stewart street.

Sgt. Omer Lemay, of the Veterans' Guard, Ottawa arrived today to take over the job of enlisting recruits for the Veteran units needed across Canada. He will be working in the recruiting office of the Armouries along with Lt. G. P. Brook, who is recruiting for the active service forces.

The big rally to have been staged in Lindsay Saturday night had to be cancelled because the army couldn't compete with the three dances in progress. So it has been postponed until Friday night, when there will be a big parade and His Worship, Mayor Charles Lamb, will speak along with Lieut. G. P. Brook, Sgt. Omer Lemay and others.

500-Pound Tuna

WEDGEPORT, N.S., July 27. — (CP).—The first bluefin tuna of the season was landed here during the week-end by Lorene S. Pothier, a Wedgeport tuna guide. The fish topped the scales at more than 500 pounds.

URGE SECOND FRONT.

EDMONTON—(CP).— A resolution urging the opening of a second front in western Europe was endorsed at a meeting here Sunday. The meeting was sponsored by the Edmonton Council for Democratic Rights.

Flames Leave H. J. Miller Without Roof

Flames that were discovered in the summer kitchen swept through the farm house of Herbert J. Miller, of the 3rd concession of Otonabee, Thursday evening, leaving him and his family homeless.

The family was at supper about 7 p.m. when a guest visitor from Toronto was the first to see the smoke and fire, already blazing in the back kitchen. A telephone call for help brought many of the neighbors, but only part of the furniture was saved from the building.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller and their eldest son spent the night watching the fire that had stripped them of their home finally die out. The next day they obtained a tent as a temporary roof. In the meantime the children had spent Thursday night with kindly neighbors who took them in and cared for them.

Highway Worker Is Killed, Five Injured

BANCROFT, July 27 (ENS) — One man, Peter Matesheskie, Barry's Bay, was killed and five others seriously injured early this morning when attempting to make the sharp turn on Highway 28 where the 12-mile road out of Bancroft turns back onto the old road.

The truck was travelling from Barry's Bay to an airport at Niagara Falls where the men were to do some work, when it failed to make the turn. It is a sharp curve, but is well marked with warnings. Those riding in the back of the truck were more seriously injured and Peter Matesheskie, 26, who was riding in the back of the truck was killed outright.

The others injured were: Paul Dombraskie, about 65, who has a broken shoulder and severe abrasions on arms, shoulders, face and leg; Maxime Mintha, 17, internal injuries; Dominic Voldock, 22, with lacerations on the shoulders and arms; Silva Mask, 24, cuts and abrasions. The others were not so seriously injured. Stanley Cylbulskie, 20, had cuts and bruises; J. Donaldson, cuts and shock, and John Mintha, father of Maxime, escaped unhurt because he was riding in the cab at the time of the upset.

All the men were from Barry's Bay and the injured were taken immediately to the Red Cross Hospital at Bancroft. The case was investigated by Provincial Constable S. W Palmateer and Coroner O. W. Anderson of Bancroft.

20 Feet Of Fence Wrecked By Truck

After a collision with a truck at McDonnel and Gilchrist Streets on Saturday afternoon, a car driven by E. Millen, R.R. 1, Omemee, climbed the curb and crashed into a fence, knocking down a section 20 feet long and damaging a number of flowers.

The fence was on the property of H. Nicholls, 402 McDonnel Street.

W. J. Robson, 426 London Street, was driving west on McDonnel Street and had started to turn north on to Gilchrist Street when Millen's car, also travelling west on McDonnel Street, collided with the rear end of the truck.

The motor vehicles were not damaged badly, and most of the loss was sustained by the fence.

30 Transfusions Given Blood Donors' Clinic

The Blood Donors Clinic handled their tirty donors with no diffculty at all Monday mornng and the men gave their transfusions without a murmur admidst a spirit of good fellowship. The factories are co-operating beautifully and there were 10 men Monday from the Canadian General Electirc who were driven up and taken back to work by Mr. H. Cranfield The other twenty men came from a variety of occupations.

Members of the 57th Chapter, I.O.D.E. and ladies of St. Paul's church did duty serving food and preparing it, and the two doctors on duty were Dr. Rodger S. Chenoweth and Dr. Eugene Schneider.

Each day there is a certain amount of change in the nursing staff and those on the job to-day were: Mrs. Frank Pepe, Mrs. W. J. Moorehead Mrs. Fred Revoy, Mrs. Walter ones, Mrs. Max Sloan, Mrs. F. McIntyre, Mrs. V. Zufelt and Mrs. W. H. Perry, Mrs. G. S. Cameron and Miss Helen Munro were in charge of the rest room.

125-Foot Chimney Lining Is Begun

How would you like to be lining a tall chimney with fire brick? Workmen at the new incinerator have completed the exterior shaft of brick, and have now begun on the interior detail of the inner layer of firebrick from the base to the top, 125 feet. Probably these specialists will be temporarily caught in the draft that works in chimneys, and the job may be cooler than it sounds.

City Engineer Parsons said this morning that progress on the plant is moving along up to expectations.

The tall chimney is a new feature of the skyline in the C.P.R. vicinity.

TOTAL COST WHEN REPAID IN SIX MONTHLY INSTALMENTS

No endorsers or guarantors needed— A quick, simple way to get a cash loan at reasonable cost

DO YOU NEED some extra cash? Would you like to pay off old bills as part of your wartime financial program? This advertisement tells about a simple plan which is helping many men and women with their present-day money problems.

Repay out of income

Suppose you need $100 for an emergency or to pay off debts. You get the money in a quick, simple transaction. Then you may repay on a regular monthly payment plan. At the end of a definite time, you are entirely in the clear. The payment plan thus becomes a personal debt-paying program.

The cost of this service is reasonable. Suppose you borrow $100 and repay in six monthly instalments of $17.85 each, a total of $107.10. The cost of your loan is just $7.10. A $50 loan, repaid in six monthly instalments of $8.93 each, a total of $53.58, costs only $3.58.

You need no endorsers or guarantors to borrow at Household. And at no time do we question friends or relatives about your credit. The principal requirement for getting a loan is a steady position or other source of income. We consider character and regular income far more important than the value of your security. You can get your loan quickly—usually in twenty-four hours or even sooner.

Loans for many purposes

People borrow at Household to pay a doctor or dentist bill, general expenses, insurance, mortgage payments, down payments on homes, old store bills, car repairs, a training course, tools, moving expenses, coal for winter—and for expenses of many other kinds.

You may repay your loan on almost any plan you wish. The table shows how loans may be repaid in 2 to 15 payments. The sooner you repay, the less your loan costs. Look in the table now for the loan you need. See how you may repay out of income.

If you can make good use of a loan, see us at once. Or just phone and tell us how much you need.

OBITUARY

DANIEL GRAHAM.

BEWDLEY July 27— (ENS). — Another of this community's much respected older citizens passed away on Saturday morning in the person of Daniel Graham.

Mr. Graham has spent all his life here, most of it on his farm home in Hope Township, about one mile north of Bewdley, where he was a successful farmer. The last few years he has been in poor health and more recently confined to his bed.

The funeral service was on Monday morning from the family residence to St. Mary's Church, in Port Hope, where Requiem Mass was conducted by Father Guiry. A large number of friends attended and interment was in the Port Hope Cemetery.

ELDA DOWN

ROSENEATH, July 27 (ENS) — The funeral of the late Elda Down was held on Sunday afternoon from McWillian's parlors, Roseneath. Deceased, in her 14th year, was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Down, prominent farmer living about three miles south of Roseneath in Haldimand township. Elda, ill but a few days, died on Friday night in Cobourg General Hospital, where she was removed the night previous.

In addition to her parents she is survived in the home by a sister, Velma, and three brothers, Aubrey, Clifford and Carman.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. E. H. Unstead of Roseneath United church, who is on holiday, the service was conducted by Rev. Wendell Woodger of Cobourg United church. A duet "Look to the Comforter" was sung by Misses Margaret and Clarice Atkinson.

The bearers, Willis Timlin, Walter Eddy, Ivan Thackeray, Oral George, Everett Adams and Stewart Nichol, carried the casket through an aisle of flowers held by Elda's schoolmates, who followed the casket. One of the baskets was an offering from her Sunday School classmates in Roseneath. Interment was made at Bethany (Macklin's) cemetery.

GARRETT ALLEN

The funeral service for the late Garrett Allen, who met death very suddenly on Thursday evening, was held from the residence of his sister, Mrs. O'Carroll at 277 Bethune street, on Saturday morning, at 9 o'clock to the Immaculate Conception Church.

Requiem Mass was sung by Rev. Father J. Walsh. He also delivered an appropriate sermon.

The interment service was conducted by Rev. Father J. J. McCarthy at St. Joseph's Cemetery, Douro.

City Treasurer.

15 Lives Lost On Week-End Seven Drownings

By the Canadian Press.

Drownings claimed seven of the 15 lives of persons who met violent deaths in Eastern Canada during the week-end. Five persons died of injuries suffered in automobile accidents, a woman died of burns, an airman was killed in a plane crash, and a boy was fatally injured when a team of horses ran away. A boy was believed drowned at Port Stanley, Ontario.

A father and three children were drowned on Sunday in Lake Bellemare, 20 miles north of Three Rivers Que., when a rowboat upset. The dead are Joseph Paquet 46, of Mont Carmel, near the lake, his children, Jean-Paul 13, Yvon five, and Madeleine three. Eight-year-old Jacques Paquet was rescued by a swimmer.

Body Found in Canal.

Rolan Chabot, 20, of Quebec City, was drowned on Sunday in the St. Lawrence River while swimming at Anse-au-Foulon Beach. At Loretteville Que., Robert Giroux, 21, was drowned in the St. Charles River when his canoe overturned. The body of Kenneth Woolschlafer, a laundry truck driver at the New York State Mental Hospital, Ogdensburg, N.Y., was found on Saturday floating in a canal near Cornwall, Ontario.

Sixteen-year-old Allan Olsont of London Ont., was believed drowned on Sunday in Lake Erie at Port Stanley, when he disappeared while swimming with a brother and a cousin.

Miss Florence Wilson, 50, of Oakville, Ont., was fatally injured on Saturday night when a car pinned her against the doorway of a home she was about to visit at Oakville. The machine was turning in a laneway when the driver lost control of it.

Belleville Boy Killed.

Five-year-old Robert Brokes son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brokes of Belleville, Ont., was fatally injured on Saturday night when he struck a motor car while riding a tricycle.

Raymond Tremblay, 20, of St. Gerard suffered fatal injuries on Saturday when a truck he was driving was struck at a crossing south of St. Gerard, which is 50 miles from Sherbrooke Que. A companion, Florian Galipeault was seriously injured.

Two-year-old Gisele Corriveau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Corriveau of Quebec City was crushed to death by an automobile on Saturday while crossing a street.

Francis G. Cavanaugh of Penetanguishene, formerly of Regina, was fatally injured on Saturday when struck by a car as he crossed a street at Midland, Ont.

Mrs. Catherine Riley of Campbellton near North Sydney, N.S., died in hospital on Sunday of burns suffered earlier in the day when she tried to light her kitchen stove with the help of kerosene.

At Port Albert, Ont., LAC. W. M. Morrison of Pense, Sask., was killed instantly on Saturday in the crash of his Tiger Moth training plane. Morrison was stationed at the Elementary Flying Training School at Goderich.

Fifteen-year-old Jimmy Barton was fatally injured on Saturday when a team he was driving ran away on his parents' farm near Richards Landing, Ont.

Parents Await Word From Prisoner Son

MARMORA July 27 — (ENS).— The assumption that Pte. James Linn of the Royal Rifles of Canada is still living after being taken prisoner of war last Christmas at Hong Kong is further strengthened by the receipt of a letter by his parents, Reeve and Mrs. W. R. Linn of Marmora, from the Department of National Defence outlining the procedure for the despatch of letters to Canadian prisoners of war in Japanese hands. The letter also mentions the privilege being extended the prisoners of war to write home. The initial letter of their son under this scheme will prove even more heartening to the parents who have never relinquished hope of hearing from him.

Missionary Service.

The second of the monthly missionary services inaugurated by St. Paul's Sunday School was held on Sunday morning in course of which Miss Beatrice Caldwell gave a reading on missionary labors on the world's loneliest island, Tristan da Cunha. The series of missionary talks commenced with a sketch of the Kangra Mission in India.

Marmora News

Mrs. R. G. Winters returned home from Belleville hospital on Saturday afternoon.

Canon W. P. Robertson of St. John's, Peterborough, occupied the pulpit at St. Paul's Church on Sunday morning.

Miss Rose Mantle of Toronto is vacationing here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Mantle, and with her brother, Mr. George Mantle and Mrs. Mantle.

Gay Hooked Rug You Easily Make

Saucer Is Used To Trace Design

A floral hooked rug is so charming in any room and so easy and inexpensive to make! Discarded clothing may be your material; as for colors you can run riot!

What's your favorite color combination? Green with rose? Blue with wine and pink?

Decide on your rug size (23 by 37 inches is a nice size) and get some burlap as a foundation, about 27 by 41 inches. Then, with a 6-inch saucer, trace the design shown in our sketch on the burlap, stitch carpet binding around it and tack to a wooden frame.

Easy! And now cut your material into ¼-inch strips, ready for hooking. The hooking process is just this: hold a strip under the foundation, thrust your hook through the burlap and hook up the strip, leaving a loop on top ¼-inch high.

Our 32-page booklet gives complete details of making this rug, its frame and foundation; has other lovely hooked rug designs and directions for making woven, braided, crocheted and many other novel and beautiful rugs.

For your copy of "How to Make Your Own Rugs" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

SIMPLIFYING TOO MUCH

WHEN YOU advise a student to lead touching honors in preference to non-touching ones or a suit containing no honors, it is well to point out the difference between two honors in sequence and three honors in sequence. Every expert tries to avoid leading from a guarded king-queen or queen-jack, if he can, as sometimes the declarer can win that trick in his own hand and then finesse against the remaining honor. If the sequence is of three cards, however, that danger is manifestly impossible. Consequently, a three-card sequence is greatly preferred over one of only two cards for an opening lead.

North was afraid to lead his heart Q, as that suit had been bid by the dummy. He chose the diamond Q instead. The declarer let this run to his A, and had a finessing position remaining over the J. He cashed the spade A and K and led the 9 to the 10. South returned the club 2 to the A and North fired back the heart Q to the A. The heart 6 was ruffed by the spade 4 as an entry to finesse the diamond 10. The diamond K was then laid down, and South could do nothing but trump this with the spade Q.

Besides getting one trick with the club A and two with spades, the defenders also could have taken a trick in diamonds if North had not led the suit. In this case, a heart lead would have been better, even after East had bid the suit.

Scare For Durban

DURBAN, July 27 (Delayed). — (CP). — Durban, a seaport of 150,000 population and third ranking urban centre within the Union of South Africa, was under air raid alarm for an hour and 13 minutes to-night but it was lifted without incident.

Defence authorities announced an unidentified plane had flown over the city.

PRISONER RECAPTURED.

SUDBURY, Ont.—(CP). — After hiding in the woods near Burwash, Ont. since Monday, when he escaped from the industrial farm, Jerome Trottier, 19, was recaptured this morning. Trottier was discovered in the wooded area surrounding the farm premises after an intensive four-day search. He offered no resistance.

Eggs Advance Several Cents On Farm Market

Eggs were firmer on the local market Saturday, moving up several cents a dozen above the levels of the previous week. This advance applied particularly in the middle grades. The range of prices was from 30 to 32 cents a dozen, the top quotation being for the extra large stock. Most of the sales were apparently at 33 to 35 cents.

Butter that once featured the market has almost vanished from the farmers' market. Two or three baskets were noticed at 11:30 o'clock and that was probably the morning's entire offering. The price was 38 cents a pound. Just one comment on the present trend of the upstairs market. If farmers neglect it to the extent that it would not be worth keeping the big hall in use and open, they will be playing into the hands of some city people who have been hoping and urging for a long time for just that eventuality. And once fallen to that low estate, it would probably never be restored to retail uses again, that is the direct connection between the producer and consumer. However, they say that a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush, and the penny-wise collect as they go along.

Well, the upturn in the price of eggs was the feature of the market. Demand for chickens was lively. One woman at 11:30 had only two left of the thirty-four she brought to market, and was quite happy about that disposal together with a lot of eggs. And that was the general report around the hall. Most of the chickens sold at 32 and 33 cents a pound, and hens were 28 to 30 cents. A few roast chickens ready for the table were seen at 45 cents a pound. Flowers including delphinium and phlox filled in a lot of the other unused space along the aisles.

Busy Outdoors

The fruit and vegetable section reported a highly satisfactory morning. Demand was so brisk and steady that some of the growers were sold out by 11:30 o'clock. And they are getting around earlier than usual these week-end mornings.

Potatoes were 50 and 60 cents a peck. Delbert Olan of Cavan asked 50 cents for his Cobblers. A. P. Cole had Warbas at the same price or $2.25 a bag.

Herb Doig's prices were: potatoes, 50 cents for Cobblers; carrots and beets, six bunches for 25 cents; corn on the cob, 35 cents a dozen; peas, 40 cents the six-quart basket; cucumbers, two for 15 cents; cabbages, 10 cents; yellow wax beans, 75 cents for the 11-quart basket; Dutch Set onions, 40 cents for six quarts.

James Healey of Westwood had early potatoes at 50 cents the peck or $2.25 a bag. Hillcrest Farm prices included peas at 40 cents for six quarts; potatoes, 50 cents; cauliflowers, 15 and 20 cents; cabbages, 10 cents.

Snowdens of Bowmanville tagged Montmorency cherries at 90 cents the six-quart basket; potatoes, 35 cents for six quarts; and Yellow Transparent apples 40 cents for six quarts.

Red raspberries were 32 cents a quart; and the blue species were 30 cents. Some folks feel that if the 'blues' are worth 30 the reds ought to to be worth about twice as much. The blues in fact seem to be travelling on the reputation of the reds, at least for table purposes.

The new clover honey is of exceptionally good quality, and the price is 65 cents for the four-pound pail. Norman Moncrief's red raspberries were 32 cetns the quart, although some growers were holding out for 35 cents. His first apples were 'harvests'—yellow transparent and also Duchess at 75 cents a peck. Red Astrakhans should be due shortly.

Joe Chimenti asked 20 cents a pound for tomatoes, and 60 cents the dozen for gladioli. George Benton also got 60 cents for his "glads"; 25 cents each for water hyacinths; 25 cents a pot for mimeulus, and 30 cents for Kenilworth Ivy.

Fred Clifford had the only chard at 20 cents. Not much of the 'leavy vegetables, showing these Saturdays. Beets, carots and beans must be getting special attention in the diet arrangements just now.

Just Like A Jury!

Seattle, July 27 (AP)

TWO hours after Roy S. Wilson, 30, told a Superior Court jury that if he were on the jury "I would find myself guilty," the jury acquitted him of second-degree burglary charges. Wilson was accused of breaking into a tavern.

In a 25-minutes address to the jury, Wilson explained that he broke into the tavern because he was intoxicated more than two days; wanted more liquor and had money with which to purchase it, but that all dispensaries were closed. He asked leniency only.

German Morale Lower In Egypt

ALEXANDRIA, July 27. — Some German battalions virtually have been wiped out and losses have been extremely heavy throughout the Africa Corps in the fighting before El Alamein, German prisoners said as they arrived here Thursday.

Some of the captives, only 19 and 20 years old, said they had been in Egypt only nine days after flying from Greece by way of Crete in Junkers transports to reinforce Marshall Erwin Rommel's badly mauled army.

Most of the prisoners arrived with a week's growth of beard, their clothes tattered and dust-grimed and complaining of the water shortage on the desert front and the torture of British bombing and strafing.

Their moral seemed lower than German prisoners taken earlier in the campaign, apparently because of the illusion they held only a few weeks ago that they would shortly get rest, food and entertainment in an Axis-occupied Alexandria.

fighter squadrons in a series of daylight sweeps over Northern France yesterday, during which nine of Germany's vaunted new Focke-Wulfe 109 fighters were shot out of the skies, one by Flt. Lt. S. E. Green of Toronto.

Green was among the two squadrons of Canadian fighters commanded by Sqdn. Ldrs. R. C. Weston of Saint John, N.B., and K. L. B. Hodson of London, Ont., who helped smash the vaunted Focke-Wulfes. PO. G. G. Davidson of Brantford, Ont. got credit for one Nazi probably destroyed and PO. K. I. Robb of Duchesnay, Que., for two damaged.

Weston said the R.A.F. squadrons, with Canadians, Americans, and Poles as well as Britons, pounced on the Nazis at 200 feet. Many of the dogfights took place at that altitude.

The Allies lost three planes, including one of those piloted by the Americans. Five of the German planes were shot down by a crack Polish squadron.

While the Allied fighters were busy over occupied teritory, single British bombers made daylight attacks on industries in the Ruhr yesterday and reported that great fires which R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. raiders had started in Duisburg the night before still were raging.

Two-Ton Bombs Dropped.

More than 50 two-ton bombs, each capable of wiping out a whole block, were unloaded on Duisburg in the Saturday night attack—the third in five nights directed against that important shipping and rail centre at the junction of the Rhine and Ruhr Rivers. Many smaller bombs and incendiaries also were loosed over the city.

"A great force of Lancasters, Stirlings, and Halifaxes as well as many two-engined bombers, participated," said the Air Ministry.

Fourteen bombers and one fighter were lost in the Saturday night operations

Nazi Efforts Light.

German aerial activities over Britain during the week-end were light by comparison. Nazi raiders scattered bombs along the British north-east coast Saturday night, doing some damage and causing some casualties. Two of the planes were shot down over the North Sea and two more over occupied territory by British fighters.

There were no attacks on Britain last night but German daylight raiders made a series of noe-wolf sorties to-day over widely separated areas.

Two made hit-run raids on two West Midlands towns, dropping high explosives and machinegunning the streets. Although the attacks came as many workers were en route to thier jobs, casualties were light.

Enemy raiders also harassed places on the north-west, south-east and south-west coasts. A single plane skimmed over the roofs of one southwest coast town with machine guns blazing and loosed high explosives which caused considerable damage in the residential area.

London had two brief alerts in quick succession just after daylight to-day when enemy planes were sighted crossing the coast. Apparently they were driven off, however, for no raiders appeared over the city.

The last previous daylight alert in London—the second of the year —was sounded July 7, when a single German plane was turned back 15 miles from the capital.

About 30 German planes were reported to have participated in the raids this morning, carried out between 6 and 9 a.m.

At least six persons were killed in a North Midlands town by one stick of bombs, 12 more were killed in a West Midlands community and three more in a town in Eastern England.

People going to work in a town in West England saw one of the raiders engaged in a grim duel with a British fighter, which apparently had the enemy bomber in trouble.

F.B.I. Is Seeking These Three Saboteurs

WALTER KAPPE — RHEINHOLD RUDOLF BARTH — JOSEPH SCHMIDT

The Federal Bureau of Investigation, launching a nation-wide hunt for these three expert German saboteurs, believed to be at large in the United States, has asked the public to aid in the search for these men. They are Walter Kappe; alias Walter Kappel, reported to be a lieutenant in the intelligence division of the German Army; Rheinhold Rudolf Barth, an expert instructor in methods of sabotaging railroads and railroad equipment, and Joseph Schmidt, alias Paul Schmidt, alias Jerry Swenson, a hunter, fisher and trapper who fled Canada at outbreak of the war. These three saboteurs are known to have attended the German sabotage school in which the eight Nazis now on trial in Washington were schooled in their plot to destroy vital war industries in the United States.

Alberta Farmer Is Sought As Nazi Saboteur In United States

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(AP). —The possibility that three Nazis trained in the science of sabotage may be at large in the United States led the Federal Bureau of Investigation to broadcast a general request Saturday for officers and the public to be on the lokout for them. One of the men is a former resident of Canada.

The F.B.I. began distribution of hundreds of thousands of 'wanted' circulars bearing the pictures and descriptions of the men, two of whom lived in the United States for years.

J. Edgar Hoover, F.B.I. director, did not say the men are in the country. He merely announced that all three had 'received extensive training in the methods of committing sabotage, and have received orders from the German High Command to come to the United States to destroy vital war industries.'

It was learned reliabily that the F.B.I. belives the men are not in America But since it cannot be certain, the warnlig was broadcast, and the job started of blanketing the country with their pictures and descriptions.

The latest information showed them still to be in Europe. One was at the German submarine base at Lorient, France, the F.B.I. said, at the time the eight alleged Nazi saboteurs now on trail for their lives before a military commission left aboard two submarines which landed them on Long Island, N.Y. and Florida coasts.

The men named by Hoover were: Walter Kappe, alias Walter Kappel, 37, a lieutenant in the German Army intelligence section, an instructor in the Nazi sabotage school near Berlin, and for some years active in German organizations and publications at New York, Chicago, Cincinnati and Detroit.

Joseph Schmidt 33 or 34, a former farmer, hunter and trapper in Alberta, who fled to Mexico when Canada went to war in 1939. His farm was seized by Canadian authorities. Schmidt speaks English in a high-pitched voice with a noticeable Swedish accent, and frequently interrupts his conversation with a peculiar laugh He is extremely powerful and has been known to perform feats of bending heavy pieces of metal with his hands.

In New York, P. E. Foxworth of the F.B.I. reported that aerial photographs and 'bomber' maps showing vital spots throughout New York and New Jersey were found in possession of one of eleven enemy aliens rounded up Friday. There were 100 photographs and maps, specially designed as guides to Nazi bombers, Foxworth said.

CANADA'S GENERALS

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

They say Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, commander of a Canadian infantry division overseas, is one of the coolest and most nerveless men in the army.

His military record of the First Great War—he won the Victoria Cross, Distinguished Service Order, Military Cross and Croix de Guerre —is conclusive proof. But there is a little story they tell about the general that happened not so long ago.

He was sitting in the mess at Divisional Headquarters with his officers. An air raid was in progress. Suddenly a bomb screamed down towards the mess. Every officer but one in the room flattened out on the floor or rolled under the tables. The bomb exploded nearby and no damage was done. The chagrined officers climbed to their seats to find the general still sitting placidly in his chair, grinning at them.

One of the features of General Pearkes' division is the loyalty officers and men have for their commander. It is not only his great fighting record of the last war which produces this. It is because he still has the dynamic energy and fighting spirit which made him so famous.

A tall, rugged soldier, he is 54 now with grey hair and a short clipped moustache. Ln conversation he is outspoken and vigorous. "I propose to attack," is a phrase he uses with relish when he's launching a divisional offensive on manoeuvres.

His forte as a tactician is deploying infantry. He is a firm believer that infantry and guns can smash tank attacks by proper deployment and surprise.

Gen. Pearkes insists on having young officers on his staff and at his headquarters there are officers in their 20's holding important appointments.

The troops find the general hard and gruff at times, but they would never challenge his fairness. He drives them in training, but they respect his judgment.

The general is a "bug" on physical fitnesses. Hardening exercises are frequent in the division, with the commander participating himself. On recent manoeuvres, divisional headquarters has always been set up in the open air, never in a comfortable house.

A native of Walford, England, General Pearkes came to Canada in 1906. He was a permanent force soldier in peacetime. His chief diversion is riding to the hounds and every Sunday finds him out with huntsmen of southern England.

a height "of considerable importance" and the routing of the 10th German mechanized regiment.

Twenty German tanks were reported disabled and 1,250 Germans killed. The rest of the regiment, abuot 300 men, were taken prisoner, the communique said.

From their bridgeheads on the Don near Tsimlyansk, the Germans were pressing southward against bitter Russian resistance, apparently trying to cut the railroad connecting Stalingrad with the north Caucasus about 50 miles south of Tsimlyansk.

Tanks Blasted Into River.

Russian dispatches told of great losses in the fighting to establish and hold their bridgeheads, with Soviet artillery and planes blasting scores of Nazi tanks into the river.

Russians and Germans grappled hand-to-hand on the southern bank of the Don as large units clashed amid smoke and flames and bursting bombs at the water's edge.

All along the 120-mile stretch of the Don from Rostov to Tsimlyansk the fight raged. Soviet artillerymen sent tons of shells screaming across the river into German positions on the north bank. It was not known whether the great Russian army of the Caucasus had yet been thrown into the battle, but the din of battle was approaching the oil riches it guards.

The Germans expanded their penetration of Rostov and German tanks and infantrymen were battering their way through the outor streets of the city, which the Russians were defending house by house, Russian dispatches said. (The Germans claimed on Friday they had taken the city).

The Red army was reported to be fighting grimly at Novocherkassk, 20 miles northeast of Rostov, and there was no confirmation in Russian reports of the German claim to have captured that city.

The Russians were throwing bombers, newly arrived from the United States, and British and American tanks into the bloody struggle to halt the German push, but fresh Nazi reinforcements also were at hand.

New Fighter Squadrons

Soviet scout planes reported that the Germans were concentrating new squadrons of fighters in the Southern Don sector.

At least two squadrons of American Airacobras were reported in action 300 miles to the north of Rostov at Voronezh, supporting the Russian attacks there.

German reinforcements also were being rushed into the Don bend, presumably for an assault along the eastern course of the river in the Stalingrad area. Red Star, Russian army newspaper, reported that Soviet planes had struck the Germans tnere while they were off balance, inflicting great damage.

There were incomplete reports of a great tank battle in the eastern bend sector with 400 tanks engaged. But less alarm was shown for the position of Stalingrad, on the Volga, than for the flaming 120-mile front between Rostov and Tsimlyansk.

On the Upper Don, the Soviet counterattacks around Voronezh increased in fury and a communique reported that "all Fascist attempts to regain important positions were unsuccessful. The Hitlerites are sustaining heavy losses."

the civil authorities.

Heavily Questioned

Finally on Christmas Eve, shuffling along without shoes, I was led from my cell into a smoky room where I was questioned briefly, without explanation and remained there until Jan. 6 when the formal questioning under Inspector Takehara began from morning until night.

Takehara's brilliant and incisive mind was evident immediately. Although expressing personal sympathy with my plight he was a relentless inquisitor, hammering at me with questions, squinting his eyes and rubbing his close-cropped head until he became to me the very incarnation of the devil himself.

A typical line of questioning was about Koh Ishii, who in the summer of 1941 was the official Japanese cabinet spokesman, and the story of the Liner President Coolidge.

(In August, 1941, the State Department at Washington disclosed that the Japanese had refused to grant clearance papers to the President Coolidge if it sought to remove the more than 100 private citizens then in Japan.

I was asked why I sent a story so harmful to Japan even though quoting a Government official, and I was forced to admit that such information was useful to foreign governments.

Thus a story obtained from a recognized source of news became one which would react against the Japanese.

Finally after a week of steady questioning during which I was told flatly that unless my information was more satisfactory I would no longer be treated as "a gentleman," the case was concluded with the filing of formal charges.

Then followed sessions with the procurator after which I was tried by a court.

I was taken from the prison to the court in a bus crowded with Japanese, handcuffed and tied together with ropes. I wasn't tied into the line, but Americans from Yokohama were imprisoned and subjected to this humiliating experience.

Court a Farce

The court procedure was dignified and solemn despite the farcical nature of the charges which seemingly was recognized even by the trio of Japanese police handling the case.

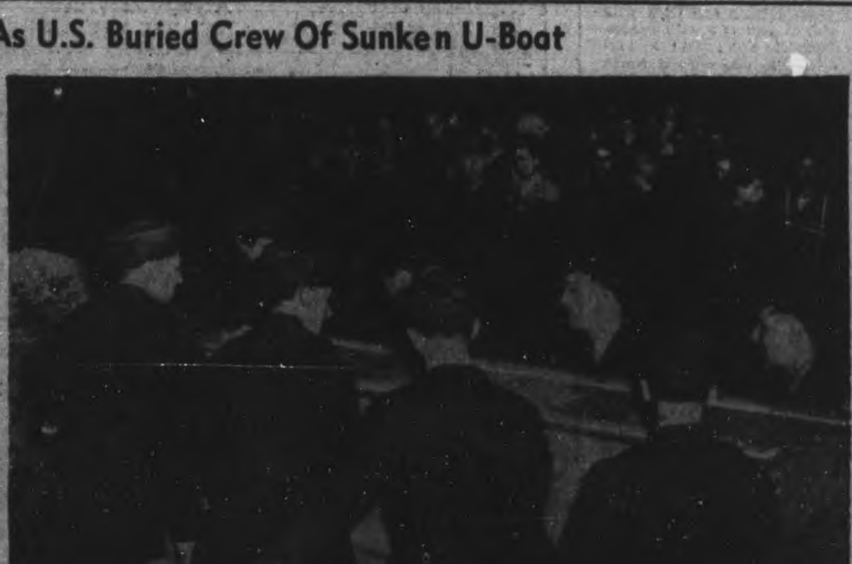
The procurator recommended an 18-month sentence. I was returned to prison for two weeks.

Then I was brought back to the court and given a suspended sentence of 18 months.

I was released on June 2 and taken to an internment camp until the departure of the liner Asama Maru.

Japanese newspapermen who arrived on the Gripsholm and Wryly told Tokyo correspondents of their hardships in the United States—their "confinement" in the White Sulphur Springs luxury hotel and having their mail delayed as much as a month and of being able only to read the New York Times — stammered and stuttered when they heard our imprisonment stories.

As U.S. Buried Crew Of Sunken U-Boat



An American army guard of pallbearers is shown carrying the casket of some of the 29 German submarine crew members buried with military honors in Hampton, Va. These were the first enemy dead to be landed on American shores since the beginning of the war. Their craft was sunk by an American destroyer on Atlantic patrol. Army and navy chaplains read the burial services of the Catholic and Protestant churches over the graves and a navy squad fired the final salute.

Bishop Wants Action

CONCERNED with the military situation in the Aleutians, the 84-year-old Roman Catholic bishop of Alaska, Most Rev. Joseph R. Crimont, cautioned that "the United States must move quickly and in great strength."

The bishop, who has travelled over most of the northern territory by boat, dog team or plane, said in an interview yesterday that Alaska's people "are not aware of the danger to the extent they should be. They feel that the Japanese took Attu and Kiska primarily to make war against Russia and to cut off the flow of supplies to Russia north of the Aleutian Islands.

Schooner Sunk Off Nova Scotia

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, July 27—(CP)—A fishing schooner from Lockport, N.S., has been sunk by shellfire from an Axis submarine off the Nova Scotia coast, but all her crew of eleven men are safe after rowing 100 miles to land, it was disclosed last night.

The 30-ton Lucille M. became the first Canadian fishing vessel to be sunk by enemy action in this war when the underwater raider, surfacing near her at dawn, shelled her and peppered her with machine fire after ordering her crew into the dories.

Three of the crew were injured, but the injuries of two of the men were only minor.

Members of the vessel's crew first heard the submarine the night before they were attacked. Early next morning the submarine surfaced near their craft. An officer of the war vessel told the crew he would have to sink the wodden vessel and ordered the fishermen to their boats.

The eleven men got off in two dories. But before the submarine opened fire, one dory turned back, and two of its complement climbed back aboard the schooner to pick up some forgotten effects.

While they were still aboard, the gunfire started. Both the men on the vessel were struck. The man most seriously hurtr eceived a slug in the arm.

Paint Stays Wet So Japanese Scheme 'Flops'

By MAX HILL

LOURENCO MARQUES, July 27 —(AP).—It was a good story at the time, but it's funnier than even now—how the Japanese sought to save fact after the General Doolittle raid, but didn't quite succeed, all because some doubting Japanese know wet paint when they see it.

Americans interned at Tokyo carry vivid memories of that April 18 raid by United States planes and nothing serves better to keep the memories alive than this story which circulated among us internees, who now have reached this Portuguese East Africa port.

The Japanese press, telling of the attack on Tokyo and other cities, first said that nine of the planes were shot down. Later this figure was more conveniently modified to one, and wreckage to give weight to the announcement was displayed in the Japanese capital .

That was all very well, but even this limited propaganda stunt backfired, so the story goes, when some curious spectators discovered that the twisted wing covering was wet instead of dry.

Actually, I understand now, there were as many as sixteen planes in the raid, and while there is no available, reliable estimate of the casualties, it is known that heavy damage was done in the industrial districts between Tokyo and Yokohama, where large areas of factories and homes were burned over.

While the Tokyo raid gave Japanese of the metropoltan region a bad case of nerves, the havoc wrought by American submarines was causing just as much appresension.

The most telling blow by American submarines was the sinking of the Taio Maru, bound for the East Indies with 600 economic experts.

It was rumored in Tokyo that American submarines were operating virtually in Yokohama harbor.

Over Hong Kong Case Ralston Reveals Answering Boucher

OTTAWA, July 28.—(CP)—Defence Minister Ralston said in the House of Commons today that Maj.-Gen. E. J. C. Schmidlin, quartermaster-general, was relieved of his post before the Royal Commission hearing on the Hong Kong expedition was held.

He was replying to a suggestion from G. R. Boucher (Con. Carleton) that Gen. Schmidlin was "condemned without a hearing," because he did not appear before the commission to give evidence.

"Surely that was his right," said Mr. Boucher.

"An invitation was issued to everybody who had anything to contribute to the commission to give it."

"Was he called?" Mr. Boucher asked.

"I have no idea whether he was called or not," Col. Ralston replied. "The action taken with regards to Gen. Schmidlin was taken before the hearing was held. . .

"I am saying that I, as head of the department, investigated this matter that concerned Gen. Schmidlin and I took the action which I described last night before the hearing was

Something Awful

HALIFAX, July 28—(CP). —Wooden automobile tires have made their first appearance in Halifax. A taxi firm is experimenting with them in the hope of keeping in service several taxis now laid up because of rubber tire restrictions. Made of sections of birch, bolted together, and costing $41.95 each "they didn't turn out so well," one official said. Although they give a "good ride," he said, the noise was "something awful."

Jap Expedition Moves 50 Miles Toward Moresby

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, July 28 — (CP). — Allied bombers and fighters blasted Japan's expanded positions in New Guinea last night as ground patrols maintained contact with the enemy in the newly occupied Buna-Gona area a communique said today.

The ground patrol activity was in progress in the vicinity of Oivi between Kokoda and Bnua, across the narrow but mountainous Papua Peninsula from Port Moresby, vital Allied base.

The Japanese, following favorable terrain on a course leading toward Port Moresby, have advanced inland 50 miles since their landing at Gona Mission last week. The next few days may disclose whether the Japanese intend to attempt an assault on the base.

The trail from Gona to Kokoda is fairly level and over grassy land. Kokoda, however is on the northern side of the Owen Stanley Range and the terrain from there to Port Moresby is extremely difficult.

Allied dive bombers blew up an ammunition dump at one of the Japanese bases in New Guinea. Other Allied airmen flew to Japanese-occupied Dutch Timor, scored direct hits on the airdrome at Koepang and started fires in the adjacent barracks and shelters.

Small forces of Japanese bombers raided Darwin in Northern Australia twice last night, but caused neither damage nor casualties, the communique said. An enemy flying boat which atempted to attack Townsville was driven off by anti-aircraft fire before it could cause any harm.

Nazis Dig In To Hold Auchinleck

British Keep Stabbing As Both Sides Race To Get Supplies

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

CAIRO, July 28.— (AP).—Harassed by new British land and aerial counter thrusts Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's African army appeared to-day, after the latest flareup of fighting to be digging in for an attempt to hold its forward positions 75 to 80 miles from Alexandria rather than try to drive on toward the Nile delta and Suez.

Fighting went on through last night in the newest British blow at where the battle as see-sawed for four weeks since Gen. Sir Claude Auchinbeck's troops brought Rommel's long push to a standstill.

Some prisoners were taken in the fight, and losses were inflicted upon the Axis forces but there was no indication that any large, permanent wedge had been driven in the Axis line. In some places Empire troops dropped back to their original positions.

The Axis forces met the foray defintely on the defensive and made no immediate move to hit back.

Race For Reinforcements.

Both sides are racinng to get more men and material.. Rommel is handicapped in this by the difficulties in drawing strength from the continent and by British and United States aerial blows at his lines of reinforcement. Gen. Auchinleck is handicapped by the enormous ditance of the battlefield from his sources of supply.

British headquarters described the flareup of fighting on the north flank as severe.

The British attack was launched on Sunday night and the severe fighting which followed was accompanied by heavy artillery duels, the communique said. Light British bombers and fighter-bombers roared over the battlefield to attack the enemy positions.

Axis aircraft joined the battle and British fighters engaged a formation of German dive bombers escorted by fighter aircraft. Three of the German planes were shot down, the communique said.

Australian and South African forces have been holding the British northern positions on the 40-mile front and presumably led the British attack.

German bombers attempted to raid the Suez Canal zone last night and British night fighters shot down two of the raiders.

Huns Send 28 In Lille Before Firing Squads Begin Rounding Up Radios And Bicycles

VICHY, July 28—(AP). — The Germans announced today the execution of 28 persons at Lille on conviction of a series of offences, including sabotage, possession of weapons and communistic activity.

Most of those condemned were mine workers in the Lille region.

At the same time French courts at Douai, a suburb of Lille, sentenced two persons to life in prison for stealing ration cards, and 28 others to a total of 40 years in prison. Most of them also were miners.

Delayed advices from Courtrai, also in the Lille region, said an unspecified but considerable number of persons had been arrested as hostages after five fires were started in one night.

The German announcement declared that a number of persons arrested "for sympathy" and that radios and bicycles were being confiscated.

The German command in Belgium announced assessment of a fine of $8,600,000 belgian francs against the city of Brussels for attacks on Belgian movements "sincerely collaborating with Germans."

In addition, it announced that 50 Belgian hostages would be deported, presumably to Polish work camps.

Japs Burden Whites Like Coolies To Lose Face With The Chinese

By VAUGHN MEISLING
Associated Press Staff Writer

LOURENCO MARQUES, Portuguese East Africa, July 25.—(Delayed)—(AP).—Laden like coolies with their personal belongings, British and American men, women and children were marched through Hong Kong's most crowded streets by jubilant Japanese as dazed Chinese looked on when internment of Allied nationals began January 5.

The white man had lost face. Hong Kong had fallen in 18 days. (Two battalions of Canadian soldiers aided in the defence of the colony and were taken prisoners).

Some 3,000 Americans, Britons and other Allied civilians were interned.

I was among 180 imprisoned in a squalid waterfront brothel in the poorest of the Chinese slums.

This dive which the Japanese called a "hotel," was one of six such establishments they picked out in the Hong Kong slums for our preliminary internment.

While Tokyo boasted that Japan was observing rules of the Geneva convention, we were packed like animals—men, women and children — into vermin-ridden cubicles, many without daylight, and forced to sleep on bare opium couches, floors and chairs reeking with filth.

For the first 30 hours there was no food at all. Then there were wretched rice rations, supplemented by microscopic issues of vegetables and meat. Even these scant handouts were pilfered by servants, necessitating a watchful eye on every crumb.

Into Stanley Camp.

After 17 days of this we were marched by armed escorts 1½ miles to a steamer bound for the Stanley internment camp on the opposite side of Hong Kong Island.

En route we saw two gendarmes beat a Chinese to death after a trivial disturbance in a rice queue.

Boeing Launches First Catalina

VANCOUVER, July 28 (CP) — Boat built by Boeing Aircraft of Canada at its nearby Sea Island plant rolled down the ramp into the Fraser river Monday amid the cheers of 7,000 workmen and citizens gathered to witness the launching.

Mrs. W. C. Woodward, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, christened the aircraft "Athlone" in a colorful ceremony on the tarmac at the east door of the huge plant, drawing aside a Union Jack revealing the ship's name in white letters on the nose.

Miss Pearl MacKenzie, superintendent of women at the assembly plant, drew aside the stars and stripes, and dedicated the aircraft on behalf of Boeing's employees.

Ralph P. Bell, Ottawa, Director General of Aircraft Production, said the issue was "build planes fast or pull rickshaws for the Japs."

"This is no time for speech-making," Mr. Bell said. "Let's christen the plane and get back to our jobs."

Rome Reports

ROME (from Italian broadcasts), July 28—(AP).—The Italian High Command, already claiming capture of more than 1,000 British soldiers in the Battle of El Alamein, asserted today that approximately 1,000 more were seized in fighting against two Axis divisions south of that city yesterday and that 62 British armored vehicles were destroyed.

Give London 1st Scare Since June

Bombs Dot Fields About Capital; Give London

LONDON, July 28.—(CP).—Birmingham big British industrial centre, was bombed last night in an attack which cost the Germans eight of 50 to 70 raiders and incendiaries fell in the greater London district which had its first night alarm since June 3.

A ninth German bomber was reported shot down this morning off the south-west coast.

'Enemy action last night was on a somewhat larger scale than for some time past,' a communique said 'Fires and damage were caused in the Birmingham area where there were a number of casualties.'

The greatest damage in Birminham was sustained by homes and shops and a large hospital was emptied when a delayed action bomb fell nearby.

In an adjacent locality the post office was demolished and residential areas hit. Rescue squads worked until past dawn bringing out those trapped in the debris.

A number of fire bombs fell in fields near London but no damage was reported. A time bomb fell in a park.

Other German craft were over North England, coastal areas of south-west England and in East Anglia. First reports said they also were over Northrn Ireland but later dispatches fom there said the night was raid-free.

There was no report of R.A.F. or R.C.A.F. overnight bombing activity over the Nei-held continent after the Sunday night assault on Hamburgh by at least 600 bombers. Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Harris described the assault on the great submarine building centre as "one of the outstandingly successful attacks of the whole war."

London's anti-aircraft batteries were in action for a considerable period during the night, and planes were heard flying over the capital, but no bombs were dropped.

There were no reports of damage in Northern England or Northern Ireland .

In a West Midlands town where the attack was concentrated, fires were started, but quickly controlled. A number of persons were reported trapped in a shelter there. But considering the many districts visited by the raiders, casualties were reported as few and damage confined chiefly to civilian property.

Something New

LONDON, July 28—(CP). —The appearance of bombers over the London area provided a test for the capital's new anti-aircraft defences.

Londoners used to the sound of the anti-aircraft barrages during the heavy night attacks of 1940-41 detected the distinctive sound of the new weapons.

(The dispatch did not identify the new defence weapon further, but it seemed obvious that it was a new type anti-aircraft gun).

Japs Are Routed On Two Chinese Fronts

CHUNGKING, July 28 — (AP).—The Chinese High Command announced to-day the Japanese had been routed in heavy fighting near the Japanese-occupied town of Kiangshan, in Chekiang Province, near the Kiangsi border.

Fighting is continuing around Kwangfeng in Eastern Kiangsi, the Chinese have repulsed a Japanese attempt to dislodge them from a hilltop, a communique said.

In Honan Province, farther north, the Chinese "hurled back several enemy attacks near Sinyang and inflicted heavy losses," it added, while in Hupeh Province the Japanese were being held in check as they attempted to dislodge Chinese forces from foothills of the Tahung Mountains.

Three Japanese planes raided Hengyang, Hunan Province, early yesterday, dropping bombs in the eastern suburbs. A town just north of Hengyang also was attacked, but there was no report of damage there.

Last Minute News

TORONTO, July 28.—(CP)—The National Council of the C.C.F. presented a five-point program for victory and total war to delegates attending the 10th anniversary convention of the party here to-day: Mobilization for total war; democratic control of industry; protection of agriculture and fisheries; social justice; a democratic military policy.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A ceiling of 48 hours weekly—in six eight-hour days—on the working time for millions of men and women employed in war industries was proposed today by eight United States government agencies.

BERLIN (AP)—Official quarters said today that 99 persons were known dead and others still were missing in Hamburg after the British bombing raid Sunday night. The number of injured was said to be large.

VANCOUVER, July 28.—(CP).—City police said they are seeking two men to-day for questioning in connection with the death of a 40 year old woman found bound, gagged and apparently strangled in a downtown rooming house late yesterday.

Huns Widen Wedges Across Don

Big Bend Assaults Gain Little Ground Facing Russian Fury

MOSCOW, July 28—(AP).—Germany's mechanized might drove into the North Caucasus today over widened bridgeheads across the Don south of Tsimlyansk and the broken defences of Novocherkassk and Rostov in the gravest moment of the entire war for the Soviet Union.

Into their bid for conquest of the Caucasus—Russia's oil barre and supply bridge to the south—the Germans hurled forces which Red Star, organ of the Russian army, said were "many times superior" to the number of defenders.

Hammering toward the last rail line linking Stalingrad to the Caucasus, the Germans were said to have made a new crossing of the Don in the Tsimlyansk sector, where the Don flows within 50 miles of the railway.

The defenders of Stalingrad, however, were reported to have repulsed repeated tank and motorized infantry attacks deep in the Don's big bend close to the mighty Volga.

(The German high command said its forces had widened and deepened their penetrations south of the Don and had reached or crossed the river along virtually the entire eastward bend.)

Dispatches from the battlefront said fierce fighting was spreading in the trans-Don area as the German strengthened their offensive with clouds of dive bombers and many tanks.

Hills of German dead and remnants of tanks and cannon littered whole sections of the Don banks.

Expect Meighen Aims To Step Out

OTTAWA, July 28.—(CP).—Conservative circles here to-day said any statement that Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen will agree to continue as National Conservative leader was premature.

It was known that Mr. Meighen so far has not conveyed to the Conservative members here what his wishes are in respect to the party leadership, but he is expected to do so in a day or so.

Hon. R. B. Hanson will continue as House leader of the party at least for the time being.

While one Conservaitve said he understood Mr. Meighen would continue as national leader, another source said, 'You may expect some important announcement in a few days,' and the inference he left was that Mr. Meighen might ask to be relieved.

Parliament is endeavoring to conclude its current business in order to adjourn this week until next January and it is expected that some time before adjournment Mr. Meighen will meet prominent Conservatives here and lay plans for the future.

Mr. Meighen, in Toronto, to-day declined to make any statement on reports that he will bow to the requests of the party and continue as its Leader, but a statement may be expected after the meeting here.

U-Boats Boost Toll To 401 Ships

By The Associated Press

The toll of mechant shipping sunk by enemy submarines on the very doorstep of the Americas has topped the 400?mark and the Western Atlantic has become the grave of more than 2,000 seamen and passengers since Pearl Harbor.

Figures tabulated by The Associated Press yesterday as the announced or reported wartime sinkings in those waters reached 401 showed that at least 1,620 more crewmen or passengers were missing after attacks by the undersea raiders, while 11,766 persons have been rescued.

For the 400th acknowledged victim, a U-boat chose the smallest fry in the 23_ days of their preying on Allied or neutral shipping off American shodes—a 16-ton onion boat just out of Havana. The sub's crew, apparently running out of rations, helped itself to 40,000 pounds of onions, canned goods and a quantity of diesel oil from the vessel.

Later yesterday the Mexican Government announced the sinking Sunday morning in the Gulf of Mexico of the Mexican freighter Oaxaca, for the fifth Mexican victim of the war and the 401st on the grand total of Allied or neutral ships destroyed.

3 Men Die On Barge

PADUCAH, Ky., July 28.—(AP). —Three men were killed and two others are missing after an oil tank barge, on which they were working exploded in the Ohio river early to-day.

The dead were listed a Tilford Duncan and Parvin Cochran, employees of the Ayer-Lord Marine Ways, and Jefferson L. Watson, pump boat operator for the West Kentucky Coal Company. Missing are Robert T. Vasseur and Owen Fallowell both Ayer-Lord employees.

Ideas On Flying Freighters

Call 8 Experts Before Congress To Beat Subs

WASHINGTON, July 28—(AP). —Eight aviation experts were invited to tell a Congressional Committee today what they think of a proposal to construct a fleet of huge flying boats for the movement of men and materials to United Nations battlefronts.

The invitations went out late yesterday from Senator Josh Lee (Dem., Okla.) a few hours after he offered a resolution to set up an agency for construction of sufficient cargo and troop planes to overcome the submarine menace and at the same time speed up the shipment of supplies.

After a conference with Chairman Robert Reynods (Dem., N.C.). of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, Lee ordered hearings beginning today before a special subcommittee of which he is chairman. He told the Senate yesterday that "desperate haste' is needed.

Declaring that air-borne transportation offered the "only possible chance we have of winning this war," Lee said it is "folly" to continue to try to "build ships faster than Hitler can sink them." He proposed diverting a part of the country's shipbuilding capacity to the construction of flying boats and said that more than 10 per cent of airplane production should be devoted to transportation.

Whole World As Vassal The Axis Dream

Jap Fanatics, Captured Nazi Documents Leave Little To Imagine If Allies Lose

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

As the great battle for the Caucasus swells to the peak of the crisis upon which the outcome of the war may depend, and Allied fortunes swing precariously in the balance, providence spurs us to renewed efforts by making further disclosures of the extent of the Nazi and Japanese designs upon the freedom of the world.

In one instance we have the German government broadcasting that Japanese Prime Minister Tojo declared in a public speech "Japan is determined to destroy the United States and Great Britain." When Tojo talks of destroying the two great western powers he of course refers to destruction of their sovereignty.

That's merely a reiteration of the program of the Jap militarists. You may recall that Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, commander in chief of the combined fleets of his country, once stated "I am looking forward to dictating peace to the United States in the White House at Washington."

Yamamoto is a fanatical patriot who works for a new world order in which the Anglo-Saxon powers would be inferior to Japan. A better picture of what this means comes from the current disclosures by American newspapermen just repatriated from imprisonment in Japan. The treatment they reveal, coupled with previous authenticated reports of atrocities against prisoners, and the literal enslavement of hundreds of thousands of conquered Chinese, do not leave much room for doubt as to what the fate of the Allies would be if Japan won this war.

Even more illuminating and shocking, however, is the information contained in documents made public by the British information service in New York with the announcement that they were found on captured German prisoners in Libya. One of these papers is a secret memorandum from the German high command and the other is a statement by Hitler on post-war plans.

These documents depict a world in which the conquered nations are to be permanently deprived of their freedom. They are to be made vassals of Germany. Hitler's statement recognizes that these vanquished peoples wouldn't be "well disposed to the Reich" and he therefore has made provision for the creation of a vast police force of Elite Guard (S.S.) soldiers who would wield the lash over the unhappy bondsmen.

This means that Hitler wouldn't trust control of the conquered peoples to his regular army. And his statement further makes it clear

30-Square-Mile Air Depots

New Australian Base Able To Handle Anthing

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, July 28—(AP).—A huge airplane repair depot and base, equipped to salvage Allied planes damaged in battle and big enough to handle the United Nations' largest aircraft, has been constructed in record time at an undisclosed Australian site.

In giving details of the new and urgently needed depot, Brig.-Gen. Hugh J. Casey, United States engineering officer, also disclosed that the United States army in co-operation with the Allied Works Council, has built at least 200 airfields and thousands of miles of new strategic highways in the commonwealth during the last few months.

Gen. Casey, one of the army officers who came here with Gen. Douglas MacArthur from the Philippines, outlined a tremendous plan for expansion of airfield facilities. Construction to date, he said, has by no means exhausted the plan.

Australians hailed the massive new air depot as one of the greatest engineering jobs ever undertaken in the commonwealth. Constructed in four months at a cost of about $9,750,000, the big base covers 30 square miles and has 450 buildings including hangars and workshops. There were 2,650 members of the Civil Construction Corps engaged.

ROSTOV AND NOVOCHERKASSK ARE CAPTURED BY NAZI ARMIES

Hong Kong Units Did Major Task Gained Time, Shakeup Soon Made

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, July 28—(CP).—Defence Minister Ralston said in the House of Commons last night that the ill-fated Canadian expedition to Hong Kong accomplished the most important task required of it—to gain some time for the United Nations in the Pacific.

The Minister bespoke his pride in the Canadians in their fight of almost three weeks against the Japanese in that Crown colony last December as he concluded a long address in the debate on the Hong Kong inquiry report prepared by Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff.

Col. Ralston supported the findings of the Royal Commissioner. He said the only inefficiency in the National Defence Department revealed by the inquiry had been in regard to transport.

The Minister said Maj.-Gen. E. J. Schmidlin, quartermaster-general when the expedition was organized, has been asked to take another post following examination of the circumstances under which some mechanized equipment did not reach Vancouver in time to be placed aboard the troopship carrying the troops to Hong Kong. Gen. Schmidlin had declined the other appointment and was retired.

The Minister also mentioned Lt.-Col. E. H. Spearing, officer in charge of movement control in the quartermaster-general's department, who, in the commissioner's opinion, had not exercised due vigilance in respect to the shipment of the same vehicles. Col. Spearing was retired after the commissioner's report was received.

The Senate spent afternoon and evening sittings debating the Government's Conscription - Enabing Bill which already has received third reading in the Commons. Four members of the Upper House indicated they would support the measure, which will empower the Government to impose conscription for service overseas at any time it sees fit, by order-in-council. Two Senators opposed the principle of overseas conscription.

The House is scheduled to continue discussion of the Hong Kong report.

Hong Kong Lessons Learned

In his speech in Commons last night, Col. Ralston said lessons had been learned from Hong Kong. The Quartermaster - General's branch had been reorganied and strengthened where required.

All the 3,000 internees eventually were billeted in the shell-damaged prison and officers' quarters and in adjoining St. tSephen's College for Chinese where bodies of British soldiers still were found late in the spring.

Owing to a wood shortage, 12 Britons who died of disease during the six months that we were there were buried from the same sliding-bottomed coffin which became a permanent fixture.

The most striking sociological feature of the internment camp was the complete social revolution — a millionaire could be seen sweeping a gutter and titled Englishwomen sorting cigarette butts for the pipes of their distinguished husbands because of the tobacco shortage.

The shortage of smokes reduced the internees to the use of the cheapest native "tobacco," tea and ginger leaves, coffee grounds and pine needles as substitutes.

Burlap bags, flour sacks, curtains, sheets, and towels became dresses.

Tokyo Raid a Thrill

LOURENCO MARQUES, Portuguese East Africa, July 24 (delayed) (AP)—The American bombing raid on Japan provided the thrill of a lifetime for a group of Americans at an interment camp mid-way between Tokyo and Yokohama.

One of the United States planes flew directly over our camp and the music of its motors was sweeter than Beethoven's Fifth Symphony which our phonograph was playing at the time.

It was shortly after noon on April 18 that the big thrill came. We were having coffee and toast when the police rushed into our camp excitedly and told us to extinguish the fires in the stoves and close the windows because there was an air raid.

We thought it was only a drill—even when we heard two tremendous explosions in the direction of the Kawasaki industrial area.

A few seconds later, however, we saw a large-twin-motored plane flying very low. Bursts of anti-aircraft shells were streaking after it. The raiders dropped down 200 feet to skim rooftops and escaped.

The night after the raid the sirens blew again but no planes appeared. The next day Japanese pursuit ships patrolled the air constantly.

Aside from the reactions of individual Japanese, the tone of the press indicated that Japanese complacency was shaken considerably by the American thrust into Japan's supposedly invulnerable defences.

Apologize to Hirohito.

Japanese ministers presented themselves to the Emperor to apologize and it was rumored that one high army officer responsible for Tokyo's defence shot himself.

Early in March police investigating Max Hill, chief of the Associated Press' Tokyo bureau who was held in jail came to quiz me concerning news stories which I had taken from the Japanese foreign office's short-wave summary and passed on to Hill. The police threatened to move me into a cell, too. However I could only tell the obvious source of our news channels, shrug and reply to the threat: 'That's your business.'

Two weeks before my departure I was taken along with other correspondents to the Sanni Hotel, where a luncheon was given us. The luncheon the Japanese said, was under the auspices of 'the Pacific War Relief committee,' a front for the Japanese home office.

Out hosts first asked, then demanded, that we write statements on various assigned topics, mine being internment conditions in Japan. When I refused a home officer struck me twice knocking out a dental bridge.

This undoubtedly was the method used by the Japanese to obtain fantastic quotations from other American prisoners.

They threatened to keep me in Japan unless I wrote a statement. I finally performed.

Under duress, I told the Japanese police that internment conditions were 'as well as could be expected.'

Now on my way back to the United States, I can explain that I had no illusions about what could be expected.

Long-time residents of Japan used to tell me: 'This would be a helluva country to be interned in.' That was true. But in fairness, the Japanese difference in living standards and conditions was the main factor.

In many cases the police did their best to alleviate the situation of our group of thirteen Americans in Tokyo. We were arrested the day war broke out and were interned but not imprisoned.

(On the other hand, Hill spent weeks in solitary confinement. Other correspondents fared similarly and, in addition to physical discomfort, underwent severe grillings in which they were struck).

On the morning of December 8 Tokyo's street were normal enough. (Though it was December 7 in Hawaii when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, it was December 8 in Japan). But radios were blaring patriotic marches and I was more or less prepared, when I returned from church and entered my house, to find myself surrounded by police who themselves seemed surprised and dazed by news of the war.

With Robert Bellaire of The United Press I was held incommunicado throughout that day. All day the radio told of Japanese successes at Hawaii and the Philippines.

I was awakened the next day by a policeman with a mimeographed sheet in English and Japanese announcing I was to be interned.

held...

"He was relieved of his post before there was any hearing, before there was any opportunity for him to give evidence."

Mr. Boucher, speaking in the resumed debate on the Duff commission report on the Hong Kong expedition, had declared there was no direct evidence again Gen. Schmidlin and no record in the report of his having been called to give evidence.

The report criticized the quartermaster-general's branch for failure to get mechanical transport to Vancouver in time to accompany the expedition to Hong Kong last Oct. 27.

The House took up the Hong Kong debate as the first item of business, ahead of the normal routine proceedings at the opening of each day's sittings, so that nothing might be permitted to intervene and delay concluision of that discussion.

A vote was hoped for late this afternoon but a half dozen members had signified their intention of speaking and the outlook was not promising.

This morning's debate brought a charge from Ross Macdonald (Lib. Brantford City), that Lt.-Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative Leader and one of the counsel before the Duff Commission, had retarded production of Bren guns in Canada by one year.

Mr. Macdonald, who finished a speech he began last evening, devoted much of it to discussion of Col. Drew and his attitude toward the commission.

He recalled the criticism of the Bren gun contract negotiated before the war, resulting in a Royal Commission hearing and a parliamentary inquiry.

"The investigation before the Royal Commission and before the committee of this House lasted almost one year and I charge Mr. George A. Drew, K.C., with holding up the production of Bren guns in Canada for at least one year," Mr. Macdonald said.

Other speakers in the debate today were J. S. Roy (Ind. Gaspe) T. L. Church (Con. Toronto Broadview), and Jean Francois Pouliot (Lib. Temiscouata) who was speaking when noon adjournment was taken.

Parting With Friends.

Mr. Church said that he had always taken the stand that "it was a mistake to part company with Japan to please somebody else." Japan was an ally in the First Great War.

"I do not agree with the Japanese in sentiment, but diplomacy is another thing," he said. "Not only have we parted with our defences but we have parted with our friends.".

Of the Hong Kong incident, Mr. Church said he was not attacking the Defence Minister or Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff the Royal Commissioner.

"Speaking of it (the report) not from any partisan standpoint because I have no politics, may I say that the report itself deals with certain questions of fact and those questions of fact are answered to the best ability of a very great Canadian," he said.

Opening his speech, Mr. Macdonald said he does not consider Col. Drew would be fitted to hold certain high offices in the National Defence Department.

Mr. Macdonald spoke on an amendment to the motion to go into committee of supply, moved yesterday by Howard Green (Con., Vancouver South), asking the House to express the opinion the Hong Kong report demonstrates incapacity among military authorities and that comprehensive reorganization of the Defence Department is necessary.

Mr. Macdonald said Col. Drew, who acted as a counsel at the inquiry conducted by Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff, had been mentioned as a militar yauthority.

"It therefore presupposes that one of the appointments in the reorganized Defence Department would go to Lieut. Drew," said Mr. Macdonald.

"Lieut. Drew did not serve in any higher rank overseas, and is not qualified to be Chief of the General Staff, Adjutant General or Chief of the Canadian Forces."

An Expert Needed.

Lt.-Col. J. A. Ross (Con., Souris) said the Hong Kong expedition inquiry should have been conducted by some one with military knowledge.

The report, he said, emphasized the need of an Empire war council, formation of which had been consistently opposed by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Col. Ross asked if there would have to be a repetition of Hong Kong before compulsory overseas military service was instituted to provide a supply of fully-trained men for such service.

It was "just propaganda" for Defence Minister Ralston to claim that firing practice in new weapons was not required by the men who had been sent to Hong Kong. It would be more beneficial if troops were able to practice with live hand grenades rather than the dummies which had been available to men who comprised the expedition.

Ex-servicemen knew the limited opportunities for training men on shipboard, said Col. Ross, referring to the plans for rounding out the expedition's training during the Pacific crossing last autumn.

Taken From The Hospital

Col. Ross said he had an inquiry from a Winnipeg woman who had a son at Hong Kong, asking how many men had been taken out of the Tuxedo Hospital at Winnipeg to make up the requirements of the Winnipeg Grenadiers, one of the two battalions sent to Hong Kong.

Col. Ralston said he had never heard the suggestion men had been taken from hospital and that his review of the Hong Kong expedition had been complete.

Col. Ross said the Canada-United States joint defence board should have been aware of developments in the Pacific indicating an attack on Hong Kong was possible — and should have passed on the information to the war committee of the Canadian cabinet.

Col. Ralston, answering an inquiry by Col. Ross, said a booklet of lectures for men in the forces, mentioned in the debate yesterday, was assembled from material put together about a year ago and gone over by a defence department officer. Some were sent to defence establishments in Canada with instructions they were to be used in a series of experimental lectures to the men. Officers were to report if they were suitable.

The idea of the lectures had been approved but extensive revisions had been proposed and were being undertaken. The booklet displayed in the House yesterday by John Diefenbaker (Con. Lake Centre) was a photographic copy of typewritten sheets and the publication had not been printed, the minister said.

Mr. Diefenbaker said yesterday the booklet stressed freedom of speech as one of the liberties being fought for in the war. After reading excerpts he urged the prime minister to table a copy of a letter written by Col. Drew about the Hong Kong inquiry.

When Col. Ross spoke of an incident in the House yesterday when Mr. King referred to opposition members as a "mob," the prime minister rose and said the reference had been withdrawn and expunged from the record. Col. Ross should not repeat the word and his statement should also be expunged.

Withdraws the Remark

Speaker Glen said all reference to the incident yesterday had been expunged from the record and he asked Col. Ross to withdraw. This Col. Ross agreed to do and his reference to the 'mob" incident will not appear in Hansard.

J. S. Roy (Ind. Gaspe) said it is "nothing but a crime" that young men were sent to action against the Japanese at Hong Kong without adequate battle training. He wished to "condemn with all the powers at my command, those responsible for that crime ,which will remain a black spot on the record of the army and of the government. z

G. K. Boucher (Cons. Carleton) said he questioned if full justice had been done toLt.-Col. E. H. Spearing of the Movement Control Section of the Quartermaster-General's Branch. Col. Spearing was retired following issuance of the report of the Hong Kong inquiry.

Mr. Boucher said he believed information on the ship's capacity should have been made available to Col. Spearing, but Col. Ralston interjected that the commissioner had found Col. Spearing had not displayed sufficient diligence in this respect. It was the duty of the Quartermaster-General's Branch to find out the space available on the ship.

Mr. Boucher said he could find nothing in the Hong Kong report on Maj.-Gen. A. J. Schmidlin, Quartermaster-General when the Hong Kong expedition was oragnized. It surely was the right of Gen. Schmidlin to give evidence he added.

Col. Ralston said he did not know whether Gen. Schmidlin was called to the inquiry but it was the right of everyone concerned to be invited to give evidence.

"Condemned without a trial," commented Mr. Boucher.

In the Armys Best Interest.

Col. Ralston said that action in regard to Gen. Schmidlin was taken before the inquiry hearings were held. As Minister he had made his own inquiry and examined the Quartermaster - General's Branch operations in respect to the expedition.

He felt the responsibility had not been fully realized and it was considered in the interest of the Army that Gen. Schmidlin be given another post. He had been offered a district post but declined it and was retired at his own request.

Mr. Boucher said the public was suspicious over the Hong Kong expedition and the full evidence given at the inquiry should be tabled.

T. L. Church (Con. Toronto-Broadview) said the Hong Kong incident was only one part of a greater fault which had existed for years and which he called "the sin of unpreparedness."

The government should table all the information on the Hong Kong expedition since the people were entitled to know the truth.

J. Francois Pouliot (Lib. Temiscouata) said there had been complaints about the Hong Kong report. He referred to Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff, the Commissioner, as "a kindly old gentleman."

Mr. Pouliot was speaking as the House rose at 1 p.m. E.D.T. for the noon recess, and was to continue when the House reopens at 3 p.m.

Make Firm, Sparkling Jams and Jellies
the CERTO way

YOU GET UP TO TWO-THIRDS MORE JAM OR JELLY FROM THE SAME AMOUNT OF FRUIT

CERTO Saves Time, Work, Worry —Results are SURE!

SHORT BOIL—For jam you need give only a one to two-minute full, rolling boil—for jellies only a half-minute to a minute.

MORE JAM OR JELLY—So little juice has time to boil away that you get up to two-thirds more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.

BETTER TASTE AND COLOR—The boil is so short it does not affect the natural taste or color of the fresh fruit.

SURE RESULTS—Follow exactly the recipes given with Certo and you'll have lovely jams and jellies.

CERTO is Pectin Extracted from Fruit

When pectin is used in making jam or jelly, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board Order No. 150 allows you to use sugar not in excess of one and one-quarter pounds of sugar for each pound of fruit. On the basis that "fruit" means "unprepared" fruit, this allows you to make your jams and jellies the Certo way which gives you approximately two-thirds more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.

Ex-Moira Residents Found Slain Near Detroit; Knew Too Much For U.S. Nazi Ring's Friends?

BELLEVILLE, July 28.—Believed to have been a victim of murder in some connection with the escape and sheltering of a Nazi prisoner of war, Samuel Herity, 48 of Detroit, was buried in his native village of Moira fifteen miles north of here yesterday. His body was recovered in the Detroit river several days ago.

Sergeant Dewy Hughes of the Detroit Homicide Squad said an investigation would be made to determine whether the victim had known anything of the sheltering by Nazi sympathizers of Oberleutnant Peter Krug of the German Luftwaffe. The Nazi ace, after escaping from Windsor to Detroit, is said to have stayed at a hotel where Herity resided.

The Detroit police officer admitted the possibility of connection between the victim's death and the secrecy that still shrouds the channels through which Krug escaped.. Coroner Dr. James Young of Windsor said that Herity had been dead about twelve hours before he was thrown into the river. There was a deep cut and minor abrasions about the head and a withered arm was badly fractured. The coroner said he suspected foul play.

Police in Windsor have been unable to establish a motive for the killing. They said the body was discovered by three Young Windsor boys. A sum of four dollars was found in the dead man's pockets.

Herity was a former newspaper reporter at Belleville. He had resided in Detroit for the past twenty years. He was employed with Hudson Motor Company advertising department.

Campbellford Rotary Club May Sponsor Air Cadet Corps

CAMPBELLFORD, July 28 (ENS) —Rotarians here may sponsor an Air Cadet Corps for High School students of this town it was revealed at the weekly luncheon held Monday. President P. C. Denyes said that when the club had given consideration to the matter a year ago it was learned it would cost in the neighborhood of $1,000. From the information recently made available it appeared that this figure had been high and the cost would be only about $15 per cadet of which only $2.50 was payable on inauguration of the corps. Boys between the age of 14 and 17½ are eligible after they pass a very strict medical examination. President Deynes told the members a special speaker would probably address them on the subject August 17, and following this it was expected some definite action would be taken particularly because many Rotary clubs in surrounding towns had already taken similar action to assist in the war effort.

Rotarian H. Bruce Longmore, M.D., reported on the crippled children's work recently done by the club and told of a little girl who had been sent to the hospital with a "badly smashed elbow." She will be hospitalized for another six weeks he said. A letter from the secretary of the Naval Vessels Reading Service was read expressing thanks to the club for their recent donation of $25 for books. It was announced that in view of the Civic Holiday on Monday next the regular meeting would be cancelled.

Reds Hammer Back Attack On Attack On Don's Big Bend

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer.

MOSCOW, July 28 — (AP). — Red Army men have yielded Rostov and Novocherkassk before overwhelming German attacks and reinforced invasion columns are striking to enlarge bridgeheads across the Don upstream but defenders of Stalingrad have repulsed many enemy tank and motorized infantry attacks before the river's big bend, the Russians annonuced to-day.

One Soviet force was reported to have destroyed 25 German tanks and killed 700 of the invaders yesterday on the Steppes that reach to the high right bank of the Don as close as 50 miles to Stalingrad, industrial city of the Volga.

"The Soviet Air Force incessantly bombed the German battle formations, destroyed or damaged 27 tanks, 68 motor vehicles with troops a ndsupplies, and a number of field and anti-aircraft guns," the Soviet Information Bureau said. "Two companies of infantry and not less than a squadron of cavalry were destroyed."

Russian fliers were credited also with demolishing or damaging 37 German planes on the ground and shooting down three Messerschmitt 109 fighters.

11 Divisions From France

Soviet publications stressed the gravity of the loss of Rostov and Novocherkassk positions and Russian pleas for the opening of a second Allied front were recalled by a declaration of Pravda that the Germans had withdrawn 11 divisions from France to effect the break-through.

The invaders were half-way along on their task of isolating the trans-Caucasus, with its riches in oil, wheat, metals and timmer, reaching eastward toward the Volga and the Caspian oil port in the South Caucasus—about 80 miles farther than from the old Polish frontier to Rostov.

Cool Curing Room Saves Seymour Cheese

Prince of Wales cheese factory, five miles northeast of Campbellford, was laid in ashes Saturday afternoon by a fire which seemed to have originated in the upper walls. Neighboring farmers carried two weeks' make of cheese from the cool curing room and piled it in the shade until it was removed to Campbellford. Portion of one hundred Cheddar cheese are shown at the left and the ruins of the building at the right. The plant was owned by Grant Anderson, whose net loss was estimated at more than $1,500. He will probably rebuild.

Outdoor Movie Shown At Gore's Landing

GORE'S LANDING, July 28 — (ENS). — An outdoor moving picture show was given by W. W. Prissick of Toronto, a memebr of the Toronto Camera Club on Friday evening. A large crowd gathered just back of the canteen on the grounds of Pinecrest Camp. Seats and benches were provided, and a beautiful evening amidst the pine trees contributed to the success of this entertainment, in aid of the United Church Hall.

Mr. Prissick showed pictures of the Vimy Ridge pilgrimage from the time they left Montreal until their arrival back in Quebec. He also showed a film of Their Majesties' visit to Toronto with many excellent views of King George and Queen Elizabeth. A collection was taken, which amounted to $13.00.

Catches 10-Pounder.

A young lady vacationing in Herald's Camp had a pleasant surprise on Sunday afternoon. Trolling over at the mouth of the Otonabee River she caught a muskie. Feeling a tug at the line, she thought the hook had become embedded in a weed bed. As she started to pull in the line, a fine lunge made its apparanc. On her arrival back in the camp grounds many pictures were taken of her first maskinonge. The fish weighed 10 pounds.

NOW'S THE TIME TO BUY YOUR COAL!

'Fill that coal bin now!" says the government

"Get all the winter coal you're going to need — and get it NOW," is the urgent request of the government. Protect your family from the serious consequences of the possible shortage next winter!

There is a simple way to buy all the coal you need—to buy for cash and take advantage of low coal cash prices. A special plan now lets you have all the cash you need and repay the cost in small monthly instalments at a very small net charge per ton. For instance, a $100 loan can be repaid for as little as $7.78 per month.

You get four other important advantages by taking prompt advantage of this new plan. 1. Complete privacy in making all arrangements. 2. No co-signers or endorsers required. 3. 15 full months in which to repay. 4. No guarantee of your loan by your coal dealer or any outside source. And the first payment will not be due for thirty days.

Learn all about this budget plan for coal users. Phone or visit Household Finance Corporation of Canada, 177 Charlotte Street, Peterborough. Phone 5841.

Sen. J. Murdoch Protests On Divorce Rules

OTTAWA, July 28—(CP).—Senator James Murdock (Lib., Ontario) said in the Senate yesterday that while he had been a member of the Senate Divorce Committee the rules had not been complied with in a single case.

He did not elaborate the statement, but said he might make further reference to it at a future date.

Senator Murdock spoke in opposition to a divorce committee report submitted by Senator W. M. Oseltine (Con., Saskatchewan). Senator Murdock had already tabled a minority report opposing the granting of a divorce in a case in which he said there was mistaken identity.

Senator Aseltine said he had heard that Senator Murdock had sent a memorandum on the case to members of the Commons. The committee was a semi-judicial body, and members of it should not take such action ,acting as counsel for the/defendant.

Senator Murdock said he had sent copies of his minority report to Rev. E. G. Hansell (N.D., Macleod).

Senator E. S. Little (Lib., Ontario) said he disliked undue publicity given some divorce petitions.

"This is just another argument that this whole matter should be taken away from the Senate and given to the courts," he added.

The majority report was carried, but Senator Murdock opposed immediate second reading of a bill granting the divorce and it was put over to the next sitting.

Boy Prevents Mother From Taking Own Life

HAMILTON, Ont., July 28—(CP)—Magistrate H. A. Burbidge in court here today was told how a six-year-old boy has twice prevented his mother from attempting to take her own life

Testifying in the case of Mrs. Doris Sedan, 26, charged with attempted suicide, Acting-Detective Clifford Dean said accused took a bottle of iodine and drank about an ounce of it before the boy snatched it from her.

Detective Ernest Barret said that she stepped in front of a train a short time ago, and the son pulled her back.

In view of evidence that accused has twice before attempted to commit suicide, His Worship allowed William Schreiber to change the plea of guilty, and reserved judgment to Thursday, ordering another mental examination.

He was immediaetly placed in custody.

Human Resources In Canada Limited

TORONTO, July 28—In their efforts to curb accidents which rob industry of vital manpower, the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations, in a memorandum issued today to plant executives throughout Ontario, emphasize a statement made by Prime Minister MacKenzie King. Recently Mr. King said: "Mobilization of human resources is far more complicated than is generally realized. It is not merely a question of raising men for the army."

"It should not be forgotten," he said, "that Canada has only eleven and a half million people, of whom a considerable proportion are children or old people who cannot engage in active war service. From our limited population we must provide men and women to perform the essential services without which life could not go on; services such as the manufacture and distribution of the necessities of life, essential transportation over great distances, and the production of food for our own people.

"Men and women to produce food, not only for our own people and our armed orces, but also to help feed the people of Britain and other Allied countries which cannot produce all the food they need for themselves.

"Men and women to produce machines and munitions of war for Canada, for Britain and for the United Nations. Men and women for services in all three of the armed forces."

The Associations feel that accident prevention in the factory, the home and on the highway is vital to the war effort.

Woman Bests Oil Helps Save Two Seamen

LONDON, July 28.—Survivors of the torpedoed 14,443-ton British liner Avila Star told yesterday how an English woman saved herself from drowning and then spent an entire night in a waterloged lifeboat, taking care of two injured seamen.

The survivors, landed in Britain, said the woman was flung into the water when the second of two torpedoes struck. Covered with oil, she managed to swim to a lifeboat where she took care of the seamen until dawn, when they were transferred to another boat.

The Avila Star was carrying 196 persons when torpedoed at night early this month by a German submarine. The first torpedo struck amidships and the second hit as the last lifeboat was drawing away, throwing all its occupants into the water and drowning some of them, the survivors said. When morning came the Avila Star had disappeared, and only five lifeboats could be seen, they said. A Portuguese ship picked up 110 of the survivors and landed them in the Azores. The Portuguese sloop Pedro Nunes landed twenty-seven survivors of the lines Sunday, all of them in serious condition from lack of food and water.

Passenger's Arm Is Crushed

COBOURG, July 28 — (ENS) — Kenneth Clarke, age 30 of 217 Shaw street, Toronto, had his right arm crushed in a peculiar accident yesterday at Cobourg. According to police, Clarke was riding in a westbound bus and was just entering the town limits when the bus went out of control and grazed against a hydro pole near the curb. Clarke was either riding with his arm on the windo ledge or else the lurch of the bus caused him to stick his arm out. At any rate it was pinned between the side of the vehicle and the pole and fractured in several places. The bones were protruding through the flesh where they had been splintered off by the impact. He was attended by Dr. Fred Blackwell and taken to Cobourg Hospital. Driver of the bus was Kenneth Down of Kingston.

It is stated that just before the accident, a child on the bus had taken sick. The bus driver leaned over to get a cloth out of the compartment when the bus lurched momentarily and in the next instant it had brushed past the hydro pole. Clarke's arm was badly mangled. He and his sister were on their way to Consecon at the time, for a holiday. Chief of Police, W. J. Carey, investigated.

End Of "Ration."

NAHUNTA, Ga., July 28 (AP)—C. H. Calhoun, high school vocational teacher, replaced his automobile with a horse which he named "Ration." Excellent Wheat In N. Hamilton

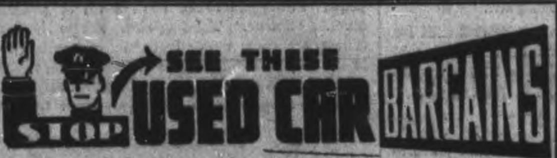
GORE'S LANDING, July 28 — (ENS). — With harvesting on over the north end of Hamilton Township, an excellent yield of grain is being generally reported.

Frank Halligan of Rice Lake Drive cut 8 acres of wheat last week and the grain was so heavy he used almost four 8-pound balls of twine to tie the sheaves. On Thursday, Mr. Halligan was cutting a 10-acre field of wheat so thick that horses would be unable to pull the binder through it. He has been using the tractor.

Mr. Halligan said he never had such a large crop and attributed the healthy and vigorous growth to the use of a tractor which works the land very thoroughly. Mr. Halliday has 6 acres of rye which averages 67 inches tall and in places it is 7 feet high.



These listed below and others await your inspection at the J. K. Hughes' Used Car Mart. Look these over.

FDR-Farley Tiff May Elect Tom Dewey

NEW YORK, July 28 — (AP) — Franklin D. Roosevelt and James A. Farley, the suave, beaming, operator-extraordinary who had so much to do with electing him President, are squared away in a hot political fight in New York State.

Their first breach was over the President's run for a third term, and the disagreement resulted in Farley's retirement from the Postmaster-Generalship and the National Democratic Chairmanship.

Now the breach is over who shall be the next Governor of New York — possibly an important factor in the Presidential election in 1944—and at stake is Farley's influence as State Democratic Chairman.

Governor Herbert H. Lehman, of the Wall Street private banking family, ran for his current fourth term only reluctantly, as a favor to Democratic Party leaders, and now is determined to give up the job.

The likely Republican candidate to succeed him is Thomas E. Dewey, who gained a national reputation as a racket-busting prosecutor and who vainly ran against Lehman in the last election for Governor and vainly campaigned for the last Republican Presidential nomination.

To run against him, Farley selected John J. Bennett, Jr., the State's Attorney-General for the last dozen years, an unspectacular but affable and assiduous party worker who long has been in grooming for such a contingency. Bennett claims 646 of the State convention's 1,014 votes pledged.

However, the American Labor Party, which has delivered winning blocks of votes to Democratic candidates in the past, announced that Bennett was not satisfactory to it for a joint slate, and that if he were nominated it would put its own opposing candidates. The party indicated, however, that if Senator James Mead, who has a more conspicuous pro-labor record than Bennett, were the Democratic candidate the Labor Party would support him.

Whereupon, apparently stemming from a nod from President Roosevelt, a pro-Mead "beat Bennett" movement crystalized overnight among nationally known New Dealers like Senator Robert Wagner, Henry Morgenthau Sr., father of the Secretary of the Treasury, and Assistant Secretary of State A. A. Berle Jr.—erstwhile teammates of Farley now set in defiance of him.

The drive got the blessing of the White House when Mead, after a conference with Mr. Roosevelt, quoted him as announcing:

"I am a voter in New York State, but I am not a delegate to the convention. If I were a delegate to the convention, I would cast my vote for Jim Mead."

One thing political observers see as certain is that Mr. Roosevelt is determined that the nominee will not be Farley's man, which would allow the Democratic State chairman to control the State during the 1944 Presidential year.

For the first time in many years, if the split continues ,there seems to be a chance that the Republican Party will place a man in the Governor's Mansion.

Movies Being Made Of Port Hope Families

PORT HOPE, Ont., July 28 (CP)—Families of men serving overseas, were in the "movies" this morning when a photographer from the National Film Board photographed them as part of a nation-wide film of soldiers families which will later be shown overseas. Four Peterborough Men Are Promoted

JAMES GILLESPIE NEIL GEMMELL ARCHIE HAMILTON

Promotion of three Peterborough officers with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Regiment is reported in letters received from the Old Country. From several sources it was learned that Lieutenants James Gillespie, Neil Gemmell and Archie Hamilton have been advanced to the rank of Captain. Another interesting bit of news reports that Gordon Wood who enlisted with the Glengarrys as a private was recently promoted to the non-commissioned rank of Sergeant. One of the letters remarked that the Peterborough boys are seeing far more of England and even Scotland than most of the Old Countrymen themselves see in a lifetime.

Cockpit Trouble Behind Most Air Force Accidents

NEW YORK, July 28.—"'Cockpit trouble'—that's the cause of almost all of our accidents." Thus does a First Air Force master sergeant station at an Eastern base ,with sixteen years of experience handling ground crews, describe in two words the accident attributed by statistics to carelessness, disregard of orders and error in judgment.

"I can remember only two accidents due to equipment failure," said the sergeant. "In both cases the landing gear gave way.

"The ground crews can't fix cockpit troube. That's something for the schools. They have to teach pilots how to avoid it, and then it's up to the pilots.

"Three things should be drilled into student pilots.

"First, the gas tanks. They have to understand that a gas gauge shows the contents of both the main and the reserve tanks. The main tank may be dry and the gauge still will register because the reserve is full. If they don't switch over, they'll crash. Pilots must learn the first thing to do when an engine goes dead is to switch the gas tank.

"Second, they ought to teach 'em and make sure they learn never to pull landing gear up until they are absolutely sure they've cleared the ground.

"And third ,they ought to teach pilots more about propeller setting. As to the pitch control, even old hands in the cockpit sometimes will reach for the wrong nob when they want to change a prop setting. Most frequently they'll cut the mixture instead of changing the prop pitch. It's not fatal/if they have enough altitude to correct it in time.

"When we turn a machine out on the line, it's singing right," said the sergeant, and he's typical of the attitude of every ground crew boss.

Ground crews are organied on skill rather than rank. It's not unusual to find a corporal with ability holding an assignment as a flight chief with jurisdiction over eight or nine planes and their crews, some of which are supervised by sergeants.

Each ship in a squadron has a permanent crew with a crew chief. Each ship is part of a flight with a flight chief who supervises the work of the plane crews, and they're all under the master sergeant who is the keystone of the squadron ground crews.

Aside from this personnel, there is a specialists' corps attached to every squadron ground crew. These include the engineering staff, the electrical ,instrument, propeller and hydraulic men.

When a new ship arrives in a squadron, it's taken into the hangar and first stripped down. After it's completely checked over, a ground crew assigned, it's put into service.

Each ship is watched over by its respective ground crews, who must keep it in shape at all times.

Periodically every ship is checked. Every 24 hours a ship spead in the air, it's brought in for a special checkup. On the 50th, 100th and 200th hour ,the check is more rigid, the inspection more critical. The engine is stripped right down, every part gone over carefully. After 300 hours in the air, the whole engine, in most ships, is removed and replaced with another.

The work sheet for a ship is made out by the engineering officer every time the ship is checked. The list of jobs that must be done on that ship is pasted up on the ship itsef, and as each job is don't it's initialed by the man who does it.

The crew chief, of course, is responsible for seeing that it is done.

If the job is too complex for the plane crew, the specialists are called in—the engineering crew or the instrument, the electrical crew, etc.

After the job is done, the inspector gives it a thorough going over.

As the master sergeant who runs such a squadron ground crew puts it: "We never gamble. When our crew says a ship's o.k., you can bet it's o.k. Find a monkey wrench that will fix cockpit trouble and you'll really see the accident rate go down."

Radio Committee Report

The findings of the House of Commons Radio Broadcasting Committee are the outcome of a prolonged investigation, and by this time everybody in Canada who has an interest in the matter—and that means every intelligent radio listener—will have read and considered them. For some time the standard of broadcasting from the CBC has been declining, and it was plain that this was the result of divided authority and an uncertain and unsatisfactory state of affairs within the Corporation. A re-adjustment should make a difference very quickly.

A country is only justified in maintaining a national broadcasting corporation if the corporation is prepared to undertake tasks which lie outside the scope of commercial enterprise. In such a country as Canada the national broadcasting corporation has the task of bringing the nine provinces nearer together and of promoting better understanding among them, thereby encouraging the unity which is so difficult for us to maintain. It has also the task of providing entertainment for a country which has no theatres. And it has the task of training the taste of its listeners and of providing programs which will please good taste where it already exists. The task of such a corporation, in short, is partly propagandist and partly educational and the CBC has not so far dealt with either of these tasks in a satisfactory way.

There is reason to believe that this failure to cope with the obvious problems of a national broadcasting company sprang not from lack of money or unsatisfactory working conditions, but from a more serious defect — lack of imagination. The CBC did not appear to know how to go about its job. Propaganda broadcasts there have been, and cultural programs (largely musical) but they have not been part of a well-conceived whole; in short, they have not added up to anything. And because this work was attacked without a bold plan, and with a certain amateurishness of technique, it has been dull to listen to, and has defeated its own end. We have heard most of the propaganda programs broadcast from the CBC during the past two years or so in its Eastern Region, and we have never heard one which quite achieved its object. Money and effort have been spent, but plan and imagination have been lacking.

It is not that imagination does not exist in Canada; it is not that it does not, sometimes, penetrate into the CBC. The Western Region, for instance, has done some excellent work under the guidance of Ira Dilworth, and if the CBC needs a new General Manager the Government might do well to consider this gentleman's qualifications. But imagination can only work satisfactorily in a congenial atmosphere, and hitherto the attitude of the CBC toward its work and toward its listeners has not established such an atmosphere. And the Corporation has not yet grasped the principle, common enough both in Britain and the U.S., that propaganda must not sound like propaganda if it is to succeed, and that educational programs must be enjoyable or no one will listen to them. And it has never realized either that in broadcasting as in every other sort of entertainment work, nothing but the best is ever good enough; ill-planned, unimaginative, under-rehearsed broadcasts are not good enough for the people of Canada, and they will not accept them. They can too easily twiddle a nob and hear something from the U.S. which is infinitely better done.

There is a very definite place for Canadian broadcasting and for the CBC, but only when it gives us the very best of which it is capable. Never since the establishment of the corporation has that best been forthcoming, but the public has been patient, knowing that the establishment of a national broadcasting corporation was no easy matter. But now the time has come when we may fairly expect a big improvement. The CBC has a heavy wartime task, and the sooner it plans and executes that task with boldness and imagination the better pleased we shall all be.

Preserving Canadian Speech

Our esteemed contemporary, Chatham Daily News, protests gently against what it calls the cultural annexation of Canada by the U.S., and complains particularly that Canadian speech is becoming indistinguishable from that of our southern neighbors. Now this matter of Canadian speech has been debated many times with little result, for the simple reason that the majority of Canadians are wholly indifferent to it. Listen to a dozen addresses by Canadians on the radio and you will be forced to conclude that, although the speakers may have given many hours of preparation to their matter, they have never at any time given so much as half an hour to improving their speech or manner of delivery. One of the chief reasons for this indifference to effective speech is that Canada lacks that guardian of good speech, a living theatre.

We have the movies, of course, and sometimes they are an influence for good in this direction, but not often. Movie-goers are inclined to adopt eccentricities of speech recorded by the sound-track, more than the elusive cadences of good speech. Not long ago we heard a group of little boys talking among themselves in the accents of George Formby, the Lancashire comedian! Certainly nobody wants Canadians to talk like George Formby any more than they want them to talk like American gunmen.

The late Lord Tweedsmuir, in one of his novels, wrote of the various voices of the British Commonwealth, and described the Canadian voice as having the sound of cracking ice in it; this was intended as a compliment, though it is well for us to remember that the sound of cracking ice may easily change to the sound of breaking glass or crushing rock. Our Canadian speech in general combines some traits of North Country English, Lowland Scots and Irish, and it can be very pleasant to hear. As a usual thing, however, it is marred by a monotony of delivery, and a predominance of downward inflection which soon becomes depressing. It is this quality which makes so many Canadian speakers sound heavy-hearted and glum.

We fear that the Chatham News is asking too much if it expects Canadians to guard their distinctive speech with care. Only a genuinely Canadian literature and a Canadian theatre could do that, and preserve our special idiom, and we lack both those invaluable aids to national growth.

Bicyclists Flout Law

We have written about the iniquities of bicyclists in these columns until we are heartily sick of the subject, and we would not revive it if we had not seen a particularly striking example of cyclists' foolishness last week. It was at the intersection of George and Hunter Streets; two youths on bicycles came up George Street and rode directly through a red light. As there was no cross traffic they were in no danger, but that is not the point: the traffic signals are meant for wheeled traffic and pedestrians alike, and by crossing against the light the boys deliberately flouted a law designed to ensure public safety.

Cyclists must get rid of the idea that, because their vehicles are small, they are not subject to traffic laws. If one of those boys had been knocked down by a car he would certainly not have waived his claim for damages on the ground that he was riding a mere bicycle.

At times it must seem that cyclists are the most selfish people who use the roads. They drive not only on the pavement but on the sidewalks, they rarely sound their bells, and they will put pedestrians and motorists to almost any inconvenience before they will halt their own progress. The time has come when the authorities who normally control traffic must keep a closer watch on cyclists, for their own protection as well as for that of other people.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Men are allowed to have old friends. Tactful women just have friends.

Curious, isn't it, that the wrong number never seems to be engaged?

The latest thing in clothes, says the cynical Chatham News, is a wife keeping an appointment.

"It would be wrong to suppose that superiority of resources is bound mechanically and in all circumstances to insure victory," says Maxim Litvinoff. Very true; the quicker we can stop talking about what we shall be able to do when we are fully organized and begin doing the utmost possible at the moment, the better chance we shall have of winning the war.

Two Tales Of Adventure

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

FREDERICK NIVEN is one of Canada's few professional novelists; he has published almost a score of books and with one of them, "Mine Inheritance," he had a remarkable success. Unlike most Canadian writers his books are published by the British firm of Collins; they have just brought out a new book from his pen, called "Brothers In Arms." It is an excellent tale of adventure and it should find a large and appreciative public.

In this book Mr. Niven has used a method which used to be popular with novelists but which has not been used with much skill or success recently; he deserves credit for having carried it off so well. His hero, supposedly an ancestor of his own, is a young Glasgow Scotsman, James Niven, who tells his own story in the language of the early eighteenth century. The book invites comparison with Thackeray's "Henry Esmond," which is undoubtedly the most successful novel written in this manner in English, and it is high praise to say that it survives such comparison very well. In order to write in this style, an author must know his eighteenth century literature well enough to be able to manufacture a reasonable copy of it, and yet he must not seem to produce a mere imitation. Few authors have the skill and discretion for such a task and even fewer have the education. High praise must go to Mr. Nevin, therefore, as an able writer in a difficult form.

THE STORY is a good one, with plenty of adventure and mercifully little of that pseudo-psychology and soul-scrubbing which is the curse of modern novels. James' elder brother Rob has been sent to Virginia as a punishment by their stern father, one of Glasgow's tobacco lords, and when the father dies James sets out for the old colony to find him. He falls in love with a refreshingly cruel heroine, whom he cannot marry as she is married already; he meets George Washington, then a young officer in the colonial army; he meets Nathaniel Shuttle, an entertaining trapper who is the 'comic relief' of the book; he helps fight the French; and at last he finds his brother, but too late to save him from the fate which is inherent in his proud, untameable character.

This book is satisfactory because it does not attempt great things, and so does not fall short of them. It sets out to tell a story of adventure, and in this it succeeds admirably. It is worth a dozen of the over-strained, too ambitious novels which will jostle it on the bookseller's shelves, and it will doubtless remain longer in favor than they.

THE SECOND of these tales of adventure is published by Musson's. It is "Immortal Sergeant," by John Brophy, and it is a story of the present war in Libya. Its plot is simple but effective. A daylight patrol is sent into the desert to reconnoitre; it consists of fourteen men who take with them two trucks and a Bren gun carrier. Their apparently simple task turn into a desperate adventure when they are attacked by Italian dive-bombers, losing one of their trucks and several men, and so disturbing their compasses that they are unable to find their way. Later they attack a stalled Italian tank, but a misadventure ruins their plan, and again their numbers are reduced. Worst blow of all, their leader Sergeant Kelly is badly wounded and he shoots himself in order to avoid giving trouble. Four men struggle on in the desert, and at last two of them, the Corporal and one of the privates, find their way back to their base.

The story is a good one, and in the main it is well told. But Mr. Brophy is a nervous and mannered writer; he fidgets in print. In the early part of his book he introduces himself as a character; he, John Brophy, is represented as chairman at a meeting in London; for this reader, at least, this trick was disquieting and destructive of illusion. An author with as much experience as Mr. Brophy, and with his reputation as a critic also, should be above such cheap devices for attracting attention. But the main structure of the book is strong, and these occasional annoyances are not sufficiently irritating to mar the whole.

AS WELL as being a tale of soldiering this book is also a record of personal development. The hero, Corporal Spence, has been a writer in pre-war England, and a man of indecisive and retiring character. But in the Army he falls under the influence of the single-minded, tough Sergeant Kelly, who is a man of action rather than a man of thought. After Kelly is dead Spence has to lead the wretched band back to safety, and in doing so he finds himself and incorporates into his own character those things which he had admired in Kelly. This theme is treated with considerable skill, and greatly increases the interest of the book. "Immortal Sergeant" will hardly please those who like their adventure straight and raw, but discriminating readers will enjoy it.

A Bible Message For Today

Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were unlearned and ignorant men, they marvelled; and they took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus.

And beholding the man which was healed standing with them, they could say nothing against it.

But when they had commanded them to go aside out of the council, they conferred among themselves.

Saying, what shall we do to these men, for indeed a notable miracle hath been done by them, is manifest to all them that dwell in Jerusalem, and we cannot deny it.

But that it spread no farther among the people let us straitly threaten them, that they speak henceforth to no man in this name.—Acts 4: 13-17.

BUT WE KEEP ON PAYING

Income taxpayers, it is reported, will not have to file their next returns before September 30, 1943. That is one spring chore the elimination of which will be universally welcomed.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

Reds' Left Flank Hard Pushed

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press War Analyst

THE Russians have announced their withdrawal from Rostov, at the portal of the Caucasus, and Berlin claims the Soviet's defense line is tottering all along the lower Don from the Rostov area eastward to the great bed of the river fifty miles or less from Stalingrad and the Volga.

The same communique telling of the withdrawal from Rostov, which the Red Army wersted back from the Germans last winter, reported abandonment of Novocherkassk, twenty miles to the northeast of Rostov. Earlier, Moscow admitted that at least two bridgeheads on the south bank of the Don were in enemy hands east of the Donets inflow.

Whether the Nazis' claim to have captured Bataisk junction, twenty miles south of Rostov on the main rail and pipeline routes in the Caucasus, represents still another crosing of the Don or a flanking operating down the south bank of the river is not clear.

It makes little difference. In either case the plight of the whole Russian left flank is critical if Bataisk has been taken. That could represent entrapment of all Russian forces south of the Don below the Donets confluence to the Sea of Azov, and collapse of the lower Don defense line at its strongest point.

THREAT TO MAIKOP

Bataisk is a point on the Rostov-Baku railroad where a highway takes off westward to the Town of Azov on one of the multiple mouths of the Don. In German hands that junction not only represents an immediate threat to the Maikop oilfields, less than 200 miles further south, but a possible new sea-borne flanking invasion route to the Caucasus from Taganrog. It is less than thirty miles airline from Taganrog to Azov across the narrowing northeastern arm of the Sea of Azov below Rostov.

The whole northwestern bulge of the Caucasus to the Maikop oilfields could be quickly cut off by a further German surge southward from Bataisk. While that field itself is of minor importance compared to the great Caspian shore pools, the Germans, if they reached it, would be astride both routes to Baku. They would be in a position to strike down both the north and south flanks of the forbidding Caucasus range even if they had failed to reach the Volga beyond the Don bend.

Berlin asserted that the Don had been crossed east of the Donets confluence several days before Moscow admitted bridgeheads had been established on the south bank in that region. There was no mention of the Bataisk operation from Moscow as this was written, but specific German claims of that nature rarely have proved incorrect. The probabilities are, therefore, that Bataisk has been at least invested although it seems unlikely that the Don line was crossed in the Rostov region to reach it.

DRAIN ON RESOURCES

However this new and most menacing German thrust into the Caucasus was achieved, it has only one encouraging aspect from an Allied viewpoint. It tends to confirm the impression that the whole Nazi offense revolves around Hitler's urgent necesity of obtaining new and considerable oil sources before winter closes in again. The tremendous scope of his offensive operations in Russia is drawing heavily on his reserve stocks of natural or synthetic fuels, as is his long-distance sea blockade campaign in American waters.

It goes without saying that the Maikop region wells, refineries and pipe lines will be destroyed under the Soviet scorched-earth policy if the threat becomes more imminent. Destruction crews probably are already assigned to do the job and do it thoroughly.

Even with pipe lines or rail connections with the Caspian fields broken, Russian needs could be served by sea and Volga barges so long as Red armies retain control of that transportation means.

There can be small doubt, however, that very considerable Russian forces along the lower Don south of the Donets inflow and in the northwestern triangle of the Caucasus which fronts on the sea of Azov are in deadly peril if the Germans are already behind them at Bataisk.

A desperate retreat southward before the trap closes may confront the whole southern flank of Marshal Timoshenko's line if the claimed Nazi spearhead at Bataisk cannot be pinched off without delay.

Letters To The Editor

WEDNESDAY HALF-HOLIDAY

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—There has been so much discussion already, re the Wednesday half-holiday, that one more opinion will not make much difference. However, some rural comments won't hurt either!

We farm people don't object so much to the half-holiday—your clerks are entitled to that—but one or two stores and repair shops could stay open, in turn, to oblige the farmer; who certainly contributes to your business. If you think he doesn't—just try and get along without him. As to the question of why Mr. Smith, if he were a farmer, was sporting around town Wednesday afternoon; when else do you think the farmer could get waited on—if he didn't go during your daylight store hours. If you would open shop at 10 a.m. and remain until 7 p.m. Mr. Smith, the farmer, might forego the need of eating his supper, and shop between six and seven; then return to milk his cows and put the chickens to bed after that, so you would have your milk and eggs delivered to you bright and early for your breakfast. Then of course, we get a big fat ceiling price put on all our produce; as pay for our overtime, and cost of living bonus.

You make us laugh—S.L.B., to try and impress us with the idea that the thought ever as much as occurred to any of you business men or clerks to come out to the farm, for as much as one Wednesday. No not you! The farm is a real good place for you, on a Sunday for a chicken dinner.

It is not two weeks since one of your salaried city employees was on his two weeks' holidays, and we invited him to spend a couple of days on the farm—he laughed, and retorted that "sure that's no kind of a holiday." Our friend just spoke the general opinion of our poor overworked city friends. It's too bad some of the city wives hadn't more to do than sit behind a fan too; they might feel at least sorry for the farm women in the hay fields this summer on blistering days.

"FARMER."

DUST IS TERRIBLE

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—A man living in one of the wartime houses told me, it burns him up to come down town and see the flusher washing off the streets, when they that are living in those houses cannot have their streets sprinkled.

Having been in that district on different days I can understand why his feelings are as he stated. The dust is terrible.

Other people I was talking with said although they got a very heavy downpour of rain in the spring and had to wallow in mud they still enjoy the water enough to have their streets sprinkled.

The mothers say it is so very quiet at times that when an unexpected auto is travelling through the street at excessive speed several children have just missed being hit.

I am making an appeal to the Powers that Be, our Council, to see that the dust is laid, and driving done by drivers as though they are sane.

MAURICE E. KETHESON.

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Recently there appeared several pictures of officials at work at Ottawa in connection with examinations of foods etc., sent out to the press no doubt by the Department of Public Information. In connection with this department of the Federal Government there is something mysterious, for instance, in the U.S.A. the Department of Agriculture under which the pure food and drug laws are administered, publishes a list of prosecutions and investigations and seizures of foods and drugs made by the officials of the department from time to time. In addition to this, the names and fines (if any) or disposition of the cases are published, in order that the taxpayers and consumers can see who are the guilty ones and who is trying to gum up the works in this respect. But in Canada there is absolutely nothing whatsoever given out to the public as to whether any foods or drugs etc. are seized, whether any are inferior or doped or improperly prepared, made or sold or distributed. Even members of Parliament I am told are denied this information. What are the taxpayers of Canada keeping up at Ottawa in this department, a secret society under public auspices? I remember one or two cases a few months ago in which the U.S. inspectors seized, some maple syrup imported from Quebec and Eastern Canada, this syrup the U.S. government reports showed, contained lead, presumably from the processing containers. How do you know Mr. Editor whether you or your frineds have been consuming leaded maple syrup or whether our inspectors have grabbed the makers of such and seized their poisoned goods. Why is it that the American consumers are told about these things but the Canadian consumer is kept entirely in the dark? Is the Department of Health at Ottawa operating this division on the basis of secrecy?

Any person interested may obtain these U.S.A. government reports of food and drugs seized by applying to the Pure Food and Drug division of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. here is some very illuminating evidence comes to hand sometimes to show that there is a strong suspicion that if such reports were published in Canada as they ought to be like any other public documents, we would find some astonishing things such as the above mentioned maple syrup episode, co-relative to our own interests.

There is altogether too much camouflage going on in connection with foods and other articles, it might be termed (advertising in disguise). Take the Federal Trade Commission at Washington, D.C., which also checks up on frauds, trade agreements, investigations etc., in the commercial fields and has proven invaluable to the war effort in the U.S.A. by supplying data. What is there in Canada to cover this field? Your readers could not do better than to apply for copies of their reports also and read sometimes of firms also doing business in Canada as well as in the U.S.A. and being ordered to cease from improper advertising and marketing of goods. The entire evidence of these things is printed in the (Federal Register) the official paper of the U.S.A. government which covers almost every department. Sample copies can be had from Maj. B. R. Kennedy, director, division of Federal Register, The National Archives, Washington, D.C. Priority orders are also printed now in this journal and any person interested in such also could derive a great deal of valuable information from reading such as our priority orders are now mostly directed from Washington, this is almost entirely true where metals etc., are concerned and importers in any event could derive invaluable information from these lists. In the meantime, perhaps we could start an argument as to whether a tin of peaches labelled "Fancy" is better than a tin of peaches labelled "choice." Then we could advise the government that it would better in our estimation to use the numerical labels of first grade, second grade etc. We can understand beyond any quibbling over hairs as to the meaning of the numerals.

THERE are teeth ni the Wartime Prices and Trade Act, a packing firm yesterday being fined $1,000 for selling beef above the permitted price and a hot-dog stand owner fined $100 for selling his roadstand wares higher than former prices.—Niagara Falls Review.

WEIGHING THE POSSIBILITIES

We trust that London and Washington are thinking not only of risks but of potential advantages from a second front. It has always been Berlin's nightmare. It would help not only the Russians, who undoubtedly would counter-attack simultaneously if Nazi air power moved West, but the Allies in Egypt. And visible evidence of help near at hand should double and redouble the strength of revolt and sabotage on the Continent. Calculations are necessary to avoid raising false hopes, or making futile sacrifices, but wars are won by imagination.—Christian Science Monitor (Boston).

City Churches Cool Sight On Summer Days

The generous rains of early summer, whatever they did to spoil summer holidays, have kept trees and lawns amazingly fresh and green. Trinity Church, in particular, standing high on its spacious lawns is a cool and pleasing sight on a hot July day. The clean grey stone walls are restful to heat-weary eyes and the vines that cling to its southern wall, kept fresh and luxuriant by frequent rains lend a touch of mellow age to the building.

St. John's Church, too, high above the street, rests coolly and peacefully on its well-known lawns. Elms and maples make a cool and graceful background for its century-old stone walls and the simple, graceful lines and silken rustle of breezes in their leaves, a cool and delightful sound to the ear, is seldom stilled, even on the hottest days. The varied green of its shubberies and rich color of bloom in its well-tended shrubberies add to the beauty of the scene.

The graceful elms on the green lawns of George Street Church make a cool shade, and veil at close hand the dignity of the well-proportioned tower that thrusts above them and is visible from almost all parts of the city. And St. Peter's Cathedral, with its grey walls and shaded lawns and gardens, is another oasis in the heat.

Smith-Jackson Vows Taken At Bride's Home

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jackson, Bethany, Ontario, on July 25th when their daughter, Loraine Irene was united in marriage to Mr. Carl Milton Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hary Smith, Bethany, Ontario. Rev. Mr. A. L. Harding officiated at the ceremony and Miss Isabel Jackson played the wedding music. During the signing of the register Miss Hazel Jackson of Toronto, sang 'Oh Promise Me'

The bride, given away by her father, looked very charming in a gown of forget-me-not blue sheer, carrying a cascade bouquet of sweet peas and roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Jackson of Peterborough, wearing a gown of rose crepe, carying a bouquet of delphinium and snapdragon. The flower girl, little Marie Carr, niece of the bride wore yellow organdy and carried a basket of hydrangea, phlox and dlephinium. Mr. Vincent Jackson was best man.

Mrs. Jackson receeived the guests in a gown of blue lace, wearing a corsage of snapdragon and sweet peas Mrs. Smith assisted dressed corsage of sweet peas. Mrs. Smith in navy blue printed sheer, with assisted dressed in navy blue printed sheer, with corsage of sweet peas. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Smith left on a motor trip to the Muskoka district, the bride travelling in a rose printed crepe dress with matching coat and white accessories.

The guests included Miss Frances McKinnon, Miss Doreen Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith. Mr. and Mrs. George Neals, Lewis, Helen and Ross Neals, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Smith and Donald, Mr. E Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Carr and Creighton Carr and Mrs. A. L. Reba Preston Is Bride In Pretty House Wedding

LAKEFIELD, July 28—(ENS). — The home of Mr. and Mr . Theodore Crawford was the scene of a quiet but beautiful wedding on Monday, when Miss Reba Preston of Oshawa, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs W. George Preston, became the bride of Claude T. Holleran, son of Mrs John Holleran and the late John Holleran, of Oshawa. The Rev W. B. Walker officiated for the ceremony, and the wedding music was played by Miss Euhice Moncrief, niece of the bride.

The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, Charles Smith of Cavan, was lovely in a street length dress of French lace, in a delicate shade of pink, fashioned in a peplum effect with an accordian pleated skirt. She wore pink roses in her hair and her corsage was of Butterfly roses.

Following the ceremony a delightful reception was held. Mrs. Charles Smith, sister of the bride, received in a gown of heavenly blue crepe.

Mrs. John Holleran, the groom's mother, also received in a gown of rose sheer.

Tea was poured by the bride's sister, Mrs. Melville Moncrief of Omemee. Miss Merle Crawford and Mrs. Walter Walker served

On their return they will reside in Oshawa.

Surprise Party Honors Recent Bride

LAKEFIELD, July 28—(ENS). — Miss Reba Preston, former Lakefield resident, whose marriage was an event of Monday, was honored on Friday evening at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Crawford. Miss Preston was completely taken by surprise when she entered the living room to find about forty of her friends and former neighbors assembled.

Mrs. Theodore Crawford then wheeled into the room a large white pram, beautifully decorated with pink and white ribbons, and laden with gifts of all sorts. Miss Phyllis Coleman of Peterborough read an address in poetry. Miss Preston thanked her friends for their thoughtfulness and gifts.

The remainder of the evening was spent in games.

A dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Walter Walker. Miss Merle Crawford and Miss Phyllis Coleman of Peterborough were joint hostesses for the affair.

Smart Girls Keep Airmen Right Up To Mark

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

FINGAL, Ont., July 28—(CP).—There are lots of jobs in the Royal Canadian Air Force that women can do better than men and the women's division of the R.C.A.F. is proving that at this western Ontario Bombing and Gunnery School.

"The girls have done well every job they've tackled," Wing Mmdr. D. D. Findlay, the commanding officer, told The Canadian Press. "And not only that, but the very fact they're here seems to spur the men on to better work. The men have bucked up. They're more careful about their dress and language."

"They don't want to let these girls get ahead of them," he said. "Yes, I think the girls are a healthy influence—I'll all for them."

So he turned the reporter over to the women's senior officer, Section Officer Rowena Cantelon of Regina, for an object lesson in what he had been saying. Cantelon was a librarian before she enlisted. Her parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Cantelon, live in Winnipeg.

Corporal Sheila Strang, also from Winnipeg, was the guide and the first port of call was the plotting room of the hangar, past a sign that said "Synchronize your watches." This is where the airmen gunners send readings of their bomb hits. As soon as they drop a bomb they make a reading and phone it to Airwoman Myrtle Shaughnessy whose civilian home is in New Westminster, B.C.

Shaughnessy charts the reading on a practice bomb and plotting chart and figures out the gunner's accuracy score. Flying Officer Moore, who is there to supervise her work, explained the workings of a bomb sight and how most of the gunnery practice is over the lake. A.W.2 Evelyn Disley of Sudbury, Ont., records the number of bullet-holes in the target.

Flown At Dunkirk.

These girls say they feel pretty close to the war, here at Fingal. In the big hangar next to where they work is a battered Fairey battle bomber, a veteran of Dunkirk.

Across the hangar is the control tower where A.W.2 Norine Church of Regina helps the bombing and gunnery school operate. Church with a cheerful black spaniel Mars sitting beside her, was decoding weather analyses. Then she plotted the weather conditions on a map of North America. Before a long flight an airman comes into the control tower for a look at the map. Church was a student at McGill before she enlisted.

A.W.2 Geraldine Fulton of Sydney, N.S., may not have such an exciting job, but she's the first girl to take over the management of the station's official publications and forms. Fulton, who led her class at St. Thomas, Ont., Technical Training School when she graduated, has become the C.O.'s right hand airwoman

In the noisiest building on the station, amid buzz saws and a jumble of machinery, A.W.2 Linda Kroeker of Saskatoon has released an airman for other service. Kroeker gets her face and her hands plenty dirty testing, cleaning and and adjusting spark plugs, but she doesn't mind the noise and the dirt. She did housework for a living before she enlisted "and this sure is a lot better."

DOROTHY DIX

Best Way To Solve This Problem Is To Get Mother a Job.

Dear Miss Dix: Why am I an old maid? I'll tell you. It is because I have a possessive mother who thinks that I should not only spend my life working to support her, but devote all my spare time to entertaining her. I try to make good on both counts. I buy her better clothes than I have myself so that she will look young and pretty. I give her trips while I stay at home. I work all day and then do the housework when I come home. I try to get her to go out with women of her own age.

Nothing doing. She wants to go out with me and my friends. The result is that I am never asked with the crowd because she is a misfit who ruins the fund. I never have a date because no boy wants to drag an elderly woman around.

My mother is in good health. She is barely middle-aged. There is no reason why she shouldn't have an independent life of her own, but she won't. When I even try to interest here in anything, she accuses me of being ungrateful and trying to get rid of her. Rather than argue or talk I take it, but it is taking the heart out of me and everlastingly queering my chances of getting married. Is there anything that can be done about it?—DAUGHTER.

ANSWER: Nothing that you would have the intestinal fortitude to do, because it takes a lot of courage for a doormat that has been trodden upon for twenty-five years to rise up and tell Mother to get off of her, and that she isn't going to be kicked about any longer. But a lot could be done if you have the nerve to do it.

Get Mother a Job.

For instance: Your mother is young enough and strong enough to earn her own living and she could do it instead of being a parasite upon you. But she is too lazy and trifling to even do the housework, and when you come home after your hard day's toil you have to cook the dinner and wash the dishes. Well, get Mother a job.

Tell her that she is on her own and that you are going to lay up some money for your old age. She will begin weeping all over the place. Let her weep. Nobody ever drowned in tears yet. She will talk about her bad nerves or her poor heart. Inform her that the doctors say there is nothing so good for either complaint as something to do that will keep her so busy she won't have time to think about her aches and pains.

If you do this and get her started to work, she will be a thousand times happier and more contented than she is in grafting on you.

Invite some women of her own age and get her interested in playing bridge, or working out picture puzzles or whatnot; and you go with your own friends without making any excuse or apologies to her. When she finds that she cannot, by self-pity, persuade you into staying with her she will make friends in self-defence. In her heart she knows that young people do not want old people hanging on to their skirts when they go out for good times.

I realize that it is a terrible thing for children, to have to discipline their parents, but when parents act like spoiled babies, they have to be dealt with accordingly.

FACES ARDUOUS QUEST.

Dear Dorothy Dix: What can a girl do who is fast getting to be an old maid? Every time I find someone I think is the right one he leaves me for someone else. I invariably attract someone who isn't attractive to me. Why can't I find someone who is my ideal and I'd be his ideal, too?

I think maybe the trouble is that when I like a man I can't help showing how crazy I am about him, and that seems to drive men off.

TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS OLD.

ANSWER: Well if you are looking for someone who is your ideal, you have a long and arduous quest before you; and if you expect to be any man's ideal and to have these two ideals meet and blend, you are indeed asking for the impossible, for probably no such miracle has ever happened. You will never find your ideal, for no human being ever comes up to a woman's heart's desire; and no woman ever reaches the flawless being that a man would like his wife to be.

So forget it. If you really want to marry, come down to poor, faulty humanity and make your selection among the ordinary creatures whom you meet every day.

Certainly you make a great mistake when you begin chasing every man you meet who attracts you, and showing him that you are crazy about him. Bear in mind that men want to be the pursuers instead of the pursued, and they have no appetite for the peach that is so ripe it drops into their mouths. It is the one that hangs highest on the tree and that is hardest to get that they risk their lives to pluck.

ONLY FAST BOYS DATE HER.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I find that the only boys who will date me are the fast ones. They date me for a few times then I never hear from them again. On a first date I am careful only to let a boy kiss me and then not too much, as I don't want the reputation of being fast. Still I love boys and want to know how I can hold their attention.

I hate girls since they are catty and talk about me behind my back, without any reserve. Nevertheless, one can live without girls, but not without boys. What shall I do?

LILY PEARL.

ANSWER: Well, Lily Pearl, don't you think that boys get tired of you and drop you so quickly because you are too easy, too free with your kisses? The lips that are free for every Tom, Dick and Harry who comes along are not alluring to a man of fastidious taste.

Anybody with the price of a hot dog and a soft drink can get one. The romantic chap wants his to

Is YOURS a "high tension" Job?

"YOU HAVE TO BE ON YOUR TOES in a radio control room. Putting programs on the air is tense, tiring work, but not much exercise. I don't dare let myself feel logy and careless, so I keep fit. This is my formula: I steer clear of harsh cathartics. Instead I make sure of getting plenty of needed 'bulk' in my diet. I start every morning with a big bowl of crisp, appetizing Kellogg's Bran Flakes."

Don't let yourself feel "careless"

When you're feeling tired, listless, "below par," you're liable to get careless, make costly mistakes. Such symptoms are often the result of incomplete elimination. So if you have a "high tension" job that gives you little chance for exercise, take these two steps to health: (1) To get well, see your doctor; (2) To keep well, watch your habits! Make sure you keep food wastes moving promptly. But avoid harsh cathartics! Instead, get plenty of needed "bulk" in your diet. Start every morning with a bowlful of crisp, mellow-flavoured Kellogg's Bran Flakes With Other Parts Of Wheat. Gently laxative, they help supply valuable minerals and proteins too. And Kellogg's Bran Flakes are so good, so downright delicious you'll want to make them a daily habit. Try them tomorrow morning. Ask your grocer for the golden-yellow package. It comes in two convenient sizes. In restaurants, order the individual package with the inner, WAXTITE, sealed bag. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

KOSLO LIMITS LEAFS TO 4 HITS AS JERSEY CITY WIN 5 RUNS TO 2

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

One of the best girls' games of the season should develop tonight when the Westclox and Brinton teams will clash for the second time within a week. The Big Bens, hottest club in the loop right now, won three games in a row last week and had their toughest opposition in the trio of encounters from the team they meet tonight. In fact in that game the Brintons who were down once 7 to 0 fought back so hard that eventually they flashed ahead of the Westclox 8 to 7 only to have the Big Bens go ahead by two runs. Even then the Carpetmakers battled in the ninth, scored one run and had the tieing marker in position to score when the game ended with Westclox victorious 10 to 9. It was one of the most exciting clashes of the campaign and there is every reason to expect another of the same kind when the two clubs meet tonight. Leila Hughes for Brintons and Marg Watson for Westclox will be the opposing pitchers and both teams will be at full strength. The game will be staged at the Ashburnham Bowl starting at 7 o'clock sharp.

* * * * * *

Fans who gather at Riverside Park tomorrow night for the important City League clash between Plazas and Soldiers should not only see one of the summer's best games but they will have the chance to win a Kenwood blanket and at the same time contribute to the fund to aid Canada's sons in the blue of the Navy. The City League has set aside tomorrow night as Navy night and every cent of the proceeds will go to the Navy fund. A Kenwood blanket will be drawn for with the customer getting a chance for every five cents he contributes to the collection. As for the game itself it should be a honey. Plazas are leading the loop and if they can win tomorrow night they can get nothing worse than a tie for first place no matter what happens in the postponed clash between Royals and Luckies. On the other hand the Soldiers need a win to protect their hold on third place in the event of Luckies coming through with a victory over Royals. There is, therefore, a lot at stake and both clubs will toss their strongest opssible battle array into action. They rae two powerful outfits and should stage a struggle worthy of their season's performance and of the cause in behalf of which the game is being played.

* * * * * *

The game scheduled for last night between Luckies and Royals was called off before six o'clock when the city was apparently in for a heavy thunderstorm. As it turned out the contest could have been staged, although there did not seem much chance of that when the officials decided to postpone the battle. It will be played on Friday night. In any case the playoffs would not have been started until next Wednesday as the Peterborough winners have been grouped with Oshawa in the provincial playdowns and the local league will not have to declare a winner until late in August, leaving ample time for the staging of the playoffs. The setup calls for best two-of-three semi-final series between the first and fourth teams in one bracket and the second and third clubs in the other, after which the two winners will meet in the final series for the City League honors. While much hingers upon military calls during the next few weeks, it is safe to predict a lot of snappy ball before the loop winners are finally decided. The league has had a very successful season and the move to Riverside Park has been justified by the better quality of ball that has been played.

* * * * * *

Fight Off One Challenge

The Boston Red Sox whose sudden and almost complete slump since the beginning of July has been one of the features of the big league season managed to summon enough fight yesterday to take a fall out of the Cleveland Indians in the first game of a series that will decide for the time being which club is to hold second place in the league race. The final count was 8 to 5 and the Red Sox outhit the Indians to grab off the decision and lengthen their lead of only a couple of percentage points over the Tribe to a full game. The failure of the Red Sox recently is hard to understand in view of the fact that their leading hitter Ted Williams has been hammering the ball hard and that the pitching has been better than was expected early in the season, especially from Hughson and Wagner. The real sensation of the loop right now of course is the St. Louis club. Luke Sewell really has the Brownies going places and if the Red Sox and the Indians are not careful the one-time lowly St. Louis outfit will be pushing them both out of the runners-up slot. They are only three games back and that is not much of a deficit in view of the pace the Browns have been setting in recent weeks.

* * * * * *

There was plenty of argument last season as to the relative ability of Ted Williams of Boston and Joe DiMaggio of New York and the latter's feat of setting a new record for consecutive hitting got the popular award over Williams' achievement of batting over .400 for the season. It looks this year as if the verdict will have to go to Mister Williams. While he is not hitting at a .400 clip the Boston power house was leading the American League as this was written with an average of .352 and in addition to that he was leading both major leagues in three most important departments. He has scored more runs, batted in more and hit more homers than any other player in either loop, a showing that if maintained to the end of the season should about make Williams Mr. Baseball for 1942. He will undoubtedly be the first player in the majors this season to drive in 100 runs and the first to score 100, while at present he is two up in the home run parade, a showing that is far ahead of the DiMaggio record up to the present stage of the campaign. Unless DiMag comes with a tremendous rush during the latter end of the season or Williams goes into a tailspin the title of champion batter looks to be surely heading in the direction of the buggy whip Boston outfielder.

Nelson Comes Through

Byron Nelson the Texan golfer who has a record of never losing a playoff match certainly lived up to his reputation yesterday when he met Clayton Heafner, of Linville, N.C., in an extra round to settle the Tam O'Shanter $15,000 open at Chicago. Nelson steamed around the course in a sub-par 67 while the best Heafner could produce was 71. Nelson played like a champion. He had the championship in the bag before the half way mark was reached, giving Old Man Par a bad beating and sinking 10 and 12-footers with consummate skill. The win made Nelson the second biggest money-winner of the year, earning him $2,500 and boasting his total for 1942 to $11,993. Only Ben Hogan has copped more this season. Nelson has been within the money in 39 consecutive tournaments and he had better be careful or the thing will develop into a habit.

Four-Run Rally In Ninth Puts Giants Up

By The Associated Press

It didn't take the remainder of the International League but two days to discover that they aren't going to like Dave Koslo, 22-year-old southpaw pitcher shipped to Jersey City Giants, at all.

Making his first start since he was sent down by the parent New York Giant outfit, Koslo limited the Toronto Maple Leafs to four hits last night in the crucial battle for second place and the Jerseys triumphed 5-2.

The youngster, who won three National League games for the Giants, hurled eight innings and then went to the sidelines when Bobby Coombs pinch hit for him.

Despite his stingy pitching, Koslo and the Giants trailed as the game entered the ninth because of Johnny Wryostek's homer with a mate on in the fourth.

Coombs started a rally that reached its climax when Sid Gordon singled with the bases loaded. The spurt netted four runs and shot the Giants 1½ games ahead of the Leafs.

While the two contenders were battling among themselves, Newark Bears crushed Rochester Red Wings, 8-0, although George Washburn allowed the Birds seven hits and issued five walks.

Buffalo and Baltimore split a pair of slugging battles with the Herd taking the first 9-7 as Dutch Meyer contributed his 17th homer and the Orioles combining Ed. Robinson's 20th circuit blow with some poor Buffalo fielding for a 12-3 verdict in the second.

Although Syracuse Chiefs were outhit 9-6, they downed the once-potent Montreal Royals 8-7 in a contest which included five errors, three by the losers.

Three former Big Four stars are in Halifax with the navy: Dick Pawley, former Hamilton Tiger, and Jim Hamilton and Bob Isbister, former Argos....They may be a little too ancient for really tough competition, but they would go in the type of league proposed...Or they could be the impetus behind the movement.

Ways and Means Dept.

Reginans are resourceful. First, there was the Regina rowing four which had to train in a swimming pool during the drought years because it was the only available water, but won its event at the Canadian Henley over a course made of the real wet stuff.

Now Dave (Regina Leader-Post) Dryburgh tells of Nurse Rosalie Wany, who left Regina for Wrangell, Alaska, last Spring and gave fishermen in those parts a demonstration of new technique a few days ago. Picking up a corckscrew from the bottom of a boat, she lunged at a passing fish, stabbed him near the tail and landed him: a 15-lb. steelhead.

Incidentally

Jean Marc Demers of Montreal, Canadian backstroke champ, sports a shiner he picked up in an underwater collision....It was an encouraging gesture by the Royal Canadian Golf Association to contribute its profits to the Red Cross.

Driving Rivets To Win War, $500 Prize

These two expert riveters slamming hot metal into the hull of a ship on the ways at a Wilmington, Del., shipyard, are in the sunning for a $500 prize, offered to the rivetting crew which socks home the most rivets in a regular day. The tune played by the pneumatic rivet guns is a song of victory—the hulls are for ships to carry munitions to United Nations' armies all over the world.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

We were rather busy ourselves last evening helping Harold Freeman entertain Charlie Renaud and Co., and therefore we are not in a position to give to you, first-hand, just what did happen. But walking around for a few minutes before the light went out we discovered that G. Gimblett's rink now leads the parade in Group No. 1. This all came about when they defeated R. Burns; and then when R. Payne's boys slipped one over Benny Chesler, Benn's boys dropped from a tie in first position down to second place.

And then we see that Bob Hendry came through with a win, and that ties his rink with our own for celar position.

The Coleman's (father and son) split 50-50. George Sr. had an easy time with Jimmy Harrison ,and it was a good thing for Bill Jeffries that they grabbed off that eight-end. George, Jr., was coming strong at the finish.

Tom McMillan took care of C. Williamson, but it was close, only three points ,and Everett Sackville and Ross Downey had a go all by themselves with the versatile insurance agent coming out.

Regarding the Wall-Lang game, we believe that if any rink is running in reguar hard luck it's this Lang quartette. Three games in a row have they last out on the last or extra end, and last night was no exception. Talking things over with the doctor after the game, he has come to the conclusion that in the next game they intend to play the last end first or else not play

Now, to those who are playing in tomorrow's double tournament: It all starts at 1.30 o'clock, and it will be finished by 6 o'clock. Please be out on time.

Apparently our boys don't like this system of Provincial play-offs. We have only one entry in the singles: E. Renaud, and only one entry for the rinks: G. Gimblett; but we have four entries in the doubles and they will play off this evening at 7 o'clock. This is the draw:

C. Williamson and E. Sackville vs. W. Jeffries and H. Coleman.

Each game to be 12 ends, and winners to play again at 8.30 o'clock.

Next Year To See Gaps In Major League Setups

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, July 28—(AP). — The major league pennant races this year were supposed to be decided by the war, which is a funny name for the Yankees and Dodgers.

Before the season started it was expected that by now the army draft would have nibbled away at the clubs until the team with nine men left would win a pennant, and the luck of the draw might make even the Phils contenders.

Nothing like that has happened.

In other words, the players who were counted on still are around, and a club that doesn't win can't say it was because its A-1 players were 1-A.

The closest to an alibi might be fashioned by Cleveland Indians, who could point to their 12-game or so deficit and say that Bob Feller would have had those games in his hip pocket by now. Other American League clubs have lost valuable players, but they didn't figure to be contenders even with those men available.

In the National League you have to go a little farther back to nose out an alibi. Back to the minors, in fact, as it is through loss of minor league players who were counted on to fill gaps that the clubs have suffered most.

The Cardinals, for instance, counted on Fred Martin, from Houston ,and Johnny Grodzicki, of Columbus, to add class to their mound staff. Neither was available. Both were gambles, however. The Cardinal loss which really hurt was their own darned fault. They sold large John Mie to the Giants.

But wait until next year. That's when the absence of the young fellows who would have been getting their seasoning this year will be felt.

Low Scoring In Kawartha Play

Low scoring was the feature of the play at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club this past week-end. Bob Hay and Stan Whiddon were the winners on Saturday and Sunday with low gross of 79 and 77. Stan had a job to handle Al Heckman in the President's Cup match, but being the little giant he is, he came through with flying colors. Al is a hard man to beat, which accounts for Stan's lovely effort. Bob Hay, the steady and dependable type of golfer, has graduated into a low bracket player and with a little more work on the long irons should see him well up in front come the club championship finals in September.

Rod Jones was the leader of the net winners on Saturday with a two under par 69. Rod had to be good—he was tied with Fraser Dunfied in the first round of the club championship. Not quite good enough, he lost to Fraser 3 and 2.

Lionel Browne as captain of the handicap committee should take the sharp axe to his own handicap. He was second winner with a net of 70—only one under par— but still under par.

Earl Asker was the third ball winner in the ball sweeps with a net of one over par 72. Earl is coming into his own now—getting over the shock of warm weather.

The results for Saturday:

	Gross	HC.	Net
H. Caverly	98	24	74
B. Hay	79	7	72
J. Watts	95	14	81
R. Jones	85	16	69
A. Heckman	96	18	78
J. Watson	87	12	75
N. Finnie	88	9	79
L. Browne	89	19	70
E. Asker	85	13	72

The featured player of Sunday's sweep is Al Heckman, Al may have golf trouble through the week, but when Sunday cames he thinks nothing of coming home with a net of two under par 69. Watch out, Al, that man with the axe is after you.

Ed Riley and Hap Wilgar were tied with nets of 72 for second place in the sweep and Charlie Low and Dave Price were the third and fourth winners.

The results for Sunday:

	Gross	HC.	Net
J. Roberts	94	18	76
A. Heckman	86	17	69
H. Wilgar	90	18	72
B. Hay	88	7	81

D. Price	101	26	75
K. Smylie	94	14	80

Sport page readers may have noticed in one of the Toronto papers that Lex Robson may be allowed to keep the Miller Trophy. So say all of us. Lex has had his name inscribed on the base so often there is a doubt whether it is the Millar or Robson Trophy. This competition was discontinued this year and Lex being the heavy winner is more than entitled to make this a part of the Robson furnishings. Imagine, golfers—one man winning the same trophy in 1931-32-34-35-36-39— it's uncanny, but anyone who ever had the pleasure of playing with Lex will know what a master he is.

In the ladies' section Mrs. Victor Gallon was the winner in the third round of the Spring Trophy. Mrs. Gallon is the 1941 champion and is shaping up to be a tough hurdle for the other low handicap players to handle this year.

Miss D. Sherin was the winner of the ninehole competition. Those trips to the practise field are beginning to pay dividends at last.

Mrs. George Solmes and Mrs. Lionel Brown fought it out to a deadlock tie on Thursday afternoon in the pitching and putting competition. One lady wouldn't give and the other couldn't take so they called it a draw and will continue the battle next week.

The results for Thursday:

	Gross	HC.	Net
Mrs. G. Solmes	10.	24	82
Mrs. G. Solmes	106	24	82
Mrs. V. Selkirk	99	16	83
Mrs. K. Smylie	103	22	81

NELSON PROVES HIS GREATNESS TO COP TAM O'SHANTER $2,500

Shoots 5 Under To Shade Clayt Heafner

CHICAGO, July 28.—(AP).—Byron Nelson, one of the greatest of modern linksmen, was homeward bound to-day with $2,500 in his hip pocket, once again having demonstrated that when the big money is on the line he virtually is unbeatable.

The demonstration came as the grand finale to that golfing circus known as the Tam o'Shanter $15,000 open tournament.

Yesterday Nelson crushed big Clayton Heafner of Durham, N.C., by four strokes in their 18-hole playoff for the championship of the dizziest of all golf events. The pair had tied at the eid of the regular 72 holes, with totals of 280.

As though to atone for his unaccountable lapse of the previous day, when he soared to an inglorious 77 on the fourth round, the ex-Texan took Tam o'Shanter's soggy acres apart with a 67—five under par—to send Heafner down for the count.

Not that Heafner weakened. The big fellow stayed in there gamely all the way to score is 72.

Giants-Dodgers Tangle $100,000 Affair

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP) — Baseball's biggest war relief game to date—the Giants-Dodgers Aug. 3 tussle—was outlined to-day as a sure-fire $100,000 affair, thereby sky-rocketing the National League's war contribution well past its goal of $250,000.

The Giants, Polo Grounds' hosts for the game, explained that the United States Army emergency relief fund is expected to benefit by more than $100,00 from it, and that all signs point to a crowd and gate that will wope out all existing records for the big ballyard under Coogan's bluff.

In fact, there is a distinct possibility that standees will have to be permitted on the field for the first time in the Polo Grounds' long history, and that the parks record of 63,943, who turned out for the 1935 Giants-Dodgers' Memorial Day doubleheader, may be smashed.

The National League has chipped in $194,325 to the war effort in seven of its eight parks, with Brooklyn's $60,661, Cincinnati's $39,-196 Pittsburg's $35,864 and Boston's $30,241 showing the way. If the Giants affair turns out to be a 'hundred grander,' as both Stoneham and Dodger President Larry MacPhail predict, the pledge the circuit made when the war relief games were first thought of might be surpassed by $60,000.

The expected net to war relief will not come from ticket sales alone. Contributions have poured in and many individuals and firms have paid for tickets, but turned them back to be distributed among soldiers. The New York chapter of the baseball writers to-day ordered 500 tickets to be passed out in that manner. Eleven boxes, Stoneham added, have been sold for $100 apiece.

Scotland Light Wins Legion 'Cap At Saratoga

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y., July 28. — (AP). — Venerable Saratoga Springs opened its fourth period of wartime racing yesterday, with Thomas M. Howell's Scotland Light winning the American Legion Handicap and William Ziegler Jr.'s Breezing Home triumphing in the sixty-eighth running of the Flash Stakes.

Located far from the densely populated areas of Metropolitan New York, the track still lured 5,158 spectators today in spite of gasoline and tire shortages and weather conditions that were far from ideal.

Saratoga's sidewalks, some of them reminders of the park's 1864 opening, took a pounding. Taxis, regular-run busses, horse-drawn vehicles, shoe leather, and even bicycles were used as means of transportation.

In taking the Flash, Breezing Home set the pace all the way and finished the five and half furlongs for juveniles a length in front of D. E. Boeing's Deyil's Thumb. The Christiana Stable's Quillon was another half length to the rear.

Breezing Home splashed the distance in 1:06 1-5, and was worth $16.80 in the mutuels.

Conn McCreary was up on Scotland Light in the American Legion and his triumph there gave him a triple. He made it four later in the day. The winner, a 9-to-1 shot, waded the seven furlongs in 1:24 1-5 and pushed C. V. Whitney's favored Parasang to second by a head. The Brandywine Stable's Pompion was third.

Not only did the weather and the transportation difficulties mitigate against equalling the 6,296 opening attendance of a year ago, but the start of the program was held up 17 minutes while a dispute over jockey insurance was settled.

Despite all these handicaps, the crowd poured $243,009 into the betting machines, compared with $242,-386 a year ago.

Harness Moguls To Try Out 9 Count System

TORONTO, July 28. — Starting at Listowel on Wednesday the American system of starting, as featured at Buffalo Raceway, will be used and enforced at Goderich, Listowel and Stratford where the big stake events follow. The system is worked with a nine count record instead of fourteen.

The barrier, instead of being at the finish line, is placed 30 feet down the track and the start of the record made from there. The judges in the stand proper make the recall if any collisions or other infractions take place from barrier to stand. Horses are required to come to the barrier in their allotted positions, or drivers are set down or fined. Under the system used this season two scores have been allowed under the old system and then if they could not get away they were sent to the barrier, but the drivers claim that some horsemen have deliberately delayed scoring, forcing the barrier to be used and slowing up the starts.

Another matter that was decided was to race the off-circuit week August 26 at Stratford. This will be on the dash system. The free-for-all horses will race half-mile and one mile seventy yards. The 22 and 28 class horses half-mile and one mile, and the 19 bar trotters one mile and one mile seventy yards. This will make three weeks at Stratford track, the two-year-old futurities on August 19 the dish system on August 26, and the three-year-old futurities on Labor Day.

It was also discussed whether the August 26 meet should be a twilight affair starting at 5:15 p.m. and closing at 8:15 p.m., with an open-air boxing show following. This was also left for further discussion, the executives to report back what arrangements could be made with the boxing fraternity.

Sport Shots From Britain

By ALAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 28. — (CP). — There's no shortage of athletes among the Canadian volunteer firemen serving in Britain.

Best known is husky Tony McCarthy who helped Ottawa Roughriders to several football championships with his all-star play at outside wing.

Section Leader Roy Chilton of Toronto, almost as burly as McCarthy, isn't as well known nationally as the Ottawa athlete but made a name for himself in firemen's track meets as a sprinter.

Head of the overseas firemen, Column Officer W. E. Graham of Ottawa, will be remembered by old timers. He played professional lacrosse in Ottawa for 12 years but won't say when because "that would be giving an idea of how old I am." Anyway, Tommy Gorman was a team-mate and Newsy Lalonde an opponent.

The R.A.F. has cleared up an outstanding matter that worried plenty of people, including cricket umpires. To shorten a lengthy yarn, the Bedser boys, Surreys cricketing twins, now can be distinguished by their rank. Eric, the batter, has been promoted to flight sergeant, while Alex, the bowler, remains a sergeant.

Alike as two peas in a pod, the Bedsers often upset cricket officials who never could tell them apart. They are compared with the Rippon twins of the Somerset Cricket Club. The Somerset scorer had Dudley Rippon wear a brilliantly-colored belt to distinguish him from brother Sidney.

War workers in a large west-of-England plant really put punch into their production At noon hour the employees spar with boxing gloves and plant officials say this keeps them in trim to maintain their high production level.

The exercise has produced so many would-be champions that a tournament was held at the biggest hall in the town, with competitors and audience made up of employees. Each fighter, victor or vanquished, receives a cup as a souvenir.

Flt Lt. Christopher Stainbank Staniland, 36, who devoted his life to the quest of speed on land and in the air, was killed in a flying accident while acting as chief pilot to the Fairey Aviation Company. He was a famed Brooklands racing motorist before the war, later turning to the air as a test pilot.... Capt. Len Brown, outstanding cricketer and soccer player, has been wounded seriously in action. A South African, he toured Australia with the South African cricket team in 1931-32, then went went to England, where he played in the Lancashire league. During the winter season he played soccer for Huddersfield.

DO YOU KNOW YOUR ARMY?

THE UNIVERSAL CARRIER

To the average civilian bystander in Canada's far-flung soldiering centres, the Universal Carrier epitomizes the dash and romance that typifies the Canucks in khaki.

The uninitiated refer to it as a "Bren Gun Carrier," but officially it is called the "Universal Carrier." This is a type of vehicle that the Dominion has manufactured and shipped overseas in large numbers.

It is a full-tracked vehicle with no overhead covering, and its chief role is to provide transportation over difficult terrain with limited protection to a light-machine gun crew. An automatic gun of the Bren type can be operated from the vehicle as well as being readily dismountable for use on the ground.

The vehicle is fast, manoeuverable and noisy, and the lads that drive and ride them have a lot of strenuous fun.

Boston Slugging Floors Indians By An 8-5 Score

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sport Writer

Always a bridesmaid, but never a bride seems to describe Boston Red Sox

They tremble and falter every time they are led to the first-place altar of the American League, but they are as full of fury as a woman scorned whenever their rights to second place are encroached upon.

Yesterday second place was at stake when they opened a four-game series with Cleveland Indians.

Manager Joe Cronin shook up his batting order, moving Ted Williams to the third spot and installing himself in the clean-up slot. He opened with his ace pitcher, Cecil (Tex) Hughson, the tall righhander who had won 10 and lost three.

These manoeuvres didn't seem to have much bearing on the game because Cronin didn't get a hit in five times at bat and Hughson was belted for an even dozen safeties by the tribal war clubs, but nevertheless Boston won the ball game 8-5. It was the end and not the means that counted.

The Red Sox made 11 hits, two of them triples, three of them doubles, and all of them timely. They never made a hit in an inning without scoring.

They got ahead of Al Milnar in the eighth inning and polished off the performance with three runs in the ninth off their old teammate, Joe Heving, who walked two men ahead of a triple by Johnny Pesky. He in turn came home on a single by Williams.

This was the only game in the Major Leagues that escaped a rude weatherman. As a result three doubleheaders are scheduled for the National League today with attention centred on St. Louis Cardinals' invasion of Brooklyn.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP).—National Leaguers, who can't easily forget what's been happening to them in the last few World Series and all-star games, aren't losing a chance to rub it in how much better they're doing than the American League when it comes to raising money on army-navy relief games ...Golf writers who like to tell about the cool, nerveless way Byron Nelson plays his shots, may not know that after he missed a 16-inch putt for a winner in the P.G.A. tournament he actually was sick. And he probably didn't feel much better after blowing that four-footer that was tagged with first money in the Tam o'Shanter open.

RATIONED RACING:

After visiting around up north, this dept. is convinced that the Saratoga folks have a lot of nerve trying to run racing as usual and that if the meeting is successful they can thank the dough coming from war industries in such nearby places as Schenectady...Standard complaint in the resort country is that there's no tourist money this year...And did you notice that hard-to-reach Rockingham is way behind the other New England tracks so far?...

JIM'S PRIZE PUPIL:

Mike Tresh of the White Sox, currently rated as the American League's No. 1 umpire upbraider, recently irritated one ump so much that the arbiter broke down and asked why he said so many mean things...Without cracking a smile, Mike explained, "I really don't like to do it but my boss, Jimmy Dykes, makes me do it."...Dykes denies the whole story and says he's kept busy thinking of things to call 'em himself.

Find Singapore Levelled In Many Spots

Editor's Note. — Relman Morin, former chief of the Associated Press Bureau in Tokyo, was in Saigon, French Indo-China when the war began. For a year he had been travelling in South-eastern Asia, observing Japan's preparations for attack. He arrived at Lourenco Marques aboard one of the exchange ships.

By RELMAN MORIN.

LOURENCO MARQUES, Portuguese East Africa July 24 (Delayed) —(AP).—Japan made French Indo-China and Thailand partners of varying degrees of willingness to her tremendous preparations for seizing the rich possessions, of Britain and the Netherlands in the South-west Pacific area.

Immediately after Pearl Harbor, Americant, British, Canadian and Netherlands citizens were interned by the Japanese in French Indo-China, technically a neutral colony, overriding the protests of the French.

Britons and Americans in Thailand also were interned jointly in a large well-organired camp.

Both countries were used as the pawns in Japan's carefully-laid plan of conquest.

With troops massed in French Indo-China the Japanese used the colony's coast as the training ground to perfect special landing forces in the tactics which they used successfully against the British defences of Malaya.

Thailand, a part to Japan's scheme joined Japan in a pretence of mutual enmity to divert suspicion when Japan's inavsion transport fleets entered the Gulf of Siam in August and September of last year, massing for the attack in Malaya.

Americans arriving here report that 75 Americans remain in Hong Kong. These include Emily Hahn, the writer, and 22 members of the crew of the American freighter Admiral Williams, who were interned with 2,000 combatants.

Neutral Chilean reporters being brought to Portuguese East Africa aboard ship with United States and Canadian and British citizens being repatriated weer taken ashore at Singapore on a short, carefully supervised Japanese tour.

These reporters said the downtown areas were almost intact but the finest residential district and the Chinese and Indian quarters were reduced to rubble during the final stand of the British forces.

The historic Raffles Hotel, the leading hotel of Singapore, now is the Japanese army headquarters.

These reporters said it was impossible to distinguish between British military and civilian prisoners but all were employed on road gangs and clearing debris.

PREDICTS THIRD WAR

STOCKHOLM—(CP). — A final fight between Germany and Japan predicted by Per Engdahl, blind vice-present of the Swedish Nazi party. This fight he describes as the "third and greatest world war."

Survived Torpedoing In Midway Battle

This white rabbit, named "Midway," is celebrating at San Francisco after having a ship torpedoed under her in the Midway Island battle, and riding in a gas mask bag across oil-covered seas to a rescue vessel. Owned by a ship's cook, "Midway" was buckled inside the bag when the 'abandon ship' order was given during the battle, her owner being so busy effecting her rescue that he left all his money behind.

in a sectio nof the strategic area between Rostov and Stalingrad. Reserves replaced the thousands of Nazi dead reported littering the banks or floating seaward with the wreckage of pontoons smashed by Russian shells and bombs.

The Soviet information bureau announced no abatement of the Nazi pressure ot enlarge bridgeheads in thet Tsimlyansk area 120 miles from Rostov, but said "fighting is going on with fluctuating successes."

"In one sector," the bureau said, "the Germans succeeded in pushing forward, but they were stemmed by a counterattack of Soviet troops and lost 350 officers and men killed."

Some Gains on Voronezh

Soviet troops improved their position somewhat in fighting for Voronezh and the Don approaches from the west, it was announced. Several hundred Germans and three tanks were reported sacrificed in a vain attempt to recapture a village newly won by the Russians.

The outcome of the second battle for Rostov, industrial and transport centre of 500,000 population from which the Germans were driven last Nov. 29 after a brief occupation was reported simply in the midnight communique.

"Our troops have evacuated Novocherkassk and Rostov," it said.

(Both Rostov and Novocherkaask, 20 miles to the northeast, were claimed by the Germans last week. The German high command yesterday asserted that the invaders also had taken Bataisk, 20 miles south of Rostov on the main trans-Caucasion railway and trunk oil pipeline).

Field Marshal Fritz Eric von Mannstein, conqueror of Sevastopol, presumably has a Crimean field army poised to strike eventually across Kerch Strait at the Red army's flank or rear in co-operation with the frontal offensive of Field Marshal Fedor von Bock. This complicates the defence Kerch Strait, a narrow waterway linking the Azov and Black Seas, lies 200 miles southwest of Rostov.

The information bureau stressed fresh Soviet gains in the battle of Voronezh, midway between Rostov and Moscow; a successful Red Navy action, and a feat of Polish guerillas.

"In the Barents Sea," the communique reported, "our warships sank an enemy submarine and one transport of 10,000 tons."

A trainload with German troops en route to the Russian front from France was said to have been blown up with hundreds of casualties by the explosion of mines planted near the Bokhnya station in Poland.

Hong Kong Units

He disclosed that formation of a paratroop battalion in the Canadian army had been authoried and that men were going to the United States for training which would permit them to act as instructors.

The minister told of "unit after unit" being trained in anti-aircraft operations as he recited training achievements in Canada.

Provision had been made for an output of 8,000 young officers a year from training centres, but facilities were being increased to turn out 12,000 a year.

Two Army trade schools had a capacity of 3,500 men a month. There was a driving and maintenance School at Woodstock, Ont. A battle training school, a bush and mountain warfare training centre, and a paratroop training school would be operating shortly, in addition to two anti-aircraft and gas defence training centres, the chemical warfare training centres, two Canadian women's army corps training centres and a cookery school.

There were 41 Basic Training Centres and 25 Advanced Training Schools in Canada.

The Minister said that no one could regret more than he that the 1,900 Canadians sent to Hong Kong was not successful in holding the colony.

They Gained Time

"But no one will be more thankful than I that when they did go they did at least part of the job which was set for them, and accomplished the most important thing asked of them, by gaining some time, even though it was comparatively short," he said.

The Defence Minister said there was nothing in Sir Lyman's report to justify the "damning indictment" in an amendment moved by Howard Green (Con. Vancouver South) which asked the House to express the opinion that the inquiry evidence had shown convincing proof of incapacity on the part of military authorities and demonstrated the urgent need for a comprehensive reorganization of the National Defence Department.

Mr. Green moved his amendment on the motion to go into committee of Supply on which the debate took place.

The debate rose to storm heights at intervals. On one occasion, Prime Minister Mackenzie King, rising on a point of order and interrupted by cries from opposition members, referred to them as a "mob." The Prime Minister later withdrew this word.

Other speakers were John Diefenbaker (Con. Lake Centre), Rev. T. C. Douglas (C.C.F. Weyburn), C. E. Johnston (N.D. Bow River), Capt. G. S. White (Con. Hastings-Peterborough) and Ross Macdonald (Lib. Brantford City).

A Hurry Job.

The minister said the Department had been placed under severe strain to get the Hong Kong expedition away in the brief time allowed last October.

Of the movement he said: "It was not perfect. Mistakes were made, there were slip-ups, there were delays in connection with matters to which the Commissioner refers."

But it was not possible to expand from pre-war strength to 350,000 men in less than three years without "growing pains."

Shortage of equipment and ammunition because of non-production had orced the Department to improvise but these conditions were improving.

The objective had been to get the two battalions—the Royal Rifles of Canada and the Winnipeg Grenadiers—to Hong Kong as quickly as possible. The task was accomplished. In two weeks the force was en route with every weapon called for except anti-tank rifles and mortar ammunition.

When the expedition was proposed Col. Ralston considered it was Canada's turn to help, as the other Dominions had been engaged in fighting and it appeared the military value of sending two battalions to Hong Kong would be out of all proportion to the numbers of men involved.

The Defence Department had been aware of the changes which had occurred in the Pacific situation between September 29 and October 27 and saw no reason for the withdrawal by Canada of the responsibility she had accepted.

Mr. Hanson asked if there was not something which would have justified reconsideration.

Col. Ralston said reconsideration would be for only one purpose—"to quit on the job we had undertaken."

There would have been "a question mark" in the minds of all the people if Canada had refused to send the force because of a change of government in Japan.

No Serious Setback.

Although the men had not actual firing practice in some of their latest weapons, Col. Ralston said he did not believe the lack of training was an disqualification against their going to Hong Kong when they did.

He contended that under the circumstances 'the judgment exercised was....the only judgment which could have been arrived at at that time, and that the selection of these battalions was sound and warranted.

Additions to the battalions— 154 for the Royal Rifles and 286 for the Grenadiers—had to be secured in haste and they had to be volunteers. But they had been accepted by the officers.

There were about 120 out of the 1,900 men who had less than 16 weeks' training, but the expedition could not be condemned because of those 120 men.

The ship to carry the troops was made available by the Admiralty, and had to be taken. To have held the troopship for the freighter carrying the mechanised equipment would have meant it was in the China Sea at the outbreak of war in the Pacific.

Col. Ralston said he agreed that "if things had been done properly" the troopship could have been held for the portion of the mechanical equipment she might have carried and part of which reached Vancouver the day after she sailed. But the bulk of the vehicles had to go on the transport. The Commissioner had found the troopship could have taken 15 of the 212 vehicles being sent with the expedition.

The Commissioner had dealt with the faialure to get the 5 vehicles on the troopship as a breakdown or conflict between the Master-General of the Ordnance Branch and the Quartermaster-General's Branch, with regard to who was responsible, said Col. Ralston.

Where the Blame Lay

The ultimate responsibility was that of the Quartermaster-General's Branch which was to see to the transport of men and equipment.

'The summing-up of it (the report) is that the Commissioner finds that Co. Spearing, by not exercising due diligence on Oct. 9 or 10, and not ascertaining the capacity of the Awatea (the troopship) was himself negligent, or showed a lack of energy and he then contributed to these vehicles not having gone,' the Minister said.

Col Ralston said he had considered the case lack of staf work. In view of what had occurred it was desirable the Quartermaster-General, Gen. Schmidlin, should have some other pot. A district command was offered him but he declined and was retired.

Col. Spearing was retired after the report of the Inquiry Commissioner and after an investigation which had been going on. Both Gen. Schmidlin and Co. Spearing had given excellent service in the past.

Capt. White said it was in the public interest that all the evidence in the inquiry be produced, not only the information contained in the Commissioner's report which had been tabled.

Following a statement on the inquiry report, Col. George A. Drew of Toronto, one of the inquiry counsel, had been charged under the Defence of Canada Regulations. Before Col. Drew had appeared in court, Justice Minister St. Laurent withdrew the charge, thereby leaving Col. Drew's name "smeared for all time to come," said Capt. White.

Capt. White Hits Snag

Capt. White ran into interruptions from Liberal members. He said he wondered if appointments in the Defence Department were not influenced by family name, the school attended, the regiment in which the appointee had been serving, or even the family into which he had married.

"My honorable friend can stop wondering," Col. Ralston interjected.

Capt. White returned to the argument of previous speakers for production of the complete evidence taken before the commission. He wondered if the refusal to produce this evidence was because of fear its revelations would discredit certain officers or officials.

Capt. White said responsibility for sending troops to Hong Kong rested with the cabinet war committee because it had made the decision and it was responsible for training.

He suggested that the manner in which the Hong Kong expedition had been handled would have the effect of lowering morale among the troops and interfereing with recruiting.

Mr. Macdonald said the House was arguing about battles that were lost instead of devising ways and means of assisting Allies in the battles of of the moment. People wished their leaders not to have unavailing remorse at what had happened but foresight to prevent similar disasters in the future.

Mr. Macdonald said Hong Kong now was history and little good could be achieved by arguing about it. He praised the statement of Mr. Ralston and said Canada would be glad to know that steps had been taken to make it unlikely any of the errors of Hong Kong would be repeated.

Fortunate Losses So Low.

He said Canada was fortunate in that casualties were so low compared with those of other countries. While Britain had suffered enormous losses and reverses on many fronts, Canadians in parliament were "snarling at one another" over Canada's first reverse.

He suggested that the "bickering should end and parliament devote itself to the winning of future battles."

Mr. MacDonald gave a review of Col. Drew's career in the army and said there was an impression abroad that Col. Drew had served in the first Great War as a lieutenant-colonel.

"He got badly shot up in the first Great War," a Conservative member interjected.

Mr MacDonald said he knew that and gave Col. Drew every credit for his service. But he wanted it known that he did not serve overseas as a lieutenant-colonel.

"That is why he got shot," a Conservative member shouted.

Mr. MacDonald said Col. Drew went overseas in May, 1915, as a lieutetnant, served in France and was wounded in May, 1916, and returned to Canada, still as a lieutenant.

The Brantford city member said he objected to Col. Drew "allowing people to think he had a large and important command in the first Great War," and presenting himself as a military expert.

Mr. MacDonald then read biographical sketches of Mr. Ralston and Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian army overseas

Mr. King yesterday placed on the order paper a notice of motion that following adjournment, expected this week, the House should not resume until January 27, 1943, unless a special meeting is required in the public interest.

The stormy scene in which Mr. King described Opposition members as a "mob" came just before the luncheon adjournment.

Mr. Diefenbaker had spoken of a booklet of lectures provided for men in the forces which spoke of the fight of William Lyon Mackenzie, the Prime Minister's grandfather, for freedom of speech. Mr. Diefenbaker said excerpts he had read from the booklet had shown the objectives of freedom of speech to men in the forces, and he asked the Prime Minister to remove the ban on the Drew letter being tabled in the House.

(Col. Drew wrote Mr. King a lengthy letter, criticizing the Hong Kong inquiry report, the Prime Minister declined to table it.)

Didn't Know of the Book

Mr. King said he had no knowledge of the book or its contents. He added that the chief justice was being maligned by the Lake Centre member, who had no right to mention communications from Col. Drew which reflected on the chief justice.

Amid considerable shouting Conservative House Leader Hanson interjected: "The Prime Minister cannot hang his hat on the judiciary."

Mr. King shouted: "The chief justice of Canada is being maligned in this House at this very minute."

On a point of order raised by the Prime Minister, Speaker Glen ruled that none of the commission evidence apart from that contained in the commissioner's report could be used.

Opposition members said the Prime Minister had not made a point of order.

"I have the right to speak on a point of order, and if any mob opposition think they can oppose me on that they are greatly mistaken," said Mr. King. Later he withdrew the expression "mob."

You have to perspire — You don't have to offend!

It may be a driver's patriotic duty to share his car with others, but you can't blame him if he draws the line at a passenger with "B.O." At close quarters it can be so unpleasant.

Every one of us risks "B.O." We all perspire constantly. When perspiration remains on your skin, it becomes stale quickly. Before you know it, you have "B.O." With Lifebuoy, you're sure of protection. It's the ONE soap especially made to PREVENT "B.O." No other popular soap contains the same special deodorizing ingredient . . . gives you the same, all-over protection that lasts.

And when you use Lifebuoy, you'll feel the difference. There's a TANG and ZIP to the lather that peps you up—makes you feel more alive, refreshed . . . makes you SURE you won't offend. And Lifebuoy is fine for your hands and face, too . . . it's 20% MILDER than many so-called "beauty" and "baby" soaps.

Telephoning IS A SERIOUS BUSINESS

Up to a few short months ago we accepted the telephone as part of our everyday social and business life — a convenience to be used freely, almost automatically.

But the situation has changed. Today your telephone is part of a wartime system over which urgent messages flash . . . from factory to factory . . . city to city . . . continent to continent. War has put an extra premium on time, and on rapid, dependable communication. And at the same time it has sharply limited telephone materials.

Until peace comes, therefore, we must revise our use of the telephone. We must learn to use it more sparingly — unselfishly — efficiently. We must bear in mind, always, that the calls we once made so casually can hold up other, interlocking lines and so delay messages on which war production and precious lives may depend.

Make "Wartime Telephone Tactics" your guide for the duration.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

RATION BOOKS FOUND

Two gasoline ration books, found in the last couple of days await an owner at the police station. One of them is a commercial ration book.

MANY LICENSE PLATES FOUND

Automobile owners seem to be decidedly careless about lost markers. At the police station just now there is a large assortment of markers, automobile, truck and trailer license plates and several bicycle license plates picked up on the road and turned over to the police department. The police would like to find owners for these plates.

NEEDS THREE MEN

The fire department needs three men Alderman Sullivan told the fire and light committee Monday. The Gimblett staff is actually under normal strength, but it seems that filling these vacancies in this third summer of the war is not so easy as in the pleasant days of peace and excess of applicans .No one had any idea about the recruting of new men for the department, and as several of the members were absent this topic and the salary question were set over for later consideration.

A QUIET DAY

It was a quiet morning in police court circles. Only one case, a charge under the city dog bylaw, was on the cards and Justice of the Peace Vincent Eastwood adjourned the hearing.

AUTOMOBILE RUNS AWAY

An automobile owned by W. M. Lang, left parked outside the Peterborough Club, on Simcoe street Monday afternoon took off and ran down the Simcoe street decline toward the river. The runaway machine crossed Queen street without accident, veered to the north side of the street and in front of the gas plant came to a stop when it collided with a parked car. Little damage was done.

BURN FIERY CROSS

Constable Bruce Menzies of North Monaghan has a mystery on his hands. He is trying to solve the problem of who burned a wooden cross on the lawn of a township resident the other night. The cross, a lath affair, was an imitation of the fiery cross of Ku Klux Klan days and it is suspected that youngsters in the neighborhood may know something about its appearance on the lawn and about the subsequent fire.

British Fliers Wreck Bremen

"The British fliers certainly made a mess out of Bremen; looking at the place from the air, you could hardly believe that any one could be alive down there," said Wireless-Gunner Sgt. Fred G. Mackay, Australian flier, who is spending a short visit with his cousin, Mrs. John Anderson 195 Sherbrooke Street.

The Australian airman, who trained in Canada under the Empire Air Training Plan, took part in the great raid on Bremen, and was able to see just how extensive was the damage done to the German centre.

Sgt. Mackay is on his way to another theatre of war after serving in Britain for some time.

17 Men Faced Medical Board

Seventeen men faced the Medical Board at the Training Centre on Monday and nine men passed in the A and B categories, and up till 10:30 on Tuesday morning, five men had registered, Sgt. Lemay reported that the veterans are responding very well, although a number were unable to pass their medicals satisfactorily.

Those listed in A1 and A2 categories are: Kenneth Hoard, 247 Burnham, Elmer Cummings, 288 Carlisle, William A. Brown, 17, who enlisted with the consent of his parents, 53 Crescent, Howard Lawrence, 265 Hunter, Sira Lambert, Lindsay and Alexander Adams and his brother William Victor Adams, R.R. 2, Keene.

Those who passed in the B1 and B2 lists are: Alexander Wigzell, 406½ Sheridan, and Harold Blodgett, Sherbrooke Street.

Although listed in C category, Clarence Scholey 478 Patterson, is joining the 3rd Company Veterans Guard.

The following were rejected as being medically unfit for service: Gordon Sabin 131 Stewart, John H. Pearson, 573 Downie, Alexander Gawley, 14 McDonnel, Gordon H. Innes 2 Gladstone Avenue, and Harry Moore 177 Sherbrooke.

Two more men are expected to arrive shortly from Ottawa to assist Sgt. O. Lemay, of the Veterans Guard, with recruiting, and Lieut. Clair Mason, C.W.A.C., Kingston, has arrived to help with the recruiting of her branch of the service.

The meeting held at Curve Lake was quite satisfactory, Lieut. G. P. Brook, area recruiting officer, announced to-day. There were about 48 men present beside the women and children and the results were better than had been anticipated. The recruiting meeting on Tuesday night will be held in Fenelon Falls and Lieut. Clair Mason will accompany the other officers.

Carrier Pigeon Forced Down

Exhausted by buffeting violent winds, a homing or carrier pigeon fluttered down to the landing at Percy Blade's cottage on Gold Lake on the south boundary of Cavendish Township on Monday.

Both the bird's legs were banded, the left with a green rubber band inscribed on the outside with the symbols "391.F" and on the inside "546." An aluminum band on the right leg was marked "C-U. 41-11423."

"We thought it might be a homing or carrier pigeon from one of the many planes that fly over that part of the county," Fred L. Roy told the Examiner to-day. "At any rate it seemed likely that somebody might want to know what became of the bird, and we are passing on the information through the medium of the Examiner."

Mr. and Mrs. Roy spent the week-end at the Blade cottage. A heavy storm passed over the country to the south of the lake on Monday afternoon, and presumably the pigeon wearied of the high wind and dropped to the cottage for rest.

Mr. Blade noticed it first, and commented that pigeons were rarely seen in that part of the county. It seemed to be tame, for it approached to within 10 or 12 feet of Mr. Blade.

"We got some food and strung it along toward the bird," Mr. Roy said. "We saw the bands on its legs and thought we might as well investigate. Mr. Blade dropped a fishing net over it and took off the bands and then put it away in a big can for safety. It was not injured in any way, but only completely tired, driven down to the land by the storm. It seems accustomed to handling, and Mr. Blade is taking care of it for a few days. Possibly some persons may be greatly interested in hearing about it; even the R.C.A.F. might have sent it out."

Farmer Is Stricken After Day's Work

Stricken at 6 o'clock Monday evening after working on his farm throughout the hot day, Stephen O'Connor of Otonabee Township died at his home on the Douro boundary, east of the city, shortly after midnight Monday night. His sudden death was believed to have been caused by a heart attack.

Mr. O'Connor was born in Otonabee fifty-four years ago, son of James O'Connor and his wife, Ellen Callotin, and had lived all his life in the township. He is survived by his wife, the former Nellie O'Heron, and their children: Bertha of Belleville, Mary, Theresa, Clara and Joseph at home; two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Leahy of Douro, Mrs. Edward St. Onge of Seattle, Wash., and one brother, Martn O'Connor, Wayzota, Minn.

The funeral will take place Thursday at 9 a.m. from the family residence, lot 32, concession 9, Otonabee, to the Church of the Immaculate Conception and thence to St. Peter's Cemetery.

Too Much Bossing

BURLINGTON, Ont., July 28. — (CP). — Eleven-year-old Charles Hamilton of R.R. 8, London, Ont., found sleeping beside his bicycle at a nearby beach, told police he ran away from home because he was bossed by his 16-year-old sister. His father took him home.

Hun Trawler Sunk

LONDON, July 28.—(CP).— One armed German trawler was sunk and a second heavily damaged early to-day in a fight with light British warships off Cherbourg, on the coast of occupied France, the Admiralty announced.

CWAC Seeking Recruits In Peterborough

The C.W.A.C. is establishing a recruiting office in the Armories under the direction of Lieut. Clair Mason, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs E. F. Mason, who is the first Peterborough woman to hold the King's commission as a graduate of the first C.O.T.C. course for the Women's Army. Miss Phyllis Lawrence, also a Peterborough girl, was the first woman officer to be appointed while the corps was an auxiliary unit. Cpl Richards, also of Peterborough, will assist Lieut. Mason at the Armories, and the hours will be from 10 to 12 in the morning and 2 to 5 in the afternoon.

To be eligible for the C.W.A.C. girls must be between the ages of 18 and 45 and be medically fit, not lower than Category "B." They must have completed Grade VIII. and have no dependents. At the present time there are 3,600 girls serving in this unit and many thousands more are needed immediately. They have become almost worth their weight in gold in the work they are doing that releases the men for more active duties. Besides the fact that the C.W.A.C. girls are doing a patriotic duty, they can develop many worth-while friendships in their work and they live in a fellowship that they could have in no other way.

Jobs Open.

Women are wanted for such jobs as: clerks, stenographers, typists, bookkeepers, draughtsmen, telephone operators, laboratory and X-ray technicians, dental nurses, drivers and driver mechanics, cooks, waitresses, canteen helpers, storemen, librarians and messengers. As with the men of the army, after enlistment, the authorities try to place girls in the positions that they are best fitted for and the girls are given every opportunity to prove themselves.

At the local Training Centre the girls serve as typists, stenographers and in the stores, but in other places the girls may have other duties, depending on just what there is a demand for. Every girl must have a month's basic training course and most of them attend Ste. Anne de Bellvue, Que. While in barracks there, they receive strict and thorough training and when the time comes to begin their work they have to maintain a very high standard.

The rates of pay for a private are 90 cents a day for the first three months and then 95 cents a day. Subsistance allowance of $1 a day is given where personnel are living out of barracks. The uniforms are issued free and an allowance of 20 cents a day is allowed until the recruit receives it. Also on enlistment each recruit is given $15 for the purchase of underwear and other necessities, and $3 a quarter is given for renewal purposes.

May Report At Kingston.

Those who do not wish to enlist at the Armories can report to the C.W.A.C. staff officer, M.D. 3, Kingston, or to Sgt. Eileen Biddle at the local Training Centre Any one of these will be very glad to assist girls interested in the matter of signing up and wilul do their utmost to be as helpful as possible. Discipline must be maintained, but the C W.A.C. officers are very human and take a keen interest in the welfare of their girls, and both privates and officers hold one another in the greatest respect.

Recruits must undertake to serve in Canada or overseas for the duration of the present war and for a period of twelve months afterwards if it is required. It was recently announced from Ottawa that there is a possibility that C.W.A.C. girls may be sent overseas in the not too-distant future, and if such is the case, more recruits are needed to keep the army up to strength.

Lieut Clair Mason will accompany Lieut. F. G. Brock, area recruiting officer, on his trip to Fenelon Falls Tuesday night, and will visit Port Hope Wednesday night and Lindsay Friday night. She will be pleased to answer any questions and give information to any of the girls living in these places who are interested.

Milk For Britain

Colors Of Old 2nd Battalion, C.E.F., Are Left In Dominion War Museum In Ottawa

The colors of the 2nd Battalion C.E.F. were presented to the Dominion War Museum on Sunday afternoon. The Prince of Wales Rangers of Peterborough, one of the units which perpetuates the 2nd Battalion, was represented at the ceremony by some of its officers and men who are at present attending camp at Connaught. The colors (LOWER RIGHT) were presented to the war museum by Col. Lorne McLaughlin of Bowmanville (UPPER LEFT). Col. McLaughlin, a former O.C. of the unit, is seen making the presentation to Dr. Gustave, Dominion Archivist, and behind in Captain Percy Band, son of the late Charles Band who presented the colors back in the First Great War. In UPPER RIGHT, Lt.-Col. M. H. Park, left, and Major V. M. Eastwood, M.C., right, both of the Rangers, are seen leading a detachment of officers from Connaught Ranges in the parade. Between the two Peterborough men is Dr. E. H. Wood, an old Peterborough boy now living in Ottawa. R.Q. M.S. Harold Chate of Rangers (LOWER LEFT) is seen marching between Francis and Wally Carroll, aged seven and eight, and both of Ottawa, in the parade.

New Parking Lot Is Now Available

Peterborough's parking problem has smoothed out its bulges and amplitudes, temporarily at least, or for the duration, just as the parking area provided by the city is ready for use.

Prior to 1940 the City Council worried itself about getting surplus cars off the down-town streets, and in their quest for central space they appealed to the Federal Government for permission to make a parking lot of the King-Charlotte (creek) block bought for a customs-postal building. That was before the Japs cut off the rubber supply. The Government had previously decided to suspend the Charlotte street project, and they agreed to the city levelling off the lumber yard on the north side of King street. In the meantime restrictions on tires and gasoline were relieving the community of parking pressure; but the area has been graded, and now and then you see the odd car there.

The fire and light committee decided Monday to move a light from King street on the lot.

War—25 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press.

JULY 28, 1917—Germans occupied Kuty in the Carpathians and reached the Russian frontier on both sides of the Husiatyn. In aerial fighting over the Western Front, 31 German planes were shot down and 30 more damaged; 16 British planes downed.

Just Wanted Tires

SUDBURY, Ont., July 28.—(CP). —A. N. Hortness of Sudbury locked all the doors of his car when he parked the machine in front of a restaurant here, but it disappeared just the same. Police found it later, jacked up on wooden blocks, with all four wheels missing. A spare tire, slightly worn, was not taken.

Haliburton Fisherman Claims Record Bass Topping Scales Over 15 Pounds

The Examiner has received a letter from an angler in the Haliburton district who claims that a few days ago he caught a small mouth black bass that tipped the scales at 15¾ pounds.

If the enthusiastic fisherman can substantiate the claim he has made world history. As a matter of fact the largest small mouth black bass ever caught according to Frank Menke's record book was one weighing 14 pounds taken at Oakland, Fla. in 1932 by Walter Harden. The records show that this bass was 28 inches long. The Canadian record bass, according to the Angler's Guide was a fish weighing 7 pounds 7 ounces, caught in 1935 at Brome, Quebec.

So the Haliburton fisherman has smashed the world's record and more than doubled the Canadian mark, according to his statement. The Examiner is awaiting further information in regard to this extraordinary claim.

Colors Of Famous Iron Seconds Placed In Dominion Archives

OTTAWA, July 28.—To the roll of drums and tread of marching feet, the consecrated colors of the Second Canadian Infantry Battalion, C.E.F., formerly carried in valiant service to King and Empire, were depostted for poserity in the Dominion Archives during an impressive and colorful ceremony at the Military Museum on Sussex street, Sunday afternoon.

With ex-members of the battalion flanking the color platform and members of the 21st Canadian Armored Regiment G.G.F.G. (CA) and the Peterborough Prince of Wales Rangers, the two regiments who perpetuate the old 2nd Battalion, ringing the aisles, the colors were formally presented to Dominion Archivist Dr. Gustav Lanctot by Colonel Lroen T. McLaughlin, C.M. G., D.S.O., former commander of the battalion.

While officers and guests stood reverently in the centre aisles of the museum facing the colors, Captain Percy Band, son of the late Charles W. Band who originally presented the colors to the battalion, fittingly pulled the cord that unveiled the colors.

Thanks Archivist

Colonel McLaughlin then thanked Dr. Lanctot for the honor conferred in accepting custody of the colors, and said he hoped that sustaining influence would radiate from them upon all who [illegible] them.

"In years to come when we ourselves have passed from the scene, there will remain within these walls for all to see, an emblem that tells a modest story in a history chapter of Canada's development. It is the story extracted from the lives of more than 5,000 Canadians who in the days of their youth, freely gave of their all in order that the things they believed in should not perish from the earth," he said.

Parade From Drill Hall

The depositing of the colors was preceded by a parade from the Drill Hll in which were included composite companies of the 21st Canadian Armored Regiment (C.G.-F.G. (CA); the Peterborough Prince of Wales Own Rigles; the 2nd Battalion, C.E.F. and officiers not on duty with units, and veterans from Toronto and Stratford.

The parade was paced by the Brass and Bugle Band of the 2nd Battalion, G.G.F.G.; under Bandmaster W. Gossage. Col. McLaughlin wa sofficer-in-command of the parade which is the last the 2nd Battalion will hold. Major H. H%. Hester was second-in-command, and R.S.M. Colin Earl was parade sergeant-major.

In contrast to the men who marched briskly along the streets were three little mascots. Jimmy Sutcliffe, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Sutcliffe, 7 Garland treet, and Staff Sgts. Francis Carroll, aged 8, and Wally Carroll ,aged 7, of 96 Wurtemburg street.

Commands Detachment

The detachment from the 21st Canadian Armored Regiment group which came from Debert, Nova Scotia, for the occasion, was commanded by Captain W. B. Bowker, and the Prince of Wales Rangers were under command of Major James McGrath, a former sergeant in the 2nd Battalion. Lieut. Colonel W. G. Wurtele, M.C., former commanding officer of the 1st Battalion G.G.F.G., took over charge of the parade with Colonel MacLaughlin.

When the parade reached the museum, Lieut. Col. W. W. Murray, M.C, acting adjutant, Colonel McLaughlin, Brigadier General A. E. Swift and Captain Percy Band were met by Dr. Lanctot. While the rest of the parade filed into the museum the band played the regimetnal march of the battalian.

After depositing the colors the parade returned to the Drill Hall where a picture of the colors was presented to Colonel McLaughlin by Major H. H. Hester, on behalf of the men.

Colonel McLaughlin paid tribute to the dead of the old "Iron Second" whose spirit, he said, would live on forever and their glorious deeds never be forgotten.

After the parade had been dismissed by Colonel McLaughlin, refreshments and entertainment were provided for the men. The refreshment committee was composed of Lieut. Colonel G. G. Chrysler, M.C.; C. C. Hall and Fred James, and entertainment was provided by Sgt. Billy Morrison, Staff Sgt. J. Webb, Cpl. George Furness, Sgt. Bert Moore, Sonny Morin, Fred Oliver, James Scott, Cpt. J. Hamblin, Charles Pare, Sgt. A. J. Bingham, and Bill Whelan, pianist,

Alex Kidd's Funeral Held In Belleville

"The funeral was an impressive tribute to a fine police officer" Chief Constable Sam. Newhall said this morning in reference to the funeral at Belleville Monday afternoon, of Alexander Kidd, chief constable of the Belleville police department and former member of the local police force. Chief Newhall was one of the honorary pall-bearers at the funeral.

There were police officers present all the way from the Niagara Peninsula as far east as Montreal, Chief Newhall said, and the floral tributes from all over the country were very impressive. A former pastor of the church in Belleville attended by the late Chief came from Galt to preach the funeral sermon and paid an eloquent tribute to the late chief as a father, a citizen and as a police officer.

Belleville's streets were lined with people as the funeral cortege, a very long one, passed.

Durham Tobacco Crop Above Average Rate

The Durham tobacco crop is above the Ontario average in quality, W. T. Ewen of Tillsonburg, provincial tobacco representative of the Department of Agriculture, informed The Examiner today.

The plantation in Hope Township extends over 230 acres this season. It was organized several years ago by Durham Tobacco Plantations Limited.

"This is a flue cured enterprise," Mr. Ewen said. "They need some rain right now, and there is also a shortage of labor. In fact, the company needs some active men to learn the priming of tobacco. Priming means picking off the outer leaves as they ripen. I understand the wage is $5 a day of eight hours." Ontario's tobacco crop was planted this year on 52,000 acres, a five ped cent. over last year, most of it in Western Ontario. Mr. Ewen said the estimated yield for the province will likely show a decrease of 20 per cent.

Birdman Honored

LONDON, July 28.—(CP).—Flt. Lt. H. W. Ward of Bradford, a 'bird man' who thrilled exhibition crowds with his descents from great heights wearing 'wings' he designed himself, has been awarded the Air Force Cross for his work in training British parachute troops in R.A.F. army co-operation command.

Sewing Cabinet Nets $40 To War Victims

Today the half-way mark for the next donation of £500 to go from the citizens of this community through the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund was reached, with $1,120 now on hand towards this, the 19th donation that will have to be sent, when completed, to the Lord Mayor of London for the Empire National Air Raid Distress Fund. The need for this is perhaps best expressed in Monday's report of scattered attacks over Britain in no less than 23 different centres, with consequent damage to property and civilian life.

On Saturday last, this column reported part proceeds of a draw sponsored by the Industrial Service Department of the C.G.E. of which H. A. Cranfield is the supervisor, with Miss Mary Armstrong in charge for this particular occasion, the amount reported at that time being $20.65, and today the balance of the proceeds on this effort amounting to $19.80 are listed making a total of $40.45 that has come to the fund as a result of it.

Herbert Jackson, retired farmer of R.R. No. 2 Omemee, in the first instance made a beautiful sewing cabinet complete in every detail and donated it to the fund, and then W. J. Cunningham, manager of Woolworth's store, gave fourteen spools of silk thread to fill every place that had been provided for them, which added both to its value and appearance, and this together with the work of those who sponsored the sale of tickets for the draw, completes the round of cooperation which brought such good results for the fund.

Mr. Jackson was delighted that this benefit had accrued to the fund by his work, and now promises to make further articles to help the fund along.

One personal donation is listed from J. H. Vallery, and a nice contribution of $5.37 was received through the placing of one of the fund's penny boxes in Boomhower's Store at Buckhorn by the War Workers of that place.

Preliminary announcement is made that the Annual Regatta will be held at Wallace's Point on August 12, starting at 3 p.m., the committee feeling that this is one event which should not be allowed to drop, for it fosters the art of swimming, which is a most useful thing just as much in war as in peace-time, and the writer well recollects how one person who was on the Lusitania on her last fateful voyage owes their still being in the land of the living to the possession of this art which preserved the life until rescued some hours after the boat had gone down. Any net proceeds that accrue from this event will come to the fund.

IN MEMORIAM

WOODCOCK.—In loving memory of a dear Grandma, Ellie Woodcock, who died July 27, 1940.

Two years have passed, dear Grandma,
Since the angels came for you,
But through the tears of those two years
Your face comes smiling through.
—Ever remembered by her grandchildren, Betty and Donald Monaghan.

WOODCOCK.—In loving memory of a dear mother, Effie Woodcock, who died July 27, 1940.

Oh, what would I give to clasp your hand;
Your dear kind face to see;
Your loving smile, your welcome voice
That meant so much to me.
No one knows the silent heartache,
Only those who have such can tell
Of the grief that is borne in silence
For the one we loved so well.
—Ever remembered by daughter, Mrs. O. Hetherington,

TODD.—In loving memory of our father, A. E. Todd, who died July 28, 1925.

Our kind and loving father,
We think of you today,
And recall the happy hours
'Ere the day you passed away.
Never shall your memory fade,
And although we miss you so
We are waiting till we, also,
Leave this world of strife and woe.
—Ever remembered by Fred, Albert and Mrs. A. Sanderson, Mrs. R. Batley.

WINDRIM.—In fond and loving memory of a dear husband and father, L. Ray Windrim, who died suddenly July 28, 1938.

Away on the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair;
Some day, some time, we know not when,
We will meet our loved one there.
—Ever remembered by his Wife and Son.

come higher, to cost more, in effort and persuasion and be harder to get.

You are also making a mistake in despising girls. You forget that they are the ones who give the parties, who open and close doors in society and who all your life will make or mar your social status. Believe me, the girl who is unpopular with others girls has a mighty thin time of it. And bear in mind two things: One is that girls have brothers and cousins who are eligible. And the other thing is: Men always take another woman's judgment of a woman.

And don't be unjust enough to resent the girls' gossiping about you. If you don't care enough about your reputation to take care of it yourself why should you expect them to do so?

Obituary

MRS. JAMES BARLOW

TAMWORTH, July 28.—The remains of the late Mrs. James Barlow, of Havelock, were brought from the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, to the home of the deceased's brother, Everett Thompson, and Mrs. Thompson.

Deceased was the eldest daughter of Mrs. Samantha Thompson and the late Marshall Thompson, and was forty years of age.

The funeral services were held to the United Church at 2 p.m., Thursday, Rev. Mr. Seaton preaching a very appropriate sermon from the text found in Psalm 34, verse 18.

The flower-bearers were Dolores Mundy, Barbara Mundy, Charmaine Mundy, Mae Thompson, Howard Mundy, who were nieces and nephew of the deceased, also Helen Card.

The pall-bearers were Stanley Haggerty, Elwood Harlton, George Spratt, Everton Lott, R. K. Stinson and T. J. Watters.

Surviving are her husband, James Barlow, Havelock, and one son, Clarence, of Kingston; mother, Mrs. M. Thompson, Tamworth, and one sister, (Mae) Mrs. H. Mundy, Kingston. Also four brothers, Clarence, Schuyler, Everett and Stanley.

Those who attended the funeral from a distance were: Robert Barlow, Toronto; Daniel Kennedy, Havelock; Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Barlow, Bonarlaw; Thomas Warren and daughter, Grace, Marmora; Mr. and Mrs. Carman Frort and daughter, also Miss Phillips, of Frankford, and Mrs. D. Connell, Toronto.

Burial took place in the United Church Cemetery, Tamworth.

MRS. JOHN McKNIGHT

The death of Mrs. John McKnight 29 Argyle street, occurred Monday at her home after a long illness in her 93rd year.

The late Mrs. McKnight was born in Millbrook, daughter of the late James Sing and Mary Larmer, and she had resided in Port Huron, Mich., coming to Peterborough about a year ago. Mrs. McKnight was a member of George Street United church.

Left to mourn her passing are a stepdaughter, Jennie McKnight and several nephews and nieces, S. J. Pillar Peterborough, Mrs. Rowe Mrs. McGuire, Elmvale; A. J. Mason Regina; and G. W. Mason, K.C. Toronto.

The funeral will take place Wednesday at 2 pm. from the late residence, 29 Argyle street and the service will be conducted by the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe of Murray Street Baptist Church. Interment will be in Gardner's cemetery, Millbrook.

The Stars Say

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, July 29

AN EXCITING day of commotion and agitation, is read from the prevailing auguries. New ideas and techniques, although beset by problems and difficulties, may rise to ambitious objectives if cleverly and practically developed, by originality, imagination and enthusiasm. This may bring sudden twists and turns, but stability rather than change and impetuous moves should be adhered to. There may be dangers of accident.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the verge of a year of bold and unusual adventures in which opportunities for distinguished performance of public as well as private achievement and welfare are augured. These should grow from imagination, ingenuity, skill and practical constructive ability and sound technics, to be adhered to with determination and endurance despite upheaval, agitation, commotion and opposition. Be alert to accident. Surprising aid may be promised and romance shall have its place.

A child born on this day should be bold, audacious, original, and have keen mentality, imagination and practical constructive ability of exceptional order. It may attain "ace" position in public service.

Three Cars Damaged In Missing Bicycle

Swerving his automobile to avoid hitting a bicycle at Rubidge and Townsend streets Monday afternoon, eighteen-year-old Patrick Collins, 467 Rubidge street told police he was unable to avoid a collision with two parked cars with the result that all three vehicles were damaged by the impact.

Collins was travelling north on Rubidge and as he reached the intersection, Michael Smith, 320 Business street, North Monaghan, rode his bicycle west on Townsend street. In his effort to avoid an accident Collins swerved his car to the west and it crashed into parked cars standing on the west side of Rubidge street. The two machines, one owned by Frank Powers, 702 water street and John Lewis, 125 Rubidge street, were damaged to the extent of around $50 each.

Collins' automobile was also damaged in the crash but no one was hurt.

Price Of Tomatoes Drops $1 Basket

The retail price of tomatoes dropped $1 a basket over the week-end, a direct loss to the dealers for the carry-over to Monday. That margin was comparatively light, one of those miscalculations that nip into the week's profit.

The price today was $1.25 a basket for staked Niagara stock, and in small quantities at two pounds for 25c as compared with two for 35c Saturday.

Leamington field tomatoes were 10 cents a pound in the main street stores this morning. The tethering to stakes produces a smoother skinned tomato that is more acceptable to the trade. In a week or less business will be confined to the run of the field tomatoes.

Sweet Shiro plums were new arrivals today at 90 cents for six quarts. Lawton or thimble berries were 35s a quart; peaches are 85c for top quality and 75c for second. Morello cherries, probably the last of the crop, are $1 a basket.

Cheerful Glass Garden Provides Own Moisture

Easy To Make, Easy To Care For

The most cheerful kind of decoration for your home—a glistening bowl containing a woodland "garden"!

Evergreens and ferns (from the florist's or from the woods) will flourish beautifully in such a terrarium—without care, without even sunshine. Covered, the terrarium provides its own moisture!

To make one is simple. Use a fishbowl, candy fish or what have you, and move tiny partridge berry, wintergreen and polypody ferns into it, soil and all.

First line the lower part of the bowl with a layer of plush-like moss, green side out, then at the bottom put in pebbles for drainage and add soil.

Over the soil put another layer of moss, green side up. Wet soil, poke holes in it through the moss with your fingers and place your plants in the holes, patting soil firmly about the roots.

Many flowers grow healthily, too, in a glass garden! Our 32-page booklet tells how to raise trailing arbutus, violets, gardenias, other flowering as well as gay foliage plants in terrariums. Also describes making of bottle terrariums, landscaped dish gardens, herb window boxes.

For your copy of "Glass Gardens and Novelty Indoor Gardens" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

NOT A "BLACKWOOD"

Even when you are using the Blackwood 4-No Trumps convention, you will encounter plenty of situations in which the bid of 4-No Trumps is not the slam invitation, asking for number of aces in reply. Usually these occasions come after one or the other partner has made a genuine No Trump bid at a lower level, and is merely trying to sign the hand off at 4-No Trumps. When such is the situation, if you wish to invite slam, you have to do it by some other method, such as a voluntary suit bid beyond game, or a natural call of perhaps 5-No Trumps.

This was a sad story. After South bid 4-Clubs over his partner's 3-No Trumps, he interpreted North's 4-Spades as merely an effort to beg him to sign off at 4-No Trumps. So, when he bid 4-No Trumps, he had no idea North would consider it a Blackwood ace-asking call. North did, however, and showed two aces with his 5-Hearts response.

Now panicky, and believing that the 4-Spades might possibly be on a real suit, which it was, South showed a doubtful spade fit with his 5-Spades, which he thought North would surely pass. North considered all this very encouraging, so went to 6-Spades. West, perhaps none too ethically, took advantage of the worried expressions on his opponents' faces when he doubled.

Two heart tops, a heart ruff and a club back to the K gave the defense the first four tricks, setting it three, whereas stopping at 4-No Trumps would have made a game without any difficulty.

United Nations Rejects Gandhi's Move

LONDON, July 28—(CP).—The new crisis brewing over Mohandas K. Gandhi's campaiagn for immediate withdrawal of British rule from India was met by a declaration from Britain to-day that the United Nations could not permit Gandhis actions to thwart their 'drive for victory in the East.'

In a broadcast directed especially to the United States, Sir Stafford Cripps, who went on a futile mission to India with an independence program last spring, told Americans:

'Your sons as well as ours are helping defend India and wage war against the Japanese. Your policy as well as ours is to defend India.

'The issue is too grave and too great for the whole world'.

Then referring to Gandhi, he added: 'We can not allow the actions of a visionary, however distinguished in the fight for freedom in the past, to thwart the United Nations' drive or victory in the East.'

Sir Stafford, Lord Privy Seal and leader of the House of Commons, reiterated that India would be given postwar freedom to provide whatever she chooses for her own self-government, but he said 'victory must first be gained.'

The troublesome issue likely will reach a climax after Aug. 7 when the All-India Congress is expected to approve a civil disobedience program sponsored by Gandhi.

Writing in his newspaper Harijan, Gandhi said yesterday he was agitating for Indian independence now not to embarras the United Nations, but because he believed the Allies would be unable to beat the Axis unless India were free. To Japan he served notice that she could not expect a welcome if she invaded India.

Great Strides Made In Membership Popular Support By C.C.F. Party

TORONTO, July 28 — (CP). — David Lewis of Ottawa, national secretary of the C.C.F., told delegates to the 10th anniversary convention of the organization Monday that in the last two years "the growth in membership and popular support has been more rapaid than most of us dared hope."

Presenting the national council's report to the convention, Mr. Lewis said that "membership in the C.C.F. has increased in every province and is continuing to grow."

Sounding the keynote for the convention, M. J. Coldwel, C.C.F. leader in the House of Commons, declared that industry and wealth must be conscripted for war as well as manpower, than social reform must not wait until the war is now, and that now is the time of plan a better world for the young men and women fighting the war.

As the convention sessions opened Angus MacInnis, C.C.F. member for Vancouver South and national vice chairman of the party, was elected convention chairman and Colin Cameron of Comox, British Columbia, was amed vice chairman.

"Industrial workers, farmers, office workers, professional people and members of Canada's armed forces all are giving increasing support to our party and its democratic socialist objectives for victory and the post-war period," said Mr. Lewis in his report which reviewed the progress of the C.C.F. since its last national convention in Winnipeg in October, 1940.

Results of three electoral campaigns were cited as an example of the party's progress. In the British Columbia provincial election the C.C.F. polled the largest popular vote and elected 14 members to the legislature. In the Nova Scotia provincial election the C.C.F. contested six seats and elected three members. In the federal by-election in York South the C.C.F. candidate, J. W. Noseworthy, defeated the national leader of the Conservative party, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen.

The report said that "never in our history has the organized labor movement given such wide support to our party" and described as significant the decision Saturday of a number of Ontario trade union reprepresentatives to affiliate with the C.C.F.

Mr. Lewis added that last Tuesday he attended a somewhat similar meeting of trade unionists in Montreal.

'In central Canada....and elsewhere the unions are seriously considering direct affiliation to the C.C.F. Already several unions have affiliated in Ontario and Alberta. Others are negotiating."

After E. B. Jolliffe of Toronto, Ontario leader of the C.C.F., extended a welcome to the delegates, tribute was paid to Mrs. J. S. Woodsworth, widow of J. S. Woodsworth, founder and for many years leader of the party who died last March 22, and to her daughter, Mrs. Grace MacInnis, whose husband, Angus MacInnis is one of the pioneer members of the movement.

CANADA'S GENERALS

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

Major-General J. H. Roberts has only been commanding his Canadian infantry division since last fall but it has developed in that time to such a remarkable degree that it now is recognized as one of the top formations in the United Kingdom,

A lot of credit for this achievement goes to "Ham" Roberts, who at 51 looks back on a steady and successful military career.

He's been a soldier all his life, with emphasis on artillery. His ability has been demonstrated by a rapid rise in rank since the start of the war when overseas as a lieutenant-colonel he brought the 1st Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery.

A man of action and spare with his words, he is powerfully built and looks like a football middle wing. He is a forbidding looking officer on first appearance, but get to know him and he has a ready smile and an easy manner behind his austere front.

He hates making speeches and usually starts off conferences by saying, "Now I'm not making any speech here, let's get cracking and down to business." And the conference really knuckles down.

Gen. Roberts has surrounded himself with a group of young staff officers, acknowledged to be as brilliant as any in the overseas army, and the divisional headquarters is a going concern

Part of his fighting creed is a belief that not a bit of military equipment should ever be sacrificed. When he went to France for a few days in June, 1940, with the 1st Field Regiment and then was ordered to withdraw to England through Brest, he made sure that every field gun in the unit came back with it, even under heavy air attack. His was the only artillery outfit in the British army to save all its guns. Roberts even brought back a couple of Buckshee British field guns and the unit still has them.

In the first Great War, Roberts served in the artillery and won the Military Cross. He stayed in the permanent force after the war.

He is a native of Pipestone, Man., and is particularly well-known in Kingston, Ont., and Ottawa.

Philadelphia, July 28 (AP)

THOMAS OLIN HODGES, 22, a 200-pound war worker, slashed the throat of his pretty 18-year-old bride and then committed suicide after returning from work and finding his dinner unprepared, police of nearby Upper Darby reported today.

Police found the body of Mrs. Dora Hodges on the dining room floor yesterday. Hodges was found lying on the porch. A blood-stained knife was at his side.

Police said they quarrelled after Mrs. Hodges told her husband she was ill and wanted to eat out. They had been married five months.

Durham Girls Finish Club Projects

CAVAN, July 28—(ENS).— The girls and their leaders, Mrs. Oakley Carley, assisted by Mrs. Donald Tinney, from the Cavan Kotton Kids Klub, attended the annual Durham County Achievement Day held on Friday, July 24, in Millbrook Town Hall. Only four local girls: Bernice Hibbard, Elain Argue, Wilda Armitage and Dorothy Armstrong completed the project "Sleeping Garments," and were present. Mary Richards completed the work but was unable to attend.

Miss Lula Rowe, a clothing specialist and county coach in Western Ontario, was the guest of the day. Miss Jean Scott, home esonomics coach for Durham county, conducted the day's activities.

Mrs. Carley ,the capable leader of the Cavan club, was presented her leader's badge along with the other leaders from East Durham County.

In the afternoon, a picture was taken on the post office steps of everyone present and then each club separately. The girls all wore their "sleepig garments," either pyjamas or nightgown and housecoat if they made one.

Later, Mrs. Dowe pointed out the fauts in each individual "sleepeing garment," one club at a time. Cavan was the second club to be discussed.

It was decided that the project to be taken next year was the Supper Club.

When the judging and discusions for the day were finished, the prizes were awarded. Dorothy Armstrong, one of the Cavan girls, received a year's subscription to a woman's magazine.

Three county honor pins, and county honor certificates presentd to those who have completed six homemaking projects, were awarded; two going to the Cavan club, to Elaine Argue and Dothothy Armstrong.

Certificates of Achievement, presented to the members after completing every two projects were awarded to five girls from the Cavan club: Elaine Argue, Mary Richards, Wilda Armitage, Bernice Hibbard, and Dorothy Armstrong.

Promises Revolt Will Follow Allied Invasion Of France

LONDON, July 28—(CP)—Prof. Andre Philip, escaped French underground leader, said to-day that an Allied invasion 'would throw all occupied France into immediate revolt.'

Philip, who reached Britain yesterday to join Gen Charles de Gaulle while being sought by the Gestapo, warned, however, that 'an unsuccessful invasion would result in a terrible slaughter by the Germans.'

'If an affaiar like St. Nazaire, when the people fought alongside the Commandos, is reported two or three times, then the slaughter by the Germans will break the people's spirit,' he said.

He asserted that for the first year after the fall of France, broadcasts by the BBC were the core of resistance by underground groups.

He added, however, that 'warnings such as were given recently that people move away from the French coast are playing with the nerves of the people. They wait each day, ready to help an invasion which never comes.

Prof. Philip said the underground organization in France now 'takes orders direct from de Gaulle and considers itself a unit of the fighting French within France.'

He said that although France is expecting a bumper crop this year, Pierre Laval is sending so much to Germany that people in cities are starving.

He disclosed that thousands of Germans from Cologne and heavily bombed sections of the Ruhr Valley had been moved into Paris.

A fifth of unoccupied France is in a state of anarchy with five or six police forces fighting one another, Prof. Philip said. He described Marshal Petain as without power and said Laval, hated by the people, was trying to set up a Gestapo of his own.

He said the one point on which Petain would stand firm agains Laval' would be to keep Laval from placing the French fleet in German hands.

CHEMISTRY HELPS TO WIN THE WAR

FIGHTING METALS

CANADIAN industry, factories, mills and shops, daily produce ever increasing quantities of ships, planes, tanks, mechanized transports and guns. But the continued production of these weapons depends on the ability of Canada's mines and miners to keep the "fighting metals" coming.

The "fighting metals"—iron, copper, nickel, lead, zinc, and many rare metals—are not yielded up easily by mother earth. Most of them are buried deep; all require powerful explosives to free the ore.

For more than eighty years the Explosives Division of Canadian Industries Limited has kept pace with the mining industry . . . continually improving explosives to increase production and reduce costs. Now, when Canada's "fighting metals" are needed more than ever, C-I-L commercial explosives give yeoman service to our mines and miners.

Full Moon Guides Bombers Scattering Fresh Ruin In Still-Flaming Hamburg

Strong Defences Cost 32 Monster Raiders
Both Kent And Vincent Massey Visit Canucks Before Take-Off On Raid

LONDON, July 29—(CP).—In a raid officially described as "very successful—even more so than we anticipated," four-motored bombers of the Royal Air Force spread a ruinous rain of explosives and incendiaries on Hamburg last night for the second time in three nights.

Loss of 32 bombers was "somewhat higher than in previous raids," due to the light of a nearly full moon and strong concentration of fighters over the city, an R.A.F. commentator declared.

Loss of 29 planes was announced in the Sunday night raid, so that last night's may also have been on the 600-plane scale of that attack.

R.C.A.F. crews took part in the raid, and the squadron to which they belong was visited before the take-off by the Duke of Kent, who was accompanied by High Commissioner Vincent Massey. The Duke talked to many of the Canadians.

The thunder of bombs in the already hard-hit submarine building centre drove home Air Marshal Sir Arthur T. Harris's grim promise: "We are going to scourge the third Reich from end to end."

The raid, the R.A.C. announced, cost 32 bombers—three more than the number of planes lost in the Sunday-night attack which returning pilots compared in destructive force to the 1,000-plane bombing of Bremen last month.

Meanwhile, Hurricane fighter bombers patrolling the German-held coast were said to have damaged a 300 to 400-ton steamer and a motor torpedo boat, and probably damaged three other vessels.

Patrols Get Pair.

Two enemy fighters were destroyed yesterday by British coastal patrol fliers, it was announced.

A Messerschmitt which attacked two British trawlers in the English Channel early today was reported by the Admiralty to have been shot into the sea. The Admiralty said there were three casualties on the trawlers, but no serious damage.

An R.A.F. account of last night's raid said:—

Three fighters were lost, presumably on these forays.

"There was much heavy cloud over the city but large fires were seen by a number of the crews who went down below the cloud in face of

From their newly-occupied base at Gona Mission on the north-eastern coast of the Papuan Peninsula, the Japanese patrols have advanced 55 miles inland in less than a week and have clashed with Allied patrols near the small government station of Kokoda.

Troops of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command pushed back the invaders yesterday while Allied bombers in three different attacks smashed at the enemy installations and supply stores at Gona Mission.

"There is no truth in the report," said Mr. Thorson.

Frankford Boy At Hamburg

Harvey Powell Shoots Up Lights, AA Crews In Raid

LONDON, July 29.—(CP Cable.)—R.C.A.F. crews which took part in last night's assault on Hamburg reported encountering heavy opposition from ground defences and many concentrations of enemy searchlights.

Flt. Sgt. Jack Wiggins of Winnipeg, captain of a Wellington bomber, was forced to dive to 300 feet to evade the flak and his machine was peppered with holes before it reached its home base.

Wiggins' gunners, Sergetants Roy Woods of Niagara Falls, Ont., and Harvey Powell of Frankford, Ont., had the satisfaction of shooting up searchlight and ack-ack crews as the plane dived toward the ground. Other members of the crew were Sgts. F. S. Aosenberg of Toronto and R. W. Moots of Wellington, Ont.

Another Wellington in this squadron dived out of a searchlight cone into a balloon barrage but Flt. Sgt. J. E. P. East of West Point, Miss., guided the aircraft to safety. As the plane was crossing the Netherlands coast, homeward bound, a burst of flak pierced its tail but all of the crew, including Po. E. S. Alexander of Vancouver, Po. C. D. Lane of Thorold, Ont., and Flt. Sgt. M. S. Steeves of Adhett's Landing, N.B., were uninjured.

A third plane in the same squadron, piloted by Flt. Sgt. Bill Gasco of Montreal, had a brush with a German fighter off the Netherlands coats and dived to within 300 feet of the sea before shaking it off.

Four Kettles Jap Water Cure Fizzle On Missionary

Edwin Koons, whose story follows, is a 62-year-old Presbyterian missionary from Syracuse, N.Y., who was stationed at Kiejo, Korea, since 1900 when he went to Asia. His account of his imprisonment by the Japanese was sent to the United States by Relman Morin, Associated Press correspondent, who was taken prisoner by the Japanese at Saigon, French Indo-China. Both are passengers on the exchange ship Gripsholm which sailed for the United States Tuesday.

By EDWIN KOONS

LOURENCO MARQUES, Portuguese East Africa, July 24.—(Delayed).—(AP)—At the outbreak of the war last December I was placed in a detention camp with other British and American males. Our wives were not interned. On May 6 I was taken to the Keijo prison and placed in a small cell with some 30 others, all Koreans.

Our cell apparently was fairly commodious compared with the others because the guard said he would not need to use the so-called two-and-one system. He explained that some cells were so crowded that the inmates had to take turns lying down, two-thirds of them standing for two-hour periods while the others rested.

Our cell was 11-by-11 feet. The real inconveniences came at night when it was imposible to change position once you lay down, and from lack of food. We slept after a fashion. And we agreed to divide uneaten food among the so-called 20-day prisoners. You don't get really starved until you have been progressively hungry for about 20 days.

Koreans Do Dirty Work

You don't feel like eating after questioning, either. All you want is rest until the pain fades. I had my first examination on May 10. I want to emphasize that all subsequent treatment come from Koreans and they had to show extra zeal in order to convince the Japanese higher-ups.

Saboteurs' Counsel Demand Trial By Civil Court—Test FDR's Powers

WASHINGTON, July 29—(AP).—Counsel for seven of the eight alleged Nazi saboteurs being tried by a military commission argued before the United States Supreme Court today that President Roosevelt's proclamation denying them access to the civil courts was "totally invalid and unconstitutional."

This challenge of the war-time powers of the President and commander-in-chief was made in a brief in support of a peition for a writ of habeas corpus.

In effect, the defendants' army officer counsel were asking the court to take the prisoners out of the hands of the commission appointed by Mr. Roosevelt and let them be tried in the civil courts.

The request was made at an extraordinary session of the Supreme Court convened on call of Chief Justice Harlan Stone. The chamber was filled by persons eager to have a spectators' part in the unusual event.

Tough Going To Baku; Rome Reports Stalingrad Under Fire

MOSCOW, July 29 —(AP)—The Russian defence of the Caucasus showed signs of stiffening today as the steadily reinforced German drive across the Lower Don shaped into spearheads toward Kushchevka, Sasik and the Tikhoretsk-Stalinggrad railroad linking the oil fields to central Russia.

A communique said the Red Army was "displaying stubborn resistance" after being forced back in the Bataisk area, 15 miles south of Rostov along the main railway to the oil port of Baku. Kushchevka is a station on this line 45 miles south of Rostov.

The Germans also were meeting stiff resistance against a secondary thrust developing down a spur line angling southeast from Bataisk to the junction with the Tikhoretsk-Stalingrad railway at Salsk, 100 miles southeast of Rostov.

Farther up the Don, midway between Rostov and Stalingrad, the Germans battled fiercely under shellfire and bombing in an attempt to enlarge at least three bridgeheads on the south bank of the river in the Tsimlyansk area, where the Don flows within 35 miles of the last rail line between Russia and the Caucasus.

There were apparently three objectives—seizure of Caucasus oil, neutralization of Red Navy bases on the Black Sea coast and dispatch of forces eastward toward the Caspian Sea and industrial Stalingrad, which is already menaced by German forces moving eastward in the Don Bend.

(The Rome radio asserted that Stalingrad had been placed under fire from heavy German guns.)

All Must Be Ready

The Communist party newspaper Pravda said every Russian man and woman should learn how to use a gun and "it is the duty of each citizen to be ready at any minute to join the ranks of the Red Army."

(Possibly hoping to complicate any re-alignment of Russian reserves, German planes dropped leaflets over Leningrad declaring that Germans soon would storm that city. Leningrad has been a north-western anchor of the Russian front, besieged and under sporadic bombardments, more than 11 months.)

Even while reporting that the invaders had made another crossing of the Don in the Tsimlyansk region 120 miles northeast of Rostov, the Bureau said Soviet bombers and as-

"Confiscation"

OTTAWA, July 29—(CP). Conservative House Leader Hanson said in the House of Commons today that the Dominion Succession Duty Act amendments as provided in the budget constitute "confiscation, pure and simple. It cannot be justified except on the one ground, that at this time the nation needs the money," said Mr. Hanson. "This is a capital levy which may be made three times over under the guise of securing money for the Crown."

HongKongCamp Visits Shows Canadians Well

OTTAWA, July 29—(CP). — The Department of External Affairs released today a communication from the International Red Cross saying that visits to prisoners of war camps in Hong Kong show that the health of the prisoners, including Canadians captured in the fall of Hong Kong, appears to be "very good" and that the prisoners show appreciation of "good treatment."

The communication, received from Geneva by E. L. Maag, delegate of the International Red Cross Committee, described as "satisfactory" the conditions regarding housing, food, clothing, canteens, hospitalization, dental care, recreation, library and religious life.

Visits were made to the north-point internment camp, containing 65 officers, 310 non-commissioned officers, and 1,202 other ranks—all Canadian with the exception of 28 Danish mariners — Shamshuipo Camp, containing 65 officers, 1,151 non-commissioned officers, and 2,779 other ranks, and Argyle Street Camp, containing 474 officers, 19 non-commissioned officers, and 93 orderlies.

The communication did not give the nationality of the prisoners in the Shamshuipo and Argyle Street camps.

Convoys Finding Caribbean Safer

ABOARD A U.S. WARSHIP in The Caribbean Sea on a recent date—(AP).—Great convoys of merchant ships are plowing with relative safety through these once-dangerous waters.

United States navy men are successfully matching wits with and out-manoeuvring undersea marauders that littered the sea with sunken ships in days before convoying began.

E. V. W. Jones, an Associated Press reporter, and Earl Shugars, Associated Press photographer, are aboard a warship which escorted the first Caribbean convoy to its destination and is returning with

Defence Plans Revised By Rundstedt

Parades In Paris, Boast Of Forts To Bolster Morale

By THOMAS HAWKINS

BERNE, Switzerland, July 29. — (AP).—German SS (Elite Guard) troops, said to have come from the Russian front, paraded through Paris today en route to new posts along the invasion coast, and German dispatches received here said Field Marshal Gerd Von Runstedt is revising his whole plan of defence against an Allied second front in the west.

The German press discussed details of the reorganized coastal defence at length, perhaps partly to offset agitation among the Allies for establishment of a second front soon. The National Zeitung of Basel described this as an intentional trickling of information in the hope of discouraging an Allied effort.

Nevertheless, practice manoeuvres reported being held by the Germans in their channel ports seemed to some observers to be an indication that the Germans are concerned by the threat.

The German press assured the people of the Reich that any second front effort could be beaten—but for the first time added that such an effort could be expected.

Three Main Worries

Dispatches from Germany said Von Runstedt is re-shaping his defence plans with three problems in mind: the military effort required, the possibility of rebellion by the people of the occupied countries, and the need for speedy transport of mobile defence forces to battle areas.

One dispatch from Berlin said the Allied-fed "underground war" in the occupied countries of Western Europe had led to a belief among people tired of war "and possibly even more so with occupation" that the appearance of

Unified Command

WASHINGTON, July 29—(AP).—Creation of a unified command of all aircraft operations in the Aleutian Islands was announced by the United States Navy today. It said that details as to command relationships and the exact location of headquarters could not be disclosed as they would be of value to the enemy.

The navy reported, however, that a naval officer now in the Aleutians area had been placed in command of the joint operations by naval and army aircraft. The same system of operational control under one head which was unified commands in joint operations in Hawaii, Australia, the Canal Zone, the Eastern Caribbean and the various sea frontiers will be effective in the Aleutians.

Caucasus May Make—Or Break Hitler

Almost Unbeatable If He Gets The Oil—In Desperate Spot If Russians Hold

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst.

We know that if Hitler can smash the Rusian Army and make conquest of the Caucasus and Middle East during the few remaining weeks of good fighting weather, he will have acquired resources and strategical advantages which will give him a tremendous, and perhaps unconquerable strength as over-lord of Europe.

That's the prize for which he is said to be prepared to sacrifice 1,000,000 yonug Germans. And if you believe—as he does—in trafficking with the devil, then the price isn't too high. What are 1,000,000 or even 10,000,000 youth as compared with an empire comprising all Europe—and maybe far more?

We know, too, that if the Russians can muster the strength to halt the invaders where they now are, we shall have the Fuehrer as neatly on the toasting fork as the devil can hope to get him in the long run.

But what happens if the Nazi leader is only partially successful? Where will he stand, for instance, if he succeeds in cutting Russia proper off rfom the Caucasian oil and other resources and its lifeline to the Persian Gulf, but fails to obtain those resources or himself?

Things might turn out that way. This isn't to say we must abandon hope that the Reds can stop the Nazi rush before it has gone much farther. Still, there's no use blinding ourselves to the fact that the mighty striking power being shown by the Germans may enable them at least to throw a barrier across the mouth of the Caucasus.

However, it's one thing for Hitler to establish such a barrier, and it's quite another for him to fight his way down the Caucasian Isthmus to Aladdin's Lamp. Soon the great, level plain of the northwestern Caucasus will give way to the mighty mountain range which reaches across the Black Sea to the Caspian. There are routes along the coast, but they are narrow and it's hard to believe that the Reds couldn't defend them.

Well, viewing the question through the eyes of experts who have analyzed all aspects of the situation, we can say that Hitler's strength will deteriorate while that of the Allies increases vastly. This is so because the war already has run two years longer than Hitler expected, and he is getting to the bottom of the huge supplies which he piled up over several years in preparation for war. There is no way of replenishing those supplies unless he can break through to the outside world for them.

Axis Ships Getting Scarcer

7,184,760 Tons Sunk, Captured, Damaged, Interned

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 29 (AP)—The Admiralty estimated today that 7,184,760 tons of German and Italian shipping had been sunk, captured, damaged or interned since the outbreak of the war.

Britain's navy and the war craft of her European Allies, excluding Soviet Russia, have sunk, captured or damaged 953,681 tons of Axis vessels since the first of the year, the Admiralty said.

These actions increased to 6,178,681 tons the total of German and Italian shipping sunk, captured or damaged since the outbreak of the war, it added.

That figure does not include losses inflicted by the Soviet navy, which the Admiralty estimates at 750,000 tons, nor does it include 44 German and Italian ships totalling 256,079 tons immobilized in Central and South American ports.

"It is difficult to assess the number of enemy ships lost through extensive Allied mining operations," official circles said.

"German and Italian losses reached 5,225 tons sunk, captured or damaged up to the end of 1941. In the six months previous to that the enemy losses were 1,841,000 tons.

"The decreased rate of losses is due to the decrease in the number of German and Italian ships at sea."

COMMONS REJECTS MOVE TO RE-ORGANIZE DEFENCE DEPARTMENT

CCF Concentrate On Selecting National Chief

TORONTO, July 29.—(CP).—The 10th anniversary convention of the C.C.F. moved towards adjournment to-day with the selection of a national leader to succeed the late J. S. Woodsworth as one of the chief items of business.

The election of the new leader was scheduled for the afternoon session while in the morning final consideration was to be given to the program for 'victory and reconstruction' presented to the convention yesterday by the National Council.

General approval was given yesterday to the program although several clauses were referred back to the committee for amendment, one of them dealing with the conscription of manpower and wealth. The program in its amended form will be considered to-day along with resolutions to be presented by the conventions resolutions committee.

The National Councils program was divided into three phases, embracing programs for war policy, for post-war Canada and for post-war world reconstruction.

The reconstruction paragraph which was referred back to the National Council for amendment was contained in the plans for 'mobilization for total war' and urged 'the selective use of our manpower, whether in productive or military service, as part of a unified plan for the conscription of wealth and other resources.'

Chief objection of the delegates was that the clause did not make sufficiently clear that the C.C.F would not approve conscription of manpower for military service or for industry into wealth and other resources were also conscripted.

Rural Power For Post War Plan

Extensive schemes for the electrification of rural areas and the development of new electric power along with other natural resources was urged as a post-war program for Canada. Regional planning along with a housing scheme, the raising of living standards among farmers, a nationwide compulsory social security system and an extension of free education were also proposed.

At the convention banquet last night Professor Herman Finer of London, fraternal delegate to the convention from the British Labor

Crack At Women Stirs Fireworks

BALTIMORE, July 29.—(AP). — McDougle (Profesor Ivan E.) really started something. The Goucher College professor said recently, if you remember:

'The only way we can maintain our present standard of living . . . is by putting our wives to work.' He also said something about 'parasites' and about life being 'so damned easy' for women these days.

For those words he's been lambasted, and glorified in scores of pros and cons from all over the country.

Mrs. H. D. Ball of Miami, Fla., seconded the professor's motion, saying 'with prices going up why in thunder must I knuckle down under the old-fashioned idea that I must stay home and scrub, wash and iron?'

Apparently Mr. Ball doesn't see eye to eye with his wife, for her letter asks also what she can do about 'an old fashioned husband age 35?'

Chief Yeoman G. A. McLane of the Oklahoman City Naval Recruiting Station, got aboard the McDougle bandwagon with:—

'There's a catch to it somewhere. Either there isn't any Professor McDougle and no Goucher College, or if there is, I can't believe that you believe what the newspapers said you believed. Because I, a poor average citizen have believed it all my life but have been regularly slushed and called to mind my manners.'

He complained bitterly about gadgets which do the work for the missus, leaving her as fresh as a daisy and 'ready to drag your quaking carcass off to some midnight shindig.'

On the other side of the picture was a woman who saw 'determination and arrogance' in the professor's face. Others chided him as untrue to his mother.

Good and angry was a lady who dubbed his statement a 'ridiculous outburst' and then set about calling him to task for 'youth mouthings.'

Neither pro nor con was one woman who didn't argue at all with the professor, but simply said: 'all right, you tell me where I can find a job.'

can agricultural experts in London stated that the Germans this winter will face the most serious food situation they have experienced since the war started. The Reich and Nazi-controlled Europe will harvest a crop 15 to 20 per cent below normal this year, and the deficit may exceed even that.

Even worse, from Hitler's standpoint, is his need of oil. He must have that not only for his fighting machines but to keep his war industries going. And other supplies are needed.

All this gives point to the warning issued yesterday to the German people by Air Marshal Sir Arthur Harris that British and American bombers were ready to devastate the Reich, city by city.

The Air Marshal was making no idle threat, but stating a certainty. Hitler can't compete with such air power without fresh resources. And he must be equipped for the land invasion which will come one of these days.

few buildings. It is situated in hilly country and behind it the Owen Stonley range rises to a height of 8,000 feet and more. Port Moresby lies to the south-west on the other side of the range.

Preliminary Action?

A Headquarters spokesman said it still was uncertain whether the probing action of the Japanese was a mere patrol manoeuvre or the preliminary advance to an attack on Port Moresby. A single Japanese plane dropped several bombs on Port Moresby last night, but there was no damage, a communique said.

The spokesman said there was no evidence of reinforcements for the Japanese forces at Gona Mission, which originally were estimated to number between 1,500 and 2,500.

A Japanese flying boat attempted to make a third attack on Townsville on the north-east coast of Australia last night, but Allied night fighters intercepted it, forced the pilot to drop his bombs in the sea and probably destroyed the plane, the communique said.

The Japanese plane was hit repeatedly and when last seen was losing height, it was reported. On two previous raids, Japanese fliers have dropped their bombs in the sea.

Allied bomber units, meanwhile, attacked the airdrome in Japanese-occupied Kupang, Dutch Timor, again, and scored hits in the target area. Japanese fighter planes attempted to intercept the formation, but Allied planes accomplished their mission.

The dispatch said Von Runstedt is taking measures against any such feeling.

How many troops Germany has in the West remained uncertain.

Estimates in reports received here from Berlin have varied from 50 to 120 divisions—750,000 to 1,800,000 men—spread along the coastline from Norway to Southern France.

French dispatches said "important contingents" of the Elite Guards, arriving from the Eastern front, paraded on the Champs Elysees in Paris and received new arms as they moved west to their new posts.

Reports from Berlin military circles said such regiment had arrived recently in Belgium and Holland as well as France. They came ostensibly on fatigue leave.

New Forts Complete.

Other press reports told of the completion of the line of fortifications in Northern France facing the English Channel. These ortifications started ater the fall of France, were said to be occupied now by German troops.

The DNB announcement of SS troops moving from Russia to the occupied countries apparently is part of a campaign which German propagandists have been building up for several days in an effort to show that Germany is prepared for any attempted invasion of France or the low countries.

Yesterday DNB reported that Field-Marshal von Rundstedt had been inspecting "the estensive and deeply echeloned fortification works on the North French Channel coast."

Later the Berlin radio broadcast that more than 200,000 skilled workers "have used 500,000 tons of concrete monthly for fortificaions along the Channel cost."

Still another Nazi-inspired dispatch said that Gen. Christiansen, German military commander in the Netherlands, haw inspected defence installations along the Dutch coast recently completed and taken over by the German army.

At the same time German military sources in Berlin permitted themselves to be quoted as saying they believed that an invasion attempt would be made by the Allies, dispatches from Berne, Switzerland, said.

Handle 155 Cases In 14-Hour Court Session

NEWMARKET, July 29.—Magistrate, police and defendants sweltered in the plus-eighty temperature of Newmarket Police Court from 10 a.m. yesterday morning until well after midnight in the longest session ever held in a police court in this town. There were 155 cases on the docket, and by 11:30 p.m. only forty-seven had been disposed of.

Most of the cases were traffic violations: 127 for speeding and seven for careless driving. There were also seven cases of persons having liquor in an illegal place.

Magistrate W. N. Robinson, sitting at the new magistrate's bench, which has been in use less than a month, called luncheon at 1 p.m. Promptly at 2, court resumed. When suppertime rolled around, the magistrate took a look at the far-from-completed docket and nipped fifteen minutes from the regulation supper hour.

At midnight, defendants and witnesses were still climbing to the dock. Every one was tired, dog-tired, but the court reporter's pencil still made Pitman marks on the paper; Magistrate Robinson leaned on his elbow; Chief Constable James Sloss continued to give evidence—his voice very hoarse; and waiting, sighing, sleepy, were defendants—lots of them!

Then every one woke up with a jolt. The defendants were rudely awakened from their sleep and rushed into the dock in a steady stream. The pleas of "guilty" and the amounts of the fines were rattled off, tumbling over each other. Case No. 120 came up at 12:02; No. 141 at 12:11 and at 12:16 case No. 155 had passed through the court.

Court was dismissed, but it was several minutes before any one had enough energy to move out of the court room.

telligible to Americans but not to the censor. I denied this.

They then removed my clothes and ebgan beating me with a rubber hose. Other guards who were not connected with my case occasionally joined my examiners, each giving me a few cracks on the head and feet.

The examination centred on a letter in which some typographical errors appeared and in which some words were crossed out with the letter X. An officer insisted that these constituted a secret code and demanded the key. I laughed and said they were merely evidence of my clumsiness on a typewriter.

Nothing I could say would convince them otherwise. Then they introduced a man they called "The Shepherd." They explained the nickname was derived from his reputation for ability to extract information from prisoners "as a shepherd milks a goat."

The Shepherd led me into another cell. I needed a drink of water. And there I received the water cure.

Downs 4 Kettles

The shepherd hunched my knees under him and began forcing water down my throat. The maximum usually is four large kettles, and I took them all before I fainted. I had a bad heart and I guess it just quit for a moment. When I regained consciousness they returned me to my cell.

Four days later the questioning covered the same ground, namely the newspaper and that confounded letter. The next time I am going to employ a secretary.

My back was badly bruised by then and the soles of my feet were almost too sore to walk. This time, however, the mental torture was worse than physical. They said they would kill me unless I explained the so-called code. They warned me that nobody would ever know what happened. They said they would cremate my body and tell my wife I died of illness. They didn't give me the water cure that day.

That same night I pondered the problem. I considered admitting espionage and then when under formal court trial I could repudiate this alleged confession on the grounds that it had been obtained through torture. However, I realized this would implicate all the mission workers. So I made up my mind to die. If they were going to kill me there was nothing I could do.

To the Water Cure Room.

The next examination was similar to the others and ended when we went to the water cure room. They stripped me again, but at the last moment seemed to change their minds. Well sir, just to show them I was not scared, I said I really was thirsty from talking and asked for a drink from one of the four kettles.

On May 15 they released me without explanation. Before my departure from prison the examiner asked if I thought I had actually contributed to Korean life in the past 40 years. I said, "Well, there are two schools for Koreans which would never have been built except for my church and me."

I reminded them that I had twice been decorated by Japanese governors of Korea. Their reply was: "All you did was to put a permanent Occidental twist in the minds and spirits of those Koreans which ruins them for ever."

Personally, I believe that was my offence. I won't say what they did to my wife. They never physically harmed her, but they tried to make her admit my espionage through telling her the treatment I was receiving and declaring she would never see me. That I never can forgive. I do not blame the Koreans for my experience. They were exra rough to prove to Japan their loyalty. Still both my wife and I hope to return after the war and continue our work.

Noted Orchestra Leader, Luigi Romanelli, Dies

MURRAY BAY, Que., July 29—(CP). — Luigi Romanelli, well-known Toronto orchestra leader, died today in this Summer resort on the north shore of the St. Lawrence River.

Romanelli suffered a heart attack about ten days ago and had been ailing since.

A brother, Leo Romanelli, said the body would be taken to Montreal tonight and would arrive in Toronto tomorrow.

Mr. Romanelli's orchestra, which played in Toronto for several years, played both dance music and symphony. Through radio, it was well known in Canada.

Born in Belleville, Ont., in 1885, he was the son of Joseph and Catherine Romanelli. He attended public schools in Toronto and his musical education took him to London and Belgium.

He had been playing the violin in public for half a century. His first public appearance was in London at the age of seven.

In 1922 he married Selina Stanley in London.

First appearance at 7.

His first appearance as a violinist was half a century ago at the age of seven and before he was 12 he played the violin on the streets of Toronto with George White of George Whites Scandals fame. Romanelli played and White danced while the people threw coppers at them.

First stage appearance of Romanelli was in an amateur show. Also in the show was a Toronto girl named Mary Smith—now Mary Pickford.

Earl steps in th entertainment world brought Romanelli in contact with such persons now famous, as Bea Lillie and the Marx Brothers.

His first radio appearance was in 1923 when he introduced "jazz" in Canada over the air.

Biddle that:

"Military trial for the petitioners' endangers no traditional civil liberty. These German soldiers have already been given rights which no American would receive in Germany, and now ask for 'constitutional' privileges which we do not allow our own soldiers."

Justices Francis Murphy and W. D. Douglas were absent from the bench when the proceedings started. The Chief Justice announced that Douglas was en route and would participate.

Absence Unexplained.

There was no announced explanation of Murphy's absence, but it had been speculated he might disqualify himself as he has been serving in the Army.

Addressing himself to Attorney-General Francis Biddle, Stone said he was informed that his son (Maj. Lauson H. Stone) was assigned to the defence staff and asked Biddle if it were true.

Biddle replied that the defence and prosecution staffs were agreed that Maj. Stone did not participate in the habeas corpus proceeding, adding that "counsel for both sides join in urging you to sit."

"You may proceed," the Chief Justice said by way of ending any question as to whether he would participate.

"Real Test of the System."

The two United States Army colonels defending the prisoners, Cassius M. Dowell and Kenneth C. Royall, told the court:

"May we respectfully suggest that the instant case presents a real test of our democratic form of government and its judicial system. It is trite but still true to say that the soundness of any system of government proves itself in the hard cases where there is an element of public clamor. Such circumstances test the real ability of a Government and its judicial system to protect the rights of an unpopular minority."

The defence disclosed that Justice James W. Morris of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, denied yesterday an application of the petitioners for permission to present petitions for writs of habeas corpus.

The defence freely conceded that all of the eight accused attended a school near Berlin and received instructions and directions for sabotaging manufacturing and transportation facilities but declared that all the petitioners had testified that they did not intend to commit sabotage.

'In the case of two or more petitioners," the brief said, "that testimony was definitely corroborated by other evidence produced by the prosecution. All of the petitioners deny their guilt."

Nothing For 90 Days

The brief made this summary of "certain salient facts relative to their conduct" prior to arrest:

"The petitioners attended a school near Berlin and received instructions and directions as to industrial sabotage of manufacturing and transportation facilities. They were directed to commit no sabotage within 90 days after their arrival in America. They received no instructions or directions relative to obtaining information of a military nature or communicating the same to Germany. They were expressly directed to go unarmed and not to kill or injure an individual.

"They came to America on submarines and landed in two groups on the Long Island and the Florida coasts. They brought certain explosives which they buried on the sea shore. At the time of their arrest, they had committed no acts or sabotage, had taken no steps toward sabotage and had made no definite plans as to time and place of committing any sabotage."

The defence acknowledged that all of the petitioners were citizens of the German Reich except Herbert Hans Haupt, 22, youngest of the defendants, who was brought to this country when five years old and acquired United States citizenship through his parents' naturalization.

Haupt contends the defence said, "that his citizenship, thus acquired, has not been lost in any manner. On the contrary, respondent (the prosecuton) contends that Haupt has lost his citizenship."

"Upon the conclusion of the training," the prosecution brief said, "the German Government contracted to pay them for acting on its behalf and transported them to the United States by submarines of the German navy. Before boarding the submarines, the petitioners and one George John Dasch (the lone defendant not joining in the petition), were separated into two groups of four each One group went by submarine headed for Long Island. The other group went upon another submarine headed for Florida.

"On the submarines all wore fatigue uniforms of the German marine infantry, and were told that, if they were captured in these uniforms while landing they would be treated as prisoners of war If not captured immediately, they were to change to American-made civilian clothing.

"Both submarines escaped our naval and other patrols and landed the petitioners under the cover of darkness."

Three of the petitioners and Dasch landed near Amagansett, Long Island. The others landed at Ponte Vedra, Fla.

"Each group brought ashore boxes of explosives, incendiaries, fuses, detonators and timing devices, and buried them in the sand near the points of landing," the prosecution continued.

"Within two weeks after they landed, and while in civilian clothing, all seven petitioners and Dasch were taken into custody by special agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

May Call Up 19's Before Married Men

OTTAWA, July 29.—(CP)—The probability was seen here today that the Federal Government will lower the bottom call-up age from 20 to 19 before turning to the pool of married men to meet future quotas for compulsory military training.

The trend of recent quotas indicates that the current pool of single men aged 20 to 40 soon will be exhausted. A lowering of the call-up age could be expected to bring in enough single youths to meet requirements for several months.

It is not known how many additional men would be affected by such action, but the recent lowering of the age from 21 to 20 placed an extra 100,000 on the available list. However, many of those 100,000 will be turned down because of physical unfitness, and others will be granted postponement because of the nature of their work. The same factors would apply to some extent to the 19-year-olds.

National defense officials have asked for 25,000 men for the August call-up. September requirements are not known, but it is understood that if they equal the August figure they will almost exhaust the available single men and childless widowers aged 20 to 40.

When that group is exhausted, the Government will face three alternatives: the lowering of the age group to 19; the lifting of the age limit to 45; and the calling of married men.

In round figures, the national registration of August, 1940, showed 1,000,000 single men and childless widowers in the 21-45 age group. From that group has come almost 90 per cent of the 500,000 men now voluntarily enlisted. Another 100,000 have been called up. The majority of the remaning 400,000 are believed to have been turned down medically unfit or granted postponement as essential workers.

Old Booklet Sought By Edwin C. Guillet

Has any of the Examiner's readers a copy of a booklet entitled "A Guide to Emigrants from the British Shores to the Woods of Canada," written by George Arundel Hill of Dummer township in 1834?

Edwin C. Guillet, who for years has been engaged in research of Ontario and especially Central Ontario history, "would like very much to locate a copy." He is spending the summer at Juniper Island.

"Mr. Hill was the first Warden of Peterborough county," Mr. Guillet writes in his appeal. "He was also superintendent of education in Dummer for several years. He settled in that township in 1831 and died in the early sixties. I should think some of the county people would have a copy of this 56-page booklet."

House Vetoes Defence Dept. Changes

Rejects Opposition Motion 130 Votes To 34

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, July 29 —(CP)—The House of Commons last night completed a warm two-day debate on the Hong Kong expedition inquiry by rejecting, 130 votes to 34, an opposition motion that the House express the opinion a reorganization of the defence department was required in light of evidence submitted at the inquiry.

Navy Minister Macdonald, final speaker in the debate, commended Defence Minister Ralston and contended that criticism of Sir Lyman Duff, who acted as commissioner in the inquiry, were directed against his value as a judge as well as a commissioner. Sir Lyman is Chief Justice of Canada.

Howard Green (Con. Vancouver South) opened the debate into the Duff Hong Kong report Monday with a motion that the House express the view incapacity among military authorities had been shown and reorganization was needed. His motion took the form of an amendment to the formal motion that the House go into committee of supply—the motion on which the long and at times acrimonious debate took place.

The Hong Kong expedition consisted of 1,985 men of the Winnipeg Grenadiers and the Royal Rifles of Canada. They arrived in the Crown Colony three weeks before Japan entered the war and fought against the Japanese until the surrender of Hong Kong last Dec. 25.

In House Records

Material from the letter criticizing the Hong Kong report, written by Lt.-Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative Leader, got into the House records in an interchange between Dr. H. A. Bruce (Con. Toronto Parkdale) and Justice Minister St. Laurent.

The letter was addressed to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and copies also were sent by Col. Drew to other party leaders in the House of Commons. Mr. King refused to table the letter in the House.

Mr. St. Laurent quoted from the Vancouver News-Herald's report (July 15) of the letter from Col. Drew in replying to comments of Dr. Bruce regarding "prostitution" of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in obtaining evidence from Vancouver stevedores.

Dr. Bruce previously had referred to the use of police in collecting evi-

Writ Is Issued Against Head Of School Board

PORT HOPE, July 29—(ENS).—As a climax to the numerous events connected with Port Hope High School affairs, a writ was issued in Cobourg today against Postmaster W. J. B. Davison, chairman of the High School Board, charging him with the utterance of slanderous statements concerning the former principal, G. L. Brackenbury.

Since early March, when Mr. Brackenbury was asked to resign without stated reasons, the town has been in a state of turbulent indignation over the board's action. At that time Mr. Brackenbury himself, members of the staff, and representatives of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation approached the chairman and asked for the season for the dismissal. It was at this meeting that the alleged statements were made.

The students of the school, their studies disrupted at the most important part of their year's work, protested the dismissal of their principal, first, by presenting to the board a petition asking for the reinstatement of Mr. Brackenbury which was signed by 98 per cent. of the pupils, and, secondly, on May 18, over 90 per cent. of the students held an orderly parade through the town.

Parents Protest.

Then the parents, also in protest, held meetings at which a citizens' committee was formed for the purpose of for the resignation of the board and the reinstatement of Mr. Brackenbury as principal. Next eight of the nine teachers of the staff resigned declaring that their teaching of democracy was a shallow pretence if they did not protest the unjust treatment meted out to their principal. Finally fifteen hundred citizens, in support of the principal, teachers and democratic principles, petitioned the appointing bodies for the resignation of the members of the board. The Counties Council and the Public School Board asked for the resignation of their appointees, but they refused to resign.

Under the supervision of Mr Brackenbury and his competent staff the achievements of the pupils have brought credit to the town and the school in many ways. Academically the school has greatly improved with 95 per cent. of the contestants in Departmental examinations last year passing. The football team played in the finals for the Ontario championship. The senior girls' basketball team also represented their district in Toronto. School athletics earned recognition at the Ontario Athletic Commission camp at Couchiching. The Cadet Corps was presented in Ottawa with the efficiency shield for Military District No. 3 and the war work of the girls has won high praise in patriotic circles.

It was recognition of these facts that first enlisted public indignation and support of the principal, but later it was enormously reinforced when statements spread through the town in a whispering campaign, brought unfair reflections on Mr. Brackenbury's character.

These statements, most annoying to Mr. Brackenbury and his family, roused at least fifteen hundred citizens of the town to fever pitch and ended with the serving of the writ on Mr. Davison.

15-Year-Old Boy Held On Robbery Charge

COBOURG, July 29.—(ENS). — Provincial Constable Don Carruthers arrested a 15 year old boy employed on the farm of Alvin Cole, as a result of an investigation yesterday into the robbery of a store at Plainville, owned by Ken Curtis. The arrest was made less than 24 hours after the robbery. It is alleged hat the youth stole $42 in cash from the store. He was brought to Cobourg and locked up.

15 To "Catseye"

LONDON, July 29—(CP).—"Catseye" Cunningham — Acting Wing Cmdr. John Cunningham, D.S.O., D.F.C.—is Britain's No. 1 night-fighting ace. Fifteen of his 16 Nazi victims have been shot down in the dark; and a bar to the D.S.O. in the latest list of R.A.F. heroes is his reward for a sensational "kill" which he made, without firing a single shot, by stalking his enemy across clouded skies with cold-blooded timing and calculation, diving from a cloud with tremendous speed and sending the Nazi crashing to the ground.

Claims Respect Declining For Ruling Class

TORONTO, July 29.—A decline in respect for the traditional governing classes of England, the wearers of the old school tie, is being evidenced on the part of the masses of people in the Old Country, the C.C.F. national convention was told last night by Professor Herman Finer, a member of the British Labor Party and an outstanding figure in the realm of political science. He addressed delegates from all parts of Canada at a banquet in the Royal York Hotel.

"There is a saying that every Englishman loves a lord," remarked Professor Finer. "Well, not now. Sufferance, not deference, is the trend. The record of the past has caused an erosion in respect for the governing classes The demonstrated inefficiency of private industry to run the war is known to the masses. They know private industry couldn't run the peace. Three million unemployed testified to that. The Englishman is asking questions. He is asking how it is that the Prime Minister of so powerful a commonwealth could be insulted by a former house painter. How it is that Britain was so unprepared? How it is that it could so underestimate Russia? Either the men who govern are dupes or they are ignorant and stupid. That is what the Englishman is saying today.

"There has been this perception of the incompetence of the governing classes," continued Professor Finer. "Labor in England is saying: 'If the governing class can't run the country, we can.'"

The part played by the British Labor Party in fighting a total war was outlined by the speaker. He declared that the "very key and pivot" of the British war effort was the Labor Party.

"When it comes to be asked after the war, was Labor concerned in the architecture of victory, the answer must be a resounding 'Yes,'" declared Professor Finer.

Labor is planning for the aftermath, continued the speaker, and in every field of human endeavor and welfare, plans are being formulated for the postwar period. Unrestricted unemployment would never again prevail, he declared. The technique to successfully combat it was known, and what was even more important, the will not to allow such a blemish on society, was present.

Rescuer Bogged In Swamp Saving Boy 16

TORONTO, Juy 29.— A 16-year-old boy last nihgt rode his bicycle into swamp land on Leslie Street near Commissioner Street and was mired to his hips before lifesavers rescued him. The boy, Roy Walker of 186 Duchess Street, was not saved until after Lifeguard Jack Jones, who had gone to his rescue was mired in the bog to his knees and had to be hauled out with a rope by a fellow lifeguard, Verne Latremouille, of Simcoe Beach Station.

Walker told the lifeguards he had been riding along the beach and as a short cut home thought he could ride through the waste land. The bicycle began to sink as soon as it boy when he, too, went down and hit the marshy ground, and the boy went deeper and deeper as he struggled to get out.

His outcries attracted a number of persons in the vicinity, who are becoming accustomed to calls for help from persons getting mired in the marsh land. Police, firemen, and lifesavers were summoned.

Lifeguards Jones and Latremouille took ropes and a lifesaving buoy with them. Walker could not be seen on account of the water rushes but they were able to trace him by the direction of his calls.

Lifeguard Jones managed to get within a few yards of the stranded had to call to Guard Latremouille to pull him out. He then made his way safely along firmer footing and tossed the buoy to Walker, who then was dragged from his perilous imprisonment. The bicycle was later recovered.

Walker was taken to the Simcoe Beach Station and after resting, jumped on his bicycle and rode away. Lieutenant Hogh Armstrong and a crew from Carlaw Avenue Fire Station responded to the call. The lifesavers had rescued the boy and they were not required. The police reported a fence is being erected by the city around the swamp.

Cripps Bitterly Assailed By Indian Leader

ALLAHABAD, India, July 29 — (AP). — Sir Stafford Cripps was bitterly attacked by two of the top Indian leaders yesterday in the latest round of the fight over the Indian Nationalist resolution proposing withdrawal of British rule from India.

Maulana Abdul Kalan Azad, president of the All-India (Nationalist Party) Congress, told a press conference in Bombay that critics of the resolution, and particularly Sir Stafford had ignored a frank analysis of the political situation and constructive proposals contained in the resolution.

Jawaharlal Nehru, former Congress president and still a leading spokesman said here that both the British and American critics "have proceeded either on a complete misunderstanding of the Congress resolution or a desire to pervert it."

Both Indian leaders attacked Cripps for a broadcast on Sunday in which he had criticized the resolution and Mohandas K. Gandhis support of it.

"Like a clever lawyer, Cripps picked out phrases from Gandhi's statement without reference to the context and tried to prove the British Imperialist case," Nehru said.

"This is no time for lawyers' quibbling and no statesman who shoulders responsibility can afford to do this."

Nehru emphasized that India's defence was the main consideration before the Congress and that Indians would suffer most if there were an invasion.

"It is beyond measure that Cripps should allow himself to become a devil's advocate. He thus injured Indo-British relations more than any other Englishman could have done," he added.

Aleutians Tough Task For Japs

WASHINGTON, July 29—(AP)—The Japanese have a triple problem in their attempt to occupy the westernmost of the Aleutian Islands.

They must land in rocky coves where only small boats can dock, and then at great risk carry all their equipment over steep rocky trails and clean out areas for the camps.

They also must feed the occupying troops by convoy over almost a 1,00-mile-long supply line through some of the most difficult navigable waters in the world.

Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, Smithsonian Institution anthropologist, who probably has spent more time than any other white man in the Aleutians searching for remains of the ancient men who made the first invasion of North America by Asiatics more than 40,000 years ago, describes Attu Island as a "bleak almost barren rock" capable of supporting only a few natives who have existed solely by fishing.

The only animal life consists of a few foxes and many rats. Some waterfowl and eagles are fairly common. Theer are no trees on the island, thus no timber for buildings, and only sparse brush for building fires. Most of the island is covered by close-growing heath, chiefly the crowberries.

Summer temperatures range from 55 to 60 degrees and winter temperatures about 12 above zero with the humidity always staying about 90, accounting for the almost continuous mists about Attu and almost the whole Aleutian chain. In addition to the mists, rain is almost continuous as few as eight wholly clear days having been recorded during an entire year.

Hrdlicka expressed the opinion that even if American bombers let the Japanese alone, they still woud have a tough time existing.

Axes And Stones

Moscow, July 29 (AP)

IN an article entitled "The fate of Russia," the army paper Red Star today called on every woman and child to take up axes and stones to attack the German invaders.

"The fate of Russia depends upon our generation," it said.

"If the Germans conquer us, the generation now five to 10 years old will spit upon us when it is grown up."

Blames The Tops

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29. — (AP). — Senator Monrad C. Wallgren (Dem.-Wash.) says higher-ups in Washington are responsible for the failure of United States forces to drive the Japanese invaders out of the Aleutian Islands.

"I can't especially find any criticism of the Army and Navy," Wallgren said in an interview.

"But I think the higher-ups in Washington, who determine strategy, should take steps to drive them out immediately. They're digging in and entrenching themselves daily."

PORT HOPE

Harry Brownlee A.R.P. Warden

PORT HOPE, July 29—(ENS). — At the meeting of the Port Hope Council Monday night many resolutions were passed, and among them authority was given Mayor Sherman Gifford to declare a half-holiday on Augusth 5 or whatever day the H.M.S. Port Hope reaches port.

The members of the council present at the meeting were Mayor Gifford, Reeve Box, Deputy-Reeve Moncrief and Councillors Belyea, Martin, Thompson, Burley and Bird.

The town agreed to accept the offer made by the Department of National Defence to take over the old drill shed lots and look after their upkeep. The recommendation of Harry Brownlee by the committee appointed to select a chief warden for A.R.P. work in Port Hope was approved by the council. Permission to erect a new sign at the corner of Ridout street and the Toronto Road by the McCall-Frontenac Service station was granted, the sign to be erected under the supervision of the Street and Bridge commission of the town.

A resolution was passed by the council requesting officials of the Eldorado Gold Mines to remedy the nuisance of the odors now escaping from their plant.

Councillor W. E. Thompson expressed the opinion that it would be a fine gesture on the part of the members to all sign a letter to be written to Port Hope boys now held prisoners of war at Hong Kong. The resolution was passed accordingly.

The council authorized the transfering of $2,000 to the Public School account. The Clerk was instructed to have the auditor's report printed immediately in the same form as other years. This was a six months' report covering receipts and disbursements showing the tax receipts to date to be $85,025.58; bank loans $15,000 and receipts from other sources, $8,314.49. The total receipts are $108,340.07. The general estimated expenditures of payments made is $59,162.83, and bank loans repaid, $15,000. The total disbursements are $74,162.83.

Reeve Box, Deputy-reeve Moncrief and Councilor Bird were appointed a committee with Reeve Box as chairman, to meet with the Parks Board regarding the selection of a site for the erection of the much-discussed Scriven's Monument.

The next meeting of the council will be held on August 24.

Cobourg Families Are Pictured For Overseas

COBOURG, July 29—(ENS).—A cameraman of the National Film Board was in Cobourg yesterday afternoon taking movies of soldiers' families here. The pictures will be shown overseas when the camera tour of Canada has been completed. Later the photographer made movies of landmarks around the town which would be familiar to the boys from here, now overseas. He also took shots of the Town Hall with pedestrians going past. Yesterday morning pictures were taken at Port Hope and today the photographer visits Belleville.

Homes For Songs

LOS ANGELES, July 29—(AP).—Beverly Hills and Bel Air Mansions can be had for a song these days. That is, if you consider $150,000 a song. Real estate appraisers, testifying before the Board of Supervisors on assessment reduction applications, said $500,000 estates could be bought for $150,000, and the home that Movie Actor Warner Baxter spent $400,000 to build in 1934 went for $8,500.

50 P.C. Less In Jail

EDMONTON, July 29—(CP). — Alberta's jail population is down 50 per cent and as a result the Government is expected to close wings of both Fort Saskatchewa and Lethbridge jails, Hon. W. A. Fallow, Minister of Public Works, said last night.

Cobourg Cook Found Dead In Bathroom

COBOURG, July 29.—(ENS). — Fainting from loss of blood from varicose veins before he could summon aid, William Karatolis, restaurant cook, died last night. He had been employed for the last eight years by Sam Stover. Karatolis, who boarded in a local house, took a bath last night and during the course of his bath a varicose vein broke. He sat down in chair and tried to make a tourniquet of his pyjamas leg, but apparently fainted from loss of blood and was unable to summon aid.

Unconscious, he bled to death and none in the house knew of his condition until about two hours after death, according to the estimate of he doctor. The body was taken to McFaydens undertaking parlours.

Karatolis was in his thirties and was a quiet, pleasant appearing man. 'There was none better,' was the comment of his employer. Sam Stover.

Quebec's Persecutory Paronoia

If Quebec's attitude toward the rest of Canada is adequately represented in the remarks which Mr. Cardin made in his speech last Friday on the subject of conscription, that province is clearly suffering from persecutory paranoia, a distressing and troublesome mental ailment. The symptoms are obvious enough; the delusions of persecution and the hallucinations are all there. According to Mr. Cardin "some small group" is anxious to make Quebec suffer; "the good old government of the Province of Quebec has to be punished," says he, and some mysterious "they" is eager to do the punishing. But, he assured the House, "there is no majority in Canada that is going to wipe out the minority in Quebec."

That sort of talk is familiar enough in the psychiatrist's consulting-room, and it is also heard sometimes from minorities who think that they are being persecuted. As a matter of fact, no one can successfully claim that Quebec has been persecuted; recently an eminent French-Canadian cleric and historian pointed out to his people that they had enjoyed a status which other minorities in the world might envy, and that they had never suffered hardship under British rule. Quebec's trouble rises from its curious position as a bone of contention between the two principal political parties in this country. The party which carries Quebec is well on its way to power, and for this reason Quebec has been courted and reviled by generations of politicians who have never given thought to its true position in the Dominion. Is it any wonder that, on the first occasion when Quebec has been thwarted seriously in twenty years, persecutory paranoia is evident in the utterance of one of its leaders? Children who are not allowed to stay home from school when they sham illness frequently suffer from the same complaint.

Now we see that the C.C.F. means to strengthen its organization in Quebec, and we shall not be surprised if it does very well there. Quebec feels that Liberals and Conservatives have outraged its sensibilities, and a new party, with a new approach, should gather in members by the thousand. If the C.C.F. plays its cards well, it may soon have Quebec in its pocket, and will be enormously strengthened in consequence. But the C.C.F. will also have Canada's mental invalid on its hands, to be humored and reassured, and that is a task which neither of the older parties will envy their new rival.

Democratic Regimentation

One of the best statements of C.C.F. belief that we have seen is published in the current issue of Saturday Night; it is in the form of a letter to the editor of that paper and we take the liberty of commenting upon it because we think that it is of wide interest. The letter is from Mr. J. W. Noseworthy, who recently defeated the Hon. Arthur Meighen in a by-election in South York. Among other interesting things, Mr. Noseworthy says this: "The people of a democracy can regiment themselves as much as they choose and still be democratic and 'free'."

This is doubtless true in theory, but is it true in practice? Like the Communist dictum, "From each according to his abilities, to each according to his needs" this statement contains a joker. And the joker is that the individual has to accept the will of the majority as to what constitutes permissible regimentation. Now there is only one misfortune which may befall a country greater than the rule of a tyrant, and that is the rule of a mob. Majority views must always be submitted to the closest inspection, for they are likely to resemble closely the views of a tyrant in that they are violent, ill-informed, and likely to be put in action by coercion.

Richard Aldington in a recent interesting book makes this provocative statement: "In spite of all the talk about liberty and opportunity, I have a suspicion that this is exactly what the great majority desires—a mediocre security, a prescribed routine and no responsibility for its own individual life." This is a possible result of regimentation by the will of the majority, and although it would undoubtedly save many people from the poverty and misery to which our present system condemns them, it would also tend to hamper the development of the best minds in the country because they would be regimented by the majority will.

In taking issue with Mr. Noseworthy on this one point we make no pretence of dealing with his whole letter which, as we have already said, is of extraordinary interest. As a statement of theoretical belief it is admirable, but whether or not it would work is quite another matter.

Laval Plans Our Future

Even this bitter war is not without humor. That rogue Pierre Laval is making representations to his masters that, when the Axis has won the war, Switzerland and Canada shall be handed over to France.

We wish him joy of Switzerland; if the French can subdue that remarkable people they will have accomplished a miracle; the Swiss are incorrigible lovers of self-government. And as for Canada—well, it is doubtful if we should fare any better under Vichy than we should under the Master Race itself.

Can it be that Laval makes this astounding demand because he thinks that French Canada would welcome domination from European France? If that is so we think that he is profoundly mistaken. Certainly many Canadians are Frenchmen, but they are not admirers of any France which has existed recently. It was the Catholic France of Louis XIV. which they left to come to these shores, and their attitude to the France of the Revolution, of Napoleon, of the Republic, and of Vichy has never been sympathetic. They are Canadians, and also, it is to be feared, isolationists. Laval would be as roughly received by them, we think, as he would by the Canadians of British sympathies.

A Matter Of Interest

The London Spectator has recently published some interesting correspondence about church-going in Britain; the opinions expressed in the many letters published have been widely divergent; some correspondents have set the number of church-goers as low as ten per cent. of the total population; others, more generous, have estimated it at about 17 per cent. A certain difficulty arises from the custom of the Church of England of counting the number of Easter communicants as the Church's attendance, which is manifestly an over-estimation. But it appears that about seven of Britain's forty millions of people attend places of worship with reasonable regularity.

It would be interesting to have some similar information about Canada. The Gallup poll, which informs us on so many matters, might take the subject up or, better still, we might hear the opinions of clergymen and interested laymen. Every once in a while we are told by someone who is looking for publicity that churchgoing is sadly in decline and that something dreadful will happen if the situation is not changed; the alternative story is that the churches are fuller than they have been in many years. But what is the truth of the matter?

The last twenty years have been years of struggle for the churches, as they have been years of struggle for education and the arts; leadership and direction have been lacking and public interest has been spasmdoic. The characteristic mental attitude of the times has been a shallow form of scientific materialism. How has this affected churchgoing? How are the churches attended now, in wartime? Can any of our readers tell us?

Laughter-Lovers

The Encyclopaedia Britannic gives us this interesting bit of information about one of our enemies: "The Japanese are essentially a kindly-hearted, laughter-loving people, taking life easily and not allowing its petty ills unnecessarily to disturb their equanimity." That is just as well. Doubtless you read the recently released tale of the Doolittle raid which, on April 18, gave the Japs quite a pasting; the Japs informed the public that they had shot down nine of Doolittle's planes, though they later modified the number to one, and this supposed American bomber they exhibited. But unfortunately the American markings on it were in wet paint—a proof that it was a Japanese plane faked for the occasion.

Let us hope that the Japs who saw this fraud took it in a kindly-hearted and laughter-loving manner. The time is not far distant when they will have to enjoy quite a lot of humor of this kind, and we should hate to think that it might strain their risibilities.

A Matter Of Morale

A Comparison of Life in Wartime Britain and Germany by J. W. Grigg in London Spectator

TO BE transported suddenly from wartime Germany to wartime Britain is an experience that brings home more convicingly than any propaganda how incomparably better off the British people are than the German people as the war nears the end of its third year.

It was through the entry of the United States into the war that I had the rare opportunity of being able to witness the conflict from both sides. For more than three years I was a staff correspondent in Berlin of one of the three big American news agencies. On December 11 I was arrested and spent the next five months in internment.

The contrast between living conditions in Germany and Great Britain which I found when I arrived in London a few weeks ago was overwhelming. Germany has just passed through the grimmest winter since 1918. The food situation deteriorated markedly during the first four months of this year. The Germans froze in their homes because the catastrophic state of their transport system made it impossible to bring coal to the big cities. Nerves became frayed. Grumbling, despondency and war-weariness increased on the home front.

Here, I had half expected to find more or less the same conditions. And, superficially, there is, in fact, much that Berlin and London have in common. People stumble around in the same blackout. There is no great difference in the basic rations. There are queues, propaganda posters, thin newspapers and uniforms everywhere. You meet some of the same wartime shortages and hear people grumbling about much the same sort of annoyances.

But these are purely superficial likenesses. In everything of real importance there is no comparison between the two countries. Food, drink, general living conditions, morale and, above all, confidence in the outcome of the war — in all these Great Britain is so far ahead of Germany that there are times when someone coming direct from Germany finds it hard to remember that this is a country at war at all.

THE most obvious difference between the two countries is in the food situation. There is absolutely no question that Britain is eating better than Germany. In Germany today practically every article of food is rationed, and ration coupons have to be given up in restaurants as well. That means in practice that the average German gets considerably smaller rations than the Briton who eats at least one meal a day in restaurants or canteens. The potato crop froze in Germany last winter, and potatoes were rationed for the first time. Green vegetables of any sort were practically unobtainable, and the average German family was living to a large extent on turnips, red cabbage and sauerkraut.

Bread in Germany is rationed, and the ration was cut during the winter — a particular hardship to working-class Germans owing to the potato shortage. The standard of the bread also deteriorated very noticeably. Today there is no white bread of any sort available, and the standard bread is heavy, soggy and sour-tasting. Full milk is available only to expectant and nursing mothers and small children. Even skimmed milk is severely rationed, and in winter is sometimes unobtainable altogether. The cheese ration is much smaller than in Great Britain.

Since the beginning of the war the Germans have had no real coffee, tea or cocoa and practically no chocolate. They have to drink ersatz coffee made of roasted barley or rye and various type of herbal tea or peppermint tea. An indication of how badly the German misses real coffee and tea is seen in the fact that the black market price of coffee now stands around £4 a pound and of tea around £6 10s.

Drink of all kinds has become even scarcer than in this country. The once-famous German beer is now so watered down that it has practically no alcoholic content. Spirits have almost disappeared from sale altogether. Even Hock and Moselle wines have become scarce and fantastically expensive. As far back as a year ago good Berlin restaurants were charging £10 a bottle for 1937 vintage.

THE tobacco situation is much worse than in this country. The shortage of al kinds of consumer's goods has become so severe during the past 18 months that shop-counters are almost bare. There is a clothes-rationing card in Germany as in Great Britain, but the ration is frequently only theoretical, as it is practically imposible to buy clothes. Women, for instance, are entitled to six pairs of stockings a year, but often spend months searching the shops before they can find a pair. Mending-wool, which also comes on the clothing card, is another thing that it almost unobtainable. The clothes that can be bought are of bad ersatz material that wears out quickly, particularly if it has to be laundered with wartime soap substitute.

Shortly after I arrived in London I went on a shopping expedition with a suburban housewife to discover the chief differences in shopping conditions between London and Berlin. I found that queues there are generally much longer than in London. There is surprisingly little grumbling and bad temper compared with Berlin. British housewives sometimes complain about backtalk and bad manners on the part of shop assistants. In Germany this had become so much of an open scandal that Dr. Goebbels recently had to organize his "politeness competition" in an attempt to put a stop to the rudeness of shop assistants, waiters and petty officials—probably to some extent a result of overwork and frayed nerves.

Among the articles I noticed one can buy here which have disappeared almost altogether in Germany are shoe-laces, darning wool, leather soles, shaving cream and string.

Owing to shortage of labor, as well as to save petrol, about 75 per cent of the omnibuses in Berlin have been taken off the streets. Taxis also have almost disappeared, and only persons on urgent official business or sick people on the way to hospital are allowed to take one at all. Infringements of these restrictions are severely punishable. The result is that the streets of Berlin are almost denuded of traffic today. There is no such thing as a traffic jam any more.

When I left Germany in the middle of May I had the impression of a country that was becoming increasingly gloomy, depressed and pessimistic. It is too early to say that the Germans are already defeatist. But next winter will be grimmer than the last, and the seeds of defeatism already are there.

"Gee! I wish I was a girl!"

Don Defences Gone Says Berlin

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press War Analyst

THERE is little reason to doubt the substantial accuracy of the Germans' claims that they have crossed the lower Don into the Caucasus along virtually its whole length.

Matching the reported capture of Bataisk, twenty miles south of the river from fallen Rostov, the Nazi High Command now asserts it has forced the Don on a wide front eastward to an equal or greater depth. German units are said to have reached the Sal and the Manych, southern tributaries of the Don, at several undesignated points. The implication is that the whole lower Don defense front has crumbled and another desperate Red Army retreat to escape disaster is in progress on a front perhaps 300 miles wide.

Moscow advices made no effort to mask the extreme gravity of developments even before its official bulletins had caught up with German intimations that the battle of the lower Don was turning into a Russian rout.

BROAD RUSSIAN RETREAT

London appeared uninformed as to the depth or width of the Nazi penetrations south of the Don. At least two German crossings and probably four were acknowledged by British observers, but the Red armies were said to be still intact and maintaining contact with each other on the whole front. This implied a broad Russian retreat.

There is no word to furnish an accurate approximation of where the battle line runs south of the Don, nor to indicate upon what new positions the Russians hope to stand to prevent complete isolation of the Caucasus. A Nazi break-through eastward between the Don and the Sal to the Volga may be only a matter of hours or days. This would cut the Caucasian isthmus off, from the Azov Sea to the Caspian.

London spokesmen estimated the strength of German forces smashing southward from the Don at above 600,000 men. They also indicated that the expected sea-borne flanking thrust below Rostov to the Don River mouth town of Azov had developed to force Russian evacuation of the whole south bank of the Don west of the Donets inflow.

The Sal River flows into the Don from the southeast below the Donets confluence. It is a stream of considerable flow and winds crookedly from its sources west of the Volga delta to form a possible new defensive position in that sector. Linked up with the Russian front east of the Don bend, this defense line could still protect the only rail route into the Caucasus remaining in Russian hands, the Stalingrad connection.

"MOUNTAINS OF DEAD"

The Manych more or less parallels the Sal another twenty miles or so southwestward. It also offers some defense possibilities ot cover the main central route through the Caucasus to the Maikop, Grozny and Baku oilfields, which are Hitler's prime objective.

The Sal and Manych lines do not provide, however, any strong general east-west line to prevent isolation of the Caucasus and its defenders. They could help hold up a German advance on oil regions down the centre of the isthmus and it may be that eventually against which Marshal Timoshenko is seeking to prepare.

To offset the gloom induced by the Nazi advances, Moscow can tell of "mountains" of German dead along the Don River, and an aggressive Red Army stand on the upper Don in the Don-Voronezh triangle.

However, there is still no intimation of a major Russian offensive in the Voronezh area, which could materially relieve pressure in the south. It would take a smashing Russian attack now to achieve that, as it would take a far greater Anglo-American "second front" blow than yet seems possible to halt the Nazi lunge toward the vital oil wells of the Gaucasus.

Letters To The Editor

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Dr. T. T. Shields of Toronto, who has just returned from a speaking-tour to the Pacific Coast, in the interests of Canadian Protestantism, has been contending, among other things, that his Roman Catholic opponents do not attempt to meet his arguments, but rather choose to pour abuse on him because he dares to criticize their ecclesiastical system. This contention finds ample justification in M. J. Quinn's recent letter which appeared on the editorial page of The Examiner.

Mr. Quinn tells us that he attended one of Dr. Shields' addresses in Jarvis Street Baptist Church, Toronto. Did he, at the close of the service approach the Doctor and seek to correct him? Did he seek in any way to meet his arguments? Or did he feel that an abusive letter to a city daily would be less embarrassing?

It is perfectly true that Dr. Shields does not represent the entire Protestant population in his vigorous campaign. But he does voice the feelings of a great many. In his recent speaking-tour there was scarcely a city in the West where the building (often the largest) was not taxed to utmost capacity, and often great throngs were turned away. Moreover, hundreds in almost every city joined the Protestant League. He has preached for over thirty years in the same Toronto pulpit, and is far from being a diminutive publicty-seeker.

May I respectfully suggest that Mr. Quinn attempt to answer the Doctor's assertions. Mere ridicule proves nothing.

C. ERNEST TATHAM.

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—We have just heard from our friends in bombed-out Exeter. They came through the first severe German raids and even escaped when the cathedral was partly destroyed, but since then nuisance raiders have flattened one thousand homes, killed four hundred people and injured hundreds more.

Our friends escaped with their lives but lost everything of material value. They were sent away to another place of safety for some time and then returned to an empty house which had been allotted to them. There, the postman found them and delivered a parcel of food which had been sent by my sister in Canada.

One can imagine their emotions as they stood around in the empty house, after trying to locate a few sticks of their own furniture from the wreckage of their old home....hungry, and discouraged, and then the postman, the good old never-fail English postman with a parcel of food from Canada!

One of them wrote a letter in appreciation as soon as possible and said...."This letter is being written on the copper, as we have no tables or chairs yet." A 'copper' is a built-in iron boiler under which a fire is made, usually on wash days, and often the copper is used as a receptacle for boiling the Christmas puddings. It is nearly always in the scullery or perhaps what we in Canada call our summer kitchen, though in England the floor of the scullery is nearly always made of stone or cement.

However, the hearts of our friends must surely have praised God in Christian unity for deliverance from the raids, and for His merciful gift of precious food from Canada when it was so sorely needed.

Gallup Poll Foolishness

THE Gallup Poll people solemnly report that their researchers show 48 per cent of the people of the United States in favor of an attack on Europe by the United Nations now, 34 per cent would wait until we are stronger, 18 per cent undecided.

"The lads in the barber shops," Franklin may say to Winston, "think we should attack—48 per cent of them. The corner-store generals, the fireside strategists, the cracker-barrel tacticians, say the time has arrived to open that second front. I suppose that settles it!"

But of course wars cannot be managed by a town meeting or a Gallup Poll. An invasion of Europe is a task in organization and equipment beyond the imagination of most laymen. It involves many and complex factors, and none of them is familiar to the chap who says, when the Gallup Poller questions him: "Sure, we should go over there right now and lick those guys; look what they're doing to Russia!"

We can't run wars that way—either by public meeting or plebiscite. The when and where of a second front must be decided by the few men who have available all the details the others of us lack about shipping, about available troops and so on, and a Gallup Poll can't help them at all. In fact it is a handicap and a snare, because it tends to confuse the opinion of those whose reading is confined to headlines.—Ottawa Journal.

Dieting Helps

Britain's general health is better now than it was before the war, according to a London report. A Bible Message For Today

Give ear, O ye heavens, and I will speak; and hear, O earth, the words of my mouth....Because I will publish the name of the Lord: ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he.—Deut. xxxii, 1, 3, 4.

Remember the former things of old: for I am God, and there is none else; I am God, and there is none like me, declaring the end from the beginning, and from ancient times the things that are not yet done, saying, My counsel shall stand, and I will do all my pleasure.—Isa. xlvi, 9, 10.

The lip of truth shall be established for ever: but a lying tongue is but for a moment.—Prov. xii, 19.

Say among the heathen that the Lord reigneth: the world also shall be established that it shall not be moved: he shall judge the people righteously....

Let the field be joyful, and all that is therein: then shall all the trees of the wood rejoice before the Lord: for he cometh, for he cometh to judge the earth: he shall judge the world with righteousness, and the people with his truth.—Ps. xcvi, 10, 12, 13.

I have not written unto you because ye know not the truth, but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the truth.—I John ii, 21.

Unconsidered Trifles

Captain George Fried, of the Bureau of Navigation, was talking about luxurious new liners. "A young man," he said, "crossed on the newest of these. His friends, when he disembarked, asked him how he had enjoyed the trip.

"'It was wonderful,' he said. 'Why if I hadn't been seasick all the way I wouldn't have known I was on the ocean.'"

The morning after the raid the wrecked street was crowded with sightseers.

They gazed, exclaimed, pointed, and made many remarks, getting in everybody's way.

At last one woman pushed her way right into the demolition squad.

"Can you tell me if anyone has been killed here?" she asked with morbid interest.

"Not yet, madam," said the long-suffering foreman meaningly.

A New Bid For Tourists

An advertisement in the New York Times inserted presumably by Quebec City, the Quebec Government or the Canadian Government, or jointly, lists the lures of Quebec as follows:

friendly old Quebec near-by Montmorency pilgrim shrine
Laurentide park
all prices in Canada are government controlled.

How times have changed! Here we are boasting about government control of all prices, advertising abroad as a tourist lure what in other days we would have cursed as governmental interference in the legitimate rights of private enterprise.

Yet to Americans who are finding their cost of living mounting every day there is doubtless something beckoning in the fact that here is a land where meals and clothes and ships and sealing wax are priced according to cost and not demand.

It is still further indication, if any is needed, of the determination with which our economic war is beng fought.—Ottawa Journal.

Lakefield Bride Feted

LAKEFIELD, July 29.—(ENS).—Several delightful gatherings have been held in honor of Miss Mary McKerchar, whose marriage takes place on Saturday next.

Mrs. W. W. Leonard held a cup and saucer shower for her on Friday evening. The gathering was very informal. The cups and saucers were p[illegible]d on a dinner wagon, very prettily decorated with pink and blue paper, and Miss Cora Charlton assisted Miss McKerchar in unwrapping the gifts.

Miss Cora Charlton was hostess to a number of Miss McKerchar's friends on Thursday evening when she was presented with a shower of pyrex-ware.

Mrs. Mildred Hubbell, of Peterborough, entertained in her honor on Monday evening. Little Helen Hubbell, who was very sweet in a yellow frock and carried a decorated umbrella presented Miss McKerchar with a pyrex coffee percolator, a gift from her friends.

Milady Reduced To Six Shades Of Nail Polish

OTTAWA, July 29.—(CP).—Feminine glamor and a tightening war economy squared off for the inevitable showdown today.

Risking the fury of a woman scorned, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board decreed heartlessly that:

Nail polish shades will be reduced from as many as 23 to six.

Ladies will have to get along on four instead of 16 lipstick shades, including refills.

Rouges and face powders will come in only four shades.

Perfumes, colognes, toilet waters, talcum powders and bath dusting powders will be limited to four odors—brands if you think that's more genteel—per manufacturer.

Hand and face lotions, hair dressings, oils and tonics will be restricted to three types.

And that's not all. The new order also prohibits manufacturers from distributing miniature or sample sizes or placing new cosmetics on the market without permission.

There's one consolation for Flapper Fanny and Dowager Dora—no effort will be made to standardize varieties. For instance, the board says, 10 producers of face powders could sell a total of 40 different shades between them if each were restricted to four.

Julia Boucher Is Bride Of Patrick O'Brien

Sacred Heart Church was the scene on Saturday of the wedding of Olive Julia, daughter of Mrs. E. Boucher and the late Mr. Boucher, to Joseph Patrick O'Brien, son of Mrs. D. O'Brien and the late Mr. O'Brien of Calcar Ireland. Rev. Father Grant performed the ceremony, with Vernon Grady and Oscar Chenier, nephew of the bride, serving Mass. Mr. J. Armstrong presided at the organ.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. O. Boucher, the bride wore a full-skirted gown of white sheer, with lace inset yolk, Peter Pan collar, and shirred waistline. Her full length veil was caught with a halo of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of Bettertime roses and bouvardia. Miss Rose Campanaro, bridesmaid, wore a gown of blue sheer with bishop sleeves, a shirred yolk and a tiny matching feather cap. She carried a bouquet of Rapture roses and baby's breath. Miss Doris Chenier, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid in a gown of peach sheer with tiny puffed sleeves and a full skirt, and a matching shoulder length veil held in place with a heart-shaped hat trimmed with rosebuds. She carried Johanna Hill roses and cornflowers. Mr. J. Heffernan and Mr. H. Boucher, brother of the bride, were best men. The bride's nieces Misses Helen Hayward, Cecile and Theresa Chenier sang during the ceremony. The ushers were Mr. L. Johnston and Mr. A. Chenier, brothers-in-law of the bride.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, who received in a gown of British blue sheer with white accessories and a corsage of Briarcliffe roses. About 35 guests were entertained, including Rev. J. J. O'Brien and Rev. Dr. Grant.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a pearl rosary, to the junior bridesmaid a gold necklace, and to his best men bill-folds.

Later Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien left on a short wedding trip to Toronto, the bride travelling in a frock of prairie rose silk jersey with white accessories and a corsage of Bettertime roses. On their return they will live at 224 Lake Street.

Norwood Girl Is Wed In Toronto

CAMPBELLFORD, July 29. —(ENS).—A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized in Toronto recently when Verna Edna Lillian, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. McGee, of Norwood, was united in marriage to Adam Stanley, eldest son of Mr. John Hebor and the late Mrs. Hebor, of Toronto. Rev. Father Smith officiated.

The bride was daintily gowned in a shell pink sheer frock with inset lace bodice and Peter Pan collar. The very full skirt fell in graceful folds from a shirred waistline. Pink silk flowers adorned the shoulder veil and her bouquet was a fan formation of Madame Butterfly roses, baby's breath and fern.

Miss Dorothy Finnie, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing a turquoise blue sheer gown with trimming of interlaced fuschia velvet ribbon adorning the waistline, neck and sleeves. She wore turquoise blue silk flowers in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet of Bettertime roses, white sweet peas and baby's breath. Little Anne Stillman, of Campbellford, was flower girl. She was a picture in a pink organdy dress with blue trimming and blue bonnet tied with a large pink organdie bow. Her bouquet was tiny red roses. Art Courtney assisted the groom.

Following the ceremony a buffet luncheon was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Finnie and aunt of the bride. Miss Lottie Metcalfe, of Chicago, assisted in serving at the luncheon. The couple later left by motor for Muskoka. The bride travelled in a two-piece ensemble of beige and rust. Upon their return they will reside in Toronto. Guests at the wedding included those from Norwood, Campbellford, Toronto and Chicago.

Friends Honor Former Hazel Crawford

LAKEFIELD, July 29—(ENS).—The Paris Hall, Lakefield, was the scene of a happy social gathering on Monday evening, when members of St. John's Anglican Church, and friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crawford assembled in honor of their daughter, Mrs. William Croft (nee Hazel Crawford), a recent bride.

The first part of the evening was spent playing games. The Rev. S. A. R. Wood then spoke a few words, regretting that he had not had the privilege of knowing the guest of honor very well, as she had not resided in the village since his arrival here. While she was in the village, Hazel had been an ardent church worker. As secretary of the Guild, leader of the 'Teen-age Girls Group, and a teacher in the Sunday school, and had at all times shown herself ready to be of some service to others.

As a token of the esteem of the community, Mrs. Woods presented her with a beautiful blue Kenwood blanket, a lovely chenille bedspread in natural shade with rose and blue flowers, a set of towels and a bath rug.

Mr. Woods said he regretted that Mrs. Croft's husband was not present to support her at this time, but he was engaged in important work, with the armed forces overseas.

Mrs. Croft expressed her appreciation for the lovely gifts, and said how happy it made her to see all her friends once more.

Lunch was served by Mrs. John Twist, Mrs. Ernie Waldron, Miss Hapton and Misses Dorothy and Gwendolyn Crawford.

PUT CHILDREN TO WORK DURING THEIR VACATION

In Grandparents' Day Every Child Was Given Household Chores.

The war had made us conscious of what a vast amount of energy we were wasting in not using our womanpower. This has been harnessed to jobs, and now hundreds of thousands of women who used to spend their spare time embroideing doilies, or playing bridge, or dawdling around department stores, pricing the finery they didn't have the money to buy, are working in munition plants, or making precision tools, or helping construct airplanes, or doing any other kind of labor that is needed.

Gone is the old idea that woman's place in the world was just to be a parlor ornament. Gone also is the theory that while a woman can work 18 hours a day in her home without turning a hair, she can't stand a 6-hour shift in a factory, and that, anyway, there is some peculiarity about a woman's mind that makes a blue print an insoluble mystery to her, yet enables her to work out a perforated paper pattern at sight.

We have found out that, barring feats of physical strength, there isn't much that the average man can do that his wife and sisters and his aunts can't do just as well. Also, maybe civilization would have been a lot "forwarder," as old-fashioned folks used to say, if women had taken an active hand in building it up instead of sitting on the sidelines and criticizing the way men did it.

There is still another source of energy that we are wasting, and that is childpower, and it is to that I wish to call attention in the vacation season. From the doors of every school house in the land has come a veritable flood of youth and vitality and restlessness and curiosity with a driving necessity to be up and doing something, that has inundated every home having youngsters in it and left it practically a wreck.

Dread Holiday Season

Mothers dread the holiday season as they would a combined invasion by the Japs and the Nazis, for well they know that the cry of "Mother! what will I do next?" "Mother! can't I go to Johnny's?" "Mother! give me a dime for an ice cream cone" will ring perpetually in their ears, and that they will be worn to a frazzle trying to keep their bored children interested and amused.

Our grandparents had a word for this. It was WORK. In those simple days, before the law decided it knew better how to rear children than their parents do, every child had some household chores that it had to perform and that occupied part of its time, and furnished it an outlet for some of its superfluous energy.

Mothers taught their little daughters how to cook and sew and wash and iron and take care of the baby. Fathers showed their boys how to mend the fence and paint the barn and mow the lawn and cut the grass, and lend a hand at the thousand and one odd jobs that keep a home neat and tidy.

This got a lot of work done, and it not only kept the parents from being physical wrecks by the end of the Summer, but it kept the youngsters happy and contented. For children enjoy doing constructive work that shows results, and they have pride when they are made to feel that they are important and useful members of the family unit.

When Mother boasts that Sally cooked the dinner and Father braggs that Johnny washes the car better than they do at the garage, the kids get a keener thrill out of it than they do out of watching some make-believe hero pull off a stunt in the movies. They have had their time filled in for them pleasantly and profitably. They have been taught habits of industry and responsibility. And they have acquired a skill that will be useful to them as long as they live.

So I urge all the poor, harassed mothers who are working themselves to death, cooking and cleaning, and making sandwiches, and getting up picnics, and trying to think of ifferent ways to amuse their children during vacation, to call a halt on their own activities and turn the job over to the youngsters. Let them go under their own power. Let them use up some of their own superfluous energy in sweeping and dusting and preparing meals. They will enjoy it, and Mother won't be a candidate for a sanatorium at the end of the Summer.

No washing job is complete without...

SUNLIGHT'S "EXTRA-SOAPINESS" for the extra dirty parts

CLOTHES get badly soiled in the same difficult places week after week. Pillow cases are dirtiest where sleepy heads have rested ... shirts at the collar bands and cuffs. Almost everything in the wash has extra soiled parts which require an additional soaping to get them really clean.

Any soap—bar, powder or flakes—will remove the general dirtiness. But much of the grime clings tightly, and only the Sunlight method of washing will remove it. Sunlight has a wonderful "extra-soapiness" which enables you to get right at the extra dirty spots at once. Just apply lightly—scarcely more than a mere touch—and you leave a film of soap right in contact with the dirt. And because it is Sunlight Soap this film is sufficient to loosen the last tiny speck of stubborn grime.

In the rich Sunlight lather every particle of dirt is carried away, yet its action is gentle—safe for the finest materials. It is all good pure soap—and that purity means perfect safety for everything in the weekly wash. It's gentle to your hands, too

WESTCLOX GIRLS SMOTHER BRINTONS FOR SIXTH STRAIGHT WIN

Onslaught Made On Hurler Of Carpetmakers

The fast-moving Westclox team won its fourth game in ten days and its sixth successive win at the Bowl Tuesday night when the Big Bens smothered Brintons 23 to 6 in a Girls' League game in which the winners hammered out 23 hits and took full advantage of shaky Brinton fielding.

The carpet-makers never had a chance, Westclox's attack swung into action for three runs in the first inning, and drove home three more in the second. By the end of the fifth the winners were in front 7 to 0 and they added four in the sixth before Brintons were finally able to score.

Marg. Watson held the losers to eight hits and did not issue a base on balls. Up to the eighth when Brintons staged a four-run rally, the carpet team had been held to three safe blows, two of them from the bat of Marg. Batley.

The Westclox bats were swinging lustily all through the piece with Aggie Anderson, lead-off player for the winners, setting the pace with five hits, including a homer and a triple and scoring five runs. Marg Watson helped her own cause along by coming through with five singles and V. Patterosn, Marg. Hawthorne and Isobel Bullock each had three hits. It was one of the heaviest batting shows of the season so far as the Westclox were concerned. Leila Hughes pitched the whole game for the losers.

In spite of a lot of fielding misplays there was some nice defensive work too, Eunice Armstrong and Isobel Bullock had standout catches of foul flies and V. Patterson and Nelle Smith, the rival second base players, both had several nice grabs.

Westclox started off with three in the frist. Aggie Anderson reached third when her fly to centre field was dropped and she scored on V. Patterson's single over second. The latter was forced by Eunice Armstrong and Marg Hawthorne flied out but Isobel Bullock doubled through short to score Eunice Armstrong and went all the way round herself when the ball rolled through the left-fielder.

The winners came back with three more in the second on singles by M. Watson and A. Patterson and two errors and added another in the fourth when Aggie Anderson homered to centre field.

In the sixth singles by Aggie Anderson, E. Armstrong, M. Hawthorne and Marg Watson with a couple of misplays ran the Westclox total to eleven.

Brintons got their first runs in their half. M. Batley singled over second and stole second to score when E. Basciano tripled to right. The latter crossed the plate while Marg. Hawthorne was throwing out M. Miller.

Back came the Westclox with an eight-run rally in the seventh when they pounded out six hits, including a triple by Marg. Hawthorne and cashed in on three Brinton errors to send eight markers over the counting station.

Brintons retaliated to some extent with four in the eighth. A. Weir singled to start with, stole second and scored on M. Batley's single. D. Walker homered to right centre to send two more runs in. E. Basciano popped to second but M. Miller singled and after N. Smith had gone out D. Smith was safe on a fielder's choice. I. Stewart doubled to right to score M. Miller but D. Smith was out stealing third.

Westclox slammed out four hits including triples by Barbara Rome and Aggie Anderson to score four more unnecessary runs in the ninth.

The teams:

Westclox: A. Anderson, cf; V. Patterson, 2b; E. Armstrong, 1b; M. Hawthorne, 3b; I. Bullock, c; V. McLean, ss; M. Watson, p; A. Patterson, lf; D. Walker, lf; B. Rome, rf.

1941 Champions Defeat Rascals In First Game

PORT HOPE, July 29.—(ENS).—At Kings Field, Sid Wakely's Royal Grill, 1941 champions, defeated the Rascals 14-4 in the first game of the semi-finals in the town baseball league playoffs Tuesday evening.

This is a three out of five series, the winner of which will meet the Beavers to compete for the championship and the Rotary shield.

The Royal Grill scored in every inning but the 3rd and clinched the game with a six run rally in the 4th. The Rascals only garnered 3 hits off Pointer, two being by Reg. Bailey of the bumping Baileys of hockey fame, Jim Phillips and Len Wakely each poled a home run for the victors, while Bill Foote tripled in the 4th. Friar and Pointer each had a double.

This victory by the Grill makes them favorites to take the series, but the fans know the Rascals will come back fighting next Thursday evening.

Pro Ball Loops Struggling On

DURHAM, N.C., July 29 — (AP) —W. G. Bramham president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues said yesterday the [illegible] to operate despite "red lights."

In a two-sentence comment on the ruling of the office of Price Administration that baseball team busses are entitled to B ration — allowing mileage of 475 a month — Bramham said:

"Baseball has had one green light, which was President Roosevelt's letter to carry on. Since then, it has encountered mostly red lights, but we're still doing our best to operate."

There was no elaboration upon the possible effect of the ruling upon minor league baseball.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press.

John Rizzo, Dodgers, and Max Lanier, Cardinals—Former hit home run in eighth inning to win first game of double header, and latter pitched six-hit ball to take nightcap.

Joe DiMaggio, Yankees—Hit home run, triple and two singles, batting in three runs, to lead assault on White Sox.

Nanny Fernandes, Braves. — His squeeze bunt with bases loaded and score tied in ninth inning beat Pirates.

Johnny Vander Meer and Ray Starr, Reds.—Vander Meer pitched two-hit ball and Starr kept five safeties scattered to sweep double-header from Phils.

Willard Marshall and Hal Schumacher, Giants.—Former drove in five runs with homer, triple and single in first game against Cubs and latter pitched three-hit shutout in second session.

Ulysses Lupien, Red Sox—Doubled with bases loaded to score three runs for victory over Indians.

Leafs Defeat Giants 3-1; Bears Win Two

By The Associated Press.

"Danger, men blasting." That's the sign Newark Bears should display when they take the field against International League rivals.

Beginning with Lead-offer Bill Johnson and all the way down the line to Eight-placer Aaron Robinson, the Bears have an extended Murderers' Row. And if Pitchers Tommy Byrne or George Washburn are hurling, there's one more hitter opposing mounsdman have to fear.

On most clubs, Robinson would be batting anywhere from third to fifth instead of eighth. He has hit 17 homers.

The Bears hammered Rochester Red Wing, 6-1 and 8-4, to advance their lead to 6½ games over the second-place Jersey City Giants last night. Randall Gumpert set down the Wings with seven hits in the opener as his mates pounded out nine against the offerings of Clem Dreisewerd and Jean Roy, including a four-master by George Stirnweiss.

Single runs in the last four innings decided the nightcap for the Bears, as Milkman Jim Turner hurled his first victory since coming down from Cincinnati. Robinson broke the tie with a circuit clout in the sixth and insured the victory with another in the eighth.

Adrian Zabala made his International League debut with Jersey City Giants, but he had the misfortune to draw Jack Hallett as his opponent, with the result that he dropped a 3-1 decision to Toronto Maple Leafs. Both twirlers gave up five hits but Hallett also struck out 13 of the Little Giants. The triumph placed the Leafs half a game behin dthe second-place Giants.

Baltimore Orioles defeated Buffalo Bisons in both ends of a double header, 4-2, and 6-2. Pete Center turned in a two-hitter in the first game, while Clyde scattered nine hits in the second. Ed Robinson and George Staller walloped round-trippers for the Orioles and Jack Redmond slammed one for the Bisons in the initial encounter.

Although giving up 12 hits, Charles (Red) Barrett gained his 13th victory as Syracuse Chiefs defeated Montreal Royals, 8-3. The Chiefs cracked 13 hits off the offerings of three Royal tossers, including a homer by Albert (Dutch) Meyer.

Saratoga Crowd 3,241, New Low

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y., July 29—(AP). — Saratoga Springs set two New York records yesterday —in reverse—as the thoroughbreds cavorted for the second day of the 1942 meeting on the stately old track.

Only 3,241 spectators, the lowest number since the advent of the mutuel machines in New York State, braved the weather to watch the mudders go, and the fans bet only $177,408.

The previous lows were an attendance of 4,165 at the same plant on Puly 30 of last year and the handle of $183,714 at the second day of the 1940 meeting.

Until the opening of the Saratoga Springs session on Monday, the New York tracks had been averaging slightly more than $1,000,000 a day in bets.

Feature attraction for those who weren't kept at home by the weather and gas and tire shortages was a 5½ furlong dash for juveniles that drew so many entries it was run in two sections.

Famous Victory, from the farms of John Hay Whitney, triumphed by four lengths over Mrs. W. M. Jefford's favored Halbend in the first heat, touring the distance in 1:06 4-5 and paying $6.40.

Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson's Sunday Puzzle conquered Armistice Day by a length and a hal in the second, requiring 1:07 3-5 for the race.

Eddie Arcaro up on Sunday Puzzle, made it a double with the youngster and waited until the final race to register again with Volitant for a triple.

Roseneath Boys Defeat Hastings

HASTINGS, July 29 — (ENS). — With a makeshift nine Hastings softballers gave Roseneath a run for their money on the local diamond Wednesday night, finally emerging on the short end of a 14 to 13 score. The local were severely handicapped due to the fact many of the regular players are at camp with the reserve.

The visitors picked up six of their runs in a big splurge during the seventh frame.

Sherwin initiated that frame by grounding out, but Stu Thackeray, Roseneath catcher, banged Joe Jones' first pitch for a single, to be followed by N. Sherwin's smashing double. Mouncey then singled, driving in two runs, and the hit parade was on.

Joe Jones was the locals most potent slugger, getting to O'Connell's offerings for three safeties, also garnering a walk good for three runs. Art Covert, Roseneath second sacker, was the only player to nab a home run.

Score by innings:

		R.	H.	E.
Roseneath	104 210 60—	14	20	5
Hastings	41031121—	13	17	5

The line-ups were:

Roseneath.—M. Smith, A. Covert, B. Hastead, C. O'Connell, K. Sherwin, S. Thackeray, N. Sherwin, H. Mouncey, J. Thackeray.

Hastings.—M. Brown, J. Wilson, J. Herrington, Russ Jones, Vernon Fleming, L. Killingbeck, R. Oliver, G. Bonds.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Biggest crowd of the season in the City Softball League is expected tonight when Soldiers and Plazas clash at Riverside in a league game that may decide first place in the loop. The two clubs have a lot of followers and the fans figure this battle, with so much hinging on it will be a preview of the league playoffs and should prove one of the most exciting tussles of the entire campaign. On top of that is the fact that the game has been set apart as a Navy benefit and that all the proceeds will be turned over to help the lads in blue and that there will be a Kenwood blanket for the fan who is lucky enough to win the draw prize. Unless the Soldiers have a surprise up their sleeve the pitching duties for tonight's game, so far as they are concerned will fall on the broad shoulders of Irish Kilfoyle while Plazas are almost certain to send Tom Parsons to the hilltop for this all important battle. Both clubs will field their strongest available lineups. A win for Plazas will land them safely in first place while a loss would result in a tie for the top berth if Royals should triumph over Luckies in the last scheduled game of the campaign, billed for Friday night.

* * * * * *

The Westclox girls are rolling right along and last night they turned on their greatest display of power of the season to lambast Brintons 23 to 6. The one-sided score was a surprise in view of the fact that last week the Big Bens only managed to nose out a 10 to 9 win over the same team. However the club from the big factory on Armour Hill came through with 23 hits and scored runs in bunches all through the engagement and the result was never in doubt after the opening inning. It was the sixth straight win for Westclockers, four in a row since the Watch-makers got back from their holidays and they are so close behind the league-leading Generals that the latter are probably aware of the fact by this time that what looked over the first half of the schedule, as a one-team league has developed into a veritable dog fight and that there will be some lively battles in the near future. In addition to getting efective pitching from Marg Miller, assisted by the league's best catcher, Tommy Bullock, the Westclox girls are fielding well and hitting the ball hard with Marg Hawthorne and Aggie Anderson setting the pace, and the rest of the crew playing nice ball.

* * * * * *

Incidentally the Generals who have only had one game in the past two weeks and lost that one are going to see some action. They are billed to meet Brintons on Thursday night and go right back into another battle Friday night when they clash with the up-and-coming Westclockers in a game that may settle the argument for top spot. Brintons played one of their bad games Tuesday night but they are liable to snap back with a good one in the tilt with Generals Thursday night. The Carpet-weavers would like nothing better than to take a fall out of the leaders and if trying will do the trick Generals had better watch their step. Just who will pitch for the C.G.E. outfit after this long layoff is a guess, with Norma Strickland the most probable starter. Leila Hughes will get the Brinton pitching assignment and after the bad game the Basciano outfit got out of their systems last night the law of average suggests that they are likely to be a different-looking outfit in Thursday's clash.

They're Still Playing

Stars of the Locomotives team, leading the Kingston City League are none other than Mickey Compeau at shortstop and Jimmy Arneil behind the bat. Bill Walshe does not exactly say so but we have an idea that they must trundle Compeau out there in a wheel chair to cover the short field position and that Arniel's throws to second look like as if he were trying to knock a wing off a passing bomber. Both of those boys have been playing ball for a long, long time and it is difficult to look at their names in a 1942 batting order and try to put any faith in the old slogan that youth must be served. They deserve credit, however, for refusing to say uncle to the passing years and for the manner in which they and other Kingston old-timers have kept baseball alive in the Limestone City. Evidently as far as Compeau, Arniel, Jake Quinn, Bob Elliott and company are concerned the old guard dies but it never surrenders.

The O.A.S.A. has tossed Belleville and district softballers all into the intermediate A pot, despite attempts to get other ratings for some of the clubs. Ken Colling tells about it in his sport column thusly: "The delegation representing the Belleville and District Softball Association at Saturday's sub-committee meeting of the O.A.S.A. in Toronto did not fare so well, when it came to multiple affiliations. President H. C. Knott and Harry Rollins sought to have the Mountain View Bombers and No. 5 I.T.S. Flyers entered in intermediate "C", while Archie Major's Reliance A.C. was hoping to get an Intermediate "B" rating in the "industrial group," as well as their Intermediate "A" rating. Just for protection of course. The parent body said "no dice," boys. So now we find Prexy Knott's local group a full-fledged Intermediate "A" grouping, with the exception of Red Townsend's Esquire Juniors, who were of course granted the right to participate in the junior O.A.S.A. provincial play-downs. The sub-committee's ruling will alter the Belleville and District Softball play-downs slightly, now regardless as to which teams win in the league semi-finals, the final series presumably will be the three-in-five nature with ultimate winner taking both the Bank of Commerce trophy, emblematic of the City Championship and also the right to represent Belleville in the provincial softball playdowns."

St. Louis Cards had a chance yesterday to whittle a couple of games off the lead of the Brooklyn Dodgers when they invaded the lair of of the Bums for a double-header. However the best the visitors could do was break even and as a result the Dodgers are still seven games in front today. Brooklyn took the opening game 7 to 6 on the strength of a homer by Johnny Rizzo and the Cards came back to massacre the Durocherites 9 to 1 in the second end of the twin bill. Lanier held the losers to six hits and the Cards won without any trouble. The loss was marked down against Kirby Higbe....Johnny VanderMeer pitched a home run toss to Stan Benjamin on the first ball he threw and that was the only run scored off the Cincinnati ace who allowed the Phillies only two hits and won his tenth victory 8 to 1. Ray Starr grabbed off his 13th in the second game as the Reds won 3 to 1. New York Giants took two from Chicago 9 to 5 and 3 to 0 with the veteran Carl Hubbell pitching the first game.

In the American the Boston Red Sox, always ready to fight for second place, took another fall out of the Cleveland Indians and are now two full games in front of the Tribe. It was a victory for Joe Dobson over Jim Bagby and the blow that spelled a win for the Red Sox was first baseman Lupien's double with the bases full, driving in all three Boston runs. Cleveland were able to score only one off Dobson. The win did not mean anything so far as gaining on the Yanks was concerned, for the New Yorkers had an easy time winning from the Chicago White Sox 8 to 3, with Bonham pitching. Joe Gordon, Joe DiMaggio and Charlie Keller came through with a lot of lusty clouting to make it a soft win.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: In spite of the fact that 29 runs were scored the Ladies' Softball League game between Westclox and Brintons last night set one record....Neither Marg Watson for Westclox nor Leila Hughes for Brintons issued a base on balls and that is surely one for the book....Toronto Maple Leafs are only half a game out of second place. They defeated Jersey City 3 to 1 last night and Jack Hallett struck out thirteen batters....Big league baseball has already raised $140,000 for the armed services....Tony Manero, 1936 American open golf champion has entered the Canadian open. Just another tough egg for Bobby Gray and other Canadian experts to handle....Joe DiMaggio had four hits yesterday ....Earlier in the season that would have been a week's work for the Yankee Clipper....Toronto's deal to secure catcher Baker from the Pittsburg Pirates is off. The backstop has a broken hand....Brinton girls' team may play a game with the Juveniles of the City League, with the batteries reversed, in aid of the bat and ball fund launched by the Ontario softball authorities.

HEY, ADOLF, REMEMBER HIM?

Zamperini, Ex-U.S.C. Track Star, Ready For Another Berlin Trip

LOU ZAMPERINI—Ready for "take-off."

By Central Press Canadian

MIDLAND, Tex., July 29.—In 1936, a young American track star eluded two burly Nazi guards in Berlin, yanked down a swastika from in front of Hitler's palace—and got away with it.

Today, that same young man, Lou Zamperini, ex-University of Southern California mile king, is in training as a bombadier cadet at the Midland, Tex., army flying school, preparing for the day he may again go back to Berlin—and do something similar, only on a larger scale.

With the help of Pt. Tanner Laine of the Midland public relations staff, we tell you Zamperini's story. (Carry on, Private Laine):

Zamperini, member of the Olympic track team in 1936, almost paid dearly for that flag incident.

Sightseeing in the Nazi capital, Zamp's eye was caught by the swastika. That, he thought, would be a swell souvenir. While two palace guards goose-stepped up and down the walk, the U.S.C runner climbed up a wall 15 feet high, grabbed the flag and tumbled to the ground with it.

A volley of shots pumped at the American by irate guards missed him only by a "hair's breadth."

The guards grabbed Zamp. He was hauled before General Werner vo Fritsch. The German general, however, ordered the youngth's release.

Now, with Private Laine still pinch-hitting, we give you a little about Zamperini, the track star.

Cracked Marks.

He first came into prominence while a junior at a Torrance, Calif., high school. It was there he ran the mile in 4.21, a world's record for high school runners.

Later, while at U.S.C., Zamperini set a Pacific Coast conference mark of 4.10. Still later, he cracked the IC-4A mile mark, which had stood for 35 years. He ran the mile in 4.08 in winning the intercollegiate crown in 1938.

Zamperini got his chance in the 1936 Olympics while still in high school He won a place on the team by beating Don Lash and other great runners in New York. He has victories over most of the world's great milers, including Glenn Cunningham and Chuck Fenske.

Zamperini keeps in training at Midland. He plans to continue his running after the war ends.

The U.S.C. athlete did his primary army training in California. He then went to Ellington Field, near Houston, Tex., before being sent to Midland. He will graduate as a second lieutenant in the air forces.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

It looks as if C. Giroux's rink is sitting pretty in Group No. 2. While there are three more games to play yet we figure this rink is the odds on favorite to win Group No. 2.

The only rink that was close to them was F. Dearborn's, but they slipped a bit last night, and are now two games behind the leaders.

While we did not wait for the result of the Carlisle-Kerr game, we noticed that Mr. Kerr's boys helped themselves to a nice big seven-end. Whether that will be enough to pull the game out of the fire we don't know.

The fight that was put up by A. Black and J. Arnott, two novices, against the two veterans Nels Routley and Ross Downey, was something that was admired by all the boys who lined the sides and occupied the benches. It was in the first round of the Provincial playoffs and it was worth while going a long way to see. Only a little piece of luck separated the losers from the winers. It finally finished up 9-7 for the old-timers, but boys, it was close.

In the other half it was also a good game most of the way, but H. Coleman and Bill Jeffries pulled away on the last few ends from C. Wiliamson and E. L. Sackville. We did not see the final game, but they tell us a big six-end halfway through settled the issue for Coleman and Jeffries.

Our club will be represented in Port Hope to-morrow night as follows:

Singles—C. Renaud.

Doubles— H. Coleman and W. Jeffries.

Rinks — T. Doughty Dr. H. Long, Judge S. Smoke, and George Gimblett, skip.

There is no change of the standing in the ladies' sections. All leading rinks won again yesterday.

We learn Chairman R. F. Downey made an appeal to the boys for their entry for the big open tournament next Monday. While we have no information regarding who's who, we believe several rinks are needed to make up the required 32.

It will be a mixed tournament on Friday evening.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, July 29.—(AP). — If you need to think football was a rough, tough game and boxing entirely too dangerous for school, and college boys, wait until the coaches come back from those short-term courses that start next week at the Navy's preflight schools ....They'll have just two weeks to catch the navy's idea of playing for keeps with no time out for minor cuts and abrasions, but a lot of pampered athletes probably will think the coach has been clear through a war when he starts to put that lesson into effect.

Babe in te Woods.

Jolly Cholly Grimm likes to tell this one about his old team-mate, Babe Herman, who also has advanced to the comparatively dignified post of minor league manager: Seems that Herman was lamenting one day that his son was having difficulties in school....'Why don't you get the kid an encyclopedia, Babe?' suggested Chuck Klein. 'Maybe it will help him in his studies'....'An encyclopedia,' growled Herman. 'Nothing doing. Let him walk to school the way I used to.'

Jackie Conn, Billy's kid brother, tells his fellow soldiers at New Cumberland (Pa.) Reception Centre: 'I'd like to become a sergeant to get to boss my brother'.

Lighter Movies Is Boles' Idea

TORONTO, July 29.—John Boles, stage and screen star, said in Toronto yesterday that moving pictures will be much shorter from now on. "The picture we have just completed," said Mr. Boles in an interview, "is probably the last of the longer pictures, both in the making and in the showing. It took twelve weeks to make, while pictures now being made are taking only three weeks."

It is five or six years since he was in Canada last, Mr. Boles said, and at that time he resolved to pay another visit to the country at the first opportunity. "And it's a beautiful country," he added. "There is one thing about this war — we're learning to appreciate the things around us."

From Toronto, Mr. Boles will travel by boat to Montreal and Quebec, and will visit the Murray Bay district and the Saguenay River. Returning to Montreal, he will visit friends in Connecticut and Washington, and will travel home by way of his birthplace, Greenville, Texas, to visit his parents.

"What should be the function of movies in wartime?" he was asked.

"They should be full of fun," he replied. "They should take the theatre-goer's mind off his troubles. After all, there is enough tragedy in the world without having it everywhere. I believe that something light, something musical, is of great value in maintaining efficiency and morale."

Mr. Boles is a tall Texan, and looks bronzed and fit. "We have a Canadian in my home town," he said. "The minister of our church there—I'm a Presbyterian—is from Winnipeg. Canadians are well liked in the States. Your country and your people are both great."

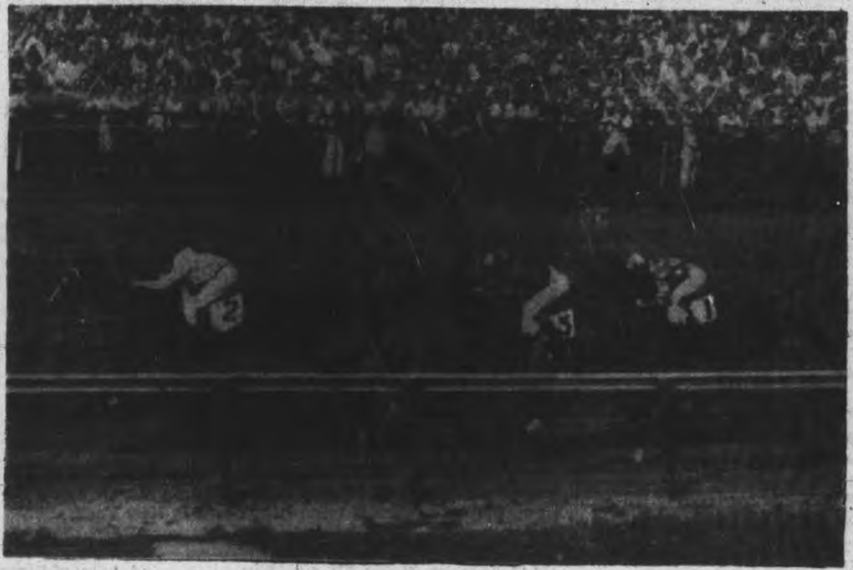
Apache Takes Yonkers Handicap



Apache, with Jockey Stout giving him a rousing ride all the way, slashed over the one mile and a sixteenth distance at Empire City race track in the record time of 1.43 1-5th to win the $10,000 added Yonkers' handicap. Here the horses are approaching the finish line with Apache (No. 2) leading the pack. In second position is Boysy, ridden by Don Meade (No. 3), while third position went to No. 1, Barrancosa, with Nick Wall in the saddle. A sad fourth was Tola Rose, who in his last outing defeated the great Whirlaway.

$140,000 Raised On $82 Expenses For Army Sports

NEW YORK, July 29.—(AP). — From the Kitty to the Kits might be the title of this little tale of what happens to the money taken into the Baseball Equipment Fund for the armed services, and how it happens.

To date about $140,000 has come under the control of Ford Frick and Clark Griffith, in charge of the fund, and more than 100,000 pieces of equipment have been sent out to United States soldier and sailor athletes.

The procedure is this:

Frick, in charge of the details, works through the army area headquarters and naval district commanders. These agencies send in their requests for equipment, which Frick orders shipped direct from the factories for distribution among the units in question.

The equipment is forwarded in kits. Kit "A" consists of a dozen baseballs and three bats. Kit "B" includes complete catching equipment. In addition to this, more than 3,000 copies of the Sporting News, the ball players' bible, are sent to service outfits weekly.

Expenses have been reduced to next to nothing. In comparison with the First Great War, when, of the $148,969 collected, expenses came to about $54,000, so far only $82 has been spent to carry on the work.

Frick explains that conditions were much different in the last war, when the money was raised by direct contributions, necessitating an office, staff and other expensive details always present when money is raised through what might be called strong-arm methods.

Turns Nothing Down

In the present emergency direct contributions are not sought, although Frick wouldn't discard any voluntary contribution as tainted. The money in the kitty has come from the following sources: Direct contribution by each major league, $1,000 from the baseball writers; $25,000 from the minors, and $100,000 from the All-Star game.

The fund is growing gradually, and unexpectedly. Frick opened a letter yesterday and found a cheque from the Hollywood Club for $1,544, representing a share in proceeds of the Major All-Star-Pacific Coast League All-Star game there last March.

The foul-ball bank also is contributing materially. These balls are the ones hit into the stands which the spectators toss back on the field.

The National League headquarters is the foul-ball clearing house for that circuit, with the clubs sending their contributions there for distribution. They are sent out in dozen lots with a note telling the recipient which club is the Santa Claus.

More than 200 dozen such balls have been shipped to service units in the United States and overseas. The number of balls contributed by each club varies according to the parks. The Giants, for instance, are the largest contributors because of the Polo Grounds, with the short right field, has balls popping into the stands all afternoon. The Giants have sent in forty-eight dozen, or an average of more than a dozen a game.

All in all, the Baseball Service Charities are big business operated on shoestring expense, and there seems to be some justification in Frick's boast that "when it's all over, you won't find any criticism of baseball's war effort."

Sport Snapshots Across Canada

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

TORONTO, July 29 — (CP). — The football Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Ottawa Rough Riders manhandled in the Canadian final last year is on its way to an infinitely bigger show—the battle against the Axis.

Here's the story: One of the most arresting spectacles at the final was a heaving, belowing mass of khaki in a downfield bleachers—a Western reconnaissance unit rfom Camp Borden. When the game ended (Bombers 18-16) the soldiers snatched the ball tore up the goalposts, and expressed intense delight in other ingenious fashions.

They gave the goalposts to the Winnipeg club, which had them hewn into miniatures as souvenirs, but kept the ball. The unit, under Major Homer Robinson of Winnipeg is stationed at Debert. If and when it makes the big jaunt the pigskin will go along.

Incidentally:

Frank Martin, manager of Cards in the Halifax Senior Baseball League, based a protest on a unique contention—that a base-runner ran across his shortstop line of vision and caused the shortstop to throw wildly to home plate....what's the runner supposed to do, chat with the second baseman until the action blows over?

Lester Patrick says he's still waiting for the Federal Government to clear the hockey situation....Said he: "We will do just what they say, of course, but until they tell us the score we can only go ahead slowly"....Lester is at his home in Victoria, B.C., will travel East soon....Plans for a patriotic fund boxing benefit in Montreal are going ahead slowly, but steadily....One of the reasons for lack of speed is the promoters are laying solid foundations to prevent anyone but the beneficiary making any money out of the program....It's a good idea, because benefits arranged with more enthusiasm than good sense frequently backfire a bankroll into an alien hip-pocket....Jack (Cornwall Standard-Freeholder) Park has a novel opinion on the reason for lacrosse's decline as a drawing-card....He thinks transportation speedup has made games too common for fans to get really het up....In the old days, even the best clubs had only about six home games each summer....ounds logical, John, and it may be one reason for football's great popularity.

Senators Muff 7 But Lace Browns

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sport Writer

Baseball is generally considered a "form" sport, but sometimes its form assumes the strangest shapes.

Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals came to grips yesterday in what was expected to be a desperate doubleheader with the National League champions striving to hold their seven-game lead and the Redbirds making what might be their last challenge.

The set-up was tense enough that 33,212 paying customers turned out on a Tuesday to pack Ebbets Field. So what happened? A split bill, settling nothing in particular.

Brooklyn won the first game 7-6, each team made three errors and all of the Dodgers' runs were unearned except a homer by Johnny Rizzo in the eighth inning to decide the outcome. Curt Davis received credit for the victory, his 10th, and Howie Polet was charged with the loss.

In the nightcap the Cards scored seven runs in the sevent hinning, and won 9-1, getting 16 hits to Brookyn's six.

There were other funny doings, too.

Senators Win 9-4.

Washingaon Senators made seven errors but stopped St. Louis Browns 9-4. The Brownies, who had won 15 of their previous 18 games, were held to six hits by Alex Carrasquel, but had 14 men left on base. Five of Washington's runs, enough to win, came in the second inning which started with Jim Vernon striking out and then reaching first when Catcher Rick Ferrell dropped the third strike. Pitcher John Niggeling was so upset he walked the next three men in succession and gave a single to George Case before he could be relived.

Boston Red Sox inflateld their second-place margin to two full games by beating Cleveland Indians again 3-1 with all their runs coming on Ulysses Lupien's double with the bases loaded in the second inning.

At Chicago Lefty Ed Smith absorbed his 17th shellacking as New York Yankees overpowered the White Sox 8-3, with Joe DiMaggio, Charley Keller and Joe Gordon all hitting home runs. DiMaggio also hit a triple and two singles, good for three runs.

At New York the Giants swept a double-header from Chicago Cubs 9-5 and 3-0. The first seven Giants to come to bat in the first inning of the first game made hits, one of them a homer by Marshall with two on, to give Carl Hubbell a six-run start.

In the second game Hal Schumacher pitched three-hit shutout ball to beat the four-hit hurling of Jonny Schmitz and Tot Pressnell.

Cincinnati Reds took both ends of a double-header from the Phils 8-1 and 3-1. Johnny Vander Meer allowed only two hits in the opener. Ray Starr hurled a five-hitter in the second game to get his 13th victory.

At Boston Johnny Sain, making his first start for the Braves, hurled three-hit shutout ball for eight innings and then let Pittsburg Pirates tie the score a three all in the ninth. The Braves won 4-3 when Nanny Fernandez bunted with the bases loaded to squeeze across the deciding run.

See Wakefield 2nd Williams

DALLAS, July 29.—(AP).— Steve O'Neeill figured Dick Wakefield, Beaumont's $51,000 outfielder, of Major League calibre the first time he saw him swing — and a stiff breeze convinced him conclusively.

It brought the prediction from the former Big League catcher that Wakefield would make Major League fans think of Ted Williams every time he took his cut.

Down at Beaumont, near the Gulf Coast, explained the skipper of the Detroit Farm Club, there is a breeze that rolls in every day in such a way as to make it tough on a lefthand hitter.

'You can smack a line drive and the ball often loses its force before reaching the outfield,' said O'Neill. 'Wakefield is hitting Texas League pitching for .350 against such a handicap. It furnishes a test as strong as any big league park would and I believe he could hit just as much in the Majors.'

Tht former University of Michigan star, looks like Williams in more ways than one. Fans remark on the physical resemblance to the Boston Red Sox outfielder. He's tall, rather slender and fast. And, remarks O'Neill: 'If the boy has a batting weakness, I haven't found it.

'Dick has a more even swing than Wiliams. I wont say he'll ever be as great a player as Ted, but I certainly say he shows all indications.'

Steve has been paying special attention to development of Waefield's fielding and says Dick is coming along fine.

'He hasnt been outstanding as a fielder because he's still growing and hasnt quite gotten out of the awkward stage,' O'Neill explained.

Deny Connection In Krug, Herity Death

DETROIT, Mich., July 29—(CP). —Detroit police and the Detroit office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to-day denied possible connection between the death of Samuel Herity, whose body was found floating in the Detroit River near Windsor, Ont. last Thursday, and the arrest of Oberleufenant Peter Krug of the German air force.

Krug escaped several weeks ago from a prison camp at Bowmanville, Ont., and made his way to Detroit by way of Windsor. He was recaptured in Texas.

"Krug did stay one night in the same hotel where Herity lived," an F.B.I. official at Detroit said. "But it was a mere coincidence. We do not know Herity and we're making no investigation into his death."

Herity, 48 was buried yesterday at his native village of Moira, 15 miles north of Belleville, Ont.

Among those who are now holidaying at their cottages are: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barns of Toronto at Little Cedar Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones and Ms. Jones, Sr. of Toronto at Northey's Bay; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Flood, of Wheeling, W. Virginia at Stoney Lake; Mrs. Baker and family, of Toronto at Stoney Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark and family, also Mr. and Mrs. Halford are guests at Mount Julian.

Mr. and Mrs. Creemer, Mr. and Mrs. Denim all of Toronto, are spending their vacation at Rameses, Stoney Lake.

Cost Duce His Chef

New York, July 29

WHEN Premier Benito Mussolini went to North Africa recently to stage a triumphal march into Alexandria, one plane of his aerial entourage was shot down by the Royal Air Force and his personal chef and hairdresser were drowned, the London radio reported last night.

Mussolini took with him to Tripoli the former Italian Minister to Cairo, Serafino Mazzolini, intending to set him up as "protector" of Egypt, the radio report said.

Back in Rome, feverish preparations were being made for the day of victory. But Mussolini and Mazzolini were in for a disappointment. They returned to Rome empty-handed.

CEILING UNLIMITED!

ESSENTIAL part of any walk, to young Jimmie, is a flying leap over a hydrant, fence post, or other suitable object. Like all youngsters, he burns up an awesome amount of energy in a day. Must have a sustaining breakfast to help him keep going. Wise mother knows Kellogg's Corn Flakes, with milk and sugar, gives him needed food energy. Order several packages of Kellogg's today!

British Airmen Say This New Plane Is Pretty Good

Here is a head-on view of the P-51 Mustang fighter plane which has won the lavish praise of the British Royal Air Force for speed, manouvrability and endurance. An all-metal, low-wing monoplane, the Mustang has a liquid-cooled engine, a wingspread of about 37 feet and a length of 32 feet. The ship was put into operational service in Britain recently and assigned to the army co-operation command.

sault planes alone had destroyed 36 German tanks and 106 trucks bearing infantryment and munitions.

Terrific Toll at Voronezh.

Tremendous losses of personnel and heavy weapons by the Germans in the Battle of Voronezh were detailed officially. The Bureal decierade that one Red Army infantry formation had wiped out 10,800 Germans, destroyed 158 tanks 28 planes and 88 trucks, and captured 24 field guns and other trophies in 10 days of the Battle of Voronezh.

Red Army men drove into the suburbs of two Nazi-occupied cities on the Bryansk front south-west of Moscow and entrenched, it was announced, after engagements in which the Germans lost 100 tanks destroyed and 12 captured.

Forty-eight hours of the see-saw fighting on the Kalinin front, north west of Moscow was reported to have cost the invaders about 2,000 casualties.

The Nazi movement upon Kushchevka was reported by the Moscow radio, without detail.

The advance paralleled the Rostov-Baku trunk railway and oil pipeline. A Soviet radio statement said the region "is as flat as billiard table and is ideal for tank operations."

Germans troops also have made another crossing of the lower Don at Tsimlyansk. A crisis within that area, midway between fallen Rostov and menaced Stalingrad, was implied in the report: "Our men are attempting to repel enemy attacks."

The Soviet Information Bureau said Red Army tanks knocked out eight Nazi tanks, 18 field guns and 10 trucks and killed 200 Germans before survivors of the crossing dug in on the south bank.

Lethal engagement at Bataisk, 15 miles below Rostov, apparently preceded the Nazi movement upon Kushchevka. The Information Bureau did not fully detail the battle for Bataisk (which the Germans claimed Monday), but said:—

"Four enemy attacks were repelled and the enemy suffered heavy losses. Soviet artillery destroyed 17 tanks and annihilated one infantry battalion."

Another 8 Ships Sunk

The Russians attacked anew on the Voronezh and Bryansk fronts to counter the month-old offensive and announced that eight more Axis ships—including three transports totaling 19,000 tons—had been sunk in the Gulf of Finland.

"In one sector of the Bryansk front (anchored 210 miles south-west of Moscow) engagements are being fought with large numbers of tanks," the Information Bureau said. "More than 100 enemy tanks were destroyed in two days of fighting."

Soviet troops gained groud in two phases of the battle of Voronezh, 300 miles south of Moscow, and bloodily repelled German attacks in the Don River area to the west, it was announced.

British oil experts, aware that Russia might be cut off from the prolific South Caucasian fields, estimated she had more than 100,000,000 barrels of petroleum in storage or in production far east of the Volga which would fuel the Soviet war machine for some months.

Berlin dispatches said smoke-throwers, handled by special troops, were used effectively in the occupation of Rostov. A dispatch to the Basel newspaper Nachrichten related that grass would not grow again on ground touched by the smoke.

Rostov itself, once an industrial and transport centre of 500,000 population, was described by a Nazi reporter as a heap of ruins in which hungry Russian civilians were scavenging for food.. German columns were reported streaming across the Don on pontoon, bridges floated out to replace a Russian span destroyed by Stuka dive-bombers.

Before the British announcement of the raid, the Germans [illegible] they had shot down 26 planes ove[illegible]mburg.

Another Warning

The new assault was made only a few hours after Air Marshal Sir Arthur Harris, chief of the Bomber Command, had broadcast to Germany the warning of heavy blows to come from the British and Americans.

"All that has happened so far will seem very little," Harris said. "You have no chance. Soon we shall be coming every night and every day, rain, blow or snow—we and the Americans."

To the German people, he said:—

"It is up to you to end the war and the bombing. You can overthrow the Nazis and make peace.

"Remember this: No matter how far your armies march, they can never get to England .... Whatever their victories, you will still have to settle the air war with us and America.

"You can never win that.

"But we are doing so already...."

Hamburg's enormous shipbuilding yards and submarine plants have been the target for British bombers 91 times since the start of the war. More submarines are built there than in any other centre in Germany.

The city has many other industries and is important because of its immense warehouses, many of which have been levelled in previous attacks.

British authorities reported a single German aircraft bombed a point on the coast of East Anglia by daylight this morning, causing a small number of casualties and some damage.

This followed attacks during darkness last night by a small number of raiders over eastern England. Their bombs "did some damage and at one point a small number of casualties was caused," a communique said.

dence in Vancouver concerning failure of certain mechanical transport to reach there in time to sail with the Canadian expedition.

Speaker Glen ruled against use of any evidence except that contained in the commission report but ruled that the justice minister had a right to reply to Dr. Bruce's remarks.

The Commons turned to discussion of estimates for the Postmaster-General's Department last night after the Hong Kong debate concluded. To-day various government bills are to be discussed.

Praaise For Ralston.

Winding up the Duff report debate, Navy Minister MacDonald said that, compared wtih Defence Minister Ralston, Mr. MacDonald and the other defense minister, Air Minister Power, had 'easy times.' Col. Ralston brought experience, zeal, energy, patriotism and devotion to his department.

Discussing criticism of Sir Lyman Duff, Mr. MacDonald said: 'The statement that the commissioner drew wrong inferences from the evidence, the statement that he made findings unsupported by fact, the statement that he quoted only such portions of evidence as would support his findings—all of these things are just as evil and just as much to be condemned in a Judge as in a Commissioner,' said Mr. MacDonald.

There was no brighter name among the judiciary than that of Sir Lyman, and it was not to be thought he would falsify or deliberately misinterpret evidence and draw unwarranted conclusions.

Mr. MacDonald defended the decision of the cabinet war committee to send the troops to Hong Kong. Information from both the United States and the United Kingdom did not indicate that war with Japan was an immediae probability as arrangements were made for the expedition to sail, although Canada had recognized last summer that there was a chance of war with Japan.

He questioned if there would have been any support for a suggestion the troops be withdrawn the moment it was heard there was to be a war.

"If we had done that, all the commotion that we are going through to-day would be as nothing compared with what would have happened,' he said.

Urges Hepburn For Defence.

J. Francois Poulito (Lib. Temiscouta) suggested that three defence ministers were unnecessary and recommended Premier Hepburn of Ontario as head of the combined defence departments.

Mr. Poulot later voted for Mr. Green's amendment, joining with Conservative, C.C.F. and New Democracy members, and J. S. Roy (Ind. Gospe).

Mr. St. Laurent told the House the Vancouver News-Herald report of Col. Drew's letter said the letter charged the inquiry commissioner with less than six major mistakes and asserted that the Jutsice Minister had "prostituted the Royal Canadian Monuted Police in the search conoucted in Vancouver for evidence the letter called favorable to the Government."

Admits Police Used.

The police had been used to obtain evidence from Vancouver stevedores in respect to the possible loading of vehicles on the troopship which carried the expedition to Hong Kong, on authority of his Deputy Minister (F. P. Varcoe).

The request for this evidence had been received by Mr. Varcoe from R. L. Kellock of Toronto, counsel to the Duff Commission. Mr. St. Laurent said that if he had been informed at the time he would have felt it proper to take the action and he took full responsibility for it.

Other speakers in the debate yesterday were Ros Macdonald (Lib. Brantford City), Lt.-Col. J. A. Ross (Con. Souris), Mr. Roy, G. R. Boucher (Con. Carleton) T. L. Church (Con. Toronto Broadview), G. G. McGeer (Lib. Vancouver Hurrard), and Gordon Graydon (Con. Peel).

When the House resumed study of postal estimates, Postmaster-General Mulock said there was little hope of a reduction in postal rates in wartime or of free general postage for Canadian men in the forces overseas.

Col. Mulock assured Norman Lockhart (Con. Lincoln) that he would have inquiry made into Mr. Lockhart's report of a store in Niagara Falls, Ont., where vending machines provided stamps with a value of eight cents for 10 cents. The stamps were prepared in special roll and Mr. Lockhart wished to know if some private organization was making a profit from their sale.

Mr. Church said the post office should be operated purely as a public utility and he protested the letting of contracts to collectors to gather the mail in Toronto. The Department should own its own equipment.

Last year he received more than 100 letters complaining about hours and labor in the Toronto Post Office. The Post Office should give its labor better treatment.

Mr. Church said there should be a change in the law which sent a man to prison for three years "for a trivial offence" of taking small sums from the mail.

Col. Mulock said the number of deliveries in residential districts had been cut down as a means of saving manpower. Women could not do this work as it was too heavy.

Young of St. James' Church, Peterborough. Mr. Armitage gave a very inspiring message. He also sang a lovely solo preceding his sermon. Special music was provided by a male sextette from St. James' Church, Peterborough. Next Sunday the service will be under the auspices of the young people's group of Murray Street Baptist Church.

Flying Tigers Transfer To Transports

CALCUTTA, July 29—(AP)—They could paint a flying tiger on the big, green cargo planes of China's national airline and not be far wrong

For of all of the "Flying Tiger" pilots who finished their fighting contracts with the Amerian Volunteer Group which served the Chinese Army, the China National Aviation Corporation has now signed approximately 60 per cent to operate transports over one of the most mountainous and storm-ridden routes in the world, linking isolated China with Allied supplies in India.

Some of the pilots have joined the United States Army Air Force in China which took over from the A.V.G. July 4

The China corporations' veteran captain pilot, Charles Sharp, released the names of 29 American volunteer fliers who have joined the airline's staff. Fifteen will start work almost immediately, while the remainder will return to China after a few months home leave in the United States.

The airline also employed Dr. Lefis Richards, the volunteer group's famed "bombproof" surgeon, and four of the group's mechanics.

Bruce Bolton pleaded not guilty in police court this morning to charges of stealing four hens and four empty bags in Douro Township on July 28 and asked for an adjournment. The accused, who was arrested by Provincial Constable Price Morris, was remanded until next Wednesday on bail of $200.

WANTS TO TALK

An energetic gentleman held forth on his religious and political ideas at the corner of George and Simcoe streets about 10 o'clock Tuesday night, before a few onlookers loitering on the corner and a few people in parked cars. His actions were reminiscent of the Hyde Park soap box orators seen so frequently in London before the war.

LOST SOME MONEY

One Examiner newsboy returned home from a holiday at camp just bubbling over with happiness, to be met by a sad-faced pal with the news that he had lost $5 of war savings stamps somewhere on his route between Charlotte and Dalhousie streets. It is a very large sum for these boys to have to make up and anyone finding these stamps is asked to get in touch with the Examiner Office.

1942 Pea Pack Is Doubled

Some of the farmers in Frontenac county are still working on the hay crop, and so heavy has it been that "they are tired of the job." This is one of the comments in the weekly report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Hastings says most of the fall wheat and rye has been cut, and stook threshing of grain is under way. That is a comman note running through all the county summaries. The Prince Edward pea pack was about double that of last year, and tomatoes and corn are making excellent growth.

"There will be practically no alfalfa or red clover seed in the Glengarry district as farmers have to pasture any second crop for the reason that the pasture situation has become serious.

Pasturage generally, however, continues favorable. Lennox-Addington farmers have sold or contracted for their lambs at $8 to $12 each. Good yields are reported from the threshing of fall wheat. Brant farmers are welcoming any kind of help, and quite a number of urban people have gone out to assist country friends. Several new combines have more work ahead of them than they can handle. Elgin also says the labor situation is acute.

Some of the new wheat in Haldimand has already been marketed at from 94 cents to $1. The first Lambton wheat sold for 86c.

Farmerettes are doing a good job in Lincoln orchards. The main crop of peaches will not be ripe for another week or ten days depending on the weather.

Norfolk wheat is averaging 50 bushels to the acre. The Welland cherry crop found a ready market. Wentworth reports 90 per cent. of oats flattened in some districts, and wheat cut a week ago was showing signs of sproutin.

From the Rainy River district comes this "cheerio":—"Crops never looked better ,and if there is suitable weather a bumper harvest is in prospect." Stock and implements at a Temiskaming sale brought $4,000; lambs and sheep averaged $9.75, and cows of the beef type sold from $60 to $95. Machinery all brought high prices.

Canada's Reds 'Not Russian'

LINDSAY, July 29. — While paying tribute to the manner in which Russia has withstood the German invasion, Professor Watson Kirkconell of McMaster University, Hamilton, poet, author and scholar, reminded members of the Lindsay Rotary Club here that the Communist Party in Canada was not Russian.

"There is an agitation now for equality and recognition of certain parties and groups, but regardless of what we do, let us do it with our eyes open," he said. "Before the war the Communists discouraged recruiting, but now they are for an all-out war effort for Soviet Russia and democracy.

"There are large billboards displaying the words 'release interned patriots,' but many of these 'patriots' were using their influence against the Government of Canada," he continued. "Communism has spread its propaganda literature in Canada during the present war."

Professor Kirkconnell said there was a danger in following the agitation of the people demanding a second war front. "Germany can send one million men into the Western Front and still maintain her army on the Eastern Front," he stated. "It would take over two million Allied soldiers to combat that army on the Western Front and that would mean a tremendous problem in transportation."

Train Wrecked Stalled Car

When her automobile stalled on the Sherbrooke street crossing of the C.N.R. and was hit by a freight train Isabelle Sisson, 277 Bethune street, had a narrow escape from serious injury at 9 o'clock this morning.

The motor car was badly damaged in the crash and was carried seventeen feet, but the driver got off without any injury.

Miss Sisson had been driving south on Bethune street and had made a left turn into Sherbrooke street when the machine stalled on the crossing. The C.N.R. yard engine, backing up a six-car train, was moving northward and the rear freight car struck the automobile and pushed it northward seventeen feet before the train came to a halt.

The right side of the car was badly damaged and the door crushed in, while two tires were blown out by the impact. Miss Sisson, who remained in the machine, was not hurt.

The freight train was in charge of Conductor James DeFinney, King street and Engineer Andrew Clegg.

Canal Tied Up

CHESAPEAKE CITY, Md., July 29—(AP). — An oil tanker smashed into the highway drawbridge over the busy Chesapeake and Delaware Canal to-day, plunging the huge structure into the canal.

First reports said no one was on the bridge and that no one was injured.

The tanker, south-bound into Chesapeake Bay, struck the south concrete abutment, and part of the bridge fell upon the bow of the ship, witnesses said.

War Babies Get Place In Movie

Peterborough war babies are going to be given a featured position in the motion pictures to be taken here Friday by the Dominion Film Board for filming overseas. The committee appointed by Mayor Hamilton has completed arrangements and His Worship is requesting that all relatives of the Peterborough men overseas in the Army, Navy and Air Force to take part.

A street scene will be taken at 2 p.m. at a point on George street and relatives are asked to assemble at Confederation Square at that hour, "so they can walk down George street and the picture be taken."

The camera man will next go to the King Edward Park wading pool, Inverlea Beach and Jackson Park where other pictures will be taken of wives and children. These are convenient locations for mothers in different sections of the city who wish to co-operate with the authorities in making this Peterboroubh film for the men who have been absent from home two years and more.

A special appeal is made to mothers of babies born since their fathers went overseas to be at Confederation Square at 2 o'clock (Friday). Other flash shots will be taken of the Canadian General Electric noon hour crowd, the Blood Donor Clinic, city clock and other scenes.

Softball Game Makes $15 For War Victims

Last Saturday, a game of softball between two teams each representing the pick of the personnel on the shop leagues at the Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., and the Genelco Company, Ltd., was played at Riverside Park, from which a silver collection was given to the Peterborough and District War Victims' Fund

At the annual C.G.E. picnic, the Genelco team had taken a fall out of the C.G.E. and ever since then a battle of words, in itself a very indecisive affair, had been going on, and this game was actually to prove something or other, which may or may not ever existed.

Suffice it to say the C.G.E. this time turned the trick, but whether it has settled the argument or no, remains to be seen, for the score now stands at one game each, and there are rumors that a third game will be necessary to determine who is really tops.

Something of a record or other was hung up when C.G.E. All-Stars in their first inning made five runs on seven hits, and belongs to almost the believe it not class.

The teams particularly desire to thank Bob Batley and Roy Johnston for their services in officiating as umpires. The collection amounted to $15.25, and appears in this day's list of receipts for the fund to the good record that the worker Roy Parnell, adding another bit ers from these industrial plants have sistently given to help the fund along ever since it began operations.

Two little girls, Ruth Wood, aged eight, and Hazel Neilson, aged seven, of Westwood, planned last spring to collect papers and sell them to send the proceeds to help the victims of air raids over Britain. In the meantime the war work group of the Westwood branch of the Women's Institute sponsored a salvage drive and the two girls turned what papers they had collected over to them.

They in turn have forwarded the amount to the fund, so that the girls original object will be carried out, and thus, in today's list there appears a donation of $2.12 in their name, which was forwarded by Mrs. H. S. Neilson, the secretary-treasurer of this group.

One personal donation of $5 was received from J. F. Pilley of 39 Ware Street, marking the third such donation to be received from him in a short space of time.

Crash Is Fatal To Young Man

LINDSAY, July 29 — (ENS). — Lloyd McFadyen of Islay, one of the two young men who were occupants of the car which came to grief in an accident on the Bobcaygeon road early on Tuesday morning, died in the Ross Memorial Hospital this morning, as a result of an injury to the brain. The young man never regained consciousness.

David LaFont of Omemee, the driver of the car, escaped with a large number of face and head lacerations, but was able to leave the hospital on Tuesday afternoon.

It is reported that the car when going over the end of a culvert was stripped of the two front wheels. It then skidded on its top for 25 feet, after which it rolled over on its side.

Obituary

MRS. GEORGE S. SLOAN

Life time resident of Peterborough for more than seventy years, Mrs. George S. Sloan died Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock at the family home 516 Chamberlain street. Declining health during her last year had become more accentuated of late, but even in that circumstance death seemed to come suddenly in the last few days.

Mrs. Sloan was born in England seventy-three years ago and came to Canada as a child with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Russell. She had lived here seventy-one years, residing in Chamberlain street for at least forty years. In that community of the city Mrs. Sloan was known among many friends especially for her devotion to her family. She is survived by her husband, one son, Lt.-Col. Maxwell R. Sloan, assistant city assessor, and four daughters, Mrs. W. E. Manley of Tuelon, Man., Mrs. James Cumming, Mrs. Alberta Barber and Miss Blanche Sloan of Peterborough; also by her sister Mrs. C. B. Robertson of Three Hills, Alberta; and her brother James E. Russell of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Sloan celebrated their golden wedding anniversary a year ago.

The funeral will take place Thursday at 3 p.m. from the funeral home of A. Comstock & Sons, 305 Water street, to the Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. Wm. McDonald will conduct the service.

War—25 Years Ago

By The Canadian Press.

JULY 29, 1917.—Artillery battle developed around Lens and in the extreme north of Flanders. German losses since the beginning of the Battle of the Somme reached 165,000 men. Russians resisted fiercely south of the Dniester river but retired in Bukovina.

George A. Perry Holidaying At Oak Orchard

Eldest son of Charles Perry, one of the early mayors of Peterborough and legislative representative of the riding, George A. Perry of Schenectady is visiting his nephew, Perry Alexander, for a few days at Oak Orchard.

Mr. Perry was a mechanical graduate of the old weekly Review. As a boy he became an apprentice to the printing trade, an associate of the late Frank Dobbin. His memories of that period of learning and preparation include years of helping to make up the Review and assist Mr. Dobbin who supervised the running of the press.

From Peterborough Mr. Perry eventually reached New York and worked on several of the metropolitan dailies, especially the World, the famous Pulitzer paper, on which he was employed for thirty-five years. Another experience was his venture into proprietorship in Colorado where Mr. Perry owned a newspaper near Denver. The financial panic of 1893, the demonetization of silver, closed down on that Perry enterprise, and he returned to New York to begin again.

The Perrys were among the most prominent families of the old community of Peterborough. Charles Perry owned the Red Mills at Nassau, remembered by only the oldest residents as a flourishing lumber plant on the Otonabee River four mile up the river when Nassau was a busy settlement of homes of the men who worked in the mill and were otherwise employed on the river. The municipal records of the fifties also mention a Dr. Egerton Perry who evidently took an active interest in the civic affairs of the town at the time of its incorporation.

Charles Perry was not only an industrialist and mayor, but he was also elected to the legislature of Upper Canada, and represented Peterborough in the parliament of Confederation. He was a friend of Sir John A. Macdonald, and Mr. Perry has retained a letter in the Conservative leader's handwriting, relating to the appointment of a collector of customs here.

Mr. Perry is now eighty-five years old, "and beginning to feel the years a bit." One of his sons was born in Shanghai and another in Mexico City; one is professor of languages in St. John's University, Shanghai, an institution sustained by the Episcopal Mission. "That was the last I heard of him," Mr. Perry said today.

The Perry family lived at one time on the north side of Brock street nearly opposite the rink.

28 Men Enlist At Armory

An all-time record for the past two weeks was set up at the Armories Recruiting Office, Wednesday, when twenty-eight men enlisted and were sent down to the Training Centre for their medicals. For the past ten days there have been a fairly good number rolling in for enlistment, but the highest up to this time had been twenty-one.

At the recruiting rally in Fenelon Falls Tuesday night, a number of Peterborough officers, along with Capt. Forman, of the Veterans' Guard, Lindsay district, gave talks from the post office steps and the authorities feel that the recruiting in this district couldn't be more satisfactory. There will be a rally in Lindsay Friday night, and there is some possibility that one may be staged in Peterborough, but it has not been defintely decided yet.

In The Mayor's Car

PHILADELPHIA, July 29—(AP). —Shunk Street citizens may be riding downtown daily now in Mayor Bernard Samuel's official car, chauffeur and everything. The mayor placed a national car-sharing sticker on his sedan and announced "if there is anyone in my neighborhood going my way at the time I do, I welcome him into my car." For the neighbors' benefit, newspapers immediately pointed out his address, telephone number and the time he usually leaves for city hall.

$50 For Matches

TORONTO, July 29.—(CP).—Roy Gubb, who pleaded guilty to a charge of having matches in a munitions plant where gunpowder is manufactured, was fined $50 and costs in court here yesterday.

20 Headless Chickens

ST. THOMAS, Ont., July 29. — (CP).—Police are busily investigating the case of the mysterious 20 chickens whose decapitated bodies were found scattered in a ditch at nearby Rodney.

Through Bombs Torpedoes, Sailor Describes Voyage During Winter To Murmansk

HASTINGS, July 29 — (ENS). — Some idea of the thrills and hardships of life in America's merchant marine were revealed by Chief Officer Robert H. Coach, who left last week to regain his ship after spending a seven weeks' leave with his wife and small son in Hastings.

Since the war began Chief Officer Coach has made trips to Iceland, Russia, England, China, Egypt and Australia—all outposts of the United Nations in the gigantic struggle against the Axis powers.

When asked by the Examiner for an account of the high spots of any one of his voyages, Chief Officer Coach produced a private diary, kept by a fellow sailor of his on a voyage to the port of Murmansk, Russia. The unnamed Toronto sailor who wrote the following was subsequently killed during a later voyage.

"We left New York on—and arrived in Halifax on—. Shore leave was granted. Left Halifax on—for Russia. After 24 hours of cruising time we lost the convoy. Are we behind or ahead? Word has been received that we are 50 miles behind.

"We picked up the convoy about 7 o'clock this morning after turning back toward Halifax during the night. Of the 64 ships in the convoy we are the fastest.

"Had a good chicken dinner today. One thing about these ships, they sure have good eats. Also had lifeboat drill because we are in very dangerous waters. Some of the other ships are trying out their guns.

Submarine Sighted.

"At 11 o'clock we sighted a submarine on the port-bow. The U.S.A. destroyers are keeping a close watch. At 12 noon the sub made his mistake, coming up in the middle of the convoy. That is where they do most of their dirty work, but this one popped up on the stern of a destroyer and was sunk in less than five minutes.

"Today the weather is so bad that the crew can't eat or sleep. The dishes fly off the table so we gave up trying to prepare a hot dinner. One thing to be thankful for, subs can't operate in weather like this.

"Most of the convoy has now gone on to England, leaving us, and three other ships without escort at the mercy of the subs. God help us if any come!

"What luck! The storm is so bad that it has washed away one of the lifeboats. We hope the other three will hold.

"At midnight the storm was so bad that the forward cargo shifted; truck bodies are hanging over the side and several crates containing tank parts have broken loose and washed overboard. This is the fourth day of bad weather and we sleep with our clothes on so as to make a fast exit if necessary.

"The captain is running the ship in towards shore, supposedly Iceland.

"We are now anchored in Reykjavik harbor, Iceland. On the way in we encountered four subs and had to turn on full-speed to elude them. The other three ships with us were not so lucky.

All Three Sunk.

"The wireless operator received an S.O.S. from all three saying they were sinking, so erry got in some of his dirty work. Hard luck for the boys on the other ships, but we could have done nothing to help.

"We have been informed that at least a month will be spent here while the ship is repaired. There is only five hours of daylight and to make matters worse no shore leave at yet.

Gunners from the Royal Navy boarded ship today with more to follow.

Today is Christmas and while sitting down to a turkey dinner with all the trimmings and a little brandy thrown in for good measure, our thoughts are with out people back home. The Dominion is very well represented here. One of the firemen hails from Fort William, an oiler from Winnipeg, two wipers from Montreal, an A.B. from Nova Scotia, and myself and four others from Toronto.

How good our homes would look to us now! We may never see them again, but we are serving our country.

Crews have started to stabilize the cargo and some of the boys went ashore to see the doctor. Bob Cooch is staying in the hospital to get some shrapnell removed from his leg.

New Year's Day

This is New Year's and the people on shore are having fireworks tonight. Oh to be in Canada! We have been told that it is still nearly 3,000 miles to Russia, but nevertheless we are anxious to get under way again. The cigarettes in the ship's chest have run so low that they are being rationed.

As a result of a severe storm in the harbor today several ships dragged their anchors and four of them ran ashore, to remain there high and dry until the war is over.

Iceland is now having a complete blackout. The British and American destroyers are maintaining a sharp lookout, as two of Jerry's subs are said to be lurking in the harbor. Hope they don't pick on us!

One of the firemen went ashore today to see the doctor. He said the only thing he liked about Iceland was the beer.

Under way at last! We are going to a place in Scotland called B . . . to meet the destroyers which are to escort us to Russia. The gunners from the Royal Navy fire the big guns daily.

Arrived at our destination about 11 o'clock Sunday morning. According to residents the Germans have bombed the place frequently.

After a two weeks' stay during which we refuelled, etc., the convoy set out for Russia. Four high-ranking officers from the Royal Navy are on board one of the ships.

One can feel the ice in the wind and the decks and pipe lines are frozen.

Lost the convoy tonight in a heavy fog. The radio operator cannot send a message to ascertain our position because of the possible proximity of enemy U-boats.

Pick Up Convoy

It is now two days later and again we are with the convoy. A fierce storm is raging and the little destroyers are being bounced all over the ocean...Actually we are now the Bering Sea.

The boats are pushing through ice packs and of course it is too cold for subs to operate, but Jerry is still on the job.

He has sent several bombers out but the gunners soon chased them away. No ships hit!

About thre days out from Russia but the weather is so cold we can't go on deck. No more planes but one of Jerry's sea raiders was lying in wait for us at the entrance to the White Sea. One of the British cruisers quickly dispatched a plane which sent an aerial torpedo into the helpless raider sending it to the bottom.

After successfull running the mine fields we have at last dropped anchor, in Murmansk, Russia.

Have been granted shore leave and the Russian soldiers aided by the sturdy women began to unload the ships, everyone of them loaded with vital war equipment.

We have now been here for a fortnight. Air raids are frequent. Yesterday a bomb fell on an English ship killing seven firemen and one engineer. So far we have been lucky. Let's hope it lasts.

Now leaving Russia. Weather very bady and subs reported to be plentiful. Hope we can make it.

Several minutes ago I stood on deck and watched three of our ships sink—two torpedoed, the other struck by bombs.

It is now the seventh day at sea and a veritable swarm of enemy planes, all of them Junkers, have been sighted. Here they are! I must man one of the guns.

Six hours later—my nerves are still jumpy. They made us see what hell is like. Lost four more ships but shot down six enemy planes. What is the use of all this bloodshed? Where is it going to end. Young men full of life a few minutes ago now at the bottom of the sea.

Several days later we ran into some of Jerry's battleships. What a fight That English navy sure knows its business.

When their gunners started to throw lead it seemed as if the heavens had opened up. Our own guns are red hot, but still going strong.

Finally we limped to port and a drydock, badly shot up but I'll soon be home. Boy, will it look good! Never thought we would make it!"

The above vivid and graphic account ,covering a period of approximately four months, imparts to the reader some idea of the hardships endured by those hardy seamen of the United Nations in the terrific battle being waged to supply the gallant Russian allies with the tools to fight the Nazis.

Warrant Is Issued For Campbell's Arrest

Percy Campbell, charged with drunken driving and leaving the scene of an eccident, failed to respond when his name was called in police court this morning, and at the request of Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., a warrant was issued for his arrest.

The charges against Campbell arose out of a collision a week ago Sunday between an automobile allegedly driven by the accused and two parked cars.

When he appeared in police court Monday morning Campbell had pleaded not guilty and a delay was asked for. The charges were finally enlarged until this morning after Campbell had consented to pay the crown witness fees.

This morning the crown witnesses were ready again; so was T. J. Carley, K.C., to act as defence lawyer.

Campbell, however, failed to put in an appearance, and a little later it was announced that the accused had apprently left town.

It was at this stage that Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., issued a warrant for the man's arrest.

Interest Shown In CWAC Work

At the meeting Tuesday evening in Fenelon Falls, quite a few of the girls showed themselves interested in the C.W.A.C. work, and it is hoped that the same interest will be evident in Port Hope this evening, Lieut. Claire Mason, C.W.A.C. recruiting officer, reported. Along with Cpl. E. Beauchamp, clerk, and L.-Cpl. Ruth Richards, driver, Lieut. Mason will be in her office at the Armouries until the end of the week. Anyone interested can phone 6407 and any information will be gladly given. The C.W.A.C. recruiting officers will make personal calls when they feel girls are interested, but dislike applying at a recruiting office.

Every C.W.A.C. officer has had to pass through the ranks as a private and the kind of girls needs are those with ability and brains. "The army is not a social club," Lieut. Mason said.

Many girls are a little afraid of the financial angle, but when it has been explained, Lieut. Mason said that most of them find they can manage very nicely. Anyone who wishes can apply for trades pay. As in the regular army, the officials are glad to have girls who have had some particular training in civilian life, and if they are able to qualify on their examinations, they are soon put to work at something which is quite familiar to them and their rate of pay increases a good deal. Already a number of the C.W.A.C. girls have been successful in getting their trades pay.

To show the advantages of this a private ordinarily gets 95 cents a day, but under the trades pay it jumps to $1.40; a lance-corporal gets $1 ordinarily and this is increased to $1.50; a corporal gets $1.15 on promotion, but can get $1.65 if she makes the grade, and a sergeant who receives $1.50 can make -2.00.

The C.W.A.C. recruits receive a thorough training at MacDonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, and the following is a list of the curriculum that is usually followed: There is plenty of P.T. and drill, training in the defence of gas, first aid for gas, respirator drill, first aid and A.R.P. work, administration of militia, recognition of badges, care of respirators, map reading, clerical and military letters, and like the boys, the girls all pass through the gas chamber.

"When a girl has shown that she has ability," Lieut. Mason said, "promotions are rapid. There are thirty-six groups in Canada and there are promotions in every group, so that it depends on every girl herself just how she makes out."

10-Day Diet Wins

KANSAS CITY, July 29—(AP). — The Heflin twins, Clarance and Lawrence, puffed into the naval aviation cadet selection office, rushed to the scales and weighed in at 171 pounds each—one pound under the limit. They'd tried ten days ago but each weighed 185 pounds. "We haven't had a real meal since, just fruit juice," said Lawrence.

He Was Tending Bar

BOYLESTOWN, Pa., July 29 — A "morals agent," assigned by the State Department of Labor and Industry to guard against indecent shows at a roadhouse, was among six persons arrested when the place was raided. Liquor Board officers said he was tending bar.

Flier Pens Obit In Last Hour Awaiting Raid

HAMILTON, Ont., July 29—(CP). —Before he died PO. Bruce Gordon McIver of Hamilton wrote a letter to his parents to be mailed when he did not come back.

Following is the full text of the letter made public at the same time as a report that he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for heroism:

As I write this—my obituary as it were (rather novel to write your own) I am not at all frightened at the prospect. The chances are about 20 to 1 that you will get your 200 hours in and we all believe that we will be one of the lucky 19, so by thinking that you feel quite at ease. Jim Erly, my room-mate, has done six trips and it is really not as bad as you would imagine. Really, it is easier to go on operations than to sit at home and wait for them to com back.

I might seem to have not been kind to you both by throwing away all the hopes you had built up for me by giving me a university education, and then turning around and joining the Air Force. I know that you had always been so proud of my little efforts and success in school work

Truly I did join thinking that I would be an instructor after finishing my course. All the rest of the fellows did in the course so I did what I thought best, and expected to stay in Canada. After getting to Toronto at overseas pool, I knew then what was to happen and by that time I was reconciled to the fact and hoped that you were, too—although I did not think it best to tell you and so spoil what little time there was left by having that hanging over our heads.

Looking back on it all now, the Atlantic crossing, meeting the King and Queen, seeing England, meeting real men here in the air foce—well, it has been worth it. I haye certainly lived life to the full and to do that one must take risks.'

'As you have been proud of me before, you have all the more reason to be proud of me now; and the fact that you can hold up your head in anyone's company, and no one can say a word against me, your son, I hope that will give you some consolation.'

For my own part, if I had the chanse to do everything again, I wouldn't have done anything different—which is something to say and to feel right in your mind about.

I must be off now to do "briefing" —to find out where we are going tonight, and get ready. I hope that you will never receive this letter, as it is only to be posted in case I don't get back.

FOR OUR MEN OF THE ARMY, NAVY AND AIR FORCE OVERSEAS

Will Be Taken On Friday Of This Week.

Representatives of the Dominion Film Board will be in Peterborough tomorrow to complete arrangements for the filming of the moving picture in which it is hoped all the relatives of the boys will make a special effort to appear in the picture.

The Street Scene will be taken at two o'clock at a point on George Street and the relatives are asked to assemble at Confederation Square promptly at 2 o'clock so that they can walk down George Street and the picture taken.

Immediately after this the photographer will go to the King Edward wading pool, Inverlea and Jackson Park and pictures will be taken of the relatives at these points.

What the photographer is particularly anxious to get is a group photograph of the mothers and babes of men overseas, the babies having been born since the father went overseas. If this group will be at Confederation Park at 2 o'clock Friday it will take a prominent part in the film.

Other interesting shots, such as the Town Clock, a boat going over the liftlock, the Blood Donors Clinic, the gate at the General Electric at noon and others will be taken.

I hope the relatives of the men overseas, in the Army, Navy and Air Force will all turn out so that they will appear in the picture.

JAMES HAMILTON,
Mayor, City of Peterborough.

IN MEMORIAM

KILLINGBECK.—In loving memory of our dead father, Alexander Killingbeck, who departed this life, July 29, 1941.

As we loved him in life
We love him in death.

—His loving Wife, and sons, Herman and Levurn.

LUSH.—In loving memory of Hugh (Dick) Lush, who passed away one year ago, July 29, 1941.

Always so good, unselfish and kind,
None on this earth your equal I'll find.
Honorable and true in all your ways,
Loving and faithful to the end of your days.
Honest and liberal, ever upright,
Just in your judgment always right;
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew,
One in a million, that husband was you.
One year has passed, our hearts still sore,
As time rolls on we miss you more;
A loving father, tender and kind,
What beautiful memories you left behind.

Selwyn News

Pte. Ormond (Pete) Davis was the guest of honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Elliott on Friday evening. The large number of friends and neighbors present was a symbol of the high esteem in which he is held. Jim McConkey read a very appropriate address, and Melville Elliott presented "Pete" with a handsome wrist-watch, pen and pencil set.

Mr. Neil Blewett, R.C.A.F., of Clinton, spent a few days' leave last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Evans Blewett.

Study Efficient Touch Typing at Home

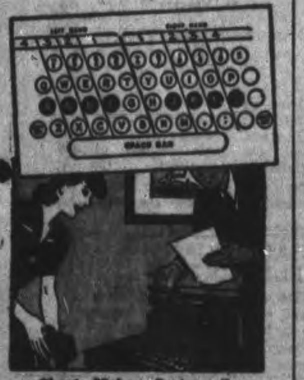

Chart Makes System Easy

The girl who can type well will get along in business.

But typing well isn't just a knack, a trick. It's knowing the fast and accurate touch system—which you can start learning at home with a chart of the typewriter keys!

As you see in our picture, the chart shows the "guide keys" (A, S, D, F and J, K, L, ;) in black, and the other keys in white. Your fingers always return to these guide keys after typing other keys.

Of course you know there are four rows of keys. The chart divides these into areas, one for each finger, indicated by the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4. For instance, Number 4, the left little finger, types A (the guide key), Q above it and Z below it.

Your fingers get used to their positions and areas in a very short time. You don't need to look at the keys any more—you can type with eyes on copy!

Our 32-page booklet, a home course in touch typewriting, includes chart of keys and exercises for speed and accuracy. Explains how to operate typewriter; good usage in typing business, social, official letters and tables of statistics. Can serve as a foundation for a business college course.

For your copy of "Teach Yourself Touch Typewriting" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

THREE SIGNALS TO PICK

IN SOME situations, you have a choice of three different signals. One of these comes when you have opened an ace, or a king from ace-king, against a trump contract and find a singleton of that suit in the dummy. It must be perfectly clear, except on the rarest of occasions, that you are going to shift to some other suit. Your partner then must try to guide you, if there is any doubt about which you should choose. A high card, in following suit, indicates preference for the higher-ranking of the other two side suits, your lowest a preference for the lower-ranking. A card clearly readable as an intermediate calls for a switch to trumps or for the leader to use his own judgment.

After East won the opening trick with his lead of the diamond A, he led the heart 6, in an effort to cut down the dummy's ruffing. The K and the Q therefore settled the defensive trumps, and North set out upon establishing his long spades for discards. The A and a ruff of the 3 brought that about more quickly than he expected, as the K dropped on the second round. The heart 5 to the J put the dummy in to discard all of his own clubs on the five remaining spades, and he had a trump left in dummy to ruff his other diamond, so that he made six-odd, or two extra tricks.

If East had paid attention to his partner's card on the first trick, he would have noticed it was the diamond 2, certainly his partner's lowest. Properly interpreted, this asked for a switch to the lower-ranking clubs. If a club had been led, the side would have taken one more trick than it did. In this case, the J would have been the correct card to request a switch to spades, and the 8, obviously an intermediate, would have asked for a trump lead to the second trick, or left it up to East.

Jittery Eskimos Want Church Bell Silenced

KOTZEBUE, Alaska, July 29 (AP) —Up here near the top of the world the war has revived an almost forgotten are—that of building snow igloos. The Eskimos are putting them up for air-raid shelters.

News from the battlefronts is big news in this village, shrouded in darkness, except for a few hours of dusk, during the winter. Cabins may be almost buried in snow, but most of them are marked by radio aerial poles. Rev. Paul C. O'Connor estimates that more than half the families in his congregation have radios, late models with three wave bands.

After Dec. 7 the Eskimos imagined that the Japs were hiding behind every cabin, Father O'Connor related. They took distorted views of the Northern Lights to be enemy bombers.

Meetings were held and a civilian guard organized. They demanded that the priest silence the church bell and use it only for an air-raid alarm.

The old men of the village were commissioned to draw plans for building snow igloos, a lost art among the younger tribesmen, for bomb shelters.

Test For F.D.R. Powers

WASHINGTON, July 29—(AP)— A possibility that President Roosevelt's wartime powers might be tested by the United States Supreme Court arose today as the tribunal interrupted its summer recess to determine whether any of the alleged Nazi saboteurs on trial before a secret military commisson are entitled to the processes prescribed by the Bill of Rights.

Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone announced through the court clerk that a special term would be held tomorrow so that counsel for "certain of" the prisoners may apply for habeas corpus writs. If the court should decide to entertain the petitions ,and then grant them, the case might be transferred to a federal district court.

CANADA'S GENERALS

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

A leading Montreal business man in peacetime, Maj.-Gen. C. B. Price has had equal success in his military career. He is now in command of a Canadian infantry division—the only divisional commander overseas who was not a permanent force soldier when the war began.

His division has had less overseas experience than the other infantry formations yet it is making an enviable reputation for itself in England.

General Price is a man of great charm and humanity. There is no kindness he will not forego in handling men, yet he can also be stern and powerful in command.

He deals with army problems with cordial good nature; a man who has been a success in most tasks he has undertaken, he has confidence in his decisions.

In the last war he served in the ranks and won the D.C.M. He was commissioned in the field, awarded the D.S.O., and wound up as major, second in command of his battalion. He knows, then, the problems of the ordinary soldier.

After the war he was president of a dairy in Montreal. He is heavily built and looks like a business man in uniform—which he is. He is soft-spoken and a gentleman through and through. General Price is one of the most approachable senior officers overseas. He is 53 and a native of Montreal.

At the start of the war he was appointed brigadier commanding the 3rd Infantry Brigade. He brought it overseas with the 1st Division and returned to Canada to take command of his present division and bring it to England.

In an order of the day when his division landed in England, Gen. Price showed he could turn a neat phrase. The order urged hard training and good discipline so his troops would be "a curse to the enemy, a blessing to our friends and a credit to Canada."

Sqdn.-Ldr. Lyall B. B. Price of the R.C.A.F. overseas is a son of General Price.

United Counties Reduce School Account

CAMPBELLFORD, July 29 (ENS) —Reason for a slight difference in the County Grant to the Board of Education was explained by the secretary, W. Stephens, at the monthly meeting held last night. He pointed out the cheque from the County amounted to $9,365.58, whereas the account rendered was for $9,505.00, a difference of approximately $140.00. The secretary went on to explain that the per pupils cost per day was about 2.1 cents higher than that allowed by the government for the purpose of rating grants and this consequently accounted for the discrepancy.

A letter from the Department of Education explained how the Board should proceed to get deferrment of military training for any member of the teaching staff who might be called up under the N.R.M.A. Recognizing the eminent shortage of teachers the Department said that in cases where it would be impossible for the school to carry on satisfactorily without certain teachers deferrment of training could be arranged on application to the Divisional Registrar. Following this a letter from the Department of Municipal Affairs dealing with the Unemployment Insurance Act in so far as it affected employees of a permanent character. This was turned over to the finance committee to deal with.

Chairman F. C. Bonnycastle explained the text of a communication he had received from Dr. C. E. Stothers and Inspector A. A. Martin relating to home instruction for a pupil unable to attend school. He pointed out the matter had been taken up with the Rotary Club and pending their decision no action was taken by the Board.

Property Chairman W. Henhon reported on progress in constructing the teacher's room in the public school. He said it was not possible to get a contract price from any carpenter, "It's difficult to get a carpenter at all" he declared. The plumbing contract had been let to Burgiss Brothers at $125.00 and continuing with his report Mr. Henson announced that work was to begin on the new room this week.

1st Connecticut Spy Trial Opens

HARTFORD, July 29 (AP).—The first spy trial in modern times in Connecticut opened here today with a German-born, naturalized Philadelphia pastor charged with having permitted his parsonage to be used as a Nazi espionage ring forwarding address.

In a courtroom packed with prospective jurors, witnesses and spectators the defendant, Rev. Kurt E. B. Molzahn sat calmly between his counsel as Federal Judge J. Joseph Smith opened the proceedings.

Mr. Molzahn, who, alone of five accused members of a ring allegedly formed to forward American military information to Germany and Japan, has elected to stand trial, wore a black business suit, white shirt and black necktie in place of the usual clerical collar.

The 47-year old clergyman won the Iron Cross as a German officer in the First Great War.

Originally accused with him were Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, 36, former leader of the German-American Bund; Anastase Vonsiatsky of Putnam, former head of the All-Russian Fascist party; Dr. Otto Willumeit of Chicago and Dr. Solfgang Ebell of El Paso, Tex. All pleaded guilty.

Famed Tapestry Riddle Finally Solved

By JOHN SELBY
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, July 29—(AP). — The mystery of the famous centuries-old 'unicorn tapestries' has been solved at last, to the satisfaction of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The world of arts knows that the tapestries, which cost John D. Rockefeller, Jr., more than $1,000,000, 20 years ago are the finest sequence in the western hemisphere. But nobody knew for whom or where or by whom the tapestries were made. Now James J. Orirmer who is the Metropolitan's curator of mediaeval art is sure he has the answer.

"It seems so simple that I can't understand why I have been so blind,' he said to-day.

The tapestries were made, he is convinced, for Anne of Brittany, possibly in celebration of her marriage to Louis XII of France her second husband, in 1499. Some 40 experts to whom Rorimer has referred his research agree that he pobably is correct.

Clue in Prayer Book

The first clue came through pure chance, from an article by Gertrude Townsend which, in discussing a Boston tapestry, remarked that a precedent for the use of cordeliers—knotted cords—in fashioning initials might be found in a prayer book made for Anne of Brittany.

Two pages of the prayer book bore a striking resemblance to the cipher which appears an average of five times in each of the six unicorn tapestries and once in the two fragments of a seventh tapestry also owned by the Metropolitan.

This cipher is made up of the letters A and E joined by the cordeliere—which last is the girdle of knotted cord worn by St. Francis of Assisi.

Once his eyes were opened, Rorimer said, corroborative evidence piled up. The A and E are not only the first and last letters of Anne's name; they are also the first and last letters of her motto, "A ma vie," abbreviated as was customary in mediaeval times.

Nearly a year's time, and thousands of miles of travel have gone into the investigation, Rorimer said.

"But detective work of this kind keeps leading on and on. Now I think we may even have discovered how the tapestries reached the hands of their first recorded owner, Ferdinand de la Rochefoucauld.

"It seems probable that Francis I. got the tapestries when he married Anne's daughter Claude, and presented them to his godfather, who was Ferdinand."

Germans Loot An Onion Boat

MIAMI, Fla., July 29—(AP).—A 55-foot fishing boat carrying 40,000 pounds of onions from Miami to Havana was 'looted' and destroyed by 'tickup' men from an Axis submarine, the United States Navy was informed by the boat's skipper.

The tiny 16-ton merchant vessel Gertrude, owned by the Crosland Fish Company of Miami, was sunk within sight of the lights of Cuba's capital.

Her master, Captain Walter Broward Crosland of Miami, and the two members of his crew escaped, leaving their cargo and ship at the mercy of a submarine commander, who ordered them to abandon ship in the early morning.

The explosion was heard an hour later, and Captain Crosland said he was convinced the U-boat crew stripped the small vessel of all the onions they needed, took $40 worth of canned goods from her hold.

Here's the Way to Buy NEW, USED OR RETREADED TIRES Under Wartime Regulations

To save time, first go to your nearest Firestone Dealer who has complete official tire information. He will advise you if you are eligible and what class you are in. Then he will help you fill out the Application for a Ration Permit and furnish the Dealer's Inspection Report, and do everything he can to assist you.

While new and used tires and retreading service is restricted to essential buyers, no permit is necessary for tire repairs. If you know of a minor bruise or cut, have it repaired immediately. Better still, have the Firestone Dealer give your tires a complete expert inspection, and put their care in his hands.

Firestone Dealers are tire conservation specialists. For 25 years they have been trained to help car owners get the most mileage from their tires with the greatest safety at the lowest cost. This inexpensive service, plus common-sense driving on your part, will help you get unbelievably big mileage from your tires.

How to Get the Most Mileage from Your Present Tires

1. Have the Firestone Dealer estimate the number of miles left in the tires — then ration your mileage to so many miles per week.
2. Limit your driving to essential transportation. If you drive to work, take others — and rotate trips with them.
3. Have air pressure checked every week. Underinflation is the greatest enemy of tire life.
4. Drive slowly — avoid quick starts and stops that grind off the tread. Go easy on curves and use gears instead of brakes on steep hills.
5. Park with care—do not scrape sidewalls or bump the curb.

THE FIRESTONE DEALER CAN HELP YOU BY

1. Completely inspecting tires and tubes at frequent intervals for cuts and bruises.
2. Rotating the tires every 5,000 miles to even the wear.
3. Checking wheel alignment and brakes.

No needless or unnecessary expense—work done only when required.

Hun Raiders Stab As City And Suez Fighting Slackens Off

CAIRO, July 30 (AP) — Small forces of Axis bombers made widespread pre-dawn attacks on airdromes in the Nile Delta area, behind the Quiescent El Alamein front.

Bombs fell in Cairo proper and provoked the greatest anti-aircraft barrage ever seen there. Sirens also screamed in the Suez zone and other scattered areas of Egypt.

British headquarters regarded the forays as intended primarily to hinder Allied air operations against Axis sea and land communications to the now stabilized El Alamein front, about 70 miles west of Alexandria.

Need Only Signal On Cargo Planes

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP).—Henry J. Kaiser advised Congress today an order from the United States Government was all shipbuilders needed to launch them on the construction of giant cargo planes to speed the war effort and break the submarine menace.

The Oakland, Calif., shipbuilder told a Senate defence investigating committee that he was awaiting a signal to convert part of his facilities to cargo plane construction.

Before the committee met, Senator Josh Lee (Dem., Okla.) claimed strong support from aeronautical experts within the administration for legislation he is sponsoring to divert shipbuilding facilities to plane production.

Kaiser advocates diverting part of the facilities of nine shipbuilding plants to construction of huge flying boats for cargo and troop movement.

He testified that the United States and the Bethlehem Steel Corporations would give "only one answer" if they received a call to convert some of their shipyards, and that "in my mind there is no question they would rise to the occasion."

Kaiser said he "never saw a ship launched" until 1940 and yet his company had cut the time for building a ship to 46 days under a maritime contract calling for 140 days. He added that he hoped to show soon a record of 29 days for a ship and eventually "a 30-day average."

Daily RAF Sorties Over France and Lowlands Smashing Nazi Invasion Belt Transport Setup

LONDON, July 30—(CP). — An R.A.F. commentator last night said Britain's almost daily raids by fighter planes over France and the Lowlands are part of a long-range campaign to smash the Nazi transport system in the invasion belt.

Last night's fighter raids, said to have damaged more than 10 railroad engines, was similar to 23 swift forays on transport targets in daylight between July 11 and 25 in which 16 locomotives were damaged, 17 freight trains attacked and set afire and 20 canal barges shattered.

Scouting the occupied coasts, fighters have sunk four merchantmen and damaged 44 other merchant ships, the R.A.F. commentator said.

Unofficial but extremely well-informed British air sources said they believe the present German raids and frequent reconnaissance flights over Britain merely were a blueprint for the heavy attacks to come next autumn and winter.

Ottawa To Lend Help For Homes In Crowded Non-War Plant Area

OTTAWA, July 30—(CP). — Plans for Wartime Housing, Ltd., to assist municipalities which have become crowded but which have no direct war industries were announced in the House of Commons today by Munitions Minister Howe.

Speaking in reply to a question by T. L. Church (Con., Toronto-Broadview), Mr. Howe said plans have been worked out for Wartime Housing to build "a reasonable number" of houses of set design in crowded municipalities as an assistance to local authorities.

While Wartime Housing, Ltd., was organized as a Crown company to meet particular needs of municipalities with war industries it was recognized that other municipalities were also facing a serious problem, Mr. Howe said.

Under the plan of municipal assistance the houses will be constructed in a zone designated for residential purposes and in which construction of inferior-type houses will be prohibited.

Cost of sewers and other services will be carried by Wartime Housing and the houses will be leased by the city for the duration of the war and a period of five years after the war. The city will, in turn, rent the houses on reasonable terms. Disposal of the assets will be arranged after the war.

In announcing the Government's decision to aid crowded municipalities Mr. Howe said it should be recognized that while temporary accommodation to meet war needs is accepted as a Government responsibility, permanent residences are the responsibility of the municipality.

The Fastest Idea

The policy adopted by Wartime Housing was the only one which could be discovered to construct a large number of houses quickly. While there had been some criticism of the houses in the Commons he had not heard any complaints from tenants.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. House leader, said he had sent to Mr. Howe a petition signed by residents of Wartime Houses in Hull, complaining mainly of the rent they were charged. Mr Howe said the petition had not come to his attention.

Mr. Church in his question said his attention had been called to the serious housing situation in Toronto and he asked when a statement

Extra 28 Million Added Estimates

OTTAWA, July 30 (CP)—Finance Minister Ilsley today tabled in the House of Commons supplementary estimates of $28,159,700 for the current financial year, of which $3,920,009 is chargeable to ordinary account, $250,000 to capital account and $23,989,691 to special account.

These are the first supplementary estimates brought down for this year, ending next March 31, and, added to the main estimates in February, bring the total up to $488,044,065.

The estimates provide $22,950,000 to provide for wheat acreage reduction payments and for administration expenses. This is in addition to the $5,226,000 in the main estimates.

To provide for advances under the National Housing Act to help overcome a Wartime Housing shortage, a Finance Department supplementary estimate of $1,000,000 is included in those tabled today. There is a token $1 supplementary to provide for conversion of large dwellings into apartments.

(Yesterday in the House Mr. Ilsley said an amount up to $2,000,000 would be authorized under the Home Improvements Loans Guarantee Act of 1937 for conversion of large dwellings.)

A further amount of $150,000 has been added for subsidies for cold storage warehouses, including a special grant of $750 to the North Wiltshire Dairying Co., North Wiltshire, P.E.I.

Estimates under external affairs, including salaries of high commissioners, ministers plenipotentiary, consuls and staffs, is increased by $100,000 bringing the total vote in-

Takeoff Crash Kills 10 In Minneapolis

Big Army Transport Takes Fire Many Victims Burned

MINNEAPOLIS, July 30 — (AP). —Ten North-West Airlines employees were killed when a United States Army cargo transport plane crashed to-day on Wold-Chamberlain Field during the takeoff.

Fire which broke out when the plane crashed so badly burned several of the bodies that identification was not possible.

Later, however, Dr. G. W. Callerstrom, Deputy County Coroner, released the following revised death list:

Airline officials explained that an earlier announcement of 11 dead resulted from the erroneous inclusion of the name of a relative of one victim in the death list.

A BRITISH PORT, July 30. — (CP Cable).—Thousands of Canadian soldiers, eager for a second front, and hundreds of ground crew for R.C.A.F. squadrons have arrived in Britain. The large contingent had a smooth crossing from Canada which was practically without incident. Escorting warships dropped a few depth-charge patterns but it is not known defintely that the convoy was shadowed by submarines.

LONDON—(CP).—The Yugoslav Government reported tonight that 16 villages in German-occupied Slovenia had been obliterated and all their inhabitants shot for violation of occupation rules.

BELLEVILLE.—(CP).— Willia H. McBain, former tax collector and treasurer for the village of Madoc, Ont, to-day was sentenced to two years less one day, in Reformatory and a further indeterminate term of one year when he pleaded guilty to stealing $4,019 of the village's funds. Magistrate J. L. Lloyd in passing sentence said: 'That he did not term the accused a crook.'

A Rubber Find

WASHINGTON, July 30 — (AP). — Petroleum Co-ordinator Harold Ickes said today that the United States oil industry has uncovered capacity for production of 200,000 tons annually of butadiene.

Ickes said this would make possible the output of 240,000 to 250,000 tons of synthetic rubber annually over the above presently projected rubber programs. This new rubber production could be "brought in" by the end of the year by conversion of existing gasoline refining plants, he said. The material used for butadiene would be gasoline.

Tighter Control Of Manpower Due Very Soon

By JACK WILLIAMS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, July 30.—(CP).—Tightening of control over Canada's manpower supply is expected to be announced shortly with the enforcement of new orders now being framed.

One of the most important steps understood to have been decided on is the provision of a "cooling off" period between the time of dismissal or resignation of an employee and the time he actually leaves employment.

This new approach to the problem of shifting manpower, which Elliott M. Little, director of National Selective Service, has referred to as one of the most serious wastages in Canadian labor, will halt hasty action both on the part of the employer and employee. It is anticipated the compulsory "cooling off" period will be one week.

Regulations soon to be announced are expected also to eliminate the three days of grace at present provided in reporting job changes to employment offices.

Following the announcement June 17 of regulations which make it necessary for employers to obtain permits from an employment office for all new employees, regulations were relaxed through the provision of a three-day period of grace so that an employer could engage a new man without a permit if he reported the employment within three days. Approval then was required in the form of a permit from the selective service officer who is also manager of the employment office.

GermansRaid Widely Over England

New Type Incendiaries Dropped In London; Birmingham Struck

LONDON, July 30 —(AP)—Saarbruecken, German coal and steel centre, was blasted by the R.A.F. last night in a short, fierce raid under a waning moon. Canadian air crews participated in the attack.

While four-motored bombers were delivering this third heavy assault on a German industrial city in four nights, the night and day offensive against Nazi air bases and transport in occupied Europe was continued, and other British bombers ranged south over the Bay of Biscay in search of U-boat packs en route from France to North American waters.

The Saarbrucken attack caused "much damage," informed air sources said, while the R.A.F. lost nine bombers of the considerable force which made the 700-mile foray, first against that city since Nov. 8, 1940.

This was partly offset by destruction of eight of the Nazi raiders which made a series of overnight "nuisance" attacks on Britain's Midlands and dropped some bombs in London for the first time since June 3.

Incendiaries were dropped in the London area in what was believed to be a new-type metal container. The containers were being collected today for examination by experts.

One of the Nazi targets in the Midlands was the industrial centre of Birmingham, where, the Ministries of Air and Home Security said, the raiders did some damage and caused some casualties.

Nine British bombers were lost in the raid of Saarbruecken. The Air Ministry said the raid was 'heavy and concentrated' and that preliminary reports indicated much damage was done.

No Letup On Coast

The R.A.F. raids on Western Germany were accompanied by a heavy aerial bombardment of the occupied French coast between Boulogne and Calais.

Saarbruecken, a city of 135,000, lies in the heart of the Saar Valley coal fields, and is one of the chief centres of iron and steel production in Germany.

The Berlin radio said that several other towns in Western Germany also were bombed by the R.A.F.

It was the second successive night attack on Germany, Hamburg and its big submarine-building yards having been the target the preceding night of a mass attack in which perhaps 600 planes incuding one

CHUNGKING, July 30 — (AP).—President Roosevelt's pledge that ways would be found to deliver weapons and munitions to the Chinese armies was emphatically renewed tonight by the President's special envoy, Lauchlin Currie.

In his first public speech in Chungking, Currie said "Munitions are flowing into India for China's account."

Woman Drowns Car Skids On Chemong Bridge

In the first fatality recorded since the famous Chemong floating bridge was built, one woman was drowned and four other persons had a very narrow escape from meeting the same fate when an automobile skidded off the bridge and sank in twelve feet of water around 6 o'clock Wednesday evening.

The victim was Mrs. Nellie Crough, wife of Arnold Crough of Detroit, Mich., a former resident of Ennismore township.

Those who escaped were J. K. Sheehy, 366 Simcoe Street, driver of the car; Mrs. Mabel Sheehy, wife of the driver; Arnold Crough, husband of the drowned woman, Detroit, Mich., and Dr. E. M. Crough, 579 Aylmer Street, a brother of Arnold Crough.

Mrs. Crough, formerly Nellie Killen of Ennismore, and her husband, also a native of the same township, arrived here only on Tuesday to spend a holiday.

Yesterday afternoon in company with Dr. Crough and Mr. and Mrs. Sheehy they were on their way to Ennismore to visit friends when the accident happened.

Second Car Approached.

Mr. Sheehy was driving the car and it had got to within 150 yards of the Ennismore side of the bridge when another car travelling toward the Smith side approached.

Apparently the Sheehy car was crowded well to its right-hand side of the bridge by the other vehicle, and when the driver swung his machine around to get back to the middle of the bridge, it skidded across the structure, smashed through the wooden guard-rail and plunged into Chemong Lake, carrying its five passengers into the water.

Fortunately the windows of the car were down and four of the occupants were able to make their escape from the vehicle, just how some of them were not quite clear. Dr. Crough was in the front seat with the driver, and when he emerged from the car came up close to the bridge, very fortunately as he is not a good swimmer. He was able to grab hold of the edge of the bridge and save himself. Arnold Crough and Mr and Mrs. Sheehy came to the surface and managed to

19 New Hun Divisions Called To Don Area From Finland, France

LONDON, July 30 (CP)—Reuters said it has recorded a Vichy broadcast in which the Vichy News Agency reported that German forces from the Kerch Peninsula landed at dawn today on the Taman Peninsula of the Caucasus.

(The Taman Peninsula is separated by the narrow Kerch Strait from the Kerch Peninsula, the easternmost extension of the Crimea which the Germans overran in their first major offensive of 1942, late in the spring.

(A German landing there would menace the flank and rear of the Russian forces trying to stem the Nazi drive southward from Rostov.)

The report said the Germans established several bridgeheads after a violent all-night artillery and air bombardment and a "particularly fierce" fight with Russian troops throughout the morning.

MOSCOW, July 30—(A). — Reinforced by divisions which the Russians said were drawn from Finland and France, Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock's southern-front onslaught rolled deeper into the Caucasus south of Rostov today and pressed the Red Army back toward the tail of the Don bend within 80 miles of Stalingrad.

Premier Joseph Stalin, for whom the big town on the Volga was renamed after the Russian Revolution, appealed directly to his army to take inspiration from Russia's greatest military heroes, commanders who defeated the Tartars, beat back the Swedes, the Turks and the Teutonic knights, and drove Napoleon from Moscow.

2nd Front 'Sure' Cripps States

LONDON, July 30 (CP)—Sir Stafford Cripps, Government spokesman in the House of Commons, told questioners today for a second time that plans regarding a second front could not be divulged.

Thomas Horabin, Liberal, asked for a secret session of the House before summer recess so its members could inquire into the government's "military intentions."

Sir Stafford said that, just as he had informed the House last week, the government would not be able to reveal such plans "even in secret session."

William Gallacher, Communist, said "they could tell us if they had any intentions."

"I can tell him now," replied Sir Stafford, "that we have intentions."

He did not elaborate upon this statement.

Outside parliament, women war workers, all with husbands, sons, brothers or sweethearts in the armed forces, appealed for a second front.

Hun See Oil Reserve Bottom

Enough For 8-Week Blitz, Rate Of Last Year's Push

NEW YORK, July 30.—(AP). — The German high command already can see the bottom of its oil reserves, the Oil Weekly said today in a summary of Axis petroleum resources and supplies.

Basing its figures on known statistics and calculations of use, the magazine estimated Germany had for its present Russian campaign about 2,000,000 tons of fuel oil after deducting reserves for the western part of occupied Europe. (A rough conversion figure would be seven barrels to the ton.)

It estimated Germany used 12,500,000 tons in 23 weeks of Russian war last summer and fall.

Against the slim total, however, was balanced stepped-up production of 240,000 tons a week, double the output at the beginning of the war in 1939 and 50,000 tons more weekly than at the start of the war with Russia.

The sources were listed as lignite and coal liquefaction, benzene, coal tar distillation, alcohol mixture with oil, native and Polish fuel oil and Rumanian crude.

Now the Nazis are plunging toward the Russian Caucasus, where the Oil Weekly estimated 80 per cent. of Russia's record output of 238,000,000 barels of 1941 is produced. The part of the Russian industry in the Urual Mountains, it explained, "represents only about 20 per cent. of the total."

Considering possible Nazi seizure of transportation routes from the Caucasus through Stalingrad and up the Volga River, the magazine said: "Such a situation would call for the difficult undertaking of bringing in oil supplies from the Western Hemisphere, through Northern Russia."

Great RAF Raids May Be Late For Russia

Will Play Havoc With Hun This Winter, Be Less Effective If Nazis Get Caucasus

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst.

The disclosure by Air Marshal Harris that a great Anglo-American air fleet is about to scourge the Reich, city by city, signals one of the major developments of the war, while we can expect much from it we shall do well not to jump to the conclusion that this is a quick solution of all our troubles.

One's first thought naturally is whether this aerial assault is likely to divert enough Nazi strength from the Russian front to help the Reds materially in their present grave pisition. The answer would seem to be in the negative.

Continual and heavy bombing of German cities probably would force withdrawal of some Nazi air-power from the Eastern front, and any easement would be all to the good for the Russians. However, the bombing can scarcely affect the situation vitally in the immediate future, and it's right now that the Reds need help.

Another question that arises is how far such massed bombing might carry us towards victory— a subject which is a burning topic of debate at the moment. There are those who maintain that the war can be won in the air—a theory advanced as far back as 1921 by the late General Giulio Douhet, onetime head of Italy's military aviation, who held that victory could be achieved almost overnight by employment of a vast fleet of bombers.

Still the Douhet theory has yet to be proved, and in any event the forthcoming Allied operations won't be on big-enough scale at the outset to force an immediate decision. That bombing can play havoc with Hitler's war industries and transportation is a foregone conclusion, but the contribution which this will make towards victory will depend a good deal on the trend of the Russo-German fighting, or at least it so seems to me.

If Hitler breaks through to fresh resources in the Caucasus, and hamstrings the Russian Army, he will be able to bolster his lagging war industries in Czecho-Slovakia and other sections which won't be so much affected by the bombing as factories in Western Europe. In other words he will be able to strengthen his own air-fleet and anti-aircraft defence and so be better able to meet the Allied onslaught.

On the other hand if the Russians are able to hold the Nazis and keep them away from green pastures, German industry will decline with ever-increasing speed. This will mean a deterioration of Hitler's air defence and thus will make the task of the Allied air fleet the easier.

Montrealer An Ace Of Aces

Floors 4 Axis Planes Over Malta In Day--Wins DFM

LONDON, July 30—(CP Cable). —Sgt. George F. Beurling of Montreal, awarded the Distinguished Flying Medal two days ago, destroyed four Axis fighter aircraft and damaged several others in air duels over Malta last Monday and broke his month-old record of three bombers destroyed and one damaged in one day.

The young Montrealer has destroyed 17 aircraft, it was disclosed today. Monday's bag consisted of two Messerschmitt 109s and two Italian 202s, and he shot down three of them in one engagement. The record is believed unequalled in any theatre of war since the Battle of Britain, and places him in the forefront of Canadian fighter pilots.

The R.A.F. Middle East News Service said Beurling's first victim, a Macchi, disintegrated in mid-air. Afterwards he attacked two Messerschmitts. One broke in two and pieces of the fuselage of the second were seen to fall off. Next he became involved with another Macchi, which crashed on the island. Three hours later he shot down a Messerschmitt and damaged several others.

He was flying a Spitfire. R.C.A.F. headquarters said there was nothing in their records to match Beurling's accomplishment, "which certainly is the best done by any graduate of the Air Training plan."

The story of Beurling's feat was given front-page prominence in London newspapers. The Standard ran part of it in black-face type under the heading, "The Man From Verdun." Beurling was turned down by the Royal Canadian Air Force.

The 20-year-old ace failed to meet R.C.A.F. education standards and went to Britain aboard a freighter.

465 JAPANESE ARE INTERNED AS RESULT OF STRIKE IN ROAD CAMP

BC Members Insist on Speed In Removing Japanese, Score Mitchell "Unafraid"

'Well we are' Cruickshank Answers Minister Expressing No Uneasiness Over Situation; Senate Advances Conscription Bill, Step

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, July 30—(CP).—The staid progress of the House of Commons through taxation bills and departmental estimates was vigorously interrupted by British Columbia members yesterday when they demanded swifter action by the Government in moving Japanese from the British Columbia protected area.

Labor Minister Mitchell, defending the British Columbia Security Commission which has been in charge of the movement of the Japanese, said nearly 16,000 of a total of about 25,000 had been moved from the protected area. He said those left at Vancouver were mainly women and children.

When the Minister said he was not afraid of the situation at Vancouver, George Cruickshank (Lib., Fraser Valley) interjected: "Well, we are."

J. G. Turgeon (Lib., Cariboo) said that wherever the Japanese were moved in British Columbia there was the likelihood that the new section would soon be declared a protected area because of the imminent threat of enemy attack.

Mr. Mitchell said it was not the Government policy to place the Japanese in an internment camp although 465 Japanese males had been interned as the result of a strike in a road work camp.

3,000 In One Camp.

Of the 8,827 Japanese still to be evacuated from the protected area, 3,000 were in a camp at Hastings Park, Vancouver, and the remainder left in Vancouver were practically all women and children.

D. G. Ross (Con., Toronto St. Paul's) said Ontario would take Japanese from British Columbia as it would do anything to win the war. The Government should move the Japanese to wherever they should go.

The Japanese issue was raised by Howard Green (Con. Vancouver South) on a motion to go into committee of supply, after the House had dealt with and approved two bills covering amendments to the Dominion Succession Duty Act and Excess Profits Act, arising from budget resolutions.

Discussion of the Japanese concluded, the House renewed study of post office estimates.

Friday Closing.

To-day the House is to discuss government bills. Resources Minister Crerar in a statement at the end of the day said it would require optimism to say adjournment would be possible by Friday night but he urged an effort to conclude the work this week.

Avoid Posing For Films Of City Friday

A. J. Monk, director, and Lieut. Harry Scott, cameraman, for the National Film Board arrived in Peterborough today to comlpete plans for their pictures on Friday of relatives of men in the Canadian forces overseas together with typical local scenes.

The filming of street scenes will begin at 2 p.m. Friday down George street from Confederation Square, and in that detail the people are specially requested not to become camera conscious. Mr. Monk said the purpose is to get shots of the central part of the city without any evidence of posing. The more natural and every-day the scenes the more appreciated they are likely to be by the men who see them after an absence from Peterborough of a year or more.

The films of the relatives of the men on active service will be taken first at King Edward Park for the south section of the city, then at Inverlea and finally at Jackson Park, and in that order. Definite time could not be announced, but when the camera work is completed at King Edward, the filming party will go on to Inverlea and finally to Jackson Park.

Finance Minister Ilsley yesterday yesterday announced the government's intention to encourage the construction of small permanent homes in congested areas through a supplementary estimate of $1,000,000.

In addition, up to $2,000,000 will be provided to guarantee loans for the transformation of large houses in congested areas into apartment dwellings Mr. Ilsley said.

Aid Soldiers' Families

The plan, intended to aid families of men in the armed forces as well as other deserving permanent residents, is already in operation, Mr. Howe said.

Conditions which will govern the assistance by Wartime Housing in congested municipalities as outlined by Mr. Howe:

1. Building areas, are to be zoned for residential purposes and no inferior houses are to be erected therein;

2. Sites are to be conveyed by the city to the company for a nominal consideration, subject to renconveyance back on the termination of the project;

3. Cost of construction of the houses, streets, grading, water, sewers and other necessary improvements to be paid by Wartime Housing Ltd.;

4. The city undertakes to lease the housing project for the duration of the war plus five years thereafter, at a rental to be agreed upon, and the city further agrees to administer the project and bear the expense of administration, renting the housing to deserving citizens at reasonable rentals

5. The company will make payment for services to the city as called for under the usual Wartime Housing municipal agreement;

6. Reasonable arrangements are to be made for the disposal of assets at the termination of the agreement.

"Under such an agreement, the Federal government is prepared to bear the capital cost of facilities required to meet the problems of the families of men serving overseas and other deserving cases of hardship to permanent residents," said Mr. Howe.

gram now has reached a point where this is no longer necessary, and it is expected that announcement will be made in the near future that proposed job changes must be reported and a permit obtained before the new employee can be hired and start work.

Mr. Little in a recent address said requirements of the armed forces and industry would total 250,000 workers in the next five months. To fill this requirement reasonable priorities would have to be set up or labor and some business enterprises might be expected to be casualties.

It is to make these priorities of labor effective that manpower regulations are being stiffened, it is understood.

Absenteeism is another major problem which is being actively studied and on which some action is expected in the near future. Selective service studies have shown manpower waste running as high as from 15 to 25 per cent. in some plants.

This condition is understood to be particularly serious in plants where large numbers of women are employed. The number of women in industry is constantly increasing.

Improvement in working conditions is considered at least a partial solution for this problem and cooperation of employers is being enlisted in an energetic campaign now being carried on by selective service officials. Mrs. Rex Eaton, director of the women's division of selective service, is understood to be giving particular attention to this problem.

Mr. Little has already made it clear that the Government will "have to seek women out more and more in the future and guide them into the work which must be done." That is another matter which is understood to be the subject of numerous selective service conferences these days.

(The German high command said its troops had cut the Soviet route of retreat from the Don bend and severed the last important rail link between the Caucasus and the rest of Russia. The communique said the Germans had driven 56 miles south of the Don to Proletarskaya on the railway from Stalingrad to the Tikhoretsk junction with the main Caucasus line.)

Volga Traffic Goes On

Izvestia, the government newspaper said the important river traffic of the Volga continued, and reported the arrival of timber barges at Stalingrad. (The Germans have reported the river traffic under bomber attack.)

Tass News Agency repeated earlier reports that the Germans, forced to draw much of their strength for the Don Valley offensive from Western Europe, have moved six divisions from France to the Russian front within the past few days. It identified these as the 323rd, 337th, 315th, 326th and 709th infantry divisions and the 25th tank division.

Altogether 17 infantry divisions, two tank divisions, and numerous anti-aircraft and artillery units have been moved to Russia from German-occupied countries in the west since the start of the year, Tass said.

It listed among these the 53rd and 3rd fighter squadrons, the 55th and 77th bomber squadrons, the 71st infantry division from Reims, the 383rd division from Besancon, the 250th from Cannes, the 340th from Calais, the 88th from the French-Spanish border, the 8th light infantry division from Paris, the 370th, 371st, 365th and 346th infantry divisions and the 24th tank divisions from elsewhere in France, and the 82nd infantry division from the Netherlands.

The people had heard many alerts and occasional anti-aircraft fire but few bursting bombs since war came to the Middle East.

Today some of the curious went to rooftops and balconies to watch the tracers, the play of lights and the shellbursts in the moonlit sky.

Land operations were limited to minor skirmishes and dust storms curtailed aerial activity to some extent, the daily communique said.

Two Axis planes were reported shot down over Malta by British fighters which forced a formation of enemy bombers to jettison their bombs. Air activity over the Island also was on a reduced scale, the communique said.

Great RAF Raids

Air Marshal Harris invited the German people to cast off Hitlerism and make peace, thereby avoiding destruction of their cities. Without evidence to support the idea, I don't think we should bank on the Germans quitting solely because of bombing. We've seen Warsaw endure a protracted deluge of bursting steel without a whimper, and we've seen the British people defy the most terrific bombardment of history.

The Germans are a brave people and it will take a lot to break their morale. It wasn't fear or death or violence that made them surrender in the last war, but a combination of other circumstances: star hunger, imposed by the blockade; lack of a just cause for which to make further sacrifice for their war load; and the encouragement of President Wilson's Utopian 14 points.

However, similar circumstances are beginning to pile up on them now. Apart from other things, unless Hitler achieves success in this summer offensive, his people are likely to experience a winter of terrible distress. And certainly the death and destruction and nerve-strain caused by bombing won't give their morale any uplift.

Overseas Rescue

OTTAWA, July 30—(C).—Headquarters of the Canadian Corps of Fire Fighters reported today the rescue overseas of a nine-year-old boy by Charles Diwell, Corps member, who dove fully clothed into the River Test to bring the youngster to safety.

Diwell, 30-year-old native of Port Colborne, Ont., was strolling near Southampton when he heard a splash and children screaming. He rescued the boy, Colin Rolfe, and applied artificial respiration to revive him.

Diwell was one of the first of the Canadian volunteer fire fighters to reach the United Kingdom.

Laxity Charged In Midland Fire Inquiry

MIDLAND, July 30.—Charges of laxity in fire prevention measures were made yesterday by W. J. Scott, Ontario Fire Marshal, against Thomas McCullough, general manager of the Midland Boat Works, where the disastrous fire originated that destroyed $500,000 worth of property along the Midland waterfront on the night of July 14.

"A wood-working plant is very dangerous from a fire standpoint, and your plant has been exceedingly lax in fire prevention measures," the Fire Marshal told McCullough. He added that the boiler used to generate steam, where the first started, was "a disgrace."

Mr. McCulough was urged to take measures in the remainder of the boat works and in the new buildings to provide fire protection.

Numerous witnesses were questioned by Eric Silk, K.C., of Toronto, acting for the Fire Marshal's Department.

Fire Chief Peter Grigg told the inquiry he had warned the management about smoking on the premises, improper storage of shavings in part of the burned building and nearby outside, and about two weeks previous to the fire had discussed improved water supply for fire fighting purposes at the plant.

Mr. Silk asked Chief Grigg if unsatisfactory conditions continued to exist why was the company not reported. Chief Grigg said he wished to allow the company opportunity to improve conditions, "but perhaps he should have reported the firm."

Mr. Scott pointed out that shipbuilding concerns were of such paramount importance that every step possible should be taken to protect them.

"This fire could probably have been put out if a set of inch and a half hose had been available," the Fire Marshal added.

Howard Johnson, general manager of Midland Shipyards, described how their own fire hose and a trained force of employees probably saved the large shipyards and a number of valuable vessels from destruction. He estimated the gale blowing at the time as "65 or 70" miles an hour.

Chief Grigg said he could not tell how the fire started. Mr. McCullough asserted he had no suspicions of arson.

Smoke was seen seeping through cracks in the boiler room by William Larush about 6.30 p.m. and in a matter of minutes the gale had fanned the fire into a conflagration which destroyed a large boat works building two naval vessels, half constructed, the C.N.R. station, two ice houses, and eight dwellings. Barrie and Penetang Brigades assisted in fighting the fire.

"I am of the opinion there should be some further investigation and am adjourning this inqury sine die," stated the Fire Marshal.

Left to mourn her loss are her husband, Arnold Crough; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Killen; six sisters, Mrs. Bernard Sullivan, Ennismore; Mrs. William LaCour, New York; Mrs. Ed. Crough, Peterborough; Mrs. Clement Haggerty, Detroit, Mich.; Agnes Killen, Detroit; Nora Killen, Peterborough, and a brother, Patrick of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Killen, 346 Dublin street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, at 9 a.m., Saturday, where Requiem Mass will be sung. Interment will be in St. Martin's Cemetery, Ennismore.

WILLIAM GEORGE

FENELLA, July 30 — (ENS). — Funeral services for William George, one of our pioneer residents, were held from his late home in Fenella on Sunday afternoon. Rev. Mr. McQuade conducted the services.

Mr. George was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William George and spent his entire life in this community, being born eighty-seven years ago on the farm now owned by his son, Frank. He was a member of the Fenella United Church.

He was twice married, being predeceased 42 years ago by his former wife, Mary Smith; a daughter, Emma (Mrs. Henry A. Sherwin), of Coronach, Sask., and three small children also predeceased him. He is survived by his wife, formerly Lillie Sherwin, whom he married twenty-seven years ago; also a daughter and four sons by former marriage — Clara (Mrs. Eldridge Sherwin), of Fenella; Arthur, of Neepawa, Man.; Frank, of Fenella; Harrison, of Morganston, and Edward, of Sceptre, Sask.

Interment was made in the family plot in Bowmanton Cemetery. Many beautiful floral tributes testified to the esteem in which he was held.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Fred Talling, James Knox, Arthur Murphy, Vernon Brenton, Hugh Sherwin and James Curtis.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, July 30 — (CP). — Cattle sales at the Livestock Market here today were too few up to Veal calves and lambs were steady. Hogs were 10 cents higher. No sheep were offered. Unsold from yesterday was 300 head of cattle.

Most of the cattle bought on the Livestock Market here yesterday were taken by the Food Corporation and little information was vouchsafed by the new buyers. The Corporation is routing the cattle to Toronto and Buffalo, according to the needs and presumably will govern itself by the demand. Its operations naturally tend to line up with United States prices because it is pledged to pay the prices that could be obtained in markets to the south.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle, 430; calves, 20; hogs, 220; lambs, 50.

Veal calves sold at $14 to $14.50 for choice, wth others downward to $9.

Lambs sold at $14 to $14.50 for good ewes and wethers.

Hogs sold at $16.10 dressedweight.

Millbrook Fire Nipped In Time

MILLBROOK, July 20—(ENS).—A fire of unknown origin broke out in a frame building in the rear of Harold Nattress' barber shop about 5 p.m. on Tuesday, the fire company responding promptly when the alarm bell was rung.

The blaze had made considerable progress before being discovered by one of the Hydro men on his way home along Tupper street. As there are a number of frame buildings back of the stores in that vicinity, had the fire not been discovered when it was, the whole business section of the village would have been wiped out.

A metal-covered garage, next to the building where the fire started was scorched through to the interior walls, and Russell Reid, who keeps his car there, just got it out in time. The supposition is that boys, who frequent the vicinity back of the stores, particularly during the holiday season, were probably smoking, and carelessly threw matches and cigarette butts about. As it was, the flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

Wreck 123 Tanks In One Sector Of Great Don Bend

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, July 30.—(AP)—Germans columns apparently progresesd across the treeless steppes within the horeshoe curve of the Don River toward Stalingrad today after a setback yesterday under strong Soviet counterattacks. Officials conceded that the invaders had advanced again in the sector of Bataisk, 15 miles south of Rostov.

Russian reserves bolstered Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's veterans for the supreme task.

Red Army men and planes were reported to have struck successfully as Nazi detachments crossing the Lower Don in the Tsimlyansk area half way between Rostox and Stalingrad, destroying 700 German officers and men, 17 tanks, 11 guns and 27 machine-guns.

But field reports indicated the tide had still to turn in the far-flung fight for the trans-Caucasus: the lower Volga and the western shore of the Capsian Sea.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda declared, however, that Germany was throwing her last resources into the offensive and said

Coldwell Chosen President Of C.C.F. Party

TORONTO, July 30 — (CP). — Delegates to the 10th anniversary convention of the Cooperative Commonwealth Federation were en route home to-day after a three-day session in which they chose a national president, adopted a wartime policy and laid plans for the party's future organization.

New president is M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. Leader in the House of Commons, where he has represented the Saskatchewan constituency of Rosetown-Biggar since 1935. Mr. Coldwell's post as national chairman of the party was filled by Professor Frank Scott of Montreal, with Angus MacInnis, C.C.F. member of Commons for Vancouver East, vice-chairman.

The party's wartime and postcard policy—a program for "Victory and resonstruction" — calls for "carefully planned use of manpower to secure the maximum production of urgently needed war materials and foodstuffs the effective defence of Canada and the greatest possible contribution to the cause of the United Nations." It opposes overseas conscription until wealth and industry also are conscripted.

Woodsworths Successor.

Mr. Coldwell succeeds J. S. Woodsworth, founder of the C.C.F., in the persidency. Mr. Woodsworth died last March.

David Lewis of Ottawa was returned as national secretary of the party at a meeting of the National Council last night. Rev. A. M. Nicholson, M.P. (C.C.F. Mackenzie) was named national treasurer, with the following appointed to the executive: Clarence Gillis, M.P. (C.C.F. Cape Breton South) C. H. Millard, Toronto, Henry Soung, Alberta (home town unavailable), R. L. alder, Montreal Professor George Grube, Toronto, and S. H. Knowles, Winnipeg.

During yesterday's session, the convention approved among several resolutions a plan for public ownership of distilleries and asked that the National Council draft a resolution combining this with another that profits from such operations be used to finance temperance education.

Organized Gangs Soon Loot Hong Kong City

By VAUGHN MEISLING
Associated Press Staff Writer

LOURENCO MARQUES, Portuguese East Africa, July 27 (Delayed)—(AP)—Hong Kong must be the world's most looted city.

Only three days after the outbreak of hostilities, Chinese began ravaging Kowloon opposite Hong Kong island which that day was being evacuated by British troops and police.

Trucks were being used by well-organized and armed gangs from the very start, supplemented by foot "patrols" of pickets who robbed Americans and Britons fleeing for the safety of Hong Kong island.

Several saved their watches and money only by shooting their way through the picket lines. Many were threatened with being shot or having their fingers chopped off if they did not surrender their rings and other valuables promptly.

A light touch was lent by a looter who emerged jubilantly from a British villa. He carried a gigantic bottle. Pasing evacuees noted the label—"epsom salts."

Rich residences in the exclusive peak district were rifled with the obvious connivance of former servants.

Supposedly secret hiding places were cleaned out immediately. Some valuables, however, remain buried in gardens, cached by the onwers after the servants fled.

While metal fixtures were taken by the Japanese for military purposes, other parts of houses, including floor boards, doors and window frames, were appropriated by Chinese for firewood.

I saw Chinese families remove exquisite hardwood office furniture from the colonial secretarist and other government buildings in broad daylight.

Occasional execution of looters reduced the practice only momentarily. Much plunder was offered for sale in the streets and shops, including silver bearing the name of a former British police commissioner.

New Rubber Deal

MEXICO CITY, July 30.—(AP).—Mexico and the United States have signed an agreement designed to promote increased production of natural rubber in this country. The first step in the pact, to remain in effect for eight years, provides for immediate establishment of five 750-acre demonstration plantations in tropical Mexico with Washington furnishing technicians and an $890,000 grant. These farms will test methods of production and demonstrate the results to prospective growers.

Jap Destroyer Hit Badly Off Gona Shore

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, July 30—(CP).—Allied bombers hit a Japanese destroyer squarely off Gona Mission, on New Guinea's Papuan Peninsula coast, and left the warship wreathed in smoke and scurrying toward shore, apparently for beaching, a headquarters communique announced today.

It was the fouth enemy ship accounted for by Allied airmen since the Japanese last Wednesday thrust their invasion force down the coast to Gona Mission, some 100 miles from the Allied bast at Port Moresby on the opposited shore of the Papuan Peninsula. In previous attacks three enemy transports were knocked out.

There was no immediate explanation whether the destroyer was alone or accompanying transports bearing additional troops to the enemy base.

Allied planes made a destructive night raid on Gona Mission and destroyed an enemy pursuit plane in an airfight, while skirmishing continued among Allied and Japanese advance units in the Kokoda area, about midway between Port Moresby and Gona Mission.

Three Night Sweeps on Moresby

The Japanese made three light night raids upon Port Moresby and sent two small formations over Darwin, Northern Australian coastal city, early today. The communique said there were neither casualties nor damage at either place.

A military spokesman said there were casualties on both sides in the clashes around Kokoda, but was unable to state the number or whether the Japanese had been reinforced.

The spokesman described Kokoda as a "No-Man's-Land" with only 26 white residents in the entire district and the town consisting of five frame houses, an air field and a small radio station.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Allied Commander, awarded the Distinguished Service Cross posthumously today to Lt.-Col. W. T. Owen, an Australian killed at Kokoda and the first Dominion fighter to receive an American decoration.

Owen was cited for extraordinary gallantry while leading his men. MacArthur expressed regret at the loss of "so gallant a soldier."

St. Michael's Girls Beat Dye Works

COBOURG, July 30 — (ENS) — St. Michael's C.Y.O. defeated the Dye Works, 18-17 last night in a girls' softball game. Both pitchers, Mary Hogan of St. Michael's and Lillian Caffin of the Dye Works went the full route in a close, exciting seven innings of good ball. Gert Talbot, newcomer to the St. Mike's ranks did the backstopping job with no errors. She also pounded out five clean hits.

Port Hope Citizens Planning Big Welcome For Minesweeper

PORT HOPE, July 30 — (ENS).—A meeting was held of all committees connected with the outfitting of the minesweeper H.M.C.S. Port Hope in the Council Chambers at the Town Hall last night.

Chairman J. B. Holland told the meeting that a washing machine, special toasters and certain necessary linens had been purchased to contribute to the sailors' comfort.

The ship is to be commissioned in Toronto at 4 p.m. to-day. A small committee from Port Hope is to be present, consisting of Mayor Sherman Gifford, Captain James H. Peacock, F. N. Belyea, Herman Smith, and George Garnett. The trial run will also be in Toronto on Monday August 3.

H.M.C.S. Port Hope will arrive in Port Hope on the afternoon of August 5. For a considerable time the women of the town have been busy knitting and sewing extra clothing for the sailors of the ship. The school children have helped to supply some of the 60 ditty bags and much of the reading material and games. Among other articles donated by different organizations and individuals were radios, couches and waste paper baskets. All these material must be packed in bales 2 feet square to be taken on the ship.

The chairman of the existing committees were formed into a new committee to look after all the necessary arrangements for the reception of the men and officers of H.M.C.S. Port Hope. Members of this committee are: Mrs. George Strong supplies, C. P. Freeman finance, Herman Smith purchasing, and R. B. Baxter advertising.

The ship will be in port here all night, and arrangements will be made so that during the afternoon and evening all who wish may be shown through the ship.

On the arrival of the ship there will be a parade of the sailors to Rotary Park for the reception. At the band stand Frank Rickard M. P., will introduce Navy Minister Macdonald. Also in attendance will be C. Mercer, M.L.A., Mayor Gifford, the members of the Council, and the executive of the Minesweeper Committee.

Final arrangements have not yet been completed for the evening entertainment.

At the Council meeting on Monday evening the Mayor was given authority to proclaim August 5 a half-holiday, so that everyone may see the ship that is named after the town.

Alexandria Gift Not For Duce

BERNE, Switzerand, July 30—(AP).—Italy's Mussolini, whose age is an increasingly delicate subject, was 59 years old yesterday.

Hitler sent him the usual birthday telegram, which was played up in the German press, but he did not get the birthday gift which many persons in Europe believe he had confidently expected: a triumphal entry into Alexandria.

An ardent admirer of Caesar and Napoleon, Il Duce is believed to have been long eager to march into Egypt as did those conquerors.

When Mersa Matruh fell to the German and Italian armies, Mussolini dashed to Africa, but after three weeks of waiting and inspecting troops he returned to Rome, July 20.

Throughout the sprin gand summer the Italian press has been stressing his "perfect health" and after an 1,100-mile flight inspecting air fields and naval units the Cordiere della Sera said on June 20, "The virile temperament of Il Duce ideally and physically expressed the freshness and perennial youth of the Italian people."

Not since he was 50, however, has the press been permitted to remind the Italian people that their leader is aging or that he is a grandfather.

Two years ago, just before he was 57, Mussolini partly answered rumors then current about his health by riding horseback and sweating through a tennis game under a hot sun.

Last year there was no such display.

Recently a newareel of Mussolini's last meeting with Hitler at Strasbourg disclosed that Il Duce's face was lined, his shoulders sagged, and he walked slowly, with a smile that was a bit less ready than a year ago.

Guild Service Tea Is Held In Port Hope

PORT HOPE, July 30.—(ENS).—The Evening Branch of the Guild Service of St. Mark's church held a delightful tea Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. Snelgrove, 41 South street.

The house was beautifully decorated with garden flowers and in the centre of the table was a silver bowl with pink snapdragons. The guests were received by Mrs. Snelgrove and the president of the group, Miss Georgia Lee.

Tea was poured by Mrs. Bridges, Miss Violet Scott, and Miss Rhea Fick. Those who helped serve were Mrs. Arthur Smith, Mrs. Ruth Clark, and the Misses Madeline Ward, Lesley Ward, Frances Dart, Helen Roach, Gloria Roach, and Bessie Benson. Mrs. Anthony Newton was in charge of the talent table.

Mrs. Cyril Brown and Miss Vivian Peacock displayed three lovely layettes completed by the group which contained every article of clothing a new baby would want besides many extras including a gown for the mother.

Mrs. Wallace Horn, in charge of receipts reported the tea to be most successful. The group intends to use the money to buy wool and to send prisoner of war boxes to Port Hope boys.

Slays His Wife After Fortune Is Squandered

MINNEAPOLIS, July 30.—(AP).—Carl Henry Proehl, 44, a 'missing heir' who inherited the bulk of his mother's $43,000 estate after being located in California through a radio program, lay critically wounded to-day and his estranged wife of two years was dead from shotgun wounds which police say Proehl inflicted late Tuesday.

Detective Captain James Mullen said Proehl, under court order to stay away from his wife, Marie, 35, a war plant worker, shot her when she returned to their home late yesterday.

Proehl was wounded in the right chest when he attempted to shoot it out with police.

Proehl was located in 1939 through a 'missing heirs' radio program after his whereabouts had been unknown for ten years. His wife, whom he married in October, 1940, filed suit for divorce early this year. She alleged he had squandered $30,000 of his fortune, mostly on gambling, liquor and other women. Friends said Proehl's fortune had dwindled to about $6,000.

Threat For Canada

OTTAWA, July 30 — (CP). — Possibility of control of North American production by the United States, under an agreement with Great Britain, may endanger Canada's position in British markets, Senator A. D. McRae (Con. British Columbia) said in the Senate to-day.

Senator McRae asked the Government for clarification of Canada's position. He said Canada should have strong representation on the Washington Production Committee.

Police Driver Passes In Barrie

BARRIE, July 30 — After an illness of only a few days in the Royal Victoria Hospital here, James Elliott Cantwell, 48, formerly of Toronto, passed away yesterday.

A Provincial Police chauffeur for twenty-two years, Mr. Cantwell was well known in sports, newspaper and police circles in Toronto before his transfer to Barrie six years ago. He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Gladys Whimsett of Cobourg; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cantwell, 136 Warden Avenue, Toronto; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Stacey and Mrs. John Lennie, both of Toronto; a sister, Miss Jennie Cantwell of Ottawa, and three brothers, John and Charles of Toronto, and Jules of Calgary.

The body is being taken to Toronto, where it will rest in the Watson Funeral Home until Saturday. Interment will take place in the family plot in St. John's cemetery.

Cobourg Home Bought By Province For Training School For Girls

COBOURG, July 30 — (ENS) — Formerly used as a summer home by the McCook family of Pittsburg, the palatial McCook home at the east end of the town has been leased by the Ontario Government and will be converted into a training school for girls similar to the boys training school at Bowmanville. Several Cobourg properties, including Lakehurst, Pontiac Stock Farm, the Kerr residence and Cottesmore Hall, were examined by the government representatives, before the McCook place was decided upon.

The house is built on the style of an old English castle and is one of the beauty spots of Cobourg. In past years when the American summer colony flourished here, it was the scene of many gay events. Motorists seldom fail to note the fine building and extensive grounds in passing through Cobourg.

The furniture of the house is being removed this week and stored so that work can start at once on adapting the building for its new purpose. As the present premises of the Ontario Girls Training School at Galt is required as soon as possible for a naval school, work on the McCook property will go ahead as soon as possible. One of the main things to be done is the installation of a heating plant. It is stated that from forty to fifty girls will be brought here as soon as the building is ready for occupancy.

Call For 2nd Front

LONDON, July 30.—(CP).—Women war workers, all with husbands, sons, brothers or sweethearts in the British armed forces, appealed to Prime Minister Churchill and the House of Commons today for the opening of a second front.

The women at a London meeting pledged support for a second front with increased work at the factories and then sent a delegation to call at Churchill's official residence, 10 Downing Street, and the House of Commons.

Here is a clean, powerful, pentrating oil that brings speedy relief from the itching torture and discomfort.

Don't dig with fingernails, that only serves to spread the trouble. Just use equal parts of Moone's Emerald Oil and olive oil. Apply gently with the finger-tips once a day and shampoo every fourth day. You'll find this treatment not only soothes the itching and torture but helps promote more rapid healing—loose floating dandruff becomes a thing of the past.

You can obtain Emerald Oil in the original bottle at McDermid & Jury or any modern drug store.—(Advt.)

Hong Kong In Retrospect

The long-awaited Hong Kong debate is now over, and the air has cleared sufficiently for the citizens of this country to look at it frankly. Mr. Drew was not allowed to make his revelations which he assured us would curdle our blood, and this paper has already expressed its opinion that the Prime Minister's refusal to table his letter in the House created suspicion throughout the country. The contents of the letter are pretty generally known now, however, and most people feel that, although the letter contained displeasing allegations, the Hong Kong expedition is water over the dam, and we cannot improve our position by quarreling about it. There were matters in connection with the Hong Kong expedition which the British Government wish to remain secret, and the Prime Minister has kept them secret; his method of doing so may be criticised but not his motive.

The debate itself was conducted with an acrimonious violence unusual in the House; the behavior of the members compared unfavorably with that of the crowd attending an all-in wrestling match. The Prime Minister was goaded to describe the Opposition as a mob, and the word might have been applied to the House as a whole at that time. It was one of those demonstrations of democracy at work which would have delighted the heart of Adolf Hitler.

When the debate assumed coherence things were said which will doubtless be regretted in time. Although frequent assertions were made that the critics of the Government did not wish to confuse Sir Lyman Duff, the Royal Commissioner, with Sir Lyman Duff, the Chief Justice of Canada they repeatedly referred to him in his latter capacity, and if we read Hansard aright they imputed to him almost every fault possible in one of His Majesty's judges. Mr. C. E. Johnson, the New Democracy member for Bow River, seemed to suffer particularly from this confusion of Sir Lyman's offices, and as the Speaker pointed out to him, such confusion in a man of his Parliamentary experience could hardly be unwitting. Throughout the debate it was evident that an atmosphere had been worked up which was unsympathetic to a fair consideration of the matter in hand, but in retrospect we may see the Hong Kong affair with reasonable clarity.

The matter was clearly put by Mr. Ralston. Canada was asked to send men to Hong Kong and at the time it seemed possible that token forces at that point might deter the Japanese moves toward war. The men who were sent were not all perfectly trained or equipped, and there was slackness in the arrangements for their transport; by no means all these imperfections were the fault of Canada. But was Canada to refuse to send a force unless every risk was eliminated? Britain and Australia also lost men at Hong Kong; it was not our tragedy alone. It was one of the misfortunes of war, and although it was bitter, it was not the first, and will not be the last, in the military history of our country.

* * *

Mr. Ralston told the House that changes had been made in the Defence Department as a result of the Hong Kong episode in order that a repetition of the mistakes made then might be avoided. But it is clear that the main reason for the Hong Kong failure lay not in the equipment and training of our troops, but in the small number of Allied troops sent to defend that position, and in the determination of the Japanese to have it at any cost. The failure of Allied strategy far exceeded any fault on the part of Canada. But bitter as our loss was, would it not have been a bitterer humiliation if we had refused to send troops to Hong Kong at all?

No Need To Fret

Our able contemporary, the St. Catharine's Standard, is vexed because a manual issued to Canadian soldiers contains this statement: "It is a mere 120 years ago that William Lyon Mackenzie sacrificed a hard-earned livelihood, his safety, faced imprisonment and exile, for freedom of speech to attack a selfish controlling group." The Standard wants to know why a manual containing reference to the political problems of a century ago should be issued to our soldiers. "Does such stuff teach them to shoot straight or was it intended to have them vote straight?" it enquires; "what soldier in Canada would care a hoot about William Lyon Mackenzie?"

Soldiers do not fight in a void; they fight for a cause, and the paragraph to which the Standard objects reminds them that freedom of speech has been dear to their country for more than a century; to attach a party significance to it is to strain at a gnat. Our democratic army of today is well educated, upon the whole, and such a reminder would have significance for it. The days of an ignorant soldiery which was hired to kill without thought are gone, let us hope, forever.

A Marriage Is Arranged

A marriage has been arranged at the Toronto conference between organized Labor and the C.C.F. party. Whether the marriage will ever happen remains to be seen. Whether it will prove a happy match if it happens is also in doubt. Labor on this continent has, for a long time, declined to associate itself with any particular party, preferring to seek what it wants—usually better pay, shorter hours, and a restraint upon dismissals—from the party in power. This is a practical scheme; so long as Labor is non-party it may treat with any party, but as soon as it espouses a party it runs the risk of long periods when it must assume a purely defensive position.

The C.C.F. is a socialist party, and there are great numbers of Labor men and women who are unsympathetic to socialism. They want to see capitalistic industry shorn of some of its tyrannical powers, but they are shy of complete socialism; they are not keen to work for the government; they have seen countries where socialist control has not worked out well for their class and they want a better assurance than any which has been forthcoming that the same thing will not happen here. We anticipate that large sections of Labor will be antagonized by the way in which their union delegates have voted them into support of a socialist party.

The C.C.F. is also a farmers' party, and so long as it remains a minority group it is in a good position to fight the farmers' battles. But suppose it should become a majority group? Suppose it should come to power? As every intelligent farmer knows, socialism involves socialization of the land, and if the C.C.F. is honest and consistent it will make a move in that direction. Now socialized farming doubtless works well in Russia, where the farmers have never owned the land they work, but how will it appeal to those men and women who have owned their own farms? Poor farmers might welcome it as a happy escape from mortgages and market fluctuations, but what will prosperous farmers think?

It is possible that the C.C.F. has come too late in history with its plan for a socialist-agriculturist-labor party in Canada; there are indications that such schemes are already old-fashioned and that post-war reconstruction may take an entirely different trend. As a matter of interest we re-publish a comment made on this sort of political thinking made by H. G. Wells in 1938; certainly nobody can claim that Mr. Wells is a friend of either of the old-established political parties in Canada. He said:

"Only a hundred years ago Karl Marx evolved a fantastic notion, partly from an inadequate analysis of British trade unionism and partly out of his inner consciousness that the worker mass could become a mighty reconstructive force in the world. With no blueprints of what it was going to reconstruct. That would be the heresy of Utopianism. That delusion, embodied in Communism and labor Socialism, has undermined and checked the forces of science and creative liberalism for a century.

"The British labor leaders, in power, showed themselves politicians within the containing politics of their time, they had neither the imagination nor the confidence in themselves to lay hands upon the universities, the diplomatic service, the foreign office and the monetary and financial organizations they found in being; they seem never to have heard of the gold standard until it hit them; and put to the test they did not even 'nationalize' anything of importance. John L. Lewis may end in the White House as Ramsay MacDonald ended in royal favor, Clynes and Henderson in court costumes and Snowden and Webb in the House of Lords. But 'end' is the word for what any definitely labor politician seems likely to do in the way of creative reconstruction."

The changes which will follow the war, we feel, may be quite different in nature and trend from anything which the C.C.F. dreams of. Creative reconstruction implies something larger than a class war.

The U.S. will save 60 tons of steel this year by discontinuing the manufacture of certain types of corset. We always though the Ironsides were Cromwell's soldiers.

Canadian Historical Plays

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

OUR Canadian literature, small in itself, contains few plays; this is not a country which provides either opportunities or rewards for playwrights. If a writer chooses the dramatic form he must be content to have his plays acted by amateurs and the royalties which he receives will never swell his income to the point where he will become liable for Excess Profits Tax. We must regard our Canadian playwrights, therefore, as peculiarly unselfish people, and we must give them the credit which is due to those who undertake an unprofitable and uphill task.

The latest volume of Canadian plays to appear is published by Longmans Green, and it is the work of Hilda Mary Hooke who lives near London, Ontario. It is called simply "One Act Plays From Canadian History" and it contains eight short pieces which should be of interest and value to amateur theatre groups, and particularly those which are connected with schools. Mrs. Hooke was born in Somerset, and was brought to Canada by her parents when she was a small child. She spent her early years near London, and received a good musical education there; for a time she was on the teaching staff of the London Conservatory. Later she worked in the offices of the London Board of Education, and while engaged in this work she began to write plays and to take an interest in the Little Theatre Movement. People interested in that work, which flourished here during the period when Lord Bessborough was Governor-General, will remember the exceptionally fine work which was done in the London district. A secondary hobby of Mrs. Hooke's is Canadian history, and in this small volume of plays she has combined the two enthusiasms.

The hero of "On The King's Birthday" is Lieutenant Thomas Talbot, who was at one time a member of Governor Simcoe's staff. Talbot also figures in the third play, "The Princess of the Snows," which touches lightly upon the unhappy love which was felt for him by Princess Amelia, the youngest daughter of George the Third. And in the fourth play, "Here Will I Nest," we see Talbot in his Canadian home, Castle Malahide, on the shores of Lake Erie, later to blossom as the Talbot Settlement.

THE THREE plays which follow those concerning Talbot all have their scene in the district of Baldoon, which Lord Selkirk settled in 1804 with a hundred Scotsmen and women from Tobermory in the island of Mull. Baldoon was on Lake St. Clair, near the site of the present town of Wallaceburg. The settlement did not thrive, and most of the families which comprised it either died or moved elsewhere. The principal character in this group of plays is Dr. Troyer, a German physician who lived near the settlement and who was reputed to deal in black magic. Mrs. Hooke does not appear to be able to make up her mind whether she should treat Troyer seriously or as an impostor. It is possible that he appeared in both lights during his lifetime, but the character as it appears in these sketches is unsatisfactory. The final play in the book, "Helene of New France," is about Champlain's twelve year old wife.

The dramatist who seeks inspiration in history encounters special difficulties. The characters of the drama must be reasonably true to fact, but they must also be sufficiently heightened and inflated to make them interesting on the stage. And when, in addition to these problems, the dramatist chooses to write 'natural' dialogue as Mrs. Hooke has done, the difficulties are greatly increased. One general criticism of these plays will suffice; they are somewhat clumsily contrived as drama; the melodramatic plots run too brief and abrupt a course. Nevertheless they should make their effect on the stage, and we may hope to see amateur groups making use of this book soon.

Unconsidered Trifles

"Last time I called on you your husband was working for the Government. What's he doing now?"

"Nothin'—'e's still there."

Neighbor (looking over garden fence): "Have your bees done well this year, Brown?"

Brown: "Well, they haven't given much honey, but they've stung my mother-in-law twice."

Captain of a youthful cricket team (to new resident): "Will you join our cricket club, sir?"

New Resident: "Well, really, I'm afraid I know absolutely nothing about the game. I couldn't do anything except umpire."

Counsel addressed the man in the dock: "Did you, or did you not, on the day in question, or at any time previously, or subsequently, say, or even intimate, to the defendant or to anyone else, that statement imputed to you, whether just or unjust, and denied by plaintiff, was a matter of no moment, or otherwise? Answer me! Did you or did you not?"

The man in the dock clutched his throat.

"Did I, or did I not what?" he gasped.

"Guv'nor," said the dusty traveller, "how far is it to Gloucester?"

"'Bout a mile and a half," replied the farmer.

"Can I ride with you "

"Certainly. Climb in!"

At the end of the three-quarters of an hour the traveller asked: "How are are we from Gloucester now?"

"'Bout four miles and a half."

"Great haystocks! Why didn't you tell me we were going away from Gloucester?"

"Why didn't you tell me you wanted to go there."

TARGET PRACTICE

"Thought I'd move in here—it's too crowded in our tent!"

Hitler Near Caucasus Goal

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press War Analyst

HITLER'S first objective in his drive to destroy or immobilize mighty Russia before Anglo-American striking power can intervene is appallingly close to attainment within less than six weeks of the onset of the campaign.

The rich Caucasian region has been all but cut off from the rest of Russia. The knife edge of German attack is within less than fifty miles of the Volga in the east, and has cut deeply south of the Don in the centre and the west. Thus the Nazis bid fair to obtain a stranglehold on the neck of the Caucasian isthmus from the Black Sea to the Caspian.

Isolated in that manner from the rest of Russia, the Caucasus would be left to leisurely Nazi dissection to obtain the oil it holds. Moreover, if Hitler reaches the Caspian down the west bank of the Volga, he will have established virtually the complete southern half of a strong defensive short line across Russia from the Baltic to the Caspian. German seizure of Leningrad and Moscow would complete a 1,500-mile holding front for his armies, as compared to the 2,000-mile front along which they now are deployed, and permit him to turn westward again.

MOUNTAINS IN WAY

Seemingly inevitable rupture of the Russian front from the Black Sea to the Volga, if not the Caspian Sea, does not mean imminent German occupation of the whole Caucasian isthmus, however. Russian chances for prolonged defense of the main Baku oilfields, still more than 600 miles south of the nearest Nazi spearhead beyond the Don, are good.

The Caucasus mountain range offers a tremendous and easily defended barrier to a Nazi march southward. While the flat lands of the central area of the isthmus south of the Don, where the main attack centres, are well adapted for Nazi mechanized operation, to reach Baku the mountains must be crossed. They are all but roadless, have no low passages and are commanded by the highest peaks in Europe.

The central plain is deeply fringed on the east by extensive marsh lands and deserts of the Volga Delta south of Stalingrad. The whole Caucasus also is peopled by nearly a score of Cossack tribes which have enjoyed virtually autonomous political existence within the Soviet Federation. They are fierce fighting men on their own terrain. Guerilla harassment of Nazi communication lines, already extended beyond any possibility of adequate protection and growing longer every day, is certain to reach even greater proportions in the Caucasus than it has in other Nazi occupied regions of Russia.

FLEET STILL IN BEING

Should Hitler attempt the coastal route, south of the Caucasus range along the Black Sea shore, in an effort to reach Baku and its oil stores, even more defensible terrain filed with Russian mountaineer tribes would confront him. His columns must keep down the narrow coastal belt where the only roads run, and with the Russians perched on the heights of their flank. His only other route would be a sea-borne incursion across the Black Sea from the Crimea, and the Russian Black Sea fleet still is to be reckoned with.

Dark as the Russian outlook is with the lower Don line lost or at best badly cracked, these factors offer some cheer. They also may figure in whatever revision of Anglo-American plans may have been forced by the German advance in Russia.

For there is another Russian asset to be considered. Even if separated from the rest of Russia by a German break-throuh to the Volga, the defenders of the vital Caspian oil fields can still count on the Allied supply line via the Persian Gulf, Iran and the Caspian. They could not get weapons and munitions from Russian industrial centres, but British and American supplies might enable them to continue a foot-by-foot fight.

Whitehall Notebook

By DOUGLAS AMARON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 30—(CP).—Prime Minister Churchill is reported to be preparing his own account of the war, to be published when victory is won. His method is to employ a staff of students to look up facts and figures and then, on the basis of notes supplied by research workers, he dictates at almost incredible speed.

The Prime Minister's work is set into type with extra wide margins which gives him space in which to build his lucid expositions. Each sheet is scored with numerous corrections in Mr. Churchill's bold, legible handwriting to await the day when publication will become diplomatically possible.

Mr. Churchill, incidentally, stirred many memories when he referred in the House of Commons to war correspondents in Libya. He once was a war correspondent himself, sending dispatches on the Boer War to the Morning Post.

During that campaign, Mr. Churchill was taken prisoner and despite his demands for release as a war correspondent was sent to an improvised concentration camp. It held him for three weeks before he passed boldly within five yards of a centry at the gates and walked into Pretoria.

This is how the Boers described the fugitive: "Englishman, 25 years old, about five feet eight inches high, indifferent build; walks a little with a bend forward; pale appearance; red brownish hair; small mustache, hardly perceptible; talks through his nose; cannot pronounce the letter 's' properly, and doesn't know one word of Dutch."

How many people today would recognise him by that description?

A great friendship has developed between Mrs. Churchill and Mme. Maisky, wife of the Russian Ambassador. They frequently are seen in public and share the same gallery in the House of Commons.

Britain's smallest "free" movement is to be established among the 60 Siamese young men who came here before the war to study law, medicine and economics at British universities.

The free Thai movement was started in the United States and Mani Sanasen, a permanent official at the League of Nations for 15 years, has come to Britain to find out how his compatriots can help the Allied cause.

Two Thailanders already are in British uniform. Prince Chirasakti is a ferry pilot and his cousin, Prince Voranonda, a leading aircraftman.

Hannen Swaffer, Vitriolic Daily Herald columnist, criticizing British service departments for minimizing the feats of men in the forces, warned that the story "America Won the War," may be repeated again to the detriment of Anglo-American relations unless there is a rapid change.

He took as an example the Americans' Independence Day raid on Netherlands air fields which the United States army publicity bureau described briefly four hours before the Air Ministry's communique appeared. The full story of the operation, Swaffer said, "must have given the world the idea that it was an American raid," while in reality half the planes were manned by British crews.

"No one desires to minimize any effort by our trans-Atlantic allies," Swaffer continued. "We owe them far too much. But again we are doing what we did when, ignoring our own share in the Libyan advance, yet glorifying what the Australians did, we encouraged the idea that 'Britain is doing nothing.'"

Military Drinking

CANADA'S armed forces have received a too long delayed clean bill of health from a Parliamentary sub-committee dealing with military rationing. Its report makes a point of stating in the strongest terms that intemperance among the men in uniform is confined to a very few, and that "the conduct of our military forces in this regard, as in others, is a credit to Canada."

Whether wet canteens should be maintained in military posts is entirely beside the point of this discussion. That is a matter for settlement elsewhere. What must be pointed out is that certain "dry" enthusiasts have been entirely too lurid in their statements about the "demoralization" and "degradation" of our sailors, soldiers and airmen through having liquor available.

Whatever arguments these people use in support of their theories are their own business, unless and until they cast unjustified reflections on the men in the forces. When they do that, as many of them have, then there is cause for resentment on the part of everyone who holds these men in respect. It may be spectacular to picture our men in uniform as a body whose members are being made into drunkards, but it is not fair or truthful. It is, furthermore, definitely unpatriotic.

The Parliamentary sub-committee has done a service to the armed forces and to all of Canada by so vehemently spiking this unworthy propaganda.—Windsor Star.

We Never Can Tell

It may require a stretch of the imagination to envisage the day when ships are replaced almost entirely by planes. There is, in fact, a chance that such a day may never come. But it will not do to be dogmatic about it. Remember the people who used to insist so scornfully that the motor car would never replace the horse and buggy?—Brantford Expositor.

IN WAR TIME

1917 Corp. W. H. Ryall, formerly of the 8th C.M.R. is now officially presumed dead. He was first reported wounded.

City has begun the practice of dumping refuge on the river bank at the foot of Dalhousie street.

William Elson, tax collector for Cavan, is fatally scalded when he falls into a vat of boiling water in Janes' veneer factory.

The 57th Regiment, Canadian defense force has been officially abolished.

Because of extremely hot weather employees of the Bonner-Worth Company were sent home from work this afternoon.

A Bible Message For Today

And the Lord said unto Moses, Hew thee two tables of stone like unto the first: and I will write upon these tables the words that were in the first tables, which thou brakest.... And he hewed two tables of stone like unto the first; and Moses rose up early in the morning, and went up unto mount Sinai, as the Lord had commanded him, and took in his hand the two tables of stone. And the Lord descended in the cloud, and stood with him there, and proclaimed the name of the Lord.

And the Lord passed by before him, and proclaimed, The Lord, The Lord God, merciful and gracious, longsuffering and abundant in goodness and truth, keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, that will by no means clear the guilty. — Ex. xxxiv, 1, 4-7.

I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people; and I will sing praises unto thee among the nations. For thy mercy is great above the heavens; and thy truth reacheth unto the clouds.— Ps. cviii, 3, 4.

Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day.... All the paths of the Lord are mercy and truth unto such as keep his covenant and his testimonies.—Ps. xxv, 5, 10.

Think not that I am come to destroy the law or the prophets; I am not come to destroy but to fulfil.... Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven.—Matt. v, 17, 19.

C.C.F. Anti-Conscriptionists

WHEN it was important to demonstrate to the world that the conscription issue in Canada was capable of settlement on a non-party basis—a consideration which the Conservative and New Democracy groups recognized and properly responded to—Mr. Coldwell and his followers opposed the bill and thus increased the threat of national disunity which the Government has sought by orderly sequence of action to overcome.

Here was an opportunity for statesmanship. Instead, Mr. Coldwell and the five C.C.F. members who voted with him, Messrs. Castleden, Gillis, MacInnis, Noseworthy and Wright, apparently, considered the matter entirely on a basis of political expediency.

If, in the future, their utterances on behalf of total war give forth a discordantly hollow ring, they will have only themselves and their narrow partisan action with regard to Bill 80 to blame. The Quebec anti-conscriptionists may be grateful to them for their support. Perhaps some time in the future the debt will be repaid. But many C.C.F. sympathizers surely will feel that they have been sold down the river for a mess of very unsavory "soupe au pois." Whatever reputation Mr. Coldwell enjoys for sincerity will not be enhanced by this unpleasant sample of eleventh-hour political bargaining.—Regina Leader-post.

Aiding Spinsters

Sir Percy Harris, Liberal whip in the House of Commons, addressed the National Spinsters' Association in Britain, and expressed concern over the future of single women over 50 who now are engaged on war work. He said one of the forthcoming post-war tragedies was who would want these women over 50. He added: "I think you can put a strong case for pensions at 55, at any rate for women who went in for war work at this critical stage of the nation's history."—Brandon Sun.

Hepburn Scores War Conduct, Contempt So Far

PORT TALBOT, Ont., July 30 —(CP).—A critical review of Canada's war effort by Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario ended last night with the assertion that "we have earned for ourselves, and rightly so, the utter contemtp of our allies."

He said the Government can serve the people best "by forgetting political expediency and saving the nation, not its own selfish political future."

"We must stand shoulder to shoulder with our British and American allies in the struggle for existence. There is no other consideration now."

The Ontario Premier referred to the National Registration, the 30-day Training Plan, the National Census, the Hong Kong Expedition, and the Plebiscite during his address, made at the annual reunion of the Aldborough Old Boys' Association at this village near his home at St. Thomas, Ont.

He said that if Canada fails to do her duty in this war "those of us who are leaders of public thought and opinion today" will be damned by "an embittered and enslaved posterity."

He said that when he went to Parliament in 1926 as Liberal member for Elgin West he "looked upon the Liberal party as a great national organization prepared to follow the traditions of Laurier and the other great leaders of Liberalism of the past."

Sees It Gone Now

"It is a Liberalism that no longer exists," he said. "Only narrow, selfish, political expediency survives. Today Canada is governed by a group of men whose autocracy and stupidity are doing irreparable damage to this country."

Referring to the Defence of Canada Regulations chairge laid against Lt.-Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, and later withdrawn, the Ontario Premier said: "I hold no brief for Colonel Drew, but the abortive attempt to persecute him would do justice to the Gestapo of Nazi Germany."

(Col. Drew was charged in connection with statements made concerning the report of the Royal Commission which investigated the sending of Canadian troops to Hong Kong.

Millions Of Japs Knew Of War All Kept Secret

By MORRIS J. HARRIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

LOURENCO MARQUES, PORTUGESE EAST AFRICA, July 28.—(Delayed)—(AP).— To China and her millions the outbreak of war between the United States and Japan was a complete surprise—but not to he Japanese and their henchmen in occupied areas there.

Despite amazing secrecy of the titanic move, a majority of the Japanese in China knew that war with another foe was near, while Americans and other foreigners and Chinese wistfully felt it couldn't happen.

A million Japanese soldiers and another million Japanese civilians in China were in the know And as one man they kept their mouths shut.

The revelation of how Japanese authorities had marshalled the legions of their countrymen in China into regimented secrecy came out after the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Then they unpocketed detailed plans of the war's prosecution which of course, included the use of uncounted thousands of Japanese "civilians" in China in aiding the armed forces in every describable way.

To the elated Japanese the lick they got in at Pearl Harbor was the achievement of achievements in their empire's history.

The Ones Who Think.

To the more sober Japanese the bombs that blasted Pearl Harbor started a fire which will either make the Japanese empire one of the world's greatest or break Japan utterly.

To fanatical Japanese who cheerfully hurl themselves at death there's no defeat possible.

The minute Tokyo flashed the news of the attacks, Japan's long-perfected machine in occupied China went into action swiftly and overwhelmingly.

With amazing promptness and precision the Japanese descended in the early morning hours upon Allied nationals, their institutions and offices throughout occupied China.

The Associated Press office in Shanghai, like many others there, was sealed by Japanese who arrived with minutely-detailed diagrams of every establishment.

The procedure clicked precisely. By noon everything American, British and Dutch had been bagged. In Shanghai army and navy gendarmes plastered up thousands of big notices telling everybody how to behave. The month "December" had been printed on the notices but the date was left blank.

The neatly printed posters, phrased in correct English, bore no evidence of hasty preparation; all indications that they had long been prepared. Some even had been yellowed from exposure.

Gendarmes appeared, arresting correspondents, bankers, educationists and merchants in an effort to prove their flimsy contention that every American in China was a spy.

Farm Commissioner

J. G. Robertson, who for the last 23 years has been livestock commissioner for Saskatchewan, has been appointed agriculture commissioner for Canada in Great Britain. He succeeds the late Dr. William Allen, who died at sea, as the result of enemy action in May, 1941. Mr. Robertson graduated from MacDonald Agricultural College, McGill University, in 1912, with the degree of Bachelor of Science, Agriculture. He went overseas in 1910 and served in France and was wounded at Vimy Ridge in 1917.

Jap Extremists Forced The War

NEW YORK, July 30 —(CP)—A wireless dispatch to the New York Times yesterday from Otto D. Tolischus, formerly its Tokyo correspondent and this week at Lourenco Marques, Portuguese Africa, en route home, says Japan was plunged into war because of a virtual revolt of military extremists.

The dispatch continues:—

"Nazified ultranationalist organizations had swept out civilian control by the threat of mass assassinations of the third Konoye cabinet and even resorted to veiled hints that if the Emperor opposed the war he would be immured at Tokyo as the spiritual head of the nation, as were the emperors before the Meiji restoration.

"The threat of mass assassinations was backed by two attempts on the life of Baron Kiichiro Hiranuma within three days last August, the second of which inflicted serious injuries to his jaw and neck. These attacks preceded and were succeeded by threats against all cabinet members, including the Premier, Prince Fuminaro Konoye, as a result of which the third Konoye cabinet resigned shortly afterward, removing the last bulwark against military domination of Japan's policy, which meant war.

Jap Admiral Dies Bleating For Aid

HOLLYWOOD, July 30 —(AP)—Even a Japanese admiral in the Battle of Midway cried for somebody to rescue him Lieut. William Christie of Flint, Mich., who scored two direct hits on the Cruiser Nogami, related yesterday.

"We've all been told about the tradition of the Japs," the flier said in an NBC broadcast—"How it was an honor to die for the emperor."

Christie said he and other members of a flight had dropped their bombs and were on their way back to the Carrier Yorkton when they picked up a frantic Japanese message. One of the officers translated it:

"This is Admiral (name withheld). We have been bombed. Please send Japanese vessels immediately and take me off. We are going to sink. Please hurry. I am afraid that more American planes will come. Please somebody come and get me. I command you to come immediately. This is Admiral ——."

Christie said they did not know before the admiral started appealing for help that the cruiser was the flagship of the Midway invasion fleet, adding "We sank the ship with the Jap admiral."

Skipped 35 Drills

LONDON, Ont., July 30 (CP) — Seventeen-year-old Reginald Jerome Gooding of Parkhill liked everything about the reserve army but the drills. Last March he enlisted in the 11th Field Company, R.C.E., reserve, was issued a uniform, then missed every one of the 35 drills from that date until now. Yesterday in court he was fined $5 and costs.

Mine Union Buys Glace Bay Daily

GLACE BAY, N.S., July 30—(CP).—Sale of the Gazette, Glace Bay's only daily newspaper, to the district 26 organization of the United Mine Workers of America was disclosed on Tuesday in a front-page announcement in the paper.

The union purchased the 42-year-old afternoon paper from A. D. Macneill, its owner and managing director for the last 35 years. The purchase gave the U.M.W. its first daily publication in Canada.

A. A. McKay, secretary-treasurer of the U.M.W. district 26, said in a statement carried in Tuesday's issue:

"In accirdance with the decision of the last district convention, the district executive board has purchased the Glace Bay Gazette, which will develop into a labor paper.

"This paper will be owned and controlled by District No. 26, U.M.W. of A.

"The policy of the paper will be in accordance with the policy of the United Mine Workers of America."

LAWN BOWLERS PLAN 32-RINK TOURNAMENT ON CIVIC HOLIDAY

Mud Crimps Day On The Circuit

OLD ORCHARD, Me., July 30 — (AP)—Weather and track conditions combined to reduce the Grand Circuit's 12-heat program to four 7½-furlong heats yesterday when the "wigglers" returned to action on the kite track after a two-day lay-off.

The distances were shortened because the chute, out of which the horses start in the mile, was deep in mud. Gypsy Hanover, owned by James Young of Quincy, Mass., accounted for the Classified Trot in two straight heats. The 12-Bar Trot, a three-heat affair, was suspended after the three-year-old Hurry Up and the aged gelding Little Evie each won heats.

The stakes for two-year-old trotters, two-year-old pacers and three-year-old trotters, originally scheduled for yesterday, will be run off today.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

C.G.E. Generals, almost the forgotten team in softball by reason of the fact that they have played only one game in over two weeks will be back in action at the Ashburnham Bowl tonight when they clash with the Brintons. And the Generals had better be good. The Carpet-Weavers are not under their repsective collars as the result of the lacing they took from Westclox the other night. They are looking for revenge from some one and they would just as soon extract it from the league leaders as from any one else. The Brinton outfit are capable of a lot better ball than they showed in that 23-6 affair and they are likely to pick tonight as a fine time to show it. All of which adds up to the fact that the Generals will have to play ball or find the Big Bens perched up alongside them. The starting pitchers look like Norma Strickland for Generals and Leila Hughes for Brintons and the battle will get under way at 7 o'clock sharp at the Bowl.

The Royals-Luckies' game, postponed from Monday night and rather billed between Plazas and Soldiers, once more moves into the centre of the stage. The two will clash tomorrow night at Riverside Park and we have an idea that this will be a mighty exciting ball game. Royals have an eye on the top shelf and a win for them tomorrow night would put them in a position to tie the Plazas if the hockey squad should happen to drop their postponed game with Soldiers. Luckies on the contrary are looking for a victory because they are hoping that Soldiers will be beaten by Plazas in which case a win for Luckies over Royals would tie them and the Soldiers for third position and necessitate a playoff. Akers or Fraser or Bob Crowe will twirl for Royals while Luckies will select either Bill Lewis, or Bev Gray for this decidedly important argument. It is billed for 7 o'clock Friday night.

* * * * * *

The big benefit game scheduled for last night between Plazas and Soldiers was called off during the afternoon on account of wet grounds. As it turned out the game could have been played but the outlook was not very reassuring and in view of the fact that the proceeds were to go to help the boys in the navy, the league officials felt that it would be wise to wait for better conditions. Last night's game has been postponed until Tuesday night of next week and it is hoped that better weather will prevail as it is desired to raise a bumper sum for the Navy fund. There is a lot of interest in the clash for both Plazas and Soldiers have their following and the fans regard the meeting of the two outfits in the last game of the regular schedule as likely to produce some of the best ball of the campaign. Meanwhile of course the interest will shift to the battle between Royals and Luckies, for that too will have a lot of bearing on the final standing.

The Dodgers Again

The Brooklyn Dodgers have successfully stood off the challenge of the St. Louis Cards; in fact in the "croocial" series between the two outfits the Bums have increased their lead. They jumped the margin to eight full games yesterday by defeating the Cards in an abbreviated twilight battle by 4 to 3 with Whit Wyatt triumphing over M. Cooper. St. Louis scored two runs in the seventh and last frame to make it close but as our soccer friends say they could not put together the equalizer. A couple of double-headers in the National loop yesterday were split. New York and Chicago divided one twin-bill and the feature of that double clash was the fact that Mungo made his first appearance of the year as a Giant pitcher and lost the decision to the Cubs 4 to 2. At that Mungo allowed only seven hits as against 10 rapped by the Giants off the delivery of Rookie Bithorn. Mel Ott's men grabbed the second game 3 to 1 with Lohrman hanging up his 10th win of the season. He had fine help from Dick Bartell and Babe Young, both of whom walloped homers.

* * * * * *

A pair of hard-working Boston Brave pitchers got a 50-50 break yesterday when the Boston club split a double-header with the Pittsburg Pirates. Javery who has won six games and lost 15 worked for the Braves in the first game and ran into a five-hitter by Sewell that was too much for him. Sewell in fact was so good that Boston were unable to get a run and the Corsairs won by the shutout route 3 to 0. Tobin who has won eight games and dropped 14 had better luck in the second engagement going the route to win a 6 to 5 decision. Heintzelman started for the Pirates but Klinger had to be called in and the loss was finally checked up against him.

* * * * * *

Boston Red Sox had a chance to gain a game and a half on the New York Yanks yesterday but blew most of it by dropping an eleven innings game to Cleveland while the Yanks were bowing twice to the Chicago White Sox. The Red Sox came from behind to tie the Indians and the clubs went into extra innings on even terms with six runs each but Roy Weatherly's single with the bases loaded in the 11th gave the Indians a win. Embree was the winning Indian pitcher and Yank Terry the loser. The Yanks were beaten 6 to 5 in eleven innings, Atley Donald being the loser and then 7 to 5 in the second game that saw Lefty Gomez sent to the showers. Detroit Tigers scored eight runs in the seventh frame to knock off the A's 12 to 7, the Bengals' first win in six starts and Washington Senators and St. Louis Browns had a real old time slugging match before the Senators by scoring four runs in the ninth took the verdict, 11-10.

Bawden Going Strong

In his Belleville sport column Ken Colling has the following dope on softball in the Quinte city: "Let's glance over the pitching strength of the four local softball clubs on the eve of the league playoffs. In the "A" series between the Vets and Bombers Skipper Kiser has the veteran Johnnie Bawden and Connie Harris to toss at Ray Barrett's Bombers. Bawden won seven games without a defeat, while Connie won three and was charged with the Vets' only loss. The Bombers have Smith and Coveyduc, both of whom have found tough sledding in the loop. In the "B" series Archie Major's Reliance A.C. boasts of three moundsmen, Bill Anderson, Freddie Vasil and Mike Power and it must be remembered the "plane-makers" have only lost two games in twelve, Skipper Green has Al Bell, who though not as strong as Russ Saltzberry, shapes up as strong on the mound as anything Major can produce. The difference in this series will be in the hitting powers of the respective "B" series teams. Tims Williams is the Babe Ruth of the Reliance, while Chipman and Barriage have been bashing the ball with consistency. Archie Green is the most proficient and consistent hitter with the Flyers, although Moe Gleason and Conley have been doing fairly well with the willow of late, which makes this series loom up as one to be productive of some real thrills."

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Toronto Maple Leafs and Jersey City Giants played a 1-1 tie last night with the game having to be called at the end of the ninth to let the visiting team catch a train.... The battles between the Leafs and Jerseys have been among the best of the season.... St. Louis Browns used six pitchers trying to stop Washington yesterday but even the half dozen were not enough.... Washington Redskins have signed Tim Croft, the biggest man ever to hit a professional football roster ....Croft weighs 320 pounds which puts him in the tank class.... Baltimore Orioles have taken four out of five from the Buffalo Bisons, grabbing off the final game of the series last night 4 to 3.... They're bringing a referee from Hamilton for the Ray Steele-Whipper Watson wrestling match in Toronto tonight.... Hope he gets in early enough to rehearse the act with the boys.... Only five games separate the second place Jersey City club and the six-slot Baltimore Orioles.... The International loop is having a real race this year.

Rain Postpones Mixed Doubles

By HERB MARTIN

It hain't no ue to grumble and complain;
It's just as cheap and easy to rejoice;
When God sorts out the weather and sends rain,
Why rain's my choice.
—James Whitcomb Riley.

The rain that came yesterday morning was just enough to spoil what had all the earmarks of a real tournament. It looked as if we were going to have around twenty-four pairs of mixed doubles.

However, we are not spoiling any secret when we say that the committee intends to stage this same tournament at a later date.

And although the rain did spoil our afternoon's fun it did not stop the boys from playing their schedule games of last night. And now that George Gimblett's rink has definitely won the honors of Group Nr. 1 it will be most interesting to see who will finish in second place; and it's going to be close.

We were sorry we missed the finish of the Kerr-Carlisle game played on Tuesday evening. They tell us it was one of those games you read about but seldom see. It seems that Mr. Kerr's boys were trailing all the way through the game in spite of the fact that he helped himself to a seven end. However, he was three down coming home, and Carlisle was laying shot near the "kitty". F. E. K. played a beautiful pickout to count four and game. Besides being a great finish it has set Mr. Kerr up in conversation.

Our boys who intended to take in the Port Perry tournament decided to stay home. The risk of being rained out was not worth it. We don't know if the Belleville tournament was played or called off.

Have you made your entry to Chairman R. F. Downey for the Open tournament, to be held next Monday, Civic Holiday? This is the tournament that puts the ePterborough Lawn Bowling Club on the map. Last year we had 30 entries mbut this year the committee is hoping for their full quota of 32. Many rinks are entered from the outside clubs, and more are expected, but the committee would like to see more local rinks entered and if there is anything that the committee members can do to help organize a rink or two they will be only too willing to co-operate. Just make your want known to R. F. Downey. And remember, this is the only big open tournament for men's rink that our club is holding this season. It may seem funny, but all the local entries so far are out of Group No. 1.

Get busy this evening and line up a rink. It's going to be a good day for lawn bowling and a lot of good fellows are going to be bowling.

The Wrong Animal

BELLEVILLE, Ont., July 30 — (CP).—The person who set a large rat trap near his house last week-end got more than he bargained for: a skunk. The city dog-catcher was called to shoot the animal.

BIG RURAL FAMILIES

The average size of families is larger in the rural areas of the United States than in the cities.

Leaf Base Thefts Good-But Far Off Record

By GORD WALKER

TORONTO, July 30—When the Leafs hit the century mark in stolen bases a few weeks ago, we started digging into Spalding Guides from way back. After all, 100 base thefts with the campaign barely past the halfway mark might be a new International League record.

A Motorized Unit?

We know better now. The Grimesmen, daring as they are on the basepaths, probably won't hit 50 per cent of the steals the 1920 Buffalo's racked up. That was the season that Dowd clicked off 59 stolen bases and four other Bisons went over the 40 mark to give the Herd a team total of 368.

For that matter there are quite a few other league-leading marks in that department which the Leafs won't be able to equal. The Bisons racked up 325 thefts in 1921, Newark had 279 in 1919. And, in five consecutive years, not a team in the league but grabbed itself over 100 of the things each season.

So the Leafs will have to set their sights on a lower objective. According to our unofficial tally-sheet, Leip, Whitehead and Company have accumulated 124 steals with 51 games left on their calendar. That's the best mark since Newark piled up 132 during the entire 1932 campaign.

But the local band could easily surpass that figure, should go as high as Newark's 162, which set the league pace in 126. If they reach that objective, they can only hope to accomplish one more feat. That would be to top Newark's 167 in 1924. After that comes the 325 Buffalo marked up in '21.

Bears Closing In

Strangely enough, the Leafs aren't even certain of leading the league this season, in stolen bases. Newark Bears are rapidly closing the gap, thanks to the brilliant basepantherish actions of George (Snuffy) Stirnweiss. A week ago, the Leafs had something like a lead of 15 on the Bears, and the Toronto production has fallen off its early pace.

Stirnweiss, incidentally has a pretty fair chance of setting a new league record. He has 47 to his credit thus far, needs 22 more to surpass the all-time high of 68 established by Frank Kane of Jersey City in 1921. At any rate, Stirnweiss should climb past the 60 mark which Eusibo Gonzales recorded for Toronto the same year.

Eddie Leip, whose 26 thefts have sparked Toronto's drive toward the S.B. title, will quite likely compile the highest Leafian mark in twelve years. He needs only five more to better Joe Rabbit's 30 in 1931, needs 12 more to surpass speedy Joe's 37 of 1930. Hasn't much chance to hit Rabbit's league-leading 46 of 1929.

To Wed

The romance of Diana Barrymore, young screen actress and daughter of the late John Barrymore, and Bramwell Fletcher, leading man of stage and screen, was altar-bound as they filed notice of their intention to wed at the marriage license bureau in Los Angeles. It will be the first trip to the altar for Miss Barrymore while for Fletcher it will be the second matrimonial venture.

Halt Leaf-Jersey Battle at 1-1

By The Associated Press.

If you saw Sewel Blackwell in civilian clothes you wouldnt think he was a mainstay of Syracuse Chiefs' hurling corps. He is six feet five inches tall and skinny However. if you saw him pitching in an International League game you would readily understand why he is regarded as one of the most promising pitchers in the minor leagues

The lanky righthander has a fast ball that hums. Blackwell is the property of Cincinnati Reds. He was sent to the Chiefs to gain experience and since joining Syracuse has received the nickname 'Hard Luck' because of the low-hit games he lost.

He had no hard luck last night, though, scattering nine Montreal hits in racking up his ninth conquest of the season as the Chiefs defeated the Royals, 7-3.

Syracuse also collected nine blows off three hurlers to complete a sweep of the series. Bobby Adams. Dutch Mele, Eddie Shokes and Woody Williams got two hits each.

Baltimore Orioles took the season's series from the Buffalo Bisons. 12 games to 10 as they defeated the Bisons, 4-3. The Orioles walloped Andy Sierra for 14 hits while Ray Flanigan and Ken Trinkle gave up 10.

In the only other game played, Jersey Giants and Toronto Maple Leafs battled to a 1-1 nine-inning tie. Play was halted to allow the Jerseys to catch a train.

The Leafs' only run came in the second when Jimmy Ripple doubled home im Russell, who had walked. The Giants tied it up in the fifth when Sal Magee and Joe Crengo doubled. Nick Strincevich gave up five hits while Maglie was touched for six.

Slugging Wins; Boston Nosed By Cleveland 7-6

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sport Writer

Chicago White Sox have been going nowhere in the American League ever since the season started, but they have attained one distinction denied every other club in the circuit. They are the only team to sweep a doubleheader from the world champion New York Yankees and they have accomplished the feat not once, but twice.

When the Sox first turned the trick in New York on Sunday, June 28, the Yanks were in a slump and the Sox didn't get much credit. It was like picking on a man when he was down.

But they caught the champions last night at the crest of a winning streak that included four straight victories and 15 of their last 16 games and proceeded to whip the Yankees at the kind of ball for which New York is noted—slugging.

The first game was played at twilight and the Yanks gave Atley Donald a 5-1 lead with five runs in the third inning, two of them on Joe DiMaggio's 16th homer. Then the Sox slugged back to win 6-5 in 11 innings, with old Sam West driving in four of Chicago's runs.

The second game, played under the lights, saw the Sox take an early 5-2 lead ,the Yanks tie the score in the sixth, and then Chicago come back with two runs in its half of the same frame to win 7-5.

This merely dented the Yank's big first place margin to 12 games, because Boston Red Sox were nosed out 7-6 in 11 innings at Cleveland when Roy (Stormy) Weatherly singled with the bases loaded.

Joe Cronin contributed an error to a four-run Tribal rally in the third innings, but tied the score with a two-run homer in the sixth, eight pitchers and five catchers were used during the struggle.

Senators Shade Browns

The other American League contests were equally wild. At St. Louis, Washington Senators squeezed past the Browns again 11-10 with four runs in the ninth inning. There was scoring in every inning of the game, and 10 pitchers were used, six by St. Louis.

Detroit Tigers walloped Philadelphia Athletics 12-7 in an affair that would have been considerably lopsided except for five Detroit errors. Rudy York hit his 15th home run with one on in the sixth inning and his teammates rolled up eight more runs in the seventh.

In the National League Brooklyn Dodgers enlarged their lead to eight games by beating St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 in a twilight tussle that was halted in the last of the seventh by wartime dimout regulations in the New York area.

The two doubleheaders which completed the senior circuit card were halved. Chicago Cubs welcomed Van Lingle Mungo back into the majors a bit rudely, beating New York Giants 4-2 even though held to seven hits in the first game. The Giants took the second game, however, 3-1.

Pittsburg Pirates took their first game at Boston 3-0 on five-hit hurling by Truett (Rip) Sewell after being shutout for seven stanzas by Al Javery. Then the Braves retaliated with a 6-5 decision in the nightcap in behalf of big Jim Tobin.

Nelson Successfully Defends Title

Sport Snapshots Across Canada

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, July 30. — (CP). — Numbers story (this must be stopped): A Saskatoon taxi-driver was told to pick up a track-bound party at three and to be back at five for another fare. Before leaving, he picked up his commissions for the day—eight dollars. He was paid in one five and three ones.

When he got to the track, he lost $35 on the first few races. Before he left, he learned that the last race would go to the post at 5:30. So he picked numbers three and five in the quinella (oneto to Eastern racegoers). Numbers three and five rolled home, paid $88.60. Ho hum.

INCIDENTALLY:

When Bendix won a Windsor, Ont., softball league game a few days ago its first four runs were homers, which must be some kind of a record...Bob Pearce has received a new shell from an Australian maker. Likes it better than any he's ever had, and is feeling in the pink ...That's just in case anyone thinks the Hamilton, Ont., muscle man isn't ready to defend his world's sculling championship.

Among the latest entries in the Canadian Open and Jimmy Thomson and Lloyd Mangrum...Sam Snead has asked for permission from the U.S. navy to make the trip... Among the Toronto Maple Leaf hockeyists in the services are: Army—Nick and Don Metz; navy—Bob Goldham; R.C.A.F. — Ernie Dickens, Frankie Eddols, Wally Stanowski, Pete Langelle, Johnny McCreedy...Stol me if this has been done before: The Winnipeg Maroons will have a "Jack Sheehan night" for the Chicago Cub scout of the same name...Maroons have a tie-up with Cubs, but this seems ultra-polite.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Rudy York, Tigers—Hit 15th homer with one on to spark victory over Athletics.

Bob Repass and George Case, Senators — Their hits provided three runs in ninth-inning rally that beat Browns.

Sam West and Ed Smith, White Sox—Former batted in four runs to beat Yankees in first game, sending tying runs across in ninth and winning marker in 11th; latter pitched three shutout innings in relief, fanning three, to save second game.

Whitlow Wyatt, Dodgers—Pitched tight in the pinches and singled home one run for victory over Cardinals.

Rip Sewell, Pirates, and Jim Tobin, Braves—They bagged pitching triumphs as clubs divided doubleheader, Sewell allowing only five hits in first game and Tobin eight in nightcap.

Bill Nicholson, Cubs, and Bill Lohrman, Giants—Former hit homer for big blow in first game triumph and later pitched tight ball and singled across deciding run in second session.

Major Fishing Veterans Back In Hurry

NEW YORK, July 30—(AP). — New York Giants fish around in the minors and hook Van Mungo, who was pitching for Brooklyn when the Brooklyn Bridge was still a vine.

The Yankees toss out a net and catch Rollie Hemsley just before he goes over the dam into the pool of yesterday's stars.

The Reds grab Eric Tipton, who was a Connie Mack rookie three or four years ago, and the Pirates make a futile bid for Burgess Whitehead, who was a journeyman infielder with the Cards and Giants for years.

Say, how old is Hans Wagner, anyway?

Good times apparently are coming for the ex-major leaguers whose futures seemed to be pasted in scrapbooks. The major clubs just can't take a chance on young fellows already scouted by the army, and are bringing up the discards on the theory that it's better to have a man with one leg on first base than to have a man with two legs, if both of them are marching.

Tipton's Case

Tipton was rejected by the army because of bad ears, and it is assumed that Van Mungo and Whitehead and Hemsley aren't on the army prospect list right now, so the major clubs involved in the deals for them probably had one eye on 1943.

The Mungo deal is particularly intriguing, as it was Mungo who really beat the Giants out of the pennant in 1934.

The Giants had been going along nicely until the last week or so of the season, when they inexplicably fell apart and began losing to any team that showed up at the park.

Even so, they needed only one victory in their last two games to insure a tie with the fast-coming Cardinals.

The next to last day dawned gloomy and drizzly. It was a Saturday, and the Giants were to meet a team they weren't sure was in the league, as Bill Terry himself had questioned it, thus adding to the long list of famous last words.

Anyway, this was the Dodgers' chance. The weather cleared enough for the game to start, but the setting was dark and dreary, an ideal day for a power pitcher with a good curve.

Had The Stuff

Mungo was that kind of pitcher, and his low curve was breaking like a cold dawn, chilling the hearts of the Giant batters. He put everything he had into every pitch.

Well, the Dodgers won, and the Giants ,their spirit shattered, lost again the final day as the Cards won their last two games to take the pennant by a two-game margin.

And this same Mungo, the fellow who never quite lived up to his great promise, now is with those same Giants.

Anyway, the veterans are coming back from the minors, and we can just imagine our good friends Bill Brandt and Earl Hilligan beating the tom-toms for the National and American Leagues, respectively, wracking their brains next spring to describe the rookies. They'll probably come up with something like this: "The Pirates (or Yankees) present Joe Doakes, a 38-year-old youngster just up from Fort Smith. Doakes shows great promise, and is determine to stick this time. He was up for eight years with Washington and six with Detroit, but was sent back for further seasoning."

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Dizzy Dean of the St. Louis Cards made a major league strikeout record, fanning out 17 Chicago batters nine year again today. Five years later the famous pitcher was bought by the Cubs for $185,000 and three players but deevloped a sore arm which cut short his pitching career shortly after.

Some Dusky Aces Due For Spot In The Majors

KANSAS CITY, July 30 —(AP). —There are at least 26 negro baseball players of major league calibre, believes J. L. Wilkinson, co-owner of the Kansas City Monarchs, the champions of the Negro American League.

The possibility of negroes breaking into big-time baseball was raised by William E. Benswanger, president of the Pittsburg Pirates, who said he would hold tryouts for negro players. Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis previously asserted there was no ruling against the use of negroes in organized baseball.

"I think it would be a fine thing for the game, even though we would lose some of our stars," commented Wilkinson an old-time minor league pitcher who with Tom Baird has sponsored negro teams since 1920.

The Monarch boss said he had discussed the situation in Chicago on Tuesday night with his prize chattel, Satchel Paige, kingpin of negro pitchers. Although Wilkinson has a two-year contract with Paige, he said he told the lanky righthander, "We certainly won't stand in your way if you have a chance to play."

Satch, who holds decisions over the Dean brothers Bob Feller, Schoolboy Rowe, and many other major mound stars, probably would have to be tendered a pretty sizeable chunk of money for his signature. He has received as high as $2,000 for a single game, and considering that he works in more than 80 games a year, his recompense would rank him with the highest salaried athletes in the game.

OCEANS OF COFFEE

U.S. armed forces allot two ounces of coffee a day to every man or approximately 2,000 cups a year.

DO YOU KNOW YOUR ARMY?

MECHANICAL CABLE-LAYER

Radio supplements the signals system, but in army communications in the field the telephone still plays a leading part—as for instance, the control of fire from an artillery observation post.

And telephone requires lines—or cables. Hence the Mechanical Signals Cable-Layer, a view of which is shown above. This is very necessary vehicle. It reels out the cable into the ground as it runs along, and wire can thus be laid very rapidly.

This vehicle is built on a 30-hundredweight truck chassis, and it has a special body designed to handle a mechanical cable-layer.

CCF Invites All Trade Unions To Join

TORONTO, July 30 (CP) — The 10th anniversary convention of the C.C.F. yesterday invited all Trade Unions to join the party's ranks and passed a resolution which was described by the convention chairman, Colin Cameron of Comox, B.C., as "Our bill of rights for labor."

Charging that the government "has completely failed to stand by the principles of association and collective bargaining" the labor resolution called for the "repeal of Order-in-Council 7307 with its arbitrary and undemocratic procedure for taking strike votes;" the repeal of the Order-in-Council authorizing use of the army in labor disputes; repeal of regulations which "freeze sub-standard wages."

It suggested these measures: compulsory recognition of trade unions and the enforcement of collective bargaining; extension of the right to organize and bargain collectively to all employees in government-operated plants and services; guarantees against "victimization and discrimination;" and representation for organized labor on industrial boards and commissions.

W. H. Connor of Hamilton, Ont., appealed for consideration of the "forgotten man—the white collar worker."

One labor resolution welcomed "the decision of the Ontario Trade Union conference (held last Saturday in Toronto) to recommend to all local unions that they endorse the C.C.F. as the political arm of the labor movement, support it financially and affiliate to it at the earliest possible moment" and invited other unions to take similr steps. Farm organizations were invited to join on the same basis.

The Senate concluded a three-day debate on the government's conscription bill, and gave it second reading 42-9. Third reading followed immediately.

Eight members of the Upper House yesterday supported the bill, which empowers the government to impose conscription for overseas service at any time by order-in-council, and two opposed it.

Demand For Dry Campaign.

The Red Chamber also heard a request from Senator Iva Fallis (Con. Ontario) that the Dominion government hold a conference of provincial liquor control authorities and start a temperance campaign to reduce expenditures on alcoholic drinks.

During yesterday afternoon Finance Minister Ilsley saaid he would investigate whether elementary flying training schools operated by civilian flying clubs are called upon to pay excess profits tax.

The question was raised by John Diefenbaker (Con. Lake Centre) when the House began consideration of a bill to amend the Excess Profits Tax Act and bring into effect proposals made in the 1942-43 budget.

He saiad it was his understanding that such schools have not been called upon to pay excess profits tax although they were building up 'tremendous' surpluses which should be distributed to the operating clubs after the war.

Mr. Ilsley said he would be surprised if they were not paying. Some companies had only paid the normal 40 per cent tax on profits and were awaiting a decision by the board of referees fixing the "standard year" income on which excess profits tax would be levied.

Mr. Diefenbaker said some of these elementary flying schools were operated by clubs whose backers were being paid five per cent on their investment while the surplus was being retained for distribution to the clubs after the war.

No Returns Here

But in some instances the schools, such as the one in Windsor, Ont., were financed by donations from patriotic citizens who would get no return on their money.

Mr. Ilsley said these club-operated flying schools were taxed the same as any other company.

Conservative House Leader Hanson said a section of the bill providing that the question whether a business is depressed or not must be determined to the Finance Minister's satisfaction, represents the loss of a certain right to the taxpayer.

Concessions in taxation are granted firms which show their business was depressed during the standard period on which excess profits are calculated.

If the minister is not satisfied the taxpayer's business was depressed he may direct the standard profits be ascertained by a board of referees.

In addition, the proviso is made that the minister may asses the taxpayer in accordance with the provisions of the act other than through the system of reference to a board of referees.

Mr. Ilsley said it was necessary that the Minister have power to establish the assessment. Otherwise companies might return to the Board of Referees year after year with their plea. The present practice was that the Minister accepted the recommendation of the Board of Referees on the standard profits, but the additional authority was desirable.

A resolution preliminary to a bill authorizing the Canadian National Railways to issue securities not exceeding $22,360,000 to meet capital expenditures of 1942 and for other capital purposes was approved, and the covering bill given first reading.

Ralph Maybank (Lib., Winnipeg South Centre) commended the Postmaster-General and his officials for their refusals to grant application for sub post offices which meant unnecessary expense.

Places for Returned Men

Col. Mulock said it was probable many post offices would be left with acting postmasters until after the war so returned soldiers would have an opportunity to be placed in them.

Gordon Graydon (Con., Peel) said rural mail carriers were working on contracts secured before living costs increased, and they should be granted a bonus.

Gordon Ross (Lib., Moose Jaw) said rural mail routes continued a service that had become almost unnecessary. In heavily populated areas post offices were close together, there were good roads and with the radio and the number of people who passed daily on their way to town there was no need of rural mail delivery.

Mr. Ross said he had written the post office to see if the rural mail routes in his constituency could be eliminated.

J. Francois Pouliot (Lib., Temiscouata) said Mr. Ross did not seem to know that in some parts of the country there there were farmers with no autos who still used horses and buggies.

Hugh MacKenzie (Lib., Lambton-Kent) said the rural mail delivery gave splendid service and "fairer" remuneration should be given the carriers.

reach the bridge. Then it was realized that Mrs. Crough was still missing and Sheehy dived repeatedly in a fruitless effort to release the trapped woman.

Also Tried To Find Victim.

Soon after Kenneth Kylie, Ennismore, arrived on the scene, and he, too, dived time after time trying to open the door of the car and release Mrs. Arnold Crough, but had no success. Bill Morris, son of Provincial Constable Price Morris, also went down a number of times without accomplishing anything.

"I was sure the car was empty when I left it," J. K. Sheehy told police after the accident. "I reached over into the back of the car and I didn't think there was anyone there."

However, when the automobile was raised close enough to the surface after nearly three hours' work to break the rear window, the body of Mrs. Crough was recovered from the back seat of the vehicle shortly after 9 o'clock.

Sam Bell, Fred Jopling and other willing workers worked at the task of raising the sunken vehicle until success finally crowned their efforts. A tow-truck working from the bridge, a floating winch and Blewett's cruiser, the Merrimac were all used in lifting the car to the surface, and after the body had been removed the vehicle was towed to the Smith shore by the cruiser.

Dr. Eugene Snider was notified and the accident was investigated by Provincial Officer Price Morris and Provincial Traffic Officer L. A. McClure.

Mrs. Crough lived at 19609 Keating Street, Detroit, and had resided in that city for nearly twenty years. She was forty years of age and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Killen of Ennismore townhship.

Although a number of automobiles have skidded off the floating bridge in a similar manner, this was the first time, according to Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore, that anyone was drowned. Some very narrow escapes have been recorded but this was the first fatality.

123 Tanks in One Battle

A Pravda dispatch reported that German tanks were attacking in waves of 40 to 50 within the Don Bend, where the country offers no natural obstacle to manoeuvre, Red Army men were reported to have destroyed 123 tanks in one sector.

The Soviet Information Bureau announced last midnight that Soviet tanks and infantry had routed the vanguard of a German force southwest of Kletskaya, itself 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad, but the mid-day bulletin indicated a subsequent Nazi recovery with a report of fierce battle "south of Kletskaya."

"All attempts by the Germans to wedge into our defences failed," the mid-day communique said. "In one sector one of our tank units attacked and destroyed 30 German tanks and several hundred officers and men."

Captives were quoted by Pravda as telling Red Army officers that the Germans were forced to move units from other sectors of the front for the Don Basin offensive.

The midnight communique told of the annihilation of 4,000 Germans and destruction of 100 Nazi tanks in half a dozen engagements yesterday—implying that these constituted only a part of the invaders' casualties—and it mentioned not a single Russian withdrawal.

Soviet troops "are holding up the German push and inflicting heavy losses" south-west of Kletskay, the Russians said, but this was before the Rusian Information Bureau announced the latest news from the Bataisk centre.

Kletskaya is a village within the Don Bend about 120 miles downstream from Nazi-occupied Boguchar and 80 miles north-west of Stalingrad, a nerve centre of Soviet industry and communications on the elbow of the Volga.

Rout One Spearhead.

'Our infantry, acting in co-operation with a tank unit, routed the enemy who had broken through forward," the Information Bureau said. "The Germans lost about 1,500 officers and men, 19 tanks, 45 trucks and 60 motorcycles."

Red Army men sought to mop up a Nazi bridgehead across the Don in the Tsmilyansk area and slew 800 Germans and wrecked 12 tanks, it was announced. At the same time it was oficially reported that "the enemy constantly brings up reserves."

Hand-to-hand fighting resulted in the Red Army's recapture of another settlement in the Battle of Voronezh and this and a second engagement cost the Germans 650 killed, it was said.

Artillery batteries duelled before Leningrad which the German command has threatened in propaganda leaflets to storm. Red Army shell fire and scouting operations accounted for more than 400 German deaths on the Leningrad front in 48 hours and prisoners were taken, the information Bureau reported.

A Berlin broadcast claimed Nazi bombers sank a 1,500-ton Russian transport and three river vessels and damaged seven other craft on the Volga yesterday, while German troops "seriously threatened" remaining Russian railways in the northern reaches of the trans-Caucasus.

MICHAEL McKEIVER

A 70-year-old resident of Douro, Michael McKeiver, passed away after an illness of several months' duration, Wednesday. He was a well-known man of the district for he had spent his entire life in Douro.

Son of the late George McKeiver and Mary Fitzpatrick, he was a member of St. Joseph's Church, Douro, and also of the Holy Name Society and was a faithful member of the church.

Left to mourn his loss are four sons, George, of White Plains, N. Y.; James and Justin and Michael of Douro; and two daughters, Mrs. Thomas Heffernan, Lakefield, and Mrs. Martin P. Coughlin, Douro. There is a brother, William McKeiver, Douro, and three sisters, Mrs. Mary Barry of Otonabee, Mrs. Gertrude Conden of Peterborough and Mrs. Andrew Quinlan, Asphodel.

The funeral will be held Saturday from the home of his son, James McKeiver, Douro, and requiem mass will be sung at St. Joseph's Church at 9 a.m. Interment will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

CCF Demands Government Ceasc Drawing Manpower From Farms

TORONTO July 30 — (CP). — A demand that the Government cease "to draw manpower from the farms for any other purpose" was voiced yesterday at the 10th anniversary convention of the C.C.F. as approval was given to three resolutions dealing with agricultural problems.

The farm manpower resolution also asked "that priority regulations governing the supply of farm equipment be relaxed until all non-essential industries and services have been eliminated" and that the Government embark on a program of training men and women now unemployed or engaged in unessential industry for agricultural work.

Henry Young, a delegate from Alberta, who introduced the resolution, warned that unless the Government took steps to meet the farm labor shortage Canada may soon face a shortage of food.

As non-essential industries, Mr. Young cited gold mining, selling of stocks and bonds "gambling in food on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange," stock markets elsewhere in the country and duplication of bread and milk delivery services in the cities, and said that 'absolutely no planning seems to be in progress or in prospect."

Veto Socialization.

The convention gave approval to a resolution asking the Government to "give encouragement to the organization of co-operation effort in agricultural production and that necessary capital assistance be given to enable such efficient economic production" but voted down an amendment which called for long-time planning for the socialization of land and agriculture.

M. J. Coldwell, the party's leader in the House of Comomns, led the opposition to the socialization proposal recalling that the party had previously adopted a "family farm" policy. "Let's stick to it," he added.

Miss Agnes MacPhail, former U.F.O.-Labor member of the House of Commons for Grey-Bruce, warned that the C.C.F., will "never in the wide world have a Government in Canada if you talk about socialization of land."

The other agricultural resolution made these recommendations to the Government: That farm prices be adjusted 'to a parity determined primarily by the cost of production"; elimination of "gambling in foodstuffs and duplication of services in distribution"; assistance for co-operative marketing units for wholesale distribution of farm products; encouragement of consumer co-operatives; public or cooperative ownership of the packing and food processing industry.

NO IDENTIFICATION

The law requires every truck must have identification marks on it, particularly the name of the firm who is operating it, and in the last few days five trucks around town have been noticed that were lacking in any identification marks whatsoever.

SUIT CASE STOLEN.

An automobile belonging to A. E. McTaggart, Toronto, parked at the rear of a Kawartha Park cottage, was broken into during Wednesday and a black leather suit case containing a quantity of clothing was stolen. During the same night a car owned by A. Billing parked nearby was entered and the ignition lock removed. It is thought that the thief had planned to steal the car. Provincial Constable Price Morris is investigating.

RAILWAY RECORD.

Canadian railways will carry 60,000,000 passengers this year, an all time peak. The banner year in the railway records was 1921 when 51,000,000 persons were transported. The lowest was 1933, in one of the leanest cycles, when only 19,000,000 responded to the 'all aboard' call.

WANTED IN TORONTO

Wanted in Toronto on a charge of theft, Pte. Jos. Egochen was arrested at the local military training centre this morning by Detective-Sergt. W. E. Meagher and Officer Archie Manzies and removed to the police station where he will be held to await the arrival of an escort from Toronto.

WELL KNOWN HERE.

Chief Constable Sam Newhall and other members of the Peterborough police department were sorry to learn this morning of the death in Barrie, after a short illness, of James E. Cantwell, 48 a chauffeur for the provincial police for over 20 years. He was well known in Peterborough, having visited here often as driver for Inspector Al. Boyd of the provincial police.

LIKED IT.

Eight boys, from widely separated points of the compass, who are at present at the Grove camp, toured the Examiner Wednesday under T. W. Crawford, the master in charge. The boys were Robert Ketchum, Port Stanley; Wilson M Book, Jr., Westfield, N.Y.; Thomas L. James, Brockville; John Tusting, Bedford, Eng.; David Wailling, Virgin Islands John Q. Church, Bedford, Eng.; Granville Wheler, Faversham, Eng.; Christopher Kirby, Barrie. The boys, like those from the Vacation Club, found the linotype machines particularly interesting and had a lot of questions for the men at the machines.

Citizens Forget To Turn In Their Old Tubes

A few weeks ago the Government requested citizens when buying new tubes of tooth paste and shaving cream to drop their old tubes into containers at the place where they made their purchase. The response across the Dominion has not been too good, and in Peterborough it is apparently moving slowly although in a few cases there has been quite a good response. It isn't that people do not want to give the tubes, Peterborough druggists say, but simply that they are careless and forgetful a good deal of the time, perhaps not fully realizing the great need that exists for salvaging the tin.

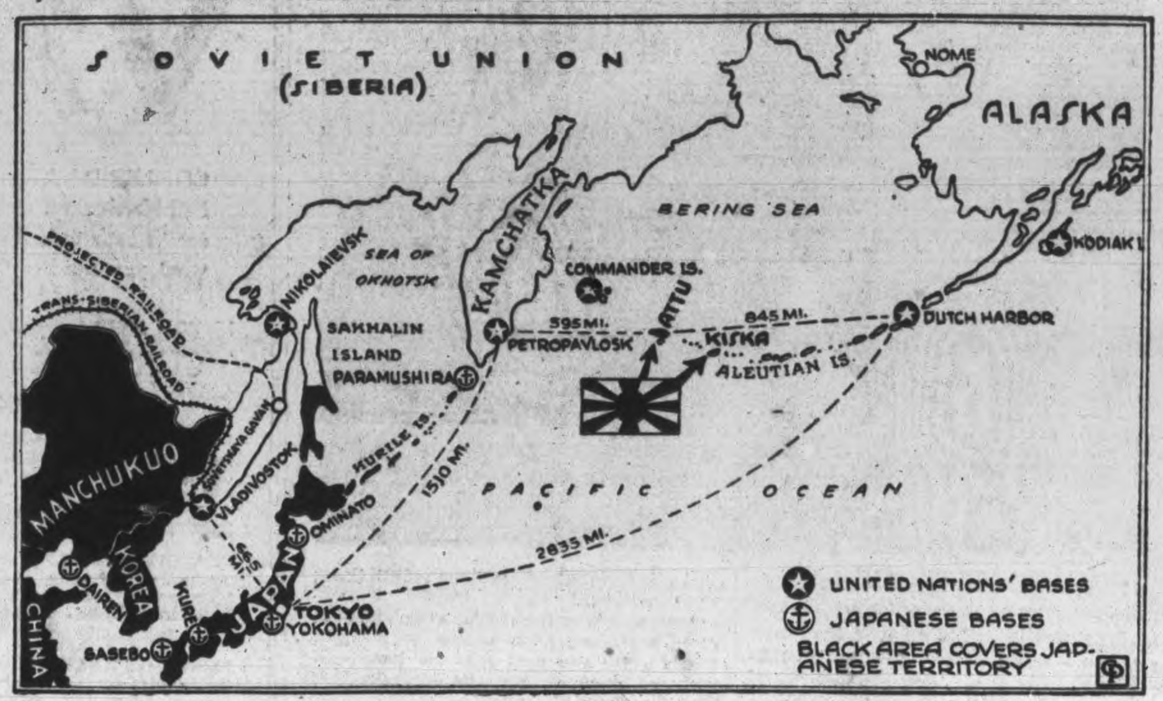
Both Bert McLeod's and Elliott's drug stores report that their boxes have been filling quite rapidly without too much trouble. McDermid and Jury drug store is really going strong on the collecting. In the few weeks since they started to collect, they have shipped away 150 tubes and are well on the way toward making another sizeable collection. J. W. McDermid said that whenever a customer bought a tube of anything the clerks always made a point of mentioning that they would like them to drop in their old tubes some time.

At Borland's store the opinion was that they were not coming in very fast and that they had been as yet unable to ship anything away. The clerks there said that with their customers it was sometimes a case of simply forgetting, that they had been saving them at home, and then the would come down town without them.

Payne's drug store found that their response was very poor too and they felt that people did not realize the great necessity for making this voluntary contribution to the war effort. They also reported that a number of people turned their tubes over to the Salvage Committee, which is all right, but it takes longer to get around. When the things are turned over to the druggists, they have an arrangement with the wholesale companies whereby when they get a new supply they hand over all the tubes they happen to have.

For those people who have any tubes lying around the house remember that it can be a very helpful contribution to the war effort and drop it in the box, the next time in the drug store.

Jap Moves In Aleutians Regarded As Attempt To Separate Allies



The map ABOVE shows graphically why observers believe that the recent Japanese landings in the Aleutian Islands may be intended to set up a barrier between the United States and Siberia to prevent effective and rapid communication between them if the Japs launch an assault on eastern Soviet Russia. If the Japs could secure sufficient bases in the American islands they would complete a chain of bases controlling the sea lanes between the United States and Russia's maritime provinces. Principal known bases of Japan and of the United Nations in that area are indicated on the map.

Brinton Total Now $583 For War Victims

Starting in December, 1940, the employees of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co., Ltd., have since then made steady collections on every pay day, from which the Peterborough and District British War Victims' Fund have received no less than forty-six donations in varying amounts which in all brings the total they have thus contributed towards assisting the victims of air raids over Britain up to the splendid sum of $583. This does not represent their entire work, for other funds have also benefitted, so taken in all, the workers at this industrial plant may be said to be taking a full part in the raising of funds for the charitable objects which have been occasioned by the war. Their contribution of $10 is listed in today's receipts for the fund.

One of the most pleasing features to the fund management is the manner in which the children have risen to a sense of responsibility and desire to help the sufferers from air raids in Britain, for the impressions they gain now will in almost every case be life-long, and cannot but help to reflect in their doings in later life, and unconsciously the children are laying the foundation for a type of citizenship which recognizes that in helping one another and particularly those whom misfortune has placed in a bad position, they are doing something really worth while.

Four girls in the west-end of the city, Ruth Fine, Frances Fine, Joanne Currie and Kathleen Canning, undertook to do this very thing by holding a sale in the backyard of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Canning, 631 Gilmour Street, last Saturday afternoon, when by selling lemonade, candy and a little home-made cooking they raised the sum of $8.31, which is also included in today's receipts for the fund. These girls all gained much satisfaction from their work, and no doubt it will also be an inspiration to others to do something of a similar nature.

This Saturday, four boys, Donald Cowan, Neal White, Ross Lawrence and Bobby Hinton, are having a fish pond on Homewood Avenue in aid of the fund. Two weeks ago they staged an effort for the fund which was quite successful, and this time they are having a draw for a basket of groceries which have been donated by their mothers, for which they are now selling tickets at 5 cents each.

Senator Fallis Suggests Campaign To Reduce Liquor Expenditures

OTTAWA, July 30—(CP).—Senator Iva Campbell Fallis of Peterborough last night called on the Dominion Government to hold a conference of Provincal liquor authorities and launch a temperance campaign to reduce expenditures on alcoholic beverages.

Senator Fallis, submitting a four-point program for reduced consumption of alcoholic drinks, launched a debate in which Senator F. P. Quinn, Nova Scotia Conservative, said excessive drinking among members of the armed forces was a serious matter.

Senator J. H. King, Government Senate leader, suggested temperance organizations should re-introduce the organization of old-fashioned temperance lodges to carry on educational work.

Senator Fallis spoke on second reading of a bill to amend the Excise Act increasing duties on liquor and malt. The bill was later given third reading and passed.

She said increasing sales of alcoholic beverages were a matter of growing concern. The Government had already acted to control the use of many commodities and she suggested the liquor industry had not been further controlled because of the revenue it produced for the federal treasury. It was becoming an accepted idea that Canada could drink her way to victory.

The program Senator Fallis suggested was:

1. Calling of a conference of Provincial Government representatives to consider shortening hours and restricting sales.
2. Organization by the Government of a press and radio temperance campaign.
3. Enlisting the support of organizations in reducing drinking.
4. Use of manpower now employed in distilleries and breweries for more essential work.

Such a campaign, Senator Fallis said, would have the support of an overwhelming majority of the women of Canada.

Tourist Cars Are Missing From Streets

Although the peak of the summer season is at hand a survey of two down town blocks this morning failed to show the presence of an automobile with an American license.

This district, of course, has had a fairly good patronage from visitors from across the border but it is clear now that the total for the year will fall far below the normal total.

This is the situation in Kingston, too. Bill Walshe, sports editor of The Whig - Standard remarks: "Summer resorts that depend on motor cars for patrons are almost deserted. Wally Cusick figures that he has issued only 10 per cent of the usual licenses for tourists while Ernie Elford of Alfred claims that he has only sold about 25 this season while on July 4 of last year he worked for hours writing out tourist tickets. This July 4 he only had four applications for fishing licenses from American tourists. Wally Cusick who specializes in novelties and usually does a big U.S. tourist business says that he has not had 25 customers from across the border this year, while in peace time there was more than that number on an average day."

Evidently the Kingston sector is being harder hit than the Kawarthas. The flow of tourists into this part of the country is certainly not strong but the falling-off has not been as bad as that complained of in Kingston.

Les Abraham On Leave In Britain Visits In City Of Peterborough

Mayor Hamilton has received the following letter from Mayor H. J. Farrow of Peterborough, England, written early this month:

'Dear Mr. Mayor—I have much pleasure in writing to you to say that Mr. Les Abraham who is spending his leave in this city with Glen Mowbray, managing director of the British Sugar Corporation, called to see me a few days ago and asked me to let him have a letter addressed to you.

Quite a number of boys from your city have visited us during the last eighteen months, and it always gives me great pleasure, as indeed all the citizens, to welcome Peterborough boys.

I do not know whether you have a copy of the Guide to Peterborough, but if not I have pleasure in enclosing one.

May I take this opportunity to thank you, on behalf of the citizens of Peterborough, England, for your great generosity, and I do hope that you will be able to convey my message to your citizens.

With all good wishes and hoping that one day you will visit this city I remain.

Yours very truly,
J. H. Farrow (Mayor)"

High Percentage Of Men Fail To Pass Medical

Enlistments at the Armories were very high Wednesday, but of the 29 who appeared before the board, only eleven succeeded in making the grade. Up to eleven o'clock Thursday morning there were nine men who appeared before Lt. Brock, Recruiting Officer, to sign up.

Those who passed in A category were: James Devlin, 11 Bethune street; Ray Richardson, Keene; Richard Taylor, Curve Lake; Raymond Lynch, 501 Murray street, and Ellwood Coppway, Curve Lake.

Those listed in B category were: Francis Foster, 264 Hunter street; Richard Johnston, Bethany; Gordon Fredenburg, 545 Sherbrooke; Keith Morden, 512 Edison; James Lawer, Cambray, P.O.; and John Healey, 815 George street.

Thomas McFadden, 80 Melbourne street, has been accepted in the Veterans' Guard for service.

The following men's names appeared in a temporary category: Ellwood Cullen, 370½ Burnham; Joseph Taylor, Curve Lake; Cecil Gueren, 678 Armour Road Charles Speirs, Laing P.O.; Clare Pomeroy, 68 Elm street; and Leo Donoghue, 264 Reid street.

The recruiting office staff paid high tribute to the C.W.V.S. in the work they are doing and the time that they are so generously donating.

Lt. R. L. Davidson Is Promoted

Promotion of Lieutenant Ross L. Davidson of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment overseas to the rank of Captain is announced from headquarters of Military District No. 3 at Kingston.

CAPT. ROSS L. DAVIDSON.

Captain Davidson was previously an officer with the Prince of Wales Rangers until the winter of 1939-40, and becoming impatient of delay in calling the local regiment for active service he and Lieutenant Lionel Sorby enlisted with the Hastings and Prince Edwards. Captain Davidson was employed with his father, Hebron Davidson, in a grocery business at the southwest corner of Lock Street and Braidwood Avenue. His father sold the business a year or so ago to Ray Healey, and moved to Ottawa. Both Davidson and Sorby are now captains.

Rangers Need Reading Matter

The men of the first battalion of the Prince of Wales Rangers are faring well, Colonel John A. Dewart, M.C., O.C., informed the Examiner today.

"The only thing they need is a supply of reading matter," Colonel Dewart said. "I intended to make an appeal to some local organization to undertake to send us periodicals such as the current magazines even if they are three or four weeks old. They would be a great help especially to help fill in the long evenings. We did get about two tons of reading material that was very acceptable, but if we could get a fairly regular supply it would be greatly appreciated. Perhaps some organization in the city would volunteer to receive magazines and send them along to the battalion."

Persons wishing to write to friends in the Rangers are advised that letters may be addressed simply to the Prince of Wales Rangers at Prince George, B.C.

Colonel Dewart is leaving at the beginning of next week to return to his battalion.

Work Permits Good Until Revoked

Those people who have been issued permits by the Selective Service Officer, William Mellis, lasting from one to six months, do not need to worry about having them renewed. They are good until such time as they receive notification that the permits have been revoked by the Selective Service Director or Officer.

Anyone changing his job is issued a permit and this idea was first introduced in March, 1942. Then in the month of June, there were certain adjustments made whereby the whole staff, from the executive to the office boy coming into the business, had to have a permit.

HomePreserving Shows Decline

Home preserving of berries has probably been the lightest in many years according to the traces the brief season left upon the grocery trade. The cherry crop was lighter than usual, and it is expected that, with a big crop of peaches ripening for the pickers, the deficiency in other domestic "conserves" will be made up largely with peaches.

The local trade affirms that Peterborough gardeners got a comparatively big price for their berries. The Vineland fruit could not compete with the Peterborough prices, and after that fact had excluded the Oakville fruit local growers tilted their prices. At any rate the distributors feel that the gardeners found this season a market that was a great deal more in their favor than usual.

Bananas have been off the market for six weeks, and the trade has no information as to when the next arrivals may be expected. The German U-boat war in the Atlantic and Carribean has been vastly more damaging than this continent ever feared.

The dumping duty will be applied to oranges on August 1 and may be reflected in a lightly higher price. The market is firm any way. Canadian fruit and vegetable importations are now confined to the citrus species.

One of the local dealers said today that he was bringing potatoes from the Harrow district in the belief that he was getting a better grade. Another expectation in the distributing trade is that the peak of the peach preserving period may be reached around August 12 to 17.

Relatives. Sought Of Waddell Sisters

Miss E. H. Waddell, 160 Spadina Avenue, Toronto, has written Mayor Hamilton enquiring about relatives or friends of the late Misses Kate and Helena Waddell who died recently in Watertown, N.Y.

"They were born in Peterborough. Their ages were 65 and 59 years. Their mother died in 1918. They taught school at one time in South Carolina. They lived in Omaha, Neb., in 1886, but returned to Watertown where they met a tragic death as their home was burned and they were suffocated before they could be rescued. They left $18,000 and heirs are being looked for. The only thing found was a Bible on which was the name McMillan Scott, and there must surely be some friends or relatives in Peterborough who knew them as evidently they were educated there. I shall be glad of any information you may be able to obtain regarding these two sisters."

Wireless Operators Get Out Own Paper

The wireless operators, ground at the R.C.A.F. station, Alliford Bay, BC., are a live-wire bunch, according to a letter from AC1 Claude Hewitt, who tells of how the boys on duty at night found time so heavy on ther hands tha they decided to listen in on the newscasts and at the same time copy it down and publish an early morning newspaper.

The newspaper goes under the name of 'Dogwatch' and has two good-sized pages filled with world news from every corner of the globe. All the help from the editor down is voluntary and in the few short hours after midnight alloted to them along with their other work the boys really turn out a remarkable job. Noteven the headlines are missing from this very complete little paper Along with this, AC1 Hewitt sent a copy of 'Victory,' their station paper, which contains stastation news and activities. The two papers are not put out by the same people and both are first class.

The writer comments once more about the wonderful scenery on the Queen Charlotte Islands and since the only means of transportation are that of ships and aircraft, mail means a great deal. He says that the boys are elher receiving letters or sending them out in their spare time.

Rap Opposition US Commander

LONDON, July 30 — (CP) — The Daily Telegraph, criticizing the tabloid Daily Mirror's stand against naming an American Allied commander for a second front in Europe, declared today that selection of a United States general for the job "would be welcomed officially and unofficially in this country."

Referring to Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States Army who has been mentioned for the post, a daily telegraphic columnist said:—

"The absurdity of objecting to an American commander on the ground that no American is of "proved ability" in the command of masses of men appears when it is remembered that to take one example, Marshall directed the Meuse-Argonne offensive in 1918 and was then acclaimed as a tactical genius."

No Divorce Business

OTTAWA, July 30.—(CP)—Legislation to relieve the senate of divorce actions now is being framed and is likely to be placed before parliament at the next session, Senator C. W. Robinson, New Brunswick Liberal, chairman of the Senate divorce committee, said last night. Senator Robinson made the announcement in the course of a discussion on a divorce action which was opposed by Senator James Murdock, Ontario Liberal.

Two Daily Deliveries

WASHINGTON, July 30—(AP).—Trucks delivering newspapers in the metropolitan districts of less than 200,000 population will be permitted under revised regulations of the Office of Defence Transportation to make two daily deliveries instead of one as previously ordered. The O. D.T. announced yesterday that in such communities trucks will be permitted to make a morning paper delivery and an evening delivery to the same point daily.

Filling The Resorts

NEW YORK, July 30 — (AP). — Private advices reaching New York from Europe to-day said the Germans for the first time have barred resort towns along Lake Constance to vacationers and are filling some of the big hotels with wounded from the Eastern Front. Other hotels were reported commandeered for use of children and the wounded from bombed German cities and for German soldiers on leave.

No Women Barkeeps

ST. THOMAS, Ont., July 30. — (CP).—The Ontario Provincial Alliance of Hotel and Restaurant Employees and Bartenders doesnt like the idea of women bartenders. The Alliance decided at a meeting to seek a showdown with hotelmen on the question.

"WE'RE SORRY FOR IT"

Three girls from the Albion Knitting Mills went fishing with a guide at Pidgeon Lake recently. After some time one of the girls was successful in hooking a beautiful 8-pound muskie and the guide pulled it in for her. But when he went to kill it, the girls protested with one voice that the fish had such a sad expression on its face that they couldn't bear to finish it, and they asked the guide to throw it in the water, or they'd get out and walk, rather than witness the killing. However, the fish WAS killed and the girls remained seated in the boat, and the next day a very nice fish dinner was enjoyed by all concerned.—J.B.

Race Meet Is Held By Vacation Club

The boys of the Y.M.C.A. Vacation Club had themselves a grand time up at Nicholls Oval this morning when they devoted their time to running races of various kinds. The following are the winners:

Running: 8 years and under—Don Whatley; 9 years—Bill Deyell; 10 years—Don Griffin; 11 years—Allen Bennett; 12 years—Norman Howard; 13 years—Alf Griffin; 14 years—Carl Sullivan.

Novelty race: 10 years and under—3-legged race—Donald Whatley and David Langhorne.

For 11 years and over—3-legged race—Ted Chenier and Garry Davies.

Wheelbarrow races: For 10 and under—Jim Grant and Don Griffin For 11 and over—Ted Collins and Irving Aiken.

Jockey race for all ages — Don Griffin and Paul Elcombe.

Relay race for all ages—the winning team were Alf Griffin (captain), Don Foster, Jim Grant and Don Griffin.

This afternoon at the Oval the boys had a progressive play day. All the boys were divided into 10 teams and they played a variety of games in which the different teams opposed each other and no two teams played more than once together.

At 1.30 pictures were taken of the Vacation Club members playing softball to be sent to the boys overseas, along with the ones that are to be taken Friday.

Listing Women Due Very Soon

OTTAWA, July 30—(CP).—A registration of Canadian women, aimed at finding workers for war industry and replacing men for military service, is expected to be held soon — perhaps within the next month—but its scope is still undetermined.

Officials of national selective service are known to be considering such a registration, which was forecast recently by Elliott M. Little, selective service director, in an address here. But it was understood they have not yet decided whether the registration should be Dominion-wide or confined to certain localities and certain types of workers and age groups.

During his address, Mr. Little emphasized Canada's tightening manpower situation by saying that the Government must find 250,000 persons within the next five months for war industry and service in the armed forces. A registration of womanpower would be part of that job.

Actor Survives Sinking

TORONTO, July 29 — (CP). — Walter E. Reynolds, noted British actor, arrived in Toronto today on his way to England. He arrived from Bermuda, where he survived a torpedoing and shared a lifeboat with 50 people for three nights and four days.

He expects to go to Ottawa, and later fly home by bomber.

S. Rauch, of Calgary.

The Public Library

By F. M. DELAFOSSE

In the article, published about two weeks ago, it was impossible to present more than a superficial summary of important works contained in the Reference department. An endeavor will be made in the present one to enlarge on certain points and show what the Library offers in the matter of extraneous aid to its patrons.

Mention must be made, first of all, of further work accomplished by that enthusiastic delver into Peterborough lore, the late Mr. Frank Dobbin. In addition to compiling the Biographical Index, a laborious and exacting task, for which information was culled from many sources, Mr. Dobbin compiled a history of the Medical profession, accompanied with short biographical accounts and many portraits of gentlemen who had practised in the city and district. He also wrote an interesting account of the Little Lake Cemetery. These works were completed nearly thirty years ago and the need of providing appendices to all of them is becoming increasingly apparent as years roll by. Perhaps somebody who reads these lines and is imbued with the same love of research that animated Mr. Dobbin may be fired with the zeal to carry on the good work. The material is at hand and only awaits a workman who is willing to labor voluntarily in the interests of his city.

The Library has been enriched from time to time by generous gifts from friends of the institution, but it must not be forgotten that it did not start from insignificant beginnings. Its establishment was first mooted in the mayoralty of Mr. Harry Denne, but the matter was not brought to full fruition till the mayoralty of the late W. H. Bradburn, the Carnegie Trust providing the funds for the building.

When the Public Library Board took office, the entire collection of books belonging to the old Mechanics' Institute was handed over to them. There were several thousand volumes in the collection. As soon as the volumes were arranged on the shelves it was clearly apparent that the Mechanics' Institute had been extremely fortunate in the personnel of their book commitees. The books had been chosen with excellent taste and judgment.

Gifts of books are always welcomed by libraries, if they are serviceable in matter and appearance, for present -day needs have made them catholic in their desires and insatiable in their appetites.

Libraries now cater to the public on lines far beyond the ideas of the first founders of these institutions.

The term SERVICE implies to them a much broader expenditure of effort than was ever contemplated in earlier schemes of the same nature. Today they perform the part of middlemen in the interests of education and enlightenment. They collect information on every subject under heaven and invade every avenue to find it. As bureaus of information they are at the service of scholars of all grades, to educationists and to the general public, and if their own resources prove inadequate in the task of procuring information for those needing it they are in a position to apply to those possessing greater facilities and who have never been known to bestow their favors grudgingly.

In a future article more details concerning the resources of the Public Library will be given.

Lad Steals $203

ORILLIA, Ont. July 30 (CP) — A Toronto juvenile, arrested yesterday on a charge of theft, has described in a written confession how he disposed of $203 in two days, police say. He is being remanded in custody and will stand trial Friday.

An Orillia citizen reported that $203 was stolen from his pocket while swimming in Lake Couchiching Park beach Sunday.

According to police, the juvenile "donated" $50 to a sailor who was on leave and broke; spent $87.43 on "incidentals," including Taxi fares, amusements, tips. The statement also showed he spent $30.45 on a complete outfit of new clothing.

Letter Of Thanks

HENSALL, Ont., July 30—(CP)—Campbell Eyre, district farmer, who knitted a pair of socks for the Red Cross, drew a dividend for his good deed when he received a letter thanking him for the gift from a British soldier in a German prison camp. Mr. Eyre put a slip of paper with his name and address in a toe of a sock.

RESTAURANTEUR FINED

LONDON—(CP). — In the first prosecution for infringement of rules regulating restaurant prices Mario Taborelli was fined $40 and costs because he raised his charge for a cup of coffee from about 15 cents to 30 cents and made a house (cover) charge when he had no license to do so.

RAF Blasts Axis One Long Parade

By HARRY CROCKETT
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY WEST OF ALAMEIN, July 30. — (AP). — One of the steadiest and heaviest blows of fighter bomber planes into battle areas in this region was maintained by the R.A.F. throughout daylight hours yesterday.

It was the most sustained air parade I have ever witnessed in African fighting.

A light would pass overhead and out of sight, but the thud of their bombs could be heard in the distance. Then, before the empty planes returned, another flight of many machines would go forward. That continued many hours and the hammering of heavy guns kept pace.

But while air attacks were being pushed with utmost vigor, activity by land troops appeared to be dwindling.

After having driven south through a maze of minefields and hearing only occasional bursts of artillery fire breaking the lull which has set in since the heavy fighting of July 26-27, I listened to the stories of some of the British troops who did the heavy fighting in the Del El Dhib area.

They had set out at midnight on July 26 with the South African engineers who made the gap.

Charge in Moonlight.

Under the brilliant light of a full moon every man passed through the gap with fixed bayonet and faced successfully a hail of machine gun fire.

Many expressed surprisd when they found German troops in the front line with Italians behind them, the reverse of the usual Axis desert tactics and perhaps indicative of the German view of this situation.

Almost at the start of the first charge which began on the west side of the minefield, a Sergeant R. McAdams with six other men encontered 16 Germans whose machine-gun fire they had weathered.

"We charged them with our bayonets but they had their hands in the air surrendering before we got anywhere near them."

Sanction Small Permanent Home

OTTAWA, July 30—(CP). — Extension of the National War Housing Act to encourage construction of small permanent houses in congested areas was announced in the House of Commons to-day by Finance Minister Ilsley.

He said the supplementary estimates to be brought down later would contain $1,100,000 to assist this development.

There would also be an estimate of $2,000,000 to guarantee loans covering the transformation of large houses in congested areas into two or three-apartment dwellings.

The Minister said the housing problem represented various difficulties, among them the shortage of materials and particularly metals. There was a shortage of housing accommodation in urban areas where war activities had expanded.

Decision had to be made as between temporary wartime housing and permanent structures. A building program after the war would be a safeguard against depression.

Mr. Ilsley said the government had been assisted in reaching a decision on housing by the report of a sub-committee of the war expenditures committee, tabled July 16.

He was recommending an increase in the appropriation for the National War Housing Act to permit the construction of small houses in congested areas where permanent houses could be built without creating a surplus after the war.

The use of non-war materials would have to be considered in any housing program.

Durham County Girls Hold AchievementDay

MILLBROOK, July 30—(ENS)—An achievement day that was outstanding in county annals, with over thirty girls in attendance, and taking an active part in the program, featured this annual gathering for the Durham County clubs, which was held at Millbrook on Friday.

The provincial officers in charge were Miss Jean Scott, county coach, and Miss Lulu Rowe, clothing specialist, from the department at Toronto. Miss Scott outlined the method of judging, and the proper manner of scoring, after which the girls judged four suits of pyjamas and four kinds of material suitable for pyjamas, in connection with the year's project, which covered a bedroom ensemble. Miss Scott continued her instruction, after the judging period, taking up for practical work hemstitching and shell hemming.

The leaders concluded the morning session with the proper placings in the judging contest and the reasons therefore, after which an hour and a half were allowed for lunch, the Millbrook branch of the Women's Institute setting tables and providing the hot tea.

Demonstrations

In the afternoon, three clubs showed the work done by their members, following this by a three-minute talk on the exhibit; those taking part were Wilma Armstrong for Millbrook, Mrs. Irene Moore of Blackstock and Marian Foley of Maple Grove. Miss Scott then explained the requirements for a complete bedroom ensemble, and gave the girls high praise for the free manner in which they had stressed their points.

Demonstrations were a highlight of the afternoon, the same three clubs carrying on, Maple Grove giving theirs in the form of a cleverly-written original skit; as the girls wore their pyjamas, housecoats and slippers, the ensemble showed to advantage and added emphasis to the acting involved For the Millbrook Stitch Club Vera Fallis and Martha Belch demonstrated, and for the Blackstock club the girls showed an excellent knowledge of the work, and brought vividly before the listeners many things worth knowing and keeping in mind.

Edna Robinson, speaking for the Yelverton club, explained that the members were unable to finish the county project because of working for the Red Cross, under the Women's Institute, and showed what had been done by nimble fingers during the winter. The total included 25 girls' dresses, ages between 3 and 4; 35 babies' nighties, 125 diapers, 20 covers for hot water bottles, and a handsome quilt pieced from the scraps left from the other work and well quilted and bound. Warm applause gave evidence of the excellent record established.

Program planning for the ensuing year led to an animated discussion regarding projects, the one finally adopted being "The Supper Club"; the Millbrook club, under its popular leader, Mrs. W. H. Armstrong, expects to have at least eight members for the fall and winter work, this including only girls who have not yet taken up this subject.

The leaders' training for the project classes will be in the fall as usual. As always, the presentation of certificates kept interest on tiptoe, Wilma Armstrong, Millbrook, receiving hers for completing eight projects; last year she had county honors, and during the entire time of training had only missed one club meeting. Twelve projects completed bring provincial honors; girls receiving county honors, with six units completed, were Martha Belch, Millbrook; Aileen Argur, Cavan, and Dorothy Armstrong, Cavan.

High senior girls—Jean Wright, Blackstock; Wilma Armstrong, Millbrook.

Second placing — Irene Moore, Blackstock; Dorothy Armstrong, Cavan.

High junior girls — Vera Fallis, Millbrook; Lenore Collicutt, Maple Grove.

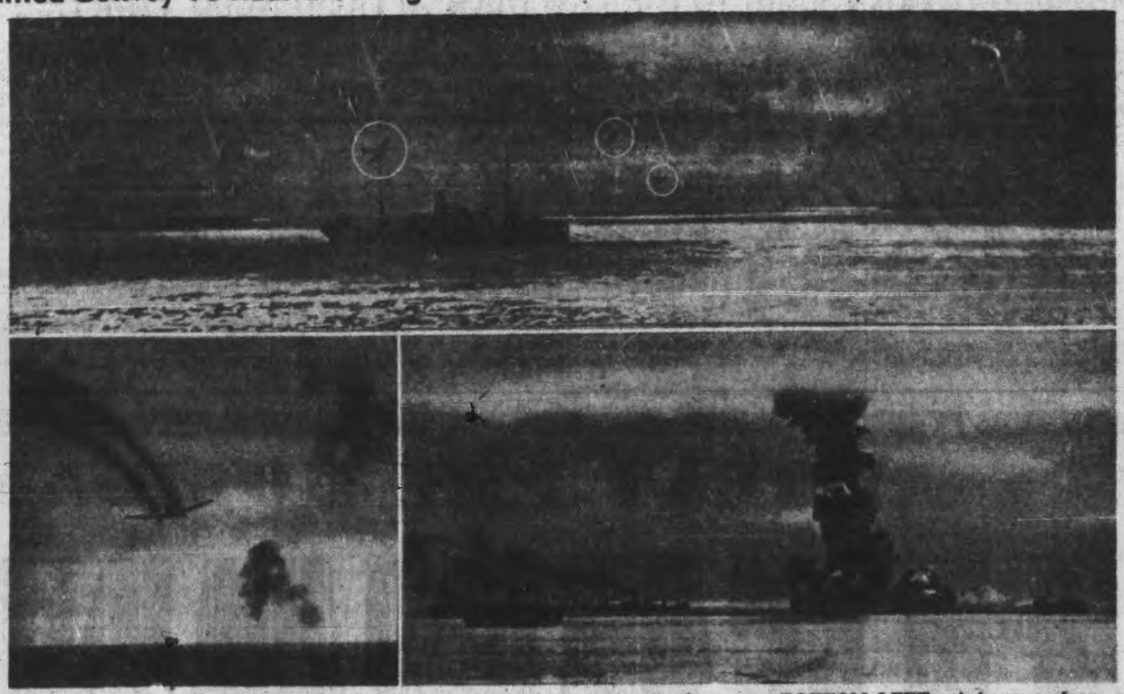
For demonstrations — 1, Blackstock; 2, Millbrook; 3, Maple Grove.

Miss Scott announced a rally week for club girls in the near future, including a radio program as one of its features. A vote of thanks to the local W.I. for its dinner courtesy, and the National Anthem completed what was considered the most successful achievement day in Durham County history.

Allied Convoy To Russia Outfights Nazis In Arctic



German Heinkel torpedo planes (circled) are shown in the TOP photo as they swooped out of low clouds on this big Allied convoy in the Arctic Barents Sea and were driven off by heavy anti-aircraft fire (note shell bursts). Two Nazi planes were downed and two others hit, while the convoy lost one ship. A big Heinkel III. leaves a trail of smoke in its final plunge, BOTTOM LEFT. A barrage from another part of the Arctic convoy drove the Nazi plane within range of a U.S. destroyer, which shot it down. In spite of the storm of shells hurled up by anti-aircraft guns of the convoy, an Allied merchantman belches smoke after being hit by a Nazi torpedo plane, BOTTOM RIGHT. The other vessels steam on.

Mrs. Robert Carnrite returned Sunday after spneding a week with friends in Toronto.

Mr. Jack McLure and Miss Doreen Pierce of Hamilton are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dunsford.

Fishing is very good the past few days with some nice catches of pickerel and bass being brought in. Many nice fish have been caught off the shore pier. Mr. George Wananmaker, guiding a party on Saturday, brought in a 6¾ pound pickerel, the largest pickerel caught at the River this season.

Dragging Creek

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., July 30
Twelve Mile Creek to-day for the body of a member of the Royal Canadian Air Force thought to have drowned early on Tuesday while swimming.

Identity of the airman who is missing from the St. Thomas School is being withheld under R. C.A.F. regulations.

2 Drown Trying To Save Sister

OTTAWA, July 30—(CP).— Two sisters and a brother were drowned last night at Sweeney's Bay in the Ottawa River about 16 miles west of Ottawa.

The victims were Douglas Dolan, 22; and his two sisters, Ruth, 24, and Elsie, 14.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Allen Dolan, of Dunrobin, Ont.

The three young people were attending a swimming party at the bay.

Dr. J. S. Nelson, of Westboro, district coroner, said no inquest will be held.

Elsie, a non-swimmer, stepped suddenly from a ledge where she was wading with a companion, Velma Findlay o Kinburn, Ont., into 18 feet of water. Douglas and Ruth raced after her and disappeared from sight. Neither was a strong swimmer.

Miss Findlay, who sought vainly to save her companion, was on the verge of exhaustion when rescued by Kingsley Kennedy of Dunrobin.

The three bodies were recovered.

SOMETHING NEW

CAPETOWN—(CP). — Military policewomen will soon make their appearance in the army for the first time in South Africa's history.

Allied Raiders Rake Suda Bay

CAIRO, July 30 — (AP). — Allied heavy bombers attacked the vital Axis supply harbor of Suda Bay, Crete, at dusk yesterday while land operations on the El Alamein front were confined to patrol activities in the northern sector, general headquarters announced today.

The communique reported that heavy bombers of the Allied Air Forces took part in the attack on Suda Bay.

Torpedo-carrying aircraft hit and damaged a large Axis merchant ship in the Ionian Sea. Other Allied planes attacked barges near Sidi Barrani off the Egyptian coast and set one on fire, the communique said.

Over the battle area, the aerial activity was of a minor nature, it was reported. There were occasional artillery duels in the northern sector of the front between the British ground forces and Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's troops.

WINS V.C. AND D.S.O.

I SET THE PACE FOR BETTY NOW!

1 I used to envy Betty's energy. One day I asked her: "How do you start off so fresh every morning?" "Get yourself a self-starter, my dear," she said. "Try Post's Bran Flakes, the delicious cereal with three benefits. They'll help to get you in trim!"

2 Next Saturday we met in the grocer's. "Remember," she urged, pointing them out, "eat Post's Bran Flakes regularly from now on. They contain just enough bran to be mildly laxative, provide useful amounts of the iron and phosphorus we all need and their flavor is simply grand!"

3 Now I never fail to eat my Post's Bran Flakes. They really are a delicious cereal—scrumptious in bran muffins, too. As for me... I'm no longer listless and tired. Early or late, I can set the pace for the whole office—including Betty!

Eat them for 3 Important Benefits:
They help prevent constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet.
They contain useful quantities of iron for the blood and phosphorus for bones and teeth.
Crisp, golden flakes—full of delicious taste-tempting flavor and so good for you, too.

Australian Troops Learn Guerrilla Warfare

In Australia they have a regular obstacle training course, worked out for the training of their soldiers. Here we see some of the Aussie troops crossing a stream on a small plank while explosives beneath them go off and shoot geysers of water and mud into their faces. This is part of the guerrilla warfare that soldiers of today must know to survive the ordeals of battle.

Canadian Troops Fought To The Last Ditch At Hong Kong With Heavy Casualties

LOURENCO MARQUES, Portuguese East Africa, July 24 (delayed) (CP Cable)—Passengers who boarded the Japanese steamship Asama Maru after being interned following the fall of Hong Kong said today that the plight of Canadian troops taken prisoner there was just as that of Americans interned in the Zentsugi barracks in Japan where medicines, food and clothing were most vital needs.

E. D. McGreer, secretary to the Canadian Legation in Tokyo at the time of Japan's offensive against the United Nations, refused to comment on either the treatment accorded Canadian prisoners or that accorded himself and his staff during their internment, holding that this was neither the time nor place for such comment.

Passengers said they understood the Canadian troops at Hong Kong made the most valiant stand of any of the defenders with resulting heavy casualties.

In the face of superior numbers of Japanese they doggedly held their ground, retreating virtually foot by foot to the Stanley Point battleground, it was said.

Casualties Up to 50 P.C.

Estimates of the dead and wounded among the Canadians vary from 50 per cent. of the total of 2,200 to well over 60 per cent.

(The Canadian contingent to Hong Kong numbered 1,985 officers and men Information relayed to Canada from Japan by way of Argentina last February was that Canadian prisoners of war taken at Hong Kong totalled 1,689, and from that it has been calculated that 296 were dead or missing. Following that announcement, a few Canadians were reported to have died in custody There has been no estimate of the number of wounded.)

McGreer said he was not permitted outside the Legation grounds without an accompanying officer, but added that the Japanese made every effort to obtain adequate food for the saff and did obtain food which he understood was much better than that available to the Japanese.

The secretary and his staff were taken for weekly walks with a uniformed oficer strolling alongside.

Although he declined to comment on the Japanese treatment of Canadians at Hong Kong, McGreer was known to have held long conferences with Paul McLane, Canadian Trade Commissioner, after McLane boarded the Asama Maru at Hong Kong.

A box of books which McGreer brought from Tokyo for the Canadian prisoners was not unoaded at Hong Kong because it was jammed in the hold of the ship and could not be reached without a great amount of cargo shifting.

The strictness of the Japanese supervision of the repatriates was exemplified by their refusal to let McGreer ashore at Saigon, French Indo-China, to visit a cousin.

British Sailors' Welfare Vital Part Of War Needs

By AGNES JOYNES

In the year 1818, a British merchant was walking with a friend on a London street. On that same street, sailors were begging for food: sailors, maimed from naval fighting in the Napoleonic war, homeles sand famished.

That merchant possessed money and he also possessed a soul. "Look," said he, "those pitiful wretches are the men on whom we depended when danger threatened our shores. They are the men who daily brought us the comforts and luxuries of life. This misery among them shall cease! These men are going to have a place in our ports to lay their heads!

He meant it. Before long, money had been raised among his friends for the first hostel and chapel a sailor had ever known. It was fitting that this should be a ship: an old battleship (the "Speedy") which had seen service under Nelson. The ship on which, doubtless, some of them had received their scars. The opening ceremony was attended by many well-wishers, who on that day formed themselves into the British Sailors' Society. This society has grown steadily for over 123 years, the sailor's great friend, and constant minister to his needs.

This first hostel was such a sucsuccess that the movement spread —buildings were erected during the next century in every port on the seven seas, which British ships called. They dot the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts of Canada and make resting places for the sailors of our GreatLakes.

No sentimental group make up the British Soilors' Society. They struck out for, and have achieved, far-reaching results. The society, while looking primarily after the sailors' spiritual and material welfare, has made itself one of the greatest economic forces in British merchant shipping. For instance, it is very important that ships arrive in port and leave, in schedule time. This is as important in peace as in war. Even a short delay in the sailing of ships costs many, many dollars. The entertainment provided for sailors at these hostels and the care which they receive, is largely responsible for the "fit" and happy men who are on hand, ready for duty when the ship is due to leave port. This alone, would warrant the upkeep of these institutions through the years.

The society supplies libraries with books both recreational and educational for its merchant ships and hostels. Technical libraries are to be found on British merchant ships, where the college boy, who has temporarily given up school to do his bit in the war, may continue his studies.

Pages would be required to tell all the work of this old and honored society. One thing which particularly brings it to the door of every Canadian home during this hideous war, is the line of rescue ships which it finances, and which operate where the danger of torpedoing and bombing is greatest. On these, sailors take their lives in their hands to rescue comrades of the war, soldiers and sailors and civilians, who, without the immediate aid would lose their lives.

The society's work is well portrayed in a famous British film, which we hope to see on every Canadian screen, called "A Safe Anchorage." In this sound film there is no "acting." It is the actual everyday life in various phases of the work. It is briefly described in the "Chart and Compass," the official organ of the British Sailors' Society, in the January-February number of 1942. In shows "scenes of special war work, the care taken of survivors, with the actual rescue ships putting into port." It also shows boys in training for the merchant navy.

The headquarters of the Canadian Branch of the British Sailors' Society is in Toronto, where Mr. George M. Speedie, 50 Alberta Ave., is the Dominion secretary. In a quiet, old-world manner, this has carried on here for years—perhaps too quiet for this era of flambuoyant advertising. People sometimes confuse it with our Canadian Navy League; sometimes with the Tract Society of the Lakes. But it is very definitely ITSELF, and the great work of the society is carried on by itself, as it has been for the past 123 years.

We wonder if the saior of a century ago, envisioned such an effort in his behalf, for future years?

U.S. Tobacco Men Arrive

SIMCOE, Ont., July 29 (CP) — Thousands of workers from South Georgia, Tennessee and the Carolinas are here to assist in harvesting Norfolk's tobacco crop this year.

This year primers as well as curers are being permitted to enter for the purpose of harvesting tobacco. Already permits have been issued to 3,000 primers, in addition to 1,000 curers, and the number may possibly go as high as 5,000 for the whole tobacco area.

The United States men receive $4.00 a day with board, and transportation.

CANADA'S GENERALS

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

Most indefatigable senior staff officer in the Canadian army overseas, Maj.-Gen. Turner lives his work practically around the clock.

He's on the job every day and goes back to his desk until the small hours of the morning. It's a routine with him.

When the going is really tough he sets up a bed in his office. Gen. Turner has been working with this even regularity ever since he came overseas with the 1st Canadian Division. He went to 1st Corps and now is at Army Headquarters as "MGA," major-general administration.

Major problems of administration and supply have been handled by Gen. Turner from the time the first contingent set foot in Britain. He never seems to have this big task off his mind. Meet him on manoeuvres in the field and he will start the conversation with: "We have an interesting question of supply here. Now look at this map." And he will outline in minute detail how the field force is being supplied. He thinks right down the line.

A solid, stocky officer, he knows what he wants and makes sure he gets it. His stance is that of a wrestler and few men could push him off his feet. Few could make him change his mind once it is made up. He is recognized as a remarkable organizer and a wizard on detail. From the start he has been one of Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton's closest advisers.

Born at Four Falls, N.B., General Turner is now 53. He served with the engineers in the First Great War, being decorated with the Military Cross and the Distinguished Conduct Medal. After the war he remained in the permanent force.

He has a grizzled, short-clipped crop of hair and a fine sense of humor. Around Army Headquarters, many of the old hands still refer to the general as "the brig," their name for him when he was brigadier, General Staff, at Corps Headquarters.

Lovely Lace Evening Gown

By ALICE ALDEN

There's nothing to surpass lace especially if the wardrobe is to contain but one frock for important evening occasions when it becomes necessary to really dress up. A new beauty is this dinner dress of gray lace made on figure flattering lines with fitted bodice, flared skirt and pink taffeta bows to the left of the wide shallow neckline and at the right knee to provide a proper line balance. It's a dress that packs beautifully too.

Take Your Family To Park For Picnic On Summer Day

By MARY MOORE

Some Know-It-All on the radio said that after 40 the only thrill that is left to you is eating. He's not right but I wish that weren't a martial truth.

In merely re-reading the recipe I'm giving you today for Potato Salad I want to go on a picnic so much I'm going to make one, gather my brood and their buddies and go.

At this point I'm reminded to count my blessings. Aren't we lucky that we are so free in this tyrant-ridden world that we can decide to make our supper into a picnic even if we do have to get to the nearest park by street car?

Speaking of blessings, reminds me of Peter's grace before lunch today: (he has never learned to like mushrooms) "Dear God: For all that we are about to partake of make us truly thankful—except the mushroom soup.—Amen."

I was thankful none of the grown-up family was present for I was a sorry sight; trying to suppress my laughter and yet be stern with him for being flippant. He still couldn't see why he should be thankful for something he didn't like.

However, you'll be thankful for this version of Potato Salad I'm offering—it is a minor masterpiece in my opinion.

Emem's Potato Salad (Serves 8)

Three cups slightly under cooked potatoes (boiled in their jackets, preferably new) peeled, cooled and cut into ½-inch cubes, 3 tablespons grated mild onion (preferably Spanish) or finely chopped green onions, 1 cup mayonnaise (not boiled dressing), ½ cup fine chopped celery, 2 tablespoons parsley, and either ¼ cup under cooked new peas or ¼ cup finely sliced raw asparagus or ¼ cup boiled cubed cucumbers or ¼ cup green pepper with skin on (these last 4 choices are to give to salad a crisp green ingredient), 2 teaspoons salt, ½ tablespoon white pepper.) Mix all ingredients except mayonnaise and keep cold until ready to use then mix with cold mayonnaise. The salad should be quite moist and is at its best when served with frankfurters either boiled, broiled, split and pan fried or baked.

Variations:

Pimiento, sliced hard-cooked egg and chopped crisp bacon are all nice additions or garnishes. I especially recommend the addition of ½ cup when you are serving potato salad chopped crisp cooled side bacon and no meat course.

Potato Salad with bacon is pretty if served in centre of a large platter and surrounded with a border of devilled hard cooked eggs. The egg border may be interspersed with moulds of Tomato Jelly Salad and you'll have a picture.

For our picnic I just stuffed it down into 2 straight-sided quart jars.

Hot Weiners On A Picnic

Peter wanted his weiners hot at the picnic so I said I'd figure a way to keep them hot if he'd carry them in the tin lunch box.

I heated them through in boiling water, drained them well, wrapped them in double wax paper then in two heavy tea towels, then in two heavy brown papers and they were very hot after we had travelled for a half-hour on and off the street car. It was a good little fireless heat-retainer.

Some of the youngsters made "hot dogs" with their weiners and buns, others ate them in their fingers,—but they ate an average of three each! So count the noses and provide plenty.

It takes no ingenuity to think of taking a tomato apiece and an orange or apple or pear or banana apiece, but you must remember that there should be plenty of cake and liquids.

I think chocolate milk contains too much sugar to be given the children often, but for a treat it is sure-fire.

To reduce the burdens to be carried, I took a jar of lemon syrup and a nest of paper cups. The fountain at our park happens to be the kind that spouts so they filled their cups ¾ full with water and I added the syrup to fill them.

Unfrosted Orange Cake

One-half cup shortening, ½ cup corn syrup, ½ cup sugar, 2 eggs, grated rind of 2 oranges, ¾ cup orange-juice, 2⅓ cups sifted cake flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 4 teaspoons baking powder. Cream the shortening. Add the sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Add corn syrup. Beat the egg yolks and add them to the creamed mixture, add the orange-juice and rind, mix and sift the remaining dry ingredients with part of the flour. Beat well and add the remainder of the flour. Pour into a square or oblong pan; sprinkle with fine orange rind and bake in a moderate oven 350 deg. Fahr to 375 deg. Fahr. for 45 to 60 minutes.

Our cake was unfrosted. Orange cake carried and cut in the pan in which it was baked. These cakes that are a good flavor in themselves are an idea to remember now that the icing sugar can is nearly always empty. I certainly don't intend to squander my slender sugar ration that way.

Remember at least once a week to forget the ants and take advantage of the best things in life that are free—fresh air and sunshine.

MANY WIVES ARE JEALOUS OF HUSBANDS' RELATIVES

There Is Nothing a Man Can Do About It Except to Be Patient.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young man of 23, married and love my wife very much. We get along fine except she is insanely jealous over my mother and father, and altogether without reason. She accuses me of having secrets with them, which I have not, and of giving them money, when I have not given them a penny since I have been married. All that I want to give my parents is the love and the little attentions they deserve.

I love my father and mother, but love my wife best of all and put her first not only in love, but in everything else. Is there any way in which I can make my wife see that my relationship to my parents is simply that of a good son, and it does not in any way conflict with my relationship to her?

JIM.

ANSWER — If anyone has ever found a cure for jealousy, I have never heard of it. One would think that the best way to deal with it would be to make the afflicted ones see how silly and unreasonable their suspicions are, but unfortunately those who are green-eyed have lost the power to see anything straight, and they are not amenable to reason. So there you are.

You can swear by all your gods to your wife that you love her better than you do your mother and father; tell her the fact that you left them to live with her should be sufficient proof that you prefer her to them. You can turn over every cent you make to her so that she can know herself that you are not giving any money to your father and mother. You can try to make her see how foolish it is for her to imagine that you and your parents have any secrets that you keep from her. But it will be all in vain. She will go right back to her original grievance, which she manufactured out of whole cloth, and resume her favorite diversion, which is torturing the one she pretends to love.

Many Wives Are Jealous

It is a common thing for wives to be jealous of their husbands' people, and especially of their husbands' mothers. They cannot bear to think that their husbands had any life in which they (the wives) did not have a part. Nor that their husbands have any affection for anyone but them. They don't stop to consider what sort of a poor ingrate a man would be who would cease to love the mother who bore him, and the father who had toiled to support him and educate him and give him a start in the world, and the brothers and sisters with whom he has grown up, just because he got married.

In their jealousy they ignore the fact that a man who had that little family loyalty would just as lightly break his marriage ties when some more attractive woman came along.

Women seem especially resentful of their husbands' helping their own families when they are in need, though they do not hesitate to saddle their husbands with their own families, and think that John is mean and stingy when he objects to paying their brothers out of scrapes and having their mothers and fathers come to live with them.

Every woman knows that the love a man gives his family and the love he gives his wife are two entirely different emotions that do not clash in any way, but that does not prevent wives from being more jealous of their husbands' affection for their families than they are of any siren. And there is nothing that the husband can do about it except to bear it with what patience he can, or get up and leave.

Although I can't offer you, Jim, any recipe for curing your wife of her jealousy of your parents, I do urge you not to let it separate you from them. Don't give up the unselfish love of your father and mother to please a self-centered, utterly selfish wife.

Urges Soldiers to Buy Bonds

DEAR MISS DIX—During World War I the soldiers received only $30 per month, and when they were discharged most of them were practically broke and jobless. Now, during the present war, they are to receive $50 a month and I want to urge them to save something for afterward Most of the soldiers of my acquaintance are sending the greater part of their salaries home to their mothers who really are not in need because their husbands are working at war-time wages and fully able to support their families.

What a fine opportunity for these boys, whose parents are not in need, to save $25 or more each month by buying defense bonds during the years they are in the army and navy, so that when they come home they will have a few hundred dollars saved up for marriage and social readjustments. After marriage the parents may need the boys' savings more than they need them now Saving their money will help them in a rainy day, also help Mother when she may really need it while Father is out of work in post-war times.

A FATHER

ANSWER—I commend this letter to the attention of the boys in the service and urge them to take the good advice it gives. For it will take money as well as time to find a new job and make the adjustments that will have to take place when the war is over, and Johnny comes home to fight new conditions that will be just as dangerous an enemy as the Nazis or the Japs, and that may get him if he doesn't have a few silver bullets tucked away with which to defend himself.

And I also make a very strong appeal to parents to have a heart and not graft on their boys who are in the army for the money they are earning with their blood and sweat. It may be easier to write a pathetic letter to Johnny at the front, telling him that the rent is coming due, or that you need a new overcoat, or the ice box is broken down than to go out and earn the money for yourself, or to deny yourself the pleasure of going to the movies or giving a party, but don't do it.

Instead keep mum about home finances and urge Johnny to save his money against that rainy day when he is sure to need an umbrella.

Just Hope for the Best

DEAR MISS DIX—How can I be sure that my husband, who has once been unfaithful to me, is true to me now? I am going crazy with the uncertainty about it.

A WIFE

ANSWER—You can't. All you can do is to shut your eyes, cross your fingers for luck and hope for the best. But it may comfort you to know that many men who take an excursion down the primrose path find that there were more thorns than roses on it and come back home chastened and disillusioned, and never afterward stray out of their own back yards

Holiday Playclothes

By PRUNELLA WOOD

Tough but pretty would be a likely description for a youngster's summer vacation everyday frock. The little number which this teasing young woman wears in the picture, above, rates the definition.

Even if she falls in the brook on which she so expertly teeters, no harm will be done. For the dress with its slim-striped full skirt and basque top is cotton, the colors of stripes and polka dot band trimmings both are fast.

Repeated washings will not dim it, and its cut is an easy one for smooth ironing. The fabric is corded, won't snag or rip without giving a good battle first. Note the fashionable sub-deb pigtail coiffure.

This Is Everybody's War

By MOLLY BROWN

It's a little late in the summer to talk about supervised playgrounds for children; and some of you may think that war-time is no time to talk about them anyway. The second thought is true to the extent that we should have talked about them long before the war started. We need them more than ever now.

We have been told, in the press, on the radio, and in movie newsreels, that war industries will need more and more women to work at the production of essential war materials. It will not be long before married women, even those with families, will be required. Some, indeed, have already gone to work in the factories, and there have been cases in Peterborough of children being left alone all day without adequate supervision. More conscientious mothers, who would be glad to earn extra money in war work, are deterred by the fact that that they have families of small children whom they cannot leave alone. If they could go to work, secure in the knowledge that their children were safe and well-cared for, they would gladly work in the factories.

Most cities make some effort to provide recreation for their children during holiday months. It is a public disgrace that a city the size of Peterborough should be so behindhand in the matter. Other cities provide supervised play centres in school grounds and public parks. Paid supervisors watch over the children, but no child is compelled to do anything he does not want to do, and may make use of the privileges of the place to his heart's content, so long as he respects the right of others to do likewise. The cetnres are equipped with swings, slides, see-saws, and other play-paraphernalia. Inter-playground baseball leagues are drawn up, and equipment is provided for handicrafts and games. In these places children who might otherwise be roaming the streets, or driving mothers frantic with pleas of "What can I do now, Mother?" are safe and happy.

These playgrounds, of course, are a holiday measure, and exist only when school is not in session. Families of working mothers would present a year-round problem. But if we had the experience of supervised playgrounds the harder problem would be easier to face and solve.

Because children are a potential source of good or bad to society in general, and to their own community in particular, it should be plain that society, as represented by the community, bears at least a part of the responsibility for thier well-being. They are the citizens of tomorrow, and for such a task as they will have to face, they will need all the strength of body, mind and spirit that a healthy, happy childhood can give.

If the time comes, as it most certainly will, when it will be necessary for mothers of small children to go to work, then day nurseries for pre-school children, and which could provide at least one meal a day for school children, would be a necessity. Such a nursery, even a small one, could not be run on a purely voluntary basis, nor would it be desirable. Too many people in the world are afflicted with a "Let George do it" state of mind.

As yet there are comparatively few children in Peterborough whose mothers are working. But it is time we gave the matter some thought. And would not experience gained with a few children be valuable when the numbers grow?

Victorian Order Of Nurses Angels Of Mercy To Many Peterboro Homes

By JEAN STENTON.

The Victorian Order of Nurses, "Angels of Mercy," clad in their navy blue uniforms with spotless collars and cuffs, make their visits around Peterborough, unheralded, while they bring cheer and encouragement every day to their patients ranging from tiny babies to grandparents. Although a great deal of responsibility rests on their shoulders these nurses are very human, and this very quality gives them a deep interest in and understanding of the people with whom they come in contact.

The staff in the Peterborough branch consists of three graduate nurses, who have taken their post-graduate course in Public Health nursing at the University of Toronto, under the direction of Miss Mary Ross who along with the other girls, has had a great deal of experience in V.O.N. work. Miss Harriet McGeory and Miss Catherine Maddaford complete the trio. At present Miss Maddaford is away on vacation and Mrs. D. Stewart, a former V.O.N. nurse, is supplying for her and doing a most efficient job.

In an average day the nurses may make as many as 21 calls taking in almost every type of case and the girls find that their work is made easier because of the fact that they never enter a home without an invitation, usually from the family doctor. The V.O.N. will answer a call from any nurse, but care is given and continued only under a doctor's orders. Wherever the V.O.N. goes her uniform is a badge that earns the respect of all with whom she comes in contact.

Report at 8:30.

The girls report at the V.O.N. office on Simcoe Street at 8:30 in the morning and do a little clerical work and make a list of places at which they will call and decide which nurse will take what patients. Promptly at nine o'clock they get into the car, and the one who has the farthest distance to cover drives and drops the other two off at their cases. When the girl with the car has finished, usually in about an hour, she returns and picks up the others and they go on to the next port of call. All the girls drive and this saves a lot of time and trouble. But where possible they walk during the day.

In a day there is every type of case handled and all receive the same thorough treatment. In some cases there are chronic patients, that is, people who have a standing illness that has been and is likely to be of some duration. Here the nurses call once a day or twice a week or whatever the case seems to require and thy give baths and any other tratment that the doctor orders.

At some other home there may be dressings to do, or care of a patient who has had surgical treatment at the hospital, but who still needs care at home. A goodly number of patients are often maternity cases. In the morning, the nurse will call and fix the mother up with a bath and other necessary treatment and then when she is comfortable the baby is bathed while the nurse sits beside the mother so that she may learn the technique. In the afternoons the nurses try to give what are termed "educationals." These may not be given every day but are done as often as possible. They include pre-natal and post-natal instruction for mothers. Before confinement, the mothers have the doctors' teachings amplified and are taught to prepare surgical supplies several weeks ahead of time that are sterilized about ten days before they are to be used.

In the post-natal work the nurses call regularly for the first six weeks after the baby's birth and they advise mothers on the child's diet, weight, welfare and about any condition that may crop up unexpectedly. All the V.O.N. nurses take a great interest in how "their babies" progress, and are as proud as the mothers when baby gains a pound.

Training Same Everywhere.

Every V.O.N. nurse receives the same training, and Miss Ross said that should the whole personnel change here over night nurses coming in from any other part of the country could walk into the homes and take charge without the patients saying, "Well my other nurse did it this way." Each nurse has the same equipment in her black satchel, which they figure weighs around eight pounds. In it she carries such things as her instruments, thermometer, apron which has a special white cloth envelope into which it fits, absorbent cotton paper tissues, dressings, and the record case which sits on top.

When a nurse arrives at a home to make a visit, unless it is her first trip, she knocks lightly at the door and walks in. Her hat lands in the first convenient corner and she immediately begins to clear the decks for action. From her first visit she knows exactly where to find everything that she needs, which usually amounts to some hot water and towels and newspapers, particularly the latter. The nurses admit they dont know what they would do without them. Their bags are set on papers, and any equipment that is taken out of them goes on tissues they carry with them, they make bags for soiled dressings out of the papers and bags for almost everything else imaginable.

When a baby gets his bath, papers are spread under him, the wash basin and any other receptacle being used. This all makes for cleanliness, the girls explained. After they open their bags, they take out the equipment that they expect to use and then scrub their hands thoroughly. The same process is repeated after they have finished. If they have to go into their bag for something else during the operations, then they have to scrub up once more.

Efficient System.

They are used to having to work in small quarters and their system has been ideally adapted to a systematic routine. Not a movement is wasted or an extra step taken. Things are done on a model plane of efficiency in the shortest possible time. Although they do not carry drugs of any kind in their bags, only the most necessary things are included in their equipment. After a thermometer has been used, it is washed in green soap solution and then wrapped in absorbent cotton soaked with alcohol. This makes it sterile and the method has been tested in the laboratories.

After dinner the girls all assemble at the office again and write up some of the case histories and reports of their morning's activities. Besides the reports they make out at their office they leave a record at the patient's home for the doctor's use. They work directly under doctor's orders and he keeps in touch with them by telephone. There are also reports as to the number of cases the girls handle by day and month to be made out. In the matter of records, everything is confidential, and the records themselves are kept for five years, and if they have not been used since the first visit they are destroyed. When first call is made a "family folder" is begun and the work done at that time, along with other details, is recorded. Later on if another member of the family is taken ill and the Victorian Order is called in they have the family history there and do not have to go through setting up another lengthy report.

The regular fee is $1.00 a call, but the fees are adjustable according to circumstances. This service is privately organized and is intended to serve those who are not sick enough to be in a hospital or to require an all-time nurse, but who need trained medical service for an hour or so a day. Often patients return from the hospital before they are able to get around without any nursing, and the V.O.N. can supply the necessary service.

24-Hour Service.

While the girls are nominally through at five o'clock, they are on 24-hour duty. Each nurse is on call every third night and they assist at confinements in the home and even tonsil and minor operations. One of the finest things the nurses do is to teach while they work. They rarely make what they say a direct command; instead, they give the directions for donng a thing and then explain simply and clearly the necessity for so doing. They are not only interested in the patient but the family, and the girls seem to have a special knack for handling small children. Even the lustiest roars are soon hushed after a few words and a little attention. No matter how small the task on hand may be, the nurse never misses a chance to pass on some helpful knowledge to the person whom she is assisting.

Every branch throughout the country is carried on in practically the same manner as the Peterborough branch, and it makes no difference if it is larger or smaller, the only difference is in the matter of scale. Since the beginning of the year, the V.O.N. have made 3,000 visits in city of Peterborough, and they are doing a wonderful job in educating the public to better health rules.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, July 31.

A SURPRISING, almost bewildering, state of affairs, is read from a long chain of astral figures. New, sudden, almost revolutionary conditions may arise, promising to catapult the ambitious, ardent, audacious, original and progressive into high planes of prestige, popularity and good fortune, affecting the personal, business and public life. All the energies, forces and faculties may be keyed to concert pitch in the performance of some unusual and productive task of value and benefit to self and the community.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may stand at the door of a year of remarkable opportunities for progress, adventure and noteworthy achievement. Mental, nervous, creative and technical stimuli should be high-pressured for this grand stroke of genius.

A child born on this day should be richly endowed with creative ability. It may rise to extraordinary achievements, if not carried away by subtle weaknesses.

WHY NOT HAVE BABY SLEEP THROUGH NIGHT
YOU and your baby both need sleep. There is a sure and easy way to get it. Let Mrs. B—, Jr., of Winona, Ontario, tell you in her own words: "Night after night, as soon as we would get settled in bed, 'Baby' would start crying. . . . Baby's Own Tablets changed all this. What a blessed relief."
In no sense are these "sleeping" tablets. They contain no opiates or stupefying drugs and are absolutely harmless. But they promote healthful sleep by promptly making the ill baby well. The well baby sleeps soundly.
Baby's Own Tablets bring quick relief from teething troubles, constipation, simple fever, diarrhoea, upset stomach, colic, simple croup and colds. Try them. 25 cents. Your money refunded if they are not effective.

For Fashion Slackers

Setting off from the youth Hostel at Springfield, Mass., on a dollar-a-day holiday by bike, Candy wears a cotton poplin shirt, black and white check slacks, doeskin riding gloves, and packs along a striped cotton Basque sweater. No belts, ties or other gadgets necessary.

By PRUNELLA WOOD

The fashion business always has a new Number One model who helps us set styles throughout the country. This year the newcomer is Candy Jones, the beautiful blonde, photographed above. (She's the girl the editors and publishers, in convention, picked as their choice for Number One model, incidentally, back in April). Anyway, it happens that Candy, who is close to six feet and her seventeenth birthday, likes slacks best of all, and wears them well. She has dozens of pairs of flat heeled shoes, and shirts by the score. Here she shows how smart a practical costume can be; casual as her getup is, there is nothing sloppy about it. You can take a tip from her.

This Week's Wartime Recipe

My son has just returned from camp and until this summer he has never eaten meat. He gained 2 pounds in 2 weeks and goodness knows he needed to. But I have always prided myself on my variety of vegetable and since he has good health (if not weight) I think they are still good—besides that we like this recipe very much.

Corn Pancakes

(Contributed by Mrs. Omar Reed)

Two and one-half cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 cups sour milk, 1 egg, beaten, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 cups canned kernel corn. Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add milk slowly, then beaten egg, beat until smooth (about 1 minute). Add corn and melted shortening, beat 1 minute again and drop on griddle, using little or no grease, bake on one side to golden, turn and finish second side. Serve hot. If you have any leftover beef gravy, it is good with corn pancakes.

Thank you, Mrs. Reed, for this suggestion. I tried giving my children a generous portion of meat each day and I knew they gained weight and seemed more satisfied with their meal.

Thanks for the good recipe. Come again.

DINNERS OF THE WEEK

By MARY MOORE

SUNDAY

Baked Ham Slices
Baked Potatoes
Vegetable Marrow with Parsley Sauce
Tossed Lettuce and Cress and Pepper Salad
Horseradish Mayonnaise (see note)
Peach Cobbler
Iced Coffee Milk (see note)

NOTES: To make Horseradish Mayonnaise, add to ¼ cup mayonnaise ¼ cup cream, whipped, ⅛ cup grated horseradish and ⅛ teaspoon salt. Beat well. Sour cream may be used. ¼ cup ground nutmeats and ½ teaspoon minced parsley may be added. The horseradish is increased or dimished according to taste.

To make Iced Coffee Milk, fill tall glasses 1-3 full strong cold coffee, add 2 ice cubes and fill glasses with cold whole milk, stir. If sugar is desired pass berry sugar as it dissolves more easily in a cold mix. Corn syrup is also nice as a sweetener.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did — even look healthy and strong, yet — you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

QUESTION — I wrote you some time ago if you had some information re———and received your letter stating that you are investigating same. I want to thank you for your trouble.

I thought I would try some on my own. I put up a quart of cherries and berries. I tried them and they are terrible, they lose all their color, this is supposed to return when opened but that's not true. If you would like to see some, I could send you a jar before I throw them out.

I hope you can help me out in other matters.

(1) I once tried some stuffed peppers with sauer kraut. This was pickled. I wonder if you have the recipe? The party that does them can't speak English, and I have no way of getting it.

(2) Can I put relish and pickle relish in jam jars?

(3) Can diced pickles be put in jam sealers?

(4) How do you pickle peppers,

Of Interest to Women

I hope you can help me. Thanks for past favors. Yours truly.

SALLY ROSS.

ANSWER—The information I was given at Ottawa regarding the product you mention was so unfavorable that I cannot advise you against it too strongly. However, you have discovered its ill effects for yourself so I needn't say more.

(1) Stuffed Pickled Peppers — (sometimes called Pickled Mangoes). Green or red sweet peppers may be used. They should be fairly large. For six good sixed peppers chop fine 3 lbs. cabbage and 1 large onion, sprinkle with 1 tablespoon salt, let stand 12 hours, squeeze out as much water as possible. Clean peppers as usual, making slit, but not cutting in half. Pack as full as possible with cabbage, sew up slit or tie into pace, let stand in salt water (1 teaspoon to 1 quart) 12 hours, then pour boiling vinegar over to cover. Let stand 2 weeks before using.

NOTE: Two and one-half pounds sauerkraut plus the 1 large onion may be used in place of the cabbage. The sauerkraut would not require the 12 hours soaking.

Pickled peppers may be packed in earthen crocks and weighted down with plate if they can be kept in a cool dark basement.

(2) I know two ladies who put their relishes in jam jars every year. But officially I cannot recommend this method. If relish is packed boiling hot; if you are very clean with all your utensils and use sterilized jrs and tops, and immediately cover, your reish with hot paraffin to overflowing and covering so that lid is sealed to the jar—you probably will have a relish that will keep perfectly.

(3) Dill pickles can be put in jam sealers, but the same rules apply to them as I gave you above for relish: fill your jars to overflowing with boiling hot brine (after dills have been put in jars) and cover immediately with a lid that has an oiled paper lever in it and which has been dipped in hot paraffin. This treatment will effect a seal. Jars sealed by this method must not be shaken or jarred or paraffin seal will break.

(4) Pickled Peppers may be made exactly the same as "Stuffed Pickled Peppers" above omitting the stuffing and cutting the sweet peppers in halves. Since you are interested in peppers, I am giving you a recipe for Pepper Hash that may interest you.

Pepper Hash

Twelve large sweet green peppers 12 large sweet red peppers, 3 onions, 2 tablespoons salt, 2 cups granulated sugar (or 1 cup honey and 1 cup corn syrup) 1 quart vinegar. Chop peppers and onions finely, cover with boiling water, and let stand 10 minutes. Bring to boiling point. Drain dry. Add other ingredients, boil 20 minutes. Pour into sterile ½-pint or pint jars with rubbers on and adjust glass tops and rings and seal.

QUESTION: When I was a girl in my teens we went to cooking school and learned to make most excellent Frozen Desserts I have ever tasted. I remember the Biscuit Tortoni the best, but the recipe is partially torn from my loose leaf note book. Would you send me the recipe—it has sherry in it—I think I could coax enough of this from my husband's Dad. Thanks in anticipation.

MARY LOU S.

ANSWER: I think the almonds and the sugar will be harder to get than the sherry. You could use ½ cup honey in place of the 2-3 cup sugar.

Biscuit Tortoni

One cup dried ground macaroons, 2 cups thin cream, 2-3 cup sugar, ½ cup sherry, 2 cups thick cream, whipped, 1 cup blanched almonds, minced. Soak the macaroons in the thin cream 30 minutes. Add sugar and sherry, and freeze to a mush (about 10 minutes). Brown almonds in oven. Add Whipped Cream to the frozen mixture, and pack in individual paper cases. Sprinkle with almonds.

Smart Simplicity

Here is an outfit that is smartly effective yet comparatively plain, ideal no matter the time of year or the occasion. Una Merkel chose it and wears it with wine red accessories, a beautiful contrast to the deep blue of the rough crepe frock. The dress is made on extremely simple lines with gathered fullness in front well below the waistline and has beautiful jewel framed enamel buttons. By ALICE ALDEN

Buckhorn W.I. Holds Meeting

The July meeting of the Buckhorn Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Wallace Blewett, "Maple Leaf Farm," in North Smith. There was a good attendance and each member present answered the roll call by giving a suggestion on how best to save sugar, tea and coffee.

The current events were given by Mrs. T. S. Wood. Plans were made to make a quilt for war work, each member being asked to bring a quilt block to the next meeting.

Mrs. A. Bennett, convener for Home Economics, had charge of the program. Mr. J. W. Blewett played violin selections which were enjoyed by all. An interesting reading was given by Mrs. T. Elliott on "How an Institute Member can help Win the War." Thrift in food and clothing, cleanliness, planning, buying and preparing right food for family meals and doing the work at hand willingly and efficiently are ways in which we all can help. Mrs. H. A. Shearer gave a splendid reading "My Maid has gone into Munitions." There are so many ways in which women can have less work by serving more simple healthful dishes. Mrs. T. S. Wood gave an interesting paper on "Thoughts by the Way." No matter what you have, always try to be happy and contented. Always have an extra plate ready for a visitor.

The reading given by Mrs. R. Montgomery 'Keeping up the Cheer,' told how women should strive to create neighborliness and to have pleasant homes during our days at war.

A collection was taken for the War Fund and the singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess and her helpers.

Sports Spice

By HUGH FULLERTON

Associated Press Sport Writer

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP) — American soldiers are taking their sports along wherever they go, thereby adding greatly to the confusion of world affairs . . . recently we've seen a report from Australia on an American football game played there and from Belfast on a clash between soldier baseball teams... The Aussie scribe couldn't quite figure out why it was called "football" when there was so little kicking and the Irishman concluded: "One thing Belfast fans will have to remember in the future if they want to appear knowledgeable. Never applaud or get excited about an ordinary or fairly high 'fly ball' "...

Today's guest star

Pete Norton, Tampa (Fla.) Tribune: "It sounds like the truth... 81,810 citizens of New Jersey and Pennsylvania shelled out $2,800,000 in bets at the new Camden track last week...If each of these betters had stayed home, added $7.50 to the $30 spent at the race track, he could have bought a $50 war bond...and very likely have saved gasoline, tires and wear and tear on his nervous system."

When American Association baseball scribes picked the Umps for the All-Star game, one vote was cast for President Bill Veeck of the Milwaukee Brewers——as the League's best grandstand umpire.

Socko'

When Manager Rogers Hornsby of Fort Worth was raising a protest to an umpire who had called a well tagged blow by one of Rajah's proteges a foul, a Tulsa fan hollered: "You can't see any better out there, Hornsby, than you could at the race track."...Local boy makes good: Lieutenant Howard A. Sessler, the Arlington, Mass., bombardier who went wih Jimmie Doolittle to leave calling cards at Tokyo, has been given a life membership at the Arlmont country club where he once was a caddy.

Earnings at Home Help Buy "Extras"

Crocheting Earns $195 A Year

Tantalizing to need new furniture or new clothes, knowing you can't afford them — unless somehow you can earn the money at home.

But that's an idea! Why not? Other women earn at home in all sorts of ways, pleasant ways that take little of their time.

There's Mrs. J., who crochets potholders. Because she follows the rules of home business success she manages to earn $195 a year.

First of all, her potholders stand out. Instead of the usual square shape, hers are shaped like teapots, cups and saucers!

Second, she was smart about getting her market. She gave several acquaintances each a unique gift potholder; they were so enthusiastic they ordered in quantities and told their friends.

And she knew just what her outlay was. She figured each potholder cost her 10c, so she sold it, quite profitably, at 25c.

If you don't crochet, you may choose one of many other ways to earn at home. Our 32-page booklet tells how to earn by sewing, knitting, cooking, typing and by just being useful. Explains the five rules of business success.

For your copy of "21 Ways to Earn Money at Home" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to Peterborough Examiner, Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

"The Authority on Authorities"

SHORTEN THE RUN

NEXT BEST thing to having the opponents' suit stopped at No Trumps is to hold enough cards of it to shorten their length, so they are unable to run too many tricks in it. Even if they are able to take every trick in the suit, they cannot prevent a No Trump game unless the suit is longer than four cards in one of their hands or the other, or they can pick up another trick in some other suit.

North: ♠9 6 4 ♥J ♦A J 6 ♣A K J 7 6 5

West: ♠K 7 5 ♥10 7 6 4 ♦7 4 3 2 ♣4 3

East: ♠Q J 3 ♥A K Q 2 ♦Q 10 8 5 ♣8 2

South: ♠A 10 8 2 ♥9 8 5 3 ♦K 9 ♣Q 10 9

(Dealer: West. Both sides vulnerable.)

At Table 1, South did what most fair bidders would do, in refusing to bid No Trump without stoppers of some kind in the opponents' heart suit. That resulted in the side reaching a minor suit game which it failed to make. One trick was lost in hearts and two in spades.

There was a different kind of a bidder in the South seat at Table 2. He was Charles B. Grady, most consistent player of the Skytop club in Pennsylvania, who, with his son Ben, wins many tops in the club's Monday evening duplicate. He decided that, with four of the opponents' hearts in his own hand, there was a sound possibility that West might have only four of them, which he had bid in response to the double.

It turned out that Mr. Grady was right. The defenders ran four heart tricks, but then nine followed for the intrepid declarer, giving him a reward for his temerity.

What should North lead to the second trick, after winning the first with his club A, when trying to beat West's 4-Spades on this deal?

Precious Hours Go Too Soon In Revelle Pass

TORONTO, July 30—(CP)—Every soldier knows how precious are the minutes between five p.m. one day and six am. the next—the span of a reveille pass.

If you stop a soldier on the street and ask him how much those minutes really mean, he will tell you. But if you heard Private Jeff Hurleys radio play Reveille Pass on the Columbia Workshop last night you won't have to ask. You won't have to be told again.

Jeff Hurley was born in London, England 23 years ago and went to Winnipeg when he was a few months old. He was a copy boy on the Winnipeg Free Press and a writer for Winnipeg radio stations. When he was 19 he sold his first play.

A year later he came to Toronto and since then he has had six plays produced. Last autumn he enlisted in the Royal Canadian Army Dental Corps. He is stationed in Toronto now, and is probably the only orderly in the service of the United Nations who also is one of his country's leading radio dramatists.

The army apparently mixes well with his career as a radio playwright, because he wrote Reville Pass in his orderly room at Camp Borden, where he spent the first six months after he enlisted.

"The nights when I couldn't get a reveille pass— and those nights were plenty—I'd get a one o'clock pass," he said last night. "Then I'd go back to the orderly room and work. While I worked, I often thought about my last visit home."

He thought about his wife and mother and how important was his time with him, and he wrote about it. He wrote about himself and the Canadian Army, but it goes for any army. He described the minutes from five p.m. to reveille and how his hero—a soldier named Joe—got back in camp just as the reveille sounded. Of this, Pte. Hurley wrote:

"It's hard to explain how it changes you. Even your stride becomes exact. Your arms swing in regular rhythm. You are not on pass any more....You are all marching in the same direction, toward a defeinite objective. Your shoulders straighten, your head goes up. You're back on a job you know you can do and you want to do it quickly, perfectly....You are a soldier marching across a parade ground with thousands of others in lines beside you. Ahead of you, and" ....there is emphasis here...."behind you."

Canadians Return

TORONTO, July 30 (CP)—Another group of Canadian soldiers reached here today following return to Canada from England. Of the party of 75, 45 were Toronto men.

One was sent back because of age, while some were casualties and others were slated for the officers' training course at Brockville.

U.S. Sub Photographs Sinking Of A Jap Destroyer

One of the most thrilling pictures of the war is this navy photo released in Washington. Made through the periscope of the U.S. submarine that did the torpedoing, the photo shows a Japanese destroyer of the most modern and powerful kind, on her way to Davy Jones. She is down by the stern with her rail awash. Rising Sun insignia painted on forward turret to identify her to her own aircraft is clearly visible. Two members of the crew may be discerned at RIGHT, clambering over the wreckage. In the photo may be seen the range lines on the periscope of the U.S. sub. This sinking brought to 38 the total of Jap destroyeers sunk or damaged by the U.S. since December 7.

Ten Branches Of Service Are Open In Army To Men Being Called Up

"What has the army got to offer men, and what kind of work can I go in for?" is the question many young men who have received their calls recently are asking. Their seems to be no very clear idea as to just what branches of service in the army are open to recruits. At the present time there are ten branches that offer a great variety in the mater of training and work.

The more education a man has the easier he finds the work, and with few exceptions there are no special qualifications. The Army does the teaching. In the artillery branch, the minimum education required is that of the entrance, and in this work, the man with a larger store of knowledge finds the work considerably easier. Besides the regular drill, artillerymen work mainly with the big guns, learning what makes them tick and how to use them.

For the boys who are interested in road building, and bridge building and mapping out trenches and building huts, the Engineers offers a fine chance for this scope of work. The men of these units do a job that is indispensable in the work of war fare. Those that belong to the Infantry units are front-line troops, and are the backbone of the army. They learn, along with the regular drill that every soldier receives, how to use rifles and machine guns and are well armed with automatic weapons and at times they travel in troop-carrying truck convoys. There is no particular skill necessary for anyone wishing to enlist in this work.

The Ordnance Corps needs skilled and semi-skilled labor ,such as mechanics, machinists, draughtsmen, electricians, instrument mechanics, welders, men acquainted with Diesel engines and gas engine artificers. There are more than 150 civilian trades used in this branch and anyone with experience along that line will receive first rate consideration. But the men do not need to be thoroughly experienced in that trade, for the Army Trade schools will see that they are taught, and what they learn in the army can be invaluable to the boys in civilian life after the war.

Then there is the Dental Corps which has been making tremendous strides, and there are a great many promotions. Men enlisting here are taught a great many useful things about dental care under the supervision of trained dentists.

Fast Workers

The Signaller's job is lightning execution of orders, the secret of war tactics today. Here the men send messages of emergencies from several different types of radios, telephones and other devices. The Army will teach the men about the use of this apparatus, but as always a little knowledge would benefit the recruit.

To anyone interested in the Army Service Corps, it is a wonderful opportunity for anyone with a mechanical bent. The man enlisting in this unit must be able to drive a truck, the rest will be taught him as he trains. The men of this corps drive the great convoys of mechanical transports, which have become so important in this war owing to the distances between the firing line and the base.

The Tank Corps is interested in men with mechanical training, but again will accept others willing to learn. This is the shock force of the Army ,and the boys learn to drive tanks, throw smoke bombs, use machine guns effectively and learn what it really means to get shaken up when they go riding.

First Aid Training

The Royal Canadian Army Medicail Corps is particularly interested inboys who have had some training in first aid work. Their job is to care for the sick and the wounded and they are divided into two classes, stretcher bearers who will be required to do front line work in getting the men to hospitals, and the hospital orderlies at the base and clearing stations. A fair education is essential to this work. The men, as in every other branch, receive the basic training for soldiering, but are taught detailed first aid and hospital work under the supervision of capable doctors.

It is understood that shortly there will be a parachute battalion formed for young men with nerve and courage. The parachutists are invaluable in assisting the Commando troops in their work, as they go in first and hang on, till the Commandos can come to relieve them.

When a soldier signs up for active service he receives a basic training that usually lasts for three or four months, and at the end of that time when those in charge have had a chance to watch his work, he is placed in the line of work where his real talents lie, and where in this capacity he will be beneficial both to the army and the country.

Army Trade Schools

One of the outstanding things the Army has to offer is the Army Trade school. If a man shows ability along a certain line, he is given a course, that is very short, and then he is graded according to his ability in one of three classes and the pay rate is cacordingly. For Class A, a man receiving trades pay get 75 cents in addition to the regular $1.30 a day; in Class B, 50 cents extra ,and in Class C, 25 cents a day more. Without the trades pay the rate is as follows: a private receives $1.30 a day; a lance-corporal, $1.50; a corporal, $1.70, a lance sergeant, $1.90 and a sergeant, $2.20, and so on up the list.

When a man signs up in the army he receives two suits of everything, 2 pairs of boots and a pair of shoes, and in some units walking out suits have already been furnished. His paying allowance is approximately $40 a month and if married, $20 is taken out before he receives it and sent to his wife. Some men prefer to send more than the $20, but that is a matter for personal adjustment. Added to this his wife received $35 a month from the government, and $12 a month each for the first two children, $9 for the third, and $6 for the fourth, making a total of $94 a month. For any extras the soldier may desire he has $19 a month to fling around. A soldier's child up to 19 years of age is allowed a dependent's allowance if he gets his junior matriculation or its equivalent in high school. Also a soldier does not have to pay either income or defence taxes on what he earnes.

Vocational Training

When a soldier is discharged, he receives vocational training if it is needed and gets a living allowance while he is taking it. Along with members of the other armed services, a soldier is entitled to free employment bureau service, which means that after the war there is going to be a service employment formed to look after the men of every branch who is unable to step into a job.

Also after his discharge a soldied, depending on the length of his service and the time of year receives a certain amount for civilian clothing. If it is in the summer, he receives $17, in the fall $27 or $35 depending on the length of service. Also if he has completed 183 days of continuous service with the Army, he gets one month's regimental pay, $40 plus one month's dependent's allowance and if he is unable to get a job, he can get post-discharge benefits, $13 a week for a married man, and $9 a week for a single man, and this will be continued for 12 months.

The meals in the army are kept up to a high standard and a typical day's meal might be something like this: for breakfast, tomato or grape juice, cereal, eggs and bacon, marmalade and jam and tea or coffee. For lunch there might be soup and always meat served in a different manner every day, potatoes and two vegetables and some kind of desert such as pies and puddings. During the summer summer months, money is usually taken from the canteen funds for lettuce and tomatoes.

The promotions in the army now for privates who show ability are very rapid, and the officers do everything in their power for the welfare and advancement of their men. Today as never before, educational and recreational facilities are thrown open to members of the armed services, and they can develop their talents according to their own wishes.

Feels Like Different Person Since Syntona Built Her Up

Suffered 5 Years With Acid, Upset Stomach, Gastritis, Constipation, Backache and Headache. Was Nervous, Rundown and Losing Weight.

"Everybody remarks about the improvement in my health since I've been taking Syntona and I think it is just grand to feel so well again after years of suffering," said Mrs. Marguerite Ward, 442 King Street, London, Ontario in a recent statement.

"In the past five years I suffered terribly with stomach troubles, backache, nervous headaches and constipation. I would get so bloated with gas that I could hardly draw a full breath; scalding, sour, liquids would rise from my stomach and I constantly felt sick and nauseated. I took all kinds of medicines and treatments, went on a special diet, but I just kept getting steadily worse until I could hardly keep any food in my stomach at all. I had become terribly thin, my nerves were bad, and I couldn't sleep nights.

"When I first decided to try Syntona I was afraid I couldn't take it, because my stomach was so upset that I used to vomit up most of the light food I tried to eat. But, to my surprise, it didn't give me any trouble and I soon found it was doing me a great deal of good. Before I had finished the first bottle, I could eat fairly well and I was feeling much better. Now, after a few weeks on this medicine, I eat regular meals in comfort, my nerves are relaxed, and I am sleeping fine. I don't get those throbbing headaches or those pains in my back like I used to, and I have regained much of my lost weight. You may use this statement as you wish, and I only hope it will be the means of helping others who suffer like I did."

All who suffer are cordially invited to call at Elliott's Drug Store, Peterborough, and learn the truthful facts about this grand Syntona medicine that is helping so many people. (Advt.)

Canada Speeds Paratroop Training Plan

OTTAWA, July 30—(CP).—Opportunity for training in one of the most hazardous arts of war was in prospect for adventurous young Canadians today following official announcement that the Dominion's first battalion of parachute troops has been authorized by National Defence Headquarters .

Plans for paratroops training, first hinted at in 1940, reached finality when Defence Minister Ralston told the House of Commons that men who will be instructing the paratroops will leave "for the United States within three weeks to get immediate and quick information there and then return."

"In the meantime," Col. Ralston said in a broad review of Canadian military training touched off by criticism of the Hong Kong Commission report, "plans are being made with the (Royal Canadian) Air Force to provide the necessary co-operation."

Col. Ralston did not expand his reference to paratroops but last December it was authoritatively stated they would comprise an army formation which would take extensive training before going on flights in later stages of their instruction. It is expected to be a volunteer corps.

Canadian plans, it is understood, do not call for use of paratroops as fifth columnists and language qualifications therefore will not be a factor in selection for the service. They will wear recognized uniforms, according to previous reports, and will operate in enemy territory as fighting men.

Men chosen for the work generally are adaptable, athletic and fast on their feet. Armed for maximum fire power, they usually carry tommyguns, pistols and knives Other weapons, such as light artillery and heavy guns, are dropped in separate parachutes.

Bags 35-lb. Pike With His Oar

PICTON, July 30 — (Special). — Without the use of a line or hook, a 35-pound pike was landed by a man and two women in Smith's Bay, off Waupoos, Prince Edward County. The biggest specimen of its kind to be taken from county waters in many years, the fish was the prize of John McCaw, Miss Diane Fitzpatrick and Miss Betty Stevenson of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

While fishing for perch in the rushes, 200 yards off Waupoos shore, the party was startled to see the hugh fish rise to the surface beside their boat. Mr. McCaw, using the oar as a weapon, lashed out, and luckily struck the fish a blow just behind the head, stunning it. In doing so, he smashed the oar. The pike went to the bottom, but again surfaced and splashed around while those in the boat attempted to catch it with their bare hands. Finally it was caught by the gills and hauled into the small boat, which was nearly capsized as the fish attempted to escape. Safe on shore, the party hustled their catch to the farm of Charles Creesy, where it was weighed.

Though local fishermen cannot recall such a large pike being captured before ,they believe this to be the grand-daddy of them all.

Mr. McCaw is having the head mounted.

Only 2 Deaths In Munitions Says Howe, Admitting Slip In Pickering Fatality

Balks At Condemning Inspection System Turning Out 2,250,000 Shells a Month; 10,000 Misfit Montreal Casings Buffed Down

OTTAWA, July 31—(CP).—Munitions Minister Howe today told the House of Commons that a fatality in a shell-filling plant at Pickering, Ont., last month was caused by explosion of a loaded, defective shell casing which was being buffed down to fit a breech gauge for a two-pounder gun.

Mr. Howe made his statement in compliance with a request made last Saturday by Conservative House Leader Hanson for replies to questions raised in newspaper editorials based upon the inquest verdict.

The Minister said the accident resulted from the presence of some defective shell casings received at the filling plant from a Montreal factory. It was an inspection slip but he said these were so rare that he did not believe the whole inspection service should be condemned.

With Canada carrying on a great explosives industry there had been only two fatalities in explosives plants; and in the first instance the victim, in a death-bed statement, said it was his own fault because he had broken a safety rule, Mr. Howe said.

Up to an including last June 8 the Montreal casing maker, Robert Mitchell Co. had delivered 1,555,-0 casings and some 850,000 had been filled up to that date.

Many Too Thick.

Many of these failed to pass the breech gauge test because of a slight over-thickness of one or two thousandths of an inch.

Some of the defective shells had been filled and it was a question whether to break them down or buff off the extra thickness.

Both processes were equally dangerous but the latter would result in complete salvage of the shell, the Minister said, and it was adopted.

Some 10,000 cases were successfully buffed down to size by use of a six-inch emery wheele.

On June 25 some 700 shell casings delivered prior to June 9 got into the filling assembly line by error and about 100 of these got filled before the error was discovered.

When these failed to pass the breech gauge test they were taken to the emery to be buffed down but a 12 inch wheel had been installed and had not been tested for this work.

While being buffed on this wheel a shell exploded, killing one and seriousy injuring three workers. A coroner's jury had recommended safer methods in Defence Industries Ltd., the government-owned plant where the explosion occurred.

Mr. Howe said there was no doubt the mishap was due to faulty inspection in the Montreal plant where the casings had been passed by an inexperienced inspector.

PM's Ingersoll Now In The Army

NEW YORK, July 31 — (CP).—Ralph Ingersoll, 41-year-old editor of the newspaper PM who made flying visits to report the war in Britain, China, and Russia where he interviewed Stalin, was inducted into the United States Army to-day as a volunteer. He will report at Camp Upton N.Y., to-morrow.

Ingersoll enlisted after his local Draft Board refused to change his 1-A clasification, making his calling-up imminent, following an appeal by Marshall Field, PM's owner, in Ingersoll's behalf.

Field based his appeal on the assertion that Ingersoll was "indispensable" to PM. The editor made no appeal himself and said to-day Field would try to get the Selective Service Appeals Board to rule on his appeal as a test case.

Aerial 2nd Front Not Enough Moscow Strongly Hints

By ROBERT BUNNELLE, Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 31 (AP)—The quickened pace of British and American offensive preparations in this theatre and the constant conferences of Allied war leaders were viewed in London as indications that the Russians have made it plain they think the time is ripe for a diversionary action against the Germans in Western Europe.

Discussion of such action was lent urgency by reports from continental sources of new German attempts to capitalize on Russia's situation and drive a wedge between the Allies by separate peace feelers.

Soviet Ambassador Ivan Maisky is said to have given a frank appraisal of Russia's military condition in a closed all-party session of members of parliament yesterday.

On the same day, Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Ambassador in Washington, visited the White House.

While some persons believed London and Washington had been given to understand that Russia would be content with 1,000-plane raids on Germany and big-scale commando forays, provided war equipment can be delivered to the Red army on the required scale, a guarded dispatch from Moscow today suggested strongly that the Russians would not be satisfied with merely an aerial "second front."

Some observers were of the opinion that a land diversion in the west and solution of the Murmansk supply route troubles might be identical—establishment of bases in Scandinavia to provice air protection along the bomb-blasted Arctic convoy course.

Offensive planning was said to be taking into account the danger that too long a delay in action might force the Russian to use up their reserves, so that they would have no striking power when an Allied victory drive got started.

Berlin's Reported Plans

Responsible foreign sources with continental connections said they had heard that the German High command was convinced it could smash the Red Army by next winter unless something unforeseen should happen.

These sources said that, with this achieved, the Germans believe they could hold Russia and all occupied countries in check with a maximum of 120 divisions and have 100 divisions (1,500,000 men or more) for these steps.

A smash through the Middle East to drive the Allies out of North Africa, the Mediterranean and Asia Minor and isolate Russia and India.

Train Canuck Paratroops in U.S.

OTTAWA, July 31—(CP).—Canada's first paratroops will take their training at Fort Benning, Ga., until training facilities have been established in the Dominion, it was learned today.

Defence Minister Ralston told the House of Commons last Monday night that a battalion of paratroops had been authorized and that instructors were leaving for the United States to get "immediate instruction" on paratroop training there.

It was the Fort Benning camp to which he referred, spokesmen said. They expressed belief a considerable body of troops would go there in the immediate future.

The training of paratroops take a considerable establisnment. One of the most expensive and intricate part of the set-up is the high-jumping tower where men make their first descents — machine-controlled to prevent accidents while they are learning the ropes.

In later phases of training the Royal Canadian Air Force will provide co-operation but temporarily the paratroop battalion is a strictly army venture.

Some little time will elapse—perhaps six months — before arrangements are completed for full training in Canada. Exact location of the planned Canadian school has not been made public.

Col. Ralston's announcement that the instructors would take their training in the United States was taken as an indication that Canada's instructional policy will follow closely the American system. Paratroop training has been in progress south of the border for some time.

Last night it was reported from Vancouver that men from a West Coast military unit were on their way to Eastern Canada to take training as paratroops at a special school there. The group was described as part of a total of 53 British Columbia soldiers who will take the special training. It was indicated here that these men—or some of them, at least—may be among the groups to go to the United States.

Canucks Blow Up Dutch Factory

LONDON, July 31—(CP Cable.) —Canadian pilots flying with the fighter command successfully attacked a factory in Holland last night, the Air Ministry news service reported to-day.

Other night fighter pilots attacked railway engines, marshalling yards and freight sheds.

The Canadians, whose names were not available immediately, flew Boston bombers. They arrived over the factory in succession and one squadron leader dropped his bombs exactly in the centre of the plant. White smoke rose in heavy pall as the following pilot went in.

Active Patriots

MOSCOW, July 31—(AP). —Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, reporting on a year of activity by Smolensk-province guerillas said today a band led by a patriot called "B at y a," meaning Sandy, captured 300 villages and killed 6,000 Germans.

A year ago the partisans had only hunting weapons. Now numbering in the thousands, they possess machine guns, automotic rifles and seven tanks captured from the invaders, the newspaper said.

The German "yellow elephant" division, sent to disperse the guerillas, was reported defeated.

Bag 9 of 49 Fire Transport

Silence AA Guns Aboard Jap Destroyer Escort

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, July 31.—(CP).—In the biggest outburst of aerial warfare in the Australian area since the Coral Sea battle, Allied airmen destroyed nine of 49 Japanese raiders over Port Darwin yesterday, set another enemy transport aflame off New Guinea, shot up her destroyer escort and downed one enemy fighter and possibly another in that area.

Allied fighters tore into the attacking force of 27 heavy bombers and 22 escorting Zero fighters over Port Darwin, knocking down seven of the fighters and two bombers at a cost of only one defending plane. The Japanese formations were completely broken up in this Allied performance, described by a Headquarters communique as a piece of 'brilliant interception.'

The big raid upon the northern port came in the afternoon after a light, ineffective morning attack.

In other thrusts at the Commonwealth, nine high-flying Japanese bombers made the first attack of the war on Port Hedland, small freight port southwest of Broome, in western Australia, causing slight damage and one casualty, and made a futile, single-plane night attack on Horn Island, in the Torres Strait.

Keeping up their own offensive operations, Allied heavy bombers pounced on the destroyer-escorted Japanese transport 100 miles off Gona Mission, Papua, and scored five direct hits, leaving the vessel spouting flames visible for 30 miles.

Then the destroyer escort was machine-gunned from low level and her anti-aircraft guns silenced.

The transport, described by today's communique as a medium-sized cargo vessel, was the fifth enemy ship damaged or sunk since the Japanese invaded the Papuan Peninsula last week. Heretofore one transport was sunk and two others and a destroyer were hit by Allied bombs.

From all yesterday's operations thre Allied planes were missing.

For the first time in several days Allied headquarters said there was no ground activity at Kokoda inland village midway between Gona Mission and the Allied base at Port Moresby. The latter was attacked by three Japanese night raiders without damage.

After Siberia

LONDON, July 31—(CP). —A British military source said today that Japanese forces nearly 400,000 strong are concentrating in Manchukuo opposite the 1,000-mile Soviet frontier from Lake Baikal to the Pacific, and "there is little doubt they are planning to attack."

The source predicted they would make at least three drives in the north in an attempt to isolate Vladivostok. "August and September are the best months for campaigning in that area," he said, "and the Japanese inactivity in all other spheres except the north Pacific indicates Siberia is their objective for the last half of 1942."

Shaping Special Anti-Spy Sabotage Branch

OTTAWA, July 31.—(CP)—Organization of a securities control branch of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to guard against espionage and sabotage in Canada was described in the House of Commons today by Justice Minister St. Laurent.

He said the first group of 60 now is being organized for training and that the special force is to be built up to 700, its personnel drawn largely from qualified men now in the armed forces.

Two officers from the British Securities Control body are in Ottawa to assist in training and the corps will be organized in groups of 60 with a training period of about six weeks.

"The intention is to have a system which will enable us to check on every person entering Canada and on every person leaving," the Minister said.

Mr. St. Laurent made his statement in compliance with a request some time ago from Conservative House Leader Hanson, and after questions today by Paul Martin (Lib. Essex East).

Mr. Martin asked if there were any possibility that submarines had landed saboteurs on the Canadian coast as had been done in the United States where eight Germans were picked up by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

No Saboteurs Caught

Mr. St. Laurent said the R.C.M.P. the British Securities Control and the F.B.I. were in constant and close communication on this problem.

No persons had been apprehended in Canada who might appear to have been landed here for sabotage or espionage purposes, he said. A very careful check had been made.

There had been a conference here a year ago with heads of the British Security Control and an order-in-council last Aug. 20 had authorized the formation of a security control

Ural Cavalry Flung Into Don Bend

Front Brighter, Except South Of Rostov With Hun At Rail Line

MOSCOW, July 31 — (AP). — Armored trains of the Red Army rolled into the shell-torn Steppes of the Don Bend today, bringing up fresh reinforcements for the defenders who already had reported checking the German onslaught west of Stalingrad.

(The German high command claimed that its forces had crossed the lower Don on a 150-mile front and that some of its spearheads were 112 miles south of the river, with the important railways station of Kushchevka captured by a Nazi division.)

The Soviet armies along the Don were fighting under exhortations of their leaders and the whole Soviet press to "Die but don't retreat," and to live up to the traditions set by Russia's greatest warriors of the past, the latter a theme set yesterday by Joseph Stalin himself.

Despite the intense pressure of large German forces hurled into the attack south of the Don, there were some indications that the onslaught was being slowed, and the feeling was expressed in Moscow that the situation was definitely brighter—at least for the moment.

Nazis Paying Costly Price

A dispatch from this sector said sitffened Russian defences were taking a terrific tol of the Germans in fierce fighting with the forces which gained footholds south of the Don in the Tsimlyansk area.

Earlier battlefront reports said the Russians had yet to halt the German advance into the Caucasus.

Dispatches from the hard-pressed front south of Rostov and Tsimlyansky said the Russians had lost further ground and reported a grave threat developing between Bataisk, 15 miles south of Rostov, and the Sea of Azov.

St. Laurent Shies On Communism

OTTAWA, July 31 — (CP). — Justice Minister St. Laurent said in the House of Commons to-day he would be "very reluctant" to recommend anything which could be interpreted as legalizing "real Communism" in Canada.

He made his statement after C. C.F. members had asked whether he would implement the recommendation of a House of Commons Committee that the Communist Party be removed from the list of illeagl organizations.

The recommendations of the committee would receive careful consideration, the minister said.

He said he wished it to be clear that no one was being detained because of political opinions only, but because that person's actions had been looked on as subversive.

He held that "real Communism" was illegal. But that term did not apply to every person to whom the label "Communist" had been given.

Hoodwinks Army 6 Weeks

Plays Major, Has Chauffeur, Builds Big Canteen

NEWARK, N.J., July 31.—(AP). —The alertness of a state police corporal was credited to-day for the arrest of Warner J. MacFarlane, accused of impersonating a United States Army Major so successfully that he rode around in a chaffeur-driven automobile and supervised contsruction of an army canteen.

The 46 year old defendant was picked up at Plainfield after Col. Walter Heckmann became suspicious of his credentials and notified the Federal Bureau of Investigation. E. E. Conroy, assistant F. B.I. director, said MacFarlane carried a .25 calibre Mauser pistol in his automobile. Heckmann recognised that the pistol was not a side-arm issue of the army. Judge Williame J. Barker ordered MacFarlane held in $5,000 bail on charges of impersonatng an F.B.I. agent and a U.S. Army major.

Conroy outlined an amusing story of hoodwinking, saying that MacFarlane from May 1 to June 15 had travelled at will in the war aid depot in Somerset county, N.J., and Camp Kilmer, issuing passes for the depot over his signature, after representing himself as an 'area engineer of the war department.'

Obtained $600 from operators of a Newark restaurant, promsing them the canteen concession which did business under his supervision.

Forced the concessionaires to hire his fiancee whom he said he married June 2, to keep records 're-quired by the government.'

Timoshenko Wizardly Juggles Disaster

Holds Huge Reserves, Tossing Men Only Into Hot Spots Slowing Stalingrad Push

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Marshal Timoshenko, while continuing to give ground south of Rostov on the Lower Don, has tightened his defences considerably along the great crescent-shaped battle front during the past two days, but whether this represents Russian strength or a weakening of the Nazi drive isn't yet clear.

We ought to know soon, however, where the balance of power lies in this bloody clash of giants. Long before Hitler began the offensive upon which his fortunes depend, this writer pointed out that there was no way of judging the comparative strengths of the opposing forces short of seeing them in action in the big showdown.

During the first year's fighting both sides suffered tremendous losse in men and material, and in addition the Bolshevists gave up vast industrial and agricultural resources. Still, it was impossible to estimate the potential of recovery for either side with any degree of certainty. We had to wait to see what the Nazi chief produced in the way of his "spring" offensive.

Even now, despite the fierceness of the fighting, we haven't got the answer to our question. The Red retirement hasn't given us a gauge, because that was anticipated and it has been carried out in an orderly manner. The conflict now has reached a stage, however, when marked weakness on either side will begin to show up.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda of Moscow asserts that Germany is throwing its resources into the offensive, and adds that "the enemy is not so strong as he appears to some panic-mongers." Pravda's information has been pretty accurate in the past, and if its present estimate is correct, then the Reds certainly need not despair of holding the invaders.

We get another interesting view from Russian Maj. Gen. Zhuravley, a keen military commentator for the Moscow News. He declares "the day is approaching when the Red Army will deliver a counter-blow" and adds that while the Germany army is still capable of scoring short-lived successes in separate sections of the front, it "will inevitably be smashed."

Now that is bold language, but we can't dismiss it lightly, for we know that there may be sufficient Russian strength, or sufficient German weakness, to bring about exactly the result the general predicts. We mustn't overlook that Hitler's resources are on the wane, which is precisely the reason he is seeking to break into the Caucasus now.

Timoshenko finally appears to be

Attic Ghost A Murderer

Hermit Hides In Cubbhole 9 Months After Deed

DENVER, July 31—(AP). — The mystery of a house which children believed was haunted has been solved, police say, by the arrest of an emaciated, half-starved man who admitted he lived in a tiny attic cubicle of the vacated dwelling for nine months after beating the owner to death.

Mathew Cornish, 59, unkempt and haggard, was captured yesterday in the home of Philip Peters, 73-year-old retired railroad auditor who was found slain there last October 17. Detective Captain James Childers said Cornish, former advertising man from Tonowanda, N.Y., confessed he bludgeoned Peters with a gun and power after Peters caught him looting his icebox.

Police, investigating complaints of eerie sounds and strange lights in the Peters home, found Cornish in a cubbyhole four feet wide, seven feet long, with roof so low a man could not sit upright. Barefoot and dressed in rags Cornish told arresting officers he had not had food for several days. He weighed 75 pouns.

Cornish said, Childers reported, that he lived in the cubicle for a month before the slaying, without the knowledge of Peters, and that he seldom left the dwelling in the following months. Mrs. Peters, in a hospital when her husband was killed, returned to her home and lived there for several months, but she never detected the presence of the attic dweller. She now lives with a son in Grand Junction, Colo. Childers said no charges had been filed, pending investigation.

NINE RAIDERS BAGGED IN NIGHT RAID OVER CITY IN MIDLANDS

Huns Raid Midlands Visit London, 9 Nazis Shot Down

LONDON, July 31 (CP)—British fighters swept across the Channel in the direction of Boulogne this morning in a resumption of daylight raids on the occupied French coast after a night of scattered German bombing attacks upon Britain.

Nazi planes also were active over the Channel during the forenoon and heavy anti-aircraft fire was audible for several minutes on the outskirts of London, which had two quick alarms during the night—the fifth and sixth of the week.

The gunfire sent shoppers in the capital scurrying for cover, but ground watchers spotted no enemy planes over the city.

The German night att·‹ks were centred largely on the industrial Midlands.

(The Berlin radio said Birmingham was the object of the Midlands attack.)

Eight of the raiders were shot down by British defences and a ninth was destroyed over its base in occupied France by an R.A.F. fighter, a communique said.

Bad weather apparently kept the R.A.F. bombing squadrons from attacking Germany during the night, interrupting an offensive which had seen British bombers over the Reich on seven of the 10 preceding nights.

While the Midlands bore the brunt of the attack on Britain, which the communique said was not on a heavy scale, bombs also were dropped over East Anglia, the south coast and other widely-separated points.

Early last month the director of the British Security Control in the United Kingdom and the head of that branch in the United States conferred in Ottawa with representatives of the justice and defence departments on intelligence matters.

It had been pointed out by the Canadian authorities that there had not been a single spy apprehended in Canada. The British authorities had suggested this did not necessarily mean there were none in this country.

It had been suggested that Canada should have a security control branch of the R.C.M.P., so that intelligence work of this kind might be similar in the United Kingdom, the United States and the Dominion.

On July 14 an order-in-council was passed authorizing creation of a force of 700 and an appropriation of $1,456,000 for the first year's operations.

Want Experienced Men

It was the intention to have lawyers with experience in practice become officers of this branch, with specially qualified men as personnel, drawn from the army where possible.

He said Defence Minister Ralston was reluctant to release men from the forces for this purpose but was co-operating in organization of the first group of 60.

Pay, allowances and rank will be the same as in the army.

The new organization will work in closest co-operation with the British security control' which, the minister said, had representatives in most South American ports, throughout the United States and in other quarters of the globe.

There had been close co-operation for a long time between the R.C.M.P. and the F.B.I., with a Canadian officer in the Washington headquarters of the latter body and an F.B.I. representative in R.C.M.P. headquarters.

Mr. Howe said he did not believe workers left the plants during their shifts in any large numbers. Cafeterias were usually provided on the premises.

Safety in explosives plants rested upon the care exercised by every individual and the knowledge of each worker of what he was doing.

With some 2,250,000 shells being produced every month the safety record was 'most remarkable,' he said.

Commons Speed Estimates To Shut Saturday

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, July 31.—(CP)—The House of Commons yesterday made progress towards adjournment — hoped for tomorow—with brisk consideration of departmental estimates.

On the eve of the new crop year, which starts tomorow, the House saw a brisk skirmish between Dr. T. F. Donnelly (Lib. Wood Mountain) and C.C.F. members on Saskatchewan Wheat Pool operations.

The chairman of the house in committee, Deputy Speaker Vien, ruled that a general discussion of the wheat situation could not be opened up on items of expenditure under the Canada Grain Act, but western member sparred vigorously until their debate was ruled out of order.

The House approved post office, fisheries, public works, national war services and trade and commerce non-war estimates during the day's sittings. Today it continues with discussion of mines and resources estimates, with the income tax bill also due to be reviewed.

The Federal Government is undertaking housing projects in congested municipalities not now eligible for assistance from Wartime Housing Ltd., Munitions Minister Howe announced. The project is designed to provide acommodation for families of servicemen and other deserving permanent residents.

Finance Minister Ilsley tabled supplementary estimates of $28,159,700 for the fiscal year ending next March 31. This brought the total of estimates for the current fiscal year up to $483,044,065.

Senate Advances Profit Act

The Senate, continuing study of bills based on tax changes in Finance Minister Ilsley's budget, gave second and third readings to bills amending the excess profits tax act and the Dominion Succession Duty Act.

Senator J. H. King, Government Senate leader, assured the Upper House that joint production control organized by the United States and Great Britain with Canada participating will not interfere with Canada's trade negotiations with the United Kingdom.

throwing reserves into some of the hot spots along the line. However, it wasn't until the crisis was grave that he resorted to the fresh troops which he was known to be holding out. The indications are that he is still keeping back large reserves which can serve him in an emergency or for a counter-attack when the Germans are over-extended and tired.

The Red marshal has ben playing a cool and daring game. His strategic withdrawal with such an extended line and over such a great depth has been carried out in a masterful manner. Only a great general could juggle with disaster and not come a terrible cropper.

The signs have been that Timoshenko has figured on delivering a heavy counter-blow at the right moment, presumably against Nazi Marshal Von Bock's left wing, which is anchored near Voronezh. Whether the mammoth battle will work out that way remains to be seen, but it still can be said that thus far the Muscovite position hasn't become desperate, though it is grave. Timoshenko can give much more ground without Hitler succeeding in breaking into the Caucasus.

ly throughout the examination in January and early February.

Since boarding the repatriation boat he has been told by a physician that he had barely escaped losing both feet. In all, he had spent six months in jail, separated from his wife who sufers from paralysis. That was the final chapter of a 45-year career of teaching in Japan.

Myers, a teacher at the Presbyterian seminary at Kobe, was arrested Dec. 8.

Faced Three Counts

He was examined for one month on three charges against him, forced to sit on his heels during the long periods of questioning.

Myers was accused of concealing assets, of maligning the Japanese army and of espionage. It was the third charge which evoked the frequent slappings.

The professor said he admitted the first charge, explaining that two years earlier he had given a Japanese friend sufficient funds to support himself and his wife until retirement. This he had not reported to the authorities.

The second charge—maligning the army—arose, Myers said, from the fact that he had received a letter from a fellow missionary describing the Japanese occupation of Nanking which he had shown to various Japanese teachers at the Kobe seminary at their request.

Myers said that the only basis for the spying charge was his friendship with the British and American consuls at Koke who frequently aided Presbyterian missionary work. He was sentenced to six months and 10 days imprisonment which he started to serve April 2.

Myers, worried over his wife's health, went on a two-day hunger strike in early December in an effort to gain permission to communicate with her. Finaly his guards permitted him to send her a postcard. This card resulted finally in his receipt of additional food.

He was released a week before the departure of the repatriates from Japan and Mrs. Myers is with him now.

His memory of Christmas Eve in jail is a sharp one.

"I whistled 'Silent Night,' 'Adeste' and other carols softly through the prison stillness," Myers recalled. "The guards came and shrieked to cut it off. The next day, in passing Japanese prisoners at the staircase, one of them, a personal friend, braved the wrath of the guards by whispering, 'Thanks for Christmas'."

2 Perish, Third Parachutes In Bomber Crash

VICTORVILLE, Calif., July 31. — (AP).—Two men were killed and a third, Frank Filan, veteran photographer of The Associated Press, parachuted to safety in an accident involving two army bomber training planes last night.

Killed were Sgt. Pilot Rodney M. Grim, 20, and Clarence L. Block, 29, Los Angeles, civilian photographers for the West Coast Army Air Forces Training Centre.

Filan was found wandering, dazed, on the desert this morning seven hours after the accident, by army officers who had set out on a search on the slender hope the star cameraman might have been abe to use his parachute.

"I lost consciousness right after the accident," Filan told the officers, "but I came to and found myself falling, so I pulled the cord. As far as I know, I passed out again, and I don't know what happened then."

Filan was exhausted when he was found and was suffering from ankle and chest injuries and scalp lacerations.

However, one foreign source who would not permit himself to be identified said the Germans already had begun to tender new peace feelers. These, he said, were seeking to get Britain and the United States to leave Russia to her fate while hinting at German uneasiness over Japanese-created peril to the white race and at the same time were suggesting that Russia give up the struggle, make a separate peace and join Hitler's new order.

In any case some commenators, gloomily viewing the course of the war in the Don Basin and the north Caucasus, say the alternative to an Allied diversion in Western Europe might be reduction of the Russian armies to guerilla status.

So far nobody has disclosed anything more definite on British-American plans than that there are plans, but the busy hum of United States army air force headquarters, strengthened by arrival of four senior officers headed by Brig.-Gen. Retreat Anew South Of Rostov

3 Nazi Battalions In Red Uniforms Caught, Wiped Out

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, July 31.—(AP).—Soviet troops were reported beating off German attacks in the Kletskaya area of the Don river bend to-day after turning back powerful assault formations which included a novel flying-wedge of massed infantry walled by tanks.

'In one sector alone during the last few days,' the Soviet information bureau said, '120 enemy tanks have been destroyed and more than 2,000 enemy officers and men killed.'

Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock used the phalanx or flying-wedge attack to strengthen the Nazi bid for Stalingrad, but Russian accounts said it resulted disastrously.

Fresh Soviet gains were reported also n the bitter battle of Voronezh, but the Red army lost ground again in a trans-Caucasian engagement below Rostov.

There the Germans were supported by large air squadrons and, although suffering heavy losses, succeeded in moving forward, the midday communique acknowledged.

Red army men in the Tsimlyansk area, on the lower Don midway between Rostov and Stalingrad, were said to be fighting on 'with the object of annihilating the enemy group which crossed the river.'

Threat To Close Big Thorold Newsprint Mill

ST. CATHARINES, July 31—(Special).—Threat of closing the the Ontario Paper Company, Limited, in Thorold Township as a power conservation measure was heard here last night with apprehension. The mills, by far the largest paper plant in this area, are currenly employing 650 steady workers and another 150 seasonal workers.

The complicated situation as it has so far developed, is this:

An Ottawa despatch released earlier in the day, quoted unidentified officials of the Department of Munitions and Supply to the effect that "action to turn off the power from he company's huge plant at Thorold would probably be taken at an early date."

In Montreal, H. J. Symington, Canadian Power Controller, told The Canadian Press that meetings were to be held in connection with the all-over subject of power conservtion. "The whole picture will be looked into," Mr. Symington is reported as saying, but he added that there was no pustification for speculation that consideration had been given to the possibility of asking specific pulp and paper plants to close down if a power shortage affected the nation's war plants.

It is recalled that ever since the beginning of the war there have been intermittent outbursts in the Senae and in the House urging that Canadian newsprint sources of the Chicago Tribune and the New York Daily News should be eliminated because of the persistently anti-British policies pursued by both newspapers. The Ontario Paper Company is a susidiary of the Chicago Tribune, is closely associated with the New York Daily News, and supplies newsprint to both publications.

On the other hand Ottawa sources credited with launching the original rumor are quoted as saying that the Tribunte-News pasition has nothing to do with the alleged decision to cut off power from the paper company. It is pointed out that this section of the Niagara Peninslar is a vital producer of war materials of many different sorts, and that a serious power shortage is threatened to these all-important wartime industries.

The Ontario Paper Company is equipped with machinery to produce a limited amount of electrical energy through the use of steam operated generators, but the volume obtained through this means is far below the plant's considerable demands, engineers say.

Two Safes Found

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., July 31.—(CP Cable).—Two 500-pound safes, removed from the Star theatre, were found today in woods outside the city. The strong boxes had been opened and their contents removed, but theatre officials gave no indication of how much money had been stolen beyond sayng it was a 'considerable sum.'

Estimates Secured On McGill St. Stewer

North Monaghan residents interested in proposed sewer and water services for McGill and Park Streets are holding a meeting at Confederation School on Tuesday night to discuss the information of estimated costs which they received on Monday night from Bruce Johnston, township clerk, at a conference with the Municipal Council.

Both water and sewer main are proposed for McGill Street, a distance of 1,900 feet, and a water service or 600 feet of Park Street, extending northerly from McGill.

One phase of the estimates as computed on an annual basis intimated that the sewer would cost 23 cents a foot and the water main 26 cents a foot, the total being 49 cents plus interest at 4 per cent on the ten-year debentures by which the funds would be borrowed to undertake the work on the local improvement plan.

This cost is 49 cents a foot frontage. The Council had received a request from ratepayers to obtain information as to expenditure. That preliminary was completed with Mr. Johnston's report to the joint meeting last Monday night. As the number of involved ratepayers present at the meeting was rather small, the others decided to call a general meeting for Tuesday night next to discuss the project in the light of facts.

Signs Pile Up 2nd Front Much Closer

Arrival Of Canucks, U.S. Air Chief Two Major Omens

LONDON, July 31.—((CP)—Debarkation of a new contingent of thousands of Canadian troops and the arrival of Brig.-Gen. Frank O. D. Hunter, commander of American fighting plane units in Britain, stirred anew today the speculation that an Allied invasion of the continent might be in the offing.

Sir Stafford Cripps, guarded statement yesterday in the House of Commons, where he answered questions concerning possible establishment of a second front by saying that the government had certain "intentions," also added fuel to these speculations.

The London Press, however, refrained from playing up the situation, and two papers—the Daily Telegraph and the Sketch—commended Sir Stafford in their editorial columns for his restraint in dealing with the issue.

"When even the village idiot could see that an Allied invasion must be in the cards, there can be no harm in making the enemy jump about it," the Telegraph said, adding: "In these circumstances silence, even in parliament, is surely golden."

The Sketch declared that Sir Stafford "gave the wisest of replies" to those who wish to know the Government's plans.

Observers showed keen interest in the appearance of Soviet Ambassador Ivan Maisky at a closed all-party session of members of parliament yesterday at which he was said to have given a frank appraisal of Russia's military situation.

Thinks Time At Hand

The News Chronicle's political correspondent declared Maisgy had made it clear that he believed the time had come for the Alies to attempt to open a second front.

Reuters news agency, meanwhile, reported in dispatches "from the French frontier" that the quality of the fortifications which the Germans have built along the occupied coast has been greatly exaggerated and quoted a "French traveller" as saying that Nazi Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels was only bluffing when he boasted recently of their strength.

Three American staff officers accompanied Hunter. They are Brig.-Gen. Robert C. Candee, commander of the general ground air support, and Brig.-Gen. Asa N. Duncan, air force chief of staff.

Brushing aside all formalities, the officers immediately set to work.

Complaint Is Made On Truck Parking

This is not Germany. This morning a military truck pulled up outside the Bank of Montreal and waited while one of the occupants went into the bank premises to transact some business. The driver stopped his machine in such a manner that it entirely blocked the pedestrian strip. Along came an elderly citizen, walking north. He remonstrated with the driver about the position of the truck. The uniformed man at the wheel pointed out that it was possible to walk around the front of the vehicle but the citizen retorted that that had nothing to do with the case. The point was that the pedestrian crossing was entirely blocked. And so the complainant turned round and walked to the nearby police station.

"I want you to come to the corner and clear that truck off my right-of-way," he told the sergeant on duty.

The officer went to the door, saw what the trouble was and told the citizen that the military machine would be moving off in a moment.

As a matter of fact the truck did move out from the curb as he spoke.

Can you imagine that happening in Berl'n? Can you imagine a German citizen having the hardihood to go to the police and complain about a military vehicle no matter what traffic regulation might be violated But this is a democracy. The elderly citizen stood by his rights and when he felt that that they were being violated because a motorist chose to stop his truck in the wrong place he went to the police about it. It didn't matter to him whether the offender wore a uniform or not.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

It was left to F. E. Kerr's rink to once more make the headlines. For the second time in two nights this rink has finished the bowling highlight. As in the previous game this rink was trailing all the way through the game and was two down going home, but some nice playing by Kerr's rink put a bowl on each side of the kitty, an ideal target for a running shot, but some how or other the Dearborn-Loftus combination failed to click and so the gentleman who works for the Board of Education promptly drew in for the third shot and the game. We know it was not a nice way to treat the president, but that's the way it goes.

Maybe in to-morrow's paper we will be able to give the official standing of all groups. It takes a little time to figure it all out.

After all the hurry up on the part of our club to have representatives at Port Hope last night to play the Cobourg club in the preliminary round of District No. 14 of the Provincial playoffs a telephone call was received around six o'clock advising our boys that Cobourg had defaulted in all three events. Our boys are now singing that old familiar song, "Where do we go from here."

It is rather too bad that we cannot be out to the greens on the afternoons that the ladies are scheduled to play. It appears to us that we are missing out on a lot of good bowling news.

While we are writing this column it is pouring rain, but if it should clear up remember the mixed tournament this evening at 6:30.

We believe a few more entries came in yesterday for our big tournament on Civic Holiday. It's not too late to get up a rink. Contact R. F. Downey, B. Chesler, E. L. Sackville, F. Brown or F. Dearborn—they can help you a lot.

Seagulls Scream As Canucks Sail

AN EAST COAST PORT, July 31—(CP).—Thousands of Canadian reinforcement troops, gathered from practically every branch of the army, Canadian and Empire airmen, Royal Navy officers and ratings from Far Eastern battle fronts, and a host of other fighting men sailed from this port recently. Their arrival in Britain was announced yesterday.

Among them here was a perspiring member of the Veterans' Guard, who shifted his rifle and said: "No, it's not like the other war. We got a real send-off then. The wharf was packed. You should have heard them cheer."

It was different, this departure for Great War II There weren't any cheering crowds on the wharf to see these young Canadians off on their way to Britain. Just a few stevedores, a "corporal's guard" of military police, a few of the Veterans' Guard, and a couple of reporters.

The lines were cast. The ship gathered way, and the seagulls wheeled down after it, screaming. That was the only cheering the boys heard as the ship moved into the misted harbor.

Gone, too, were the band-led parades of yesteryear. The troops no longer marched through flag-decked streets on their way to the ship's side. The troop trains pulled in at one side of the embarkation shed, and the men were marched efficiently to the ship on the other side. N parades. No bands. No cheers. And not the same opportunities for a spy's message to reveal the time of the sailing.

Include 4th Division Officers.

Accompanying the large and varied groups of troops were officers from headquarters staff of Canada's 4th Division.

The Canadian soldiers included a large number of men from tank and anti-tank regiments, hard-muscled foresters, battle-trained infantry troops, artillerymen, reconnaissance reinforcements, Signallers, Army Service Corps men, ordnance crews, and all the numerous types of technicians needed to keep a modern army afield.

Fliers from this Dominion included a large group of pilot officers with newly won wings glinting in the sunlight, sergeants with their wings as pilots, observers and air-gunners, and large numbers of aircraftmen from ground crews and wireless technical units. Many of the latter were trained in the use of new instruments for detecting and combatting enemy craft.

A large group of New Zealand fliers were on the last lap of a long journey. Many wore the white armbands that signified they would win commissions as soon as they finished their advanced training in Britain. A few fliers from Australia, were Britain-bound after training in Canada.

Royal Air Force men were scattered here and there among the others. One of them, Wing Commander William Penman, for the past two and a half years has been instructing at Camp Borden, and No. 2 Bombing and Gunnery School, Mossbank, Sask. His wife accompanied him.

Firefighters in Contingent

The second group of the Canadian overseas firefighter corps to go to Britain about fifty strong, was on one of the sleek, grey-painted transports. They were recruited from fire departments mainly in Ontario and the West.

Sprinkled among the masses of Canadians and Empire servicemen, a few soldiers and airmen wearing the uniforms of Poland, Norway and Czecho-Slovakia moved about unobtrusively.

Seven Air Force women were in the varied contingent. Four were from the R.A.F. Women's Auxiliary and the others were nursing sisters attached to the Canadian Air Force.

Garbed in Royal Canadian Air Force blue, a small group of wireless technicians were among the Canadians whose arrival overseas was announced yesterday. All were leading aircraftmen.

Leading Aircraftman Sam Solomon of Toronto said he was formerly with Pictou Highlanders in Nova Scotia. Asked how he got in with the Scots with such a name, Solomon grinned and said, "My father's in the Irish Regiment."

Re-enlists to See Scotland.

Because he had never been to Scotland the other two times he was overseas, Corporal F. Green, Aroland, Ont., joined the Forestry Corps to make sure he would reach the Land of Heather.

A veteran of the First Great War, Green spent over four years, from 1914 to 1918, in England and France. He enlisted again in this war, and went overseas with an infantry unit in 1940. Sent back to Canada and discharged, "because they thought I was too old to fight," Green wasted little time before getting into the Forestry Corps and taking his training.

"They've got lots of trees in Scotland," he said, "so I should be able to get up there and see what the country looks like. If I don't, I'm going to be awful mad."

Re-enlists to Join Five Brothers.

Another who re-enlisted was Lance-Corporal W. G. Pleasants of Vancouver, a tanned, lanky Westerner, who guided ten years at Jasper Park in Alberta. His five brothers are serving with Canada's armed forces "over there."

This is the second trip over as a soldier in this war for Pleasants. He enlisted in 1940 and saw service with the Irish Fusiliers and the Canadian Scottish. Then, after ten months, an old injury caught up with him, and he was discharged. Doctors said he could not stand long marches because of a foot he had broken years before in a fall from a bucking horse.

Pleasants then joined the merchant navy, and for nine months sailed back and forth across the Atlantic with supplies for Britain.

Sewing It Up

NEW ORLEANS, July 31—(AP).—Oliver S Livaudais, Jr., and his father, both qualified as candidates in the democratic primary for a district judgeship in St. Bernard and Plaquesmines parishes, but they won't oppose each other. "We just wanted to make sure of winning," explained the father. "We're having some meetings with our friends and as soon as we decide which has the best chance of winning, the other will withdraw."

Really Tough

FORT DEVENS, Mass., July 31—(AP).—Private Louis Longval really can take it. His outfit's program for yesterday included a 14-mile hike, running a tough obstacle course, hand grenade throwing, bayonet practice, a bit of jui jitsu and a swim. At the end of the day no one asked for pass—except Longval. His mates were curious this morning and Private Longval explained: He had walked six miles to a nearby town, danced all evening and hiked back to camp.

Carriers Win Theatre Tickets For War Savings Stamp Sales

The summer months have not many of the Examiner Carriers when it comes to selling War Savings Stamps. The following boys and girls have made some substantial returns during the month of July, and as reward have received theatre tickets from the War Savings Committee of the city. Winners for the week ending July 4 were Keith Orde with $33.50 and Donald Pagett with $20.00. The week ending July 11 was a productive one, Keith Orde again bringing in some $86.75 for first place, followed again by Donald Pagett with $40.00. Geo. Clark made a great effort in the following week with sales of $72.00, Nancy Leith with $69.25, and Jack Harris in the lead with another $79.00, and Keith Orde runner-up with $33.50.

All these young people have made such consistent records since the campaign began and are to be complimented for their stick-at-it-iveness during the holiday period.

Parody And The Premier

Some of our readers may have seen a recent issue of the American news magazine Time in which was published a parody of the Twenty-Third Psalm, reflecting unfavorably upon Mr. Mackenzie King; it was asserted that this piece was widely circulated in Canada.

Several of our contemporaries have taken this matter up and have rebuked Time for publishing matter insulting to the official head of an allied country. We fear that they are wasting their ink; Time is a law unto itself, and much of its reputation rests upon its habit of commenting pertly upon the doings of men in high positions. It is particularly fond of shooting its darts at those who are unable to make effective retaliation. Film stars are notoriously averse from legal actions which might injure their popularity, and Time, consequently, does not hesitate to describe them as "pop-eyed", or "jug-eared"; so also it may be sure that Mr. King cannot sue them for publishing libellous matter about him.

It is not often that Time condescends to publish matter about Canada at all; our Dominion appears to rank about with Liberia or Iceland on its list of importance. When it does write about our doings it is frequently inaccurate; if Time is as far wide of the mark in its comments on other countries as it is when it speaks of Canada we cannot be blamed for taking its predictions and its assertions with a pinch of salt.

It may be remarked, however — and our contemporary the Port Arthur News-Chronicle has pointed this out — that Canadian journalists invariably lean over backward to be polite in their references to American statesmen. We are not isolationists but we feel that special courtesy is due to the elected representatives of a friendly neighboring state. We reserve our lambastings for our own men. But then, Canadian journalism is probably old-fashioned; Time, on the contrary, regards itself as being in the vanguard of modern journalism, and as far as these displays of bad manners go we are content that it should remain there, in notorious isolation.

The National Anthem

Several of our contemporaries have discussed the matter of Canada's national anthem, their interest in the subject rising from the questions which have been asked concerning it in Parliament. The Prime Minister has made a somewhat indecisive statement that God Save The King and O Canada have equal right to be considered official here, as they shared the honors during the recent Royal Visit. The newspapers have boldly set forth the superior claims of God Save The King on grounds of tradition, and we agree with them, but there is another side to the matter which we do not feel has been sufficiently stressed.

A national anthem has to be heard innumerable times, and therefore it should be a short, and a good piece of music. It should not be too stirring and it should not be too reverential in tone, or there are certain to be situations in which it will be sadly inappropriate. La Marseillaise is stirring, but it is also long, hard to sing, and quite unsuitable for a melancholy occasion. The Star Spangled Banner is a magnificent tune, but it is long and, for most ordinary voices, quite unsingable. God Save The King is a fine tune; both Haydn and Beethoven expressed the greatest admiration for it; it wears well; it may be sung in a church or on a parade ground without seeming inappropriate in either place. Furthermore, it is only 14 bars long, and for many occasions the first 6 bars are sufficient.

On the other hand, O Canada, though a fairly good tune, grows tiresome when it is heard too often. It is a square-toed, Victorian air, 28 bars long and impossible to cut. As yet no poetically satisfactory words have been provided for it, and English Canadians cannot be expected to sing the French words, good though they are. It is an excellent national song, but unsuitable as a national anthem.

It is highly important that we choose the better tune as the official one. A national anthem takes hard wear and there is no point in committing ourselves to a tune which cannot stand the test. After all, it must last for some centuries, and God Save The King has proved itself a good wearer, while O Canada is already showing its age.

Taxing The Bagpipes

A manufacturer of bagpipes in Edinburgh has objected to the tax of 66 2-3 per cent. which has been placed on his product, which is listed as a musical instrument; it is, he says, also an instrument of war. We feel that he has some justice on his side. The pipes share with drums and trumpets the ability to pierce the very soul of a man and urge him to mighty deeds; those plangent squeals and groans echo in the darkest caverns of racial memory and call for the redress of bitter wrongs. We make no claim to Scots blood, yet we feel this; what then must be the response of a true Scot? Reed and gut have no power to stir the blood as does this musical octopus, which the player grips beneath his arm and pumps with restless anguish, tramping the floor and swinging his kilt. The great organ (not the mighty Frankfurter which we hear in movie theatres) may move a man to thoughts of God, and the sweep of strings and reeds may turn his mind to the immense loneliness of the universe, but when he hears the pipes, be he Scot of Sassenach, he must fight or weep.

Being Jolly Good Fellows

The Germans in this war have behaved with great brutality. But must we, to mark the difference between their spirit and ours, behave with ludicrous, over-strained chivalry?

Recently an American destroyer sank a German submarine in the Atlantic, and the corpses of 29 of the crew were brought ashore and buried near Norfolk, Virginia, "with full military honors." Now whoever conceived this pretty idea must have been brought up on an intellectual diet of Idylls of the King. The men who blew the bugles and fired the volleys over these 29 rascals must have known that they were honoring men who would have killed them if they had not been killed first. What foolishness, what childish playing at war, to bury them with military honors!

Bury them, of course. Bury them decently, like men. But bury them quickly, without fuss, and leave them for the Valkyrie to bear to Valhalla, if that is what happens to Nazi submarine crews. Better still, tie a shot to each one and let him sink into the sea, never to trouble it again with his mischievous journeyings. But why, in the name of all that is fitting and sensible, bury them like heroes? Before this war is over many an American lad will die and be buried with less honor than has been shown these enemies.

There are apparently still some of our American allies who want to combine in themselves the spirits of Sir Galahad and Georgie Babbitt, and fight for a sort of chivalry in which the majority do not believe. We cannot fight a war and be jolly good fellows at the same time; the sooner this spirit disappears, the better it will be for everybody.

Farming News and Views

By HON. DUNCAN MARSHALL

FARMERS have enough work ahead now to keep them rather fully occupied. As we harvest fall wheat we have to prepare for seeding another crop. If sod-fields are to be broken, farmers will likely have a nice aftermath to plow under, which will be very beneficial, but should call for careful plowing followed by immediate packing, so as to finish with a black-surfaced field. Good plowing has always gone with good farming, and there is no more important implement on the land than the plow. The setting of a plow to do a good job is a highly important bit of work in farming, and where District Agricultural Representatives have trained young farmers for plowing match competitions, they have frequently started these boys on the right way to farm. I have no reference to the "high cut" fancy work, but to the really good plowing done by teams and tractors which fits land for growing a good crop.

A field for fall wheat well plowed, straight so there will be no bad finishes, turned completely over so as to cover grass, and have good furrows to work down for a seed bed, never fails to call the attention of all who see it, to good farm practice. There is no more important feature of agricultural education.

As we turn to the seeding of wheat we should now carefully make our plans for the 1943 crop. We may later have to change these plans, but it is a good thing to have an outline to work from. Until this war is ended we cannot work upon any consideration other than war harvest. We must not "let down" until the war has completely "let up." No matter what the cost, we have a full duty to perform as the farmers' part in this struggle for existence.

It is our business to plan for greater production of essential food, with even less labor to do the necessary work. The winning of the war is the greatest business on the hands of Canadian people. Those on the land must produce more milk, cheese, bacon and other war necessities, and no month should go by without careful planning of our work ahead.

APPLE growers are finding a great deal of difficulty in fighting scab. The season began alright, but the wet weather since then made difficulties with the effectiveness of spraying. People with large orchards have carried on almost continuous spraying. Wilson Mills, M.P., of St. Thomas, with 160 acres of orchard, tells me his son Russell has had a hard battle to keep up the spraying, and now they have to face apple picking in the autumn, and this is a job that must be done by hand. There is no machine yet devised for picking apples, and those who have a large yield to gather are faced with a real problem.

Other fruits seem to have been hard to gather if one judges by prices, as I saw raspberries retailing in an eastern Ontario city, at 37 cents per box. They looked a bit dear to me, as they did to the people in that city, but you paid the price or did without raspberries. This price ceiling is a good height, but probably local circumstances put it up.

Corn looks pretty short in Eastern Ontario, some of it being only a few inches high; but Wilson Mills tells me his corn, near St. Thomas, is seven feet high, as the hot weather has made it grow like Jack's beanstalk. As he has 60 acres of it, he expects it will take some labor to get it into the silo. I saw some quite good corn around Brockville, under two feet in height, on the 20th, but thrifty and looking like going along pretty rapidly. Everywhere in this province the pastures would carry double the number of cattle but they cannot be got at the present time. It will no do the fields any harm to have this pasture grass rot down on them.

THE cattle market becomes more complex as we go along. Ontario farmers have plenty of feed but every so often there is a threat of reduced prices. Feeder cattle are high in the United States as there are prospects of an unusual supply of corn and other cattle feed across the line. The result can only be that more of our cattle will go out as feeders than should, while in all parts of Canada we have more cattle feed than we can use. We must keep in mind that certain farmers and ranchers sell cattle as stockers and we have no right to deny them the U.S. competition when they market their feeders, but Canadian finishers of cattle for the fat market will hesitate to pay long prices for beasts to put in stalls or feed lots when they are informed regularly that the price of beef must be reduced a cent a pound at certain intervals to conform with a price ceiling.

To make confusion worse confounded there are purchases of cattle being made at prices above the market. These may be for beef to feed the troops, and fear some one may have to pay the difference, and that party the taxpayer. This is increasing the cost of the war, and to add to the imposition of it, there has to be a group of new officials to administer the scheme. When the price ceiling called for $10.75 per cwt. for top cattle I am creditably informed that some steers sold as high as $12. I am unable to find any consumers of beef who are not paying quite high prices, and in many cases which I have seen, for a quite inferior product. If the price ceiling on beef has been productive of any useful results I have yet to find them. It has resulted in very high prices for spring lamb and in many cases, for the selling of a product as lamb, which might be fairly described as mutton, a bit stringy and tasteless.

Mr. Hudson, the British Minister of Agriculture, proposes that for the crop of 1943 the acreage under tillage in England and Wales shall be increased by 500,000 acres. This seems rather a large order in the face of what has already been done. Among other estimates is one for Cumberland county which calls for an additional 14,000 acres being plowed out. The purposes of this effort, Mr. Hudson says, is to save shipping.

A Belated Memorial

At long last a memorial commemorating the pioneer transatlantic flight of Alcock and Brown in 1919 is to be erected at the spot in Newfoundland whence they took off in their Vickers Vimy bomber. If flights by Ferry Command require real courage nowadays they were feats of almost super-human endurance in the rickety aircraft of 1919, and Alcock and Brown deserve all the recognition and commemoration that it is possible to give them. — Brockville Recorder and Times.

THE TIMID SOUL

Aid For Russia Looms Close

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press War Analyst

THERE are intimations from Moscow and London that some form of concerted Russian and Anglo-American action may be impending to stem the Nazi onslaught sweeping southward in the Caucasus below the Don and eastward in the Don bend toward the Volga.

However, it would take quick, drastic action on other fronts to offset the ominous import of the German's claims that they have severed the last Russian rail connection with the Caucasus, and also trapped Red Army forces in the Don bend.

A posible hint that Allied help was close at hand was given in the British Parliament by Sir Stafford Cripps, Mr. Churchill's spokesman. He met pleas for a secret session to discuss "second front" possibilities with the assertion that it was unnecessary.

"I can say now that we have intentions," he said.

NO TIME FOR TALK

Coupled with Mr. Churchill's deferment of a war accounting to Parliament, the Cripps remark takes on added significance. It implies, at least, that Mr. Churchill has no time for speech-making because he is engrossed with preparations to hit at Germany from the West and possibly from Egypt. It also suggests that he expects to have better news of the war in the East soon to ease growing British alarm.

The very silence of the Churchill ministry, except for the cryptic disclosure that it has second-front "intentions," is noteworthy. It is being maintained in the face of a rising clamor for action.

Military urgency would dictate that course if action is impending. If it were not, or if Mr. Churchill were resigned to the probability of a crushing Russian defeat, excuses and explanations would be in order.

The Russian intimation of an anticipated early change in the war trends is in a way even more direct and authoritative. It came in the form of a Stalin citation to his countrymen of the deeds of Russian heroes who in the past beat back invaders.

That Stalin rallying call is noteworthy for several reasons. For one thing, it follows persistent rumors that he has taken the field in person as Commander-in-Chief as he did in the last-ditch defense of Moscow.

Stalin then issued a backs-to-the-wall plea, to which Russian troops and citizenry gave striking response. He waited until Russian reserves had been mustered and until the sustained and exhausting German onslaught against Moscow, coupled with the onset of winter, offered the most favorable opportunity.

STALIN AT STALINGRAD?

Rumor has several times placed Stalin in the west bank Volga city which bears his name and is a prime Nazi objective. It would be a logical location for his personal field headquarters, particularly if it is a holding action behind the Don and Volga, for which he is rallying Russia. The probabilities are that his Nazi rival, Hitler, is posted in the rear of his troops somewhere in the Southeastern Ukraine.

Yet the Stalin summons could have another meaning. It could symbolize his belief that Hitler has now all but exhausted his available reserves and greatly extended his communication lines in Russia, while Russia's own strategic reserves are relatively untouched.

There are reports from Moscow that Marshal Timoshenko is only now throwing into action, along the Don and in the Caucasus, reserves he has been withholding for a final stand once his foe was sufficiently extended and exhausted. That, presumably, refers to the tactical reserves of the southern armies he commands, however, not to the general strategic reserve the Russians have been gathering behind the fighting lines for more than a year.

The disposition of that ultimate reserve, drawn from all-but-limitless Russian manpower, would be Stalin's function as supreme commander. There has been no indication that it has been largely tapped as yet. The logical area for its concentration would be about the Moscow transportation hub, from which it could be moved quickly north, west or south.

And southward of the Moscow perimeter, which is fed by railroads and highways that spread out fanwise, lies the vulnerable Nazi flank. Stalin may consider the time ripe to strike back in full force there in an action concerted with British-American second-front moves.

Washington Spotlight

By J. F. SANDERSON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 31 —(CP)—The United States and Canada are preparing to go back this summer to the good old days when nobody paid any attention to the boundary line and people crossed and recrossed without formality whenever work beckoned.

Arrangements are being completed in Washington and Ottawa for threshing machinery and crews to be pooled, in a modified sort of way, in the West this summer in order to harvest the big grain crops expected in both countries.

Years ago, harvesting crews started in the lower Middle West and moved north with the ripening grain, crossing the border into Canada just as if the line wasn't there. But that was stopped when customs laws were tightened up with the result the Canadian West turned to Eastern Canada for its extra labor.

This year Canada's grain crop may run as high as 400,000,000 bushels and a shortage of machines and labor has made it necessary to look to the United States for assistance. It is expected here that more American crews will cross to Canada than the traffic in the opposite direction but no figures are available so far.

F.B.I. ON THE JOB

Since the United States went to war, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, in its search of homes of enemy aliens, has seized 210,000 rounds of ammunition, 3,008 guns, 1,600 short-wave radio sets, 1,652 sticks of dynamite and hundreds of photographs, maps, charts and other documents. Considering the complexities of the job, the F.B.I. has been remarkably efficient in rounding up dangerous aliens, spies, saboteurs and in guarding war industries.

Washington must be a spy's paradise because it is doubtful if their is a capital in the world where people talk so freely and so glibly in wartime. It has become so bad that a recent decree ordered all waiters born in enemy countries to leave their jobs in cocktail bars. That was a tacit admission by the authorities that they couldn't control tongues wagging but at least they would do their best to select the ears into which the babble of voices would be directed.

Two tales:

The latest example of how the Germans hope to create distrust and disunity between Britain and the United States: Said the Berlin radio to Britain after the United States Army Air Force made its first raid on the continent of Europe: "Six American planes took part.... People in Britain who have lost their relatives in the R.A.F. will not be very favorably impressed by this microscopic American contribution to the war." Said the Berlin radio to the United States the same day: "Now that American boys are dying on the battlefields of foreign countries, the British are satisfied."

Now that Canadian and British warships are working with American naval forces in the Atlantic off the United States coast, confidence is rising in Washington that the submarine menace will be checked in the next few weks. This is one war job where experience counts and where time is required to control merchant tonnage along a coast of such length.

Another factor that inspires confidence is the big increase in production of anti-submarine craft and the teamwork that has developed between naval and air units along the Atlantic coast.

One of the big factors in the Congressional elections next November will be the labor vote but so far there has been no clear indication which party will get it. In any event, there will be a big shake-up in personalities as a result of the elections with perhaps 100 new faces in the two Houses next January. There seems to be no possibility of the Democrats losing control of the Senate and it would take something like a political earthquake to budge them from control in the House.

The hot weather finally has forced Canadian Army officers in Washington to discard tunics and adopt the American Army style of shirt-sleeves....Britain, which will rely on the synthetic rubber plants of the United States for its supplies, is shipping scrap rubber here to help things along.

A Bible Message For Today

Then said Jesus unto his disciples, if any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it.—Matt. xvi, 24, 25.

And the first day of unleavened bread, when they killed the passover, his disciples said unto him, Where wilt thou that we go and prepare that thou mayest eat the passover? And he sendeth forth two of his disciples, and saith unto them, Go ye into the city, and there shall meet you a man bearing a pitcher of water: follow him. And wheresoever he shall go in, say ye to the goodman of the house, The Master saith, Where is the guest-chamber, where I shall eat the passover with my disciples? And he will shew you a large upper room furnished and prepared: there make ready for us.

And in the evening he cometh with the twelve. And as they sat and did eat, Jesus said, Verily I say unto you, One of you which eateth with me shall betray me....The Son of man indeed goeth, as it is written of him.—Mark xiv, 12-15, 17, 18, 21.

Parson's Holiday

A 57-year-old minister who makes aeroplane parts in the basement of his home at Forest Hill is spending his month's holiday working 12 hours a day on his machine. He is the Rev. Percival Mackenzie.

"After trying for more than two years to get the Ministers to use my services and my tools, which are worth hundreds of pounds, I have found a factory which is only too glad to employ them," he said.

"Several of my congregation have offered to help me, and I hope to find time to train them. I have been interested in machinery all my life.

"I work till I am nearly dropping and I am proud to do it. If all ministers with empty churches would follow my example, instead of making speeches about the Golden Age to come, it would be much more help."—London Evening News.

Dutch Advised To Go Barefoot

LONDON, July 31.—(CP)—Here are some of the latest indications of growing shortage of German-occupied Holland:

"Save shoes by walking barefoot," advises the Toeristen Kampionen, organ of the Netherlands Tourist Association. The paper says this practice will strengthen feet and adds that many barefoot excursionists soon will be seen.

Tobacco made of cigar butts picked up from the street, popularly known as "stoop shag," is now being sold throughout Holland at a price of $1 a half ounce.

Bulbs may no longer be used "except for normal purposes," the authorities have announced. Bakers thus lose an important ration-free raw material which they have been using recently for baking cakes. The German-controlled newspaper Algemeene Handelsblad said enormous use of bulb flour for baking had threatened to injure the export trade in bulbs.

Axis Destroy 58 Yugoslav Towns

LONDON, July 31.—German and Italian occupation authorities in Yugoslavia have killed more than 1,474 hostages in recent weeks, and have burned fifty-eight villages to the ground, executing all inhabitants of at least sixteen of them. Dr. Hiho Krek, Yugoslav vice premier, asserted last night.

Krek said 1,064 hostages were shot at Mirabor and at Bled, and that Italian authorities recently had executed 410 in that part of Slovena under their control.

Latest news from occupied Yugoslavia shows Axis armies have been carrynig out wholesale reprisals for the warfare waged against them by the guerilla forces of General Draga Mikhailovitch, Krek asserted.

Germans have deported 160,000 men, including many doctors, scientists and teachers to Germany, Poland, Serbia and Croatia from the sectors of Slovena under their control, and the Italians have sent 130,000 others from Slovena to concentration camps, besides throwing 5,000 more into jail, Krek said.

Yugoslav authorities said they had learned that the Croat peasant lealer, Matchek, was dangerously ill in an internment camp.

Commando Ship Great Air Carrier

BUFFALO, July 31.—(AP)—Bad news for Hitler, Hirohito and company was released here today with the announcement that the new Curtiss Commando (C-46) military transport plane had passed exhaustive tests and is in quantity production.

The Commando, more than twice as large as any domestic airliner now in operation, can transport troops and scout cars simultaneously.

An idea of its size can be gained by research engineers' claims that thirty-five of these craft could have transported all of the estimated 30,000 tons of material carried by 7,700 trucks over the Burma Road during one month—and more quickly.

Torpedo-shaped and of all-metal construction, the Commando has a top speed approaching that of combat aircraft, the Curtiss-Wright Corporation said. Its speed is secret, but a prototype of the Commando spanned the Atlantic non-stop in less than nine hours.

The Commando has a wingspan of 108 feet, weighs 50,000 pounds full loaded, and is powered by two 2,000-horsepower Pratt & Whitney engines.

Aside from the long, gruelling ground and flight tests to which the giant troopship of the sky was subjected before being turned over to the army, the most interesting phase of the trials involved a series of troop-carrying demonstrations.

The transportation of troops and scout cars is only one of the many military missions for which the Commando is designed.

The framework of the aerial giant is designed to accommodate the deadweight of artillery, army tractors ,trucks, aircraft engines, aviation gasoline and other mobile equipment and supplies required by the modern mechanized army.

It was originally designed for domestic airlines as a 36-passenger luxury liner with soft upholstery, roomy seats, lavatories, wide aisles and other passenger comforts.

Nab Robber 15

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., July 31 (CP).—With the arrest of a 15-year-old juvenile last night, Chief of Police Fred Daives said he cleared up the burglary of the Rawlins and Martinson, and Knoll Bros., hardware stores.

The youth led the chief of police to a barn in which the repeating rifle and shot-gun stolen from the hardware store and the revolver stolen here from John Horne, Jr., were found.

Along with the arms was 5,000 rounds of ammunition weighing about 150 pounds.

Counter Blow Coming

KUIBYSHEV, Russian, July 31.—(AP).— 'The day is approaching when the Red army will deliver a counter-blow,' Maj.-Gen. Zhuravlev, military commentator for the Moscow News, said to-day in a review of the Battle of the Don.

'The German army is still capable of scoring short-lived successes in separate sections of the front, but we are certain the German war machine is hurtling to its own destruction and wil inevitably be smashed,' he wrote.

GENERALS MINUS THREE REGULARS DEFEAT BRINTONS 7 RUNS TO 2

Winners Open Scoring With 4 In 1st

Generals, minus three regulars, returned to the softball war last night and demonstrated that it is too early to count them out by defeating Brintons in a well-played game, 7 to 2.

Anette De Carlo was away on holidays and Eleanor Craig did the backstopping. Marilyn McCarthy was out with a sprained wrist and Norma Strickland absent because of a bereavement, but the Generals' revamped lineup played good ball to take the verdict.

Bea McDowell did the pitching and made a real job of it by holding Brintons to five scattered hits and retiring 12 by the strikeout route. Brintons got two runs in the first inning because of a missed third strike and a scratch hit, and after that were shot down for eight successive frames.

Leila Hughes, on the hilltop for the losers, turned in a good card, too, although she yielded 12 hits.

Eleanor Craig and Doris Williamson led the C.G.E. batters, each coming through with three hits. None of the losers got more than one.

The feature fielding play was a one-handed catch of a long fly in deep left centre by Marg. Barrie, centre fielder for Brintons. C.G.E. had the bases loaded at the time, with no one out, and the hard-hitting Eleanor Craig at the bat. She boomed a long one toward the cars in left centre, but Marg. Barrie backed up, stuck up her right hand and pulled down the drive, robbing the hitter of a home run. A run scored on the play, but the circus stab saved three more.

Brintons got their only two runs in the first inning. After A. Weir had gone out on a nice catch by Irma Perdue, Marg. Batley was safe on a missed third strike and D. Walker got a lucky hit when Bea McDowell and Eleanor Craig collided in going after her pop fly. M. Batley scored on Leila Hughes' out at first, but B. Hamblin walked and Nellie Smith singled to centre to score Doris Walker. D. Smith struck out to retire the side.

Generals responded with four in their half. Phyllis McQuaide walked and stole second, to score on Eleanor Craig's single past third. May Wade popped to second, but Phyllis Bigelow hit to the cars in left for a homer, scoring Eleanor Craig in front of her, and Bea McDowell's rap to right also went for the circuit to make it four runs. Ruth Hewitt rolled to the pitcher, and after Doris Williamson singled to left, Elva Adamson rolled to M. Batley.

Generals got another run in the fourth. Doris Williamson started with a single to left, and after E. Adamson had popped to Nellie Smith Irma Perdue singled off the pitcher. Phyllis McQuaide walked, filling the bases, Eleanor Craig was robbed of a homer by Marg. Barrie's one-handed catch, Doris Williamson scoring after the circus grab. Irma Perdue was thrown out going to third.

The last runs of the game were scored in the seventh when Phyllis McQuaide and Eleanor Craig led off with hits and both scored on a bad throw to second. The next three went out in order. Generals threatened again in the eighth, wasting three hits and failing to get a runner home.

Elbow Clutch

That elbow clutch of James Luther "Luke" Sewell is a tip as he signals his team, the St. Louis Browns, at a recent game. The 41-year old manager has led his team to within three games of second place at one time and on July 27 he held down the fourth place in the league.

Port Hope Club Visits Cobourg

COBOURG, July 31 — (ENS). — Thirty-eight Port Hope bowlers joined with Cobourg in a mixed jitney played here last night. Alexander McKinnon of Cobourg and his rink won first prize. The winning rink had two wins and a score of 23, the other members of the rink being Mrs. W. Highfield of Port Hope, A. S. McLean of Cobourg, and Mrs. A. Hopper of Cobourg.

C. Doney's rink of Port Hope was second with two wins and 22 points, the other rink members being Mrs. J. Harrison of Cobourg, Roy Jex of Cobourg, and Mrs. Quemby of Port Hope. Tied for third were J. Staples' rink, Port Hope, and L. Wismer's rink, Port Hope; in fourth position were W. H. Hopper of Cobourg and James McKinnon of Cobourg.

1943 Prospects Get Darker For Minor Ball

NEW YORK, July 31 — (AP).— This is a periodic report of the progress or lack of it, of minor league baseball under the present difficult circumstances. The outlook is dreary for many more periodic reports, particularly next year, as there is more than a slight chance there won't be anything to report.

One final report on a dead pigeon is enough, and it doesn't do any good to report the pigeon is very dead, then exceedingly dead, and so on.

Not that there is no chance for minor league ball next year. The higher-classification minors, in fact, might get along all right. But the lower classification leagues face dark days.

Thirty-one minor leagues started the season this year, and five of them—the California West Texas-New Mexico, Evangeline Kitty and Florida East Coast—have called it a day. That leaves twenty-six, some of which have lost a team or two, but are struggling along with great determination.

Various factors enter into the bleak outlook. Transportation, for one, then there is the expected player shortage next year with the prospect that married men, lads of 17 or so, and young men with physical defects which bar them from the armed services will make up the club rosters, if any.

Probably one of the most important factors of all is the shifting of population, with towns which formerly supported ball clubs dwindling in size as their citizens drift to war work in other cities.

The loss of players this year has been severe, but not crippling. The Brooklyn Dodgers for instance, have lost approximately 100 men out of an organization of about 250. This is just a beginning, however. Mickey McConnell, who works with Branch Rickey, Jr., in the operation of the Dodger farm clubs says the Durham Club probably will lose two infielders, two pitchers, and a catcher before the end of the current season, and the Montreal club will be similarly hard hit.

The Dodgers started the season with nine farm clubs, compared with an even dozen last year. Now there are seven with the Santa Barbara and Lamesa Clubs caught in the collapses of the California and the West Texas-New Mexico Circuits.

When you take 100 players from an organization of ten clubs, including the papa club, you are going into the apple barrel with both hands, and with the prospective loss of many more during the remainder of the season and through the winter the Brooklyn player supply by next spring will look like a cornfield after a husking bee.

And that's just one organization. It is reasonable to assume that the other farm systems are suffering similar losse.

Cub Defeat Knights 9 to 6

Cubs continued their winning streak by defeating K. of C., 9 to 6, in a Catholic League game last night. Hayes performed the mound duties for the East City crew in grand style, allowing 7 scattered hits.

His teammates played heads-up ball all the way. Caccavella at second and O'Donoghue at right handled several tough ones with ease.

R. Garvey with a double and single led the winners at bat, with J. O'Toole and Leonard having 2 singles each.

Baldwin was the big hitter for the K. of C. with a double and single. Galvin came through with a home run. The feature catch was made by Sheehan in centre field, who grabbed one off his shoe-laces and caught O'Donoghue off second to stop a rally by Cubs in the sixth.

The line-up:

Cubs—F. Garvey, 3b; J. O'Toole, 1b; Caccavela, 2b; Leonard, lf; O'Donoghue, rf; Heffernan, cf; F. O'Toole, c; Hayes, p; R. Garvey, ss.

K. of C.—Tracey, 3b; Mongraw, ss; Galvin, c; Masterson, lf; Anthony, p; Jones, 1b; Mills, 2b; Sheehan, cf; Baldwin, rf.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

French Bordagaray, Dodgers—His pinch double in fifth inning drove in two runs and sparked six-run rally that beat Cubs.

Mel Harder, Indians — Pitched seven-hit ball and drove in two runs with single in seventh inning to whip Red Sox.

Buck Newsom, Senators — Held Browns at bay on eight hits.

Pink Higins, Tigers, and Dick Seibert, Athletics—Former drove in six runs in first game, four on grand slam homer, and latter helped win second contest with home run and single good for two timely tallies.

Merrill May, Phils—Drove in two runs to provide margin of victory over Reds.

SPORTS — DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

The City Softball League which has been running into bad luck so far as the weather is concerned will make another attempt tonight to stage one of the two remaining games in the regular schedule. Luckies and Royals, whose game last Monday night, was called off because of a thunderstorm will tie into each other tonight at 7 o'clock in a game that may have a lot to say about first place or about third, depending upon the outcome. Among the folk who will be most interested in the result are the members of the Plazas for a win by the Luckies tonight would mean that the hockey club squad could lose their remaining game with Soldiers and still finish first. Royals want the game badly and so do the Luckies and the rival outfits will have the best possible lineups in action trying to make sure of a very important win. The battle should be just about as exciting as any tussle seen this year in the City League, adn is expected to draw a real crowd for the first game in the loop in a week. The league has had good luck all season in the matter of weather until this week and at that both of the postponed games could have been played, it being all clear at game time on both occasions.

C.G.E. Generals, leading the Girls' loop played their first engagement for some time last night and in spite of the absence of three regular performers turned in a nice card to defeat Brintons 7 to 2. Bea McDowell gave one of the steadiest pitching demonstrations of the season and earned a shutout. Brintons scoring twice in the first on a couple of breaks. The Millbrook girl allowed the Carpet-weavers only five hits and fired her fast one past twelve batters for strikeouts. The game was notable for the outstanding fielding feature of the current campaign. It was contributed by Marg Barrie, centrefielder for Brintons who went back to ward the cars in left, reached high in the air and made a one-handed catch of a long drive from the bat of Eleanor Craig. The bases were full at the time with no one out and the smash looked good for a homer and four big runs for Generals. The sensational grab allowed a runner to score from third after the catch was made but it cut off three other runs.

* * * * * *

Owing to the fact that Generals will be still short a number of players the scheduled game between them and Westclox upon which the league leadership will depend billed for tonight has been postponed until next week. Generals asked for the delay and the Westclockers who are right at the heels of the league leaders very sportingly agreed to let the game stand over so there will be no girls' game tonight and the Luckies-Royals battle in the City League will have the stage all by itself. Only three games remain to be played in the girls' loop to complete the second half of the schedlule. Westclox who have not lost a game in the second half have to play the Generals and the Electrics and Generals also have a game with their sister club in addition to the tussle with the Big Bens. Last night's game wound up the schedule so far as the Brintons are concerned.

The Red Sox Slip Back

Boston Red Sox, in spite of Ted Williams' 22nd homer of the year slipped back a notch yesterday when they were beaten 4 to 3 by the Cleveland Indian, thus giving the two clubs an even split on the series. The veteran Mel Harder went the route for the Indians and won the argument 4 to 3, allowing only one run in the last eight innings after Williams homer with a man on the sacks had given the Red Sox two runs in the opening frame. Ingersoll's Lefty Judd was the losing pitcher and the defeat gave the Canadian southpaw an even break on the season. He has won seven games and lost exactly the same number. Washington Senators who seem to have more luck against the St. Louis Browns than some of the clubs higher up the ladder do, took their measure again yesterday in a free-scoring game, featured by homers by Vernon and Judnich.

* * * * * *

Detroit Tigers and Philadelphia Athletics had a lot of fun in getting an even break on a double-header. There was no rationing of runs for the Bengals took the first game by 11 to 5 and the A's came back to grab off the second by 7 to 6. None of the starting pitchers went the full distance in either battle. Hal White opened for the Tigers in the initial encounter but had to give way to Trout who finished the job and got credit for the win. It was his seventh of the season and against that he has lost 13. The big blow of the first contest was struck by the veteran Pinkie Higgins who picked a moment when the bases were loaded to bang out his eighth home run of the season. Phil Marchildon started on the hill for the A's in the second game but the pride of Penetang had to be resuced by Roger Wolfe who got credit for the win, his tenth of the season. The old stager Tommy Bridges was the Bengals' choice but he was chased out and Gorsica who had the first relief shift was the man who was booked for the loss, although Wilson and Newhouser were in before it was over. Birdie Tebbetts, Detroit catcher, banged his first homer of the season for Tigers and Volo and Seibert got No. 2 each for the A's.

Dodgers Increase Lead

Brooklyn Dodgers increased their lead in the National League race to 8½ games last night when they won a hollow victory over the Chicago Cubs by 9 to 2. It was a tight ball game until the fifth frame when the Dodgers cut loose with a six-run splurge that broke the contest along every seam. That was a peculiar inning. Six Dodgers came up in a row, each one hit the first ball and the net result was four singles, a double, a sacrifice and four runs in on six balls. After Warneke had relieved Olsen the Bums batted in two more counters before the innings closed. In the only other National League game last night the Phillies took a fall out of Bucky Walters and the Cincinnati Reds winning 4 to 2 in a light-hitting affair. Walters held the winners to six hits but the Reds could only pick up four off the slants of Naylor and Pearson.

* * * * * *

The postponed game between Plazas and Soldiers, called off Wednesday night will be played at Riverside Park Tuesday night and City League fans are asked to keep that date in mind. All the original arrangements will be carried out. The game is a benefit in aid of the Navy fund and every cent taken in the collection will be devoted to that purpose. A Kenwood blanket will be offered as a draw prize and will go to the lucky holder of the number pulled out of the hat. As for the battle between the two strong outfits it speaks for itself. The teams are very evenly matched, both strong offensively and defensively and the game should be a tough battle all the way with both clubs anxious to win and assure themselves of the best possible playoff position. The battle is scheduled for 7 o'clock and with the boys in the blue of the Navy getting the benefit of the amount collected there should be a record crowd.

Whipper Watson Flattens Ray Steele

TORONTO, July 31. — All that now stands between Whipper Billy Watson and a bout with Bill Longson, the world's champion, is that august and fruity bunch of citizens known as the directors of the National Wrestling Association.

The Whippah hurdled his final (we think) obstacle last night at the Maple Leaf Gardens when he tossed Ray Steele in 19 minutes and 12 seconds. In fact, he tossed Steele so high that Ray's pants were scorched by the ring lights.

Mr. Steele, who is Longson's manager and "policeman," had administered a sound lesson in the mechanics of wrestling to Billy before Watson, who was somewhat exasperated, fetched him a solid clout on the jowels.

While Ray was counting the stars, Billy picked him up, twirled him aloft half a dozen times, and pinned him with what was announced later as "The Canadian Avalanche."

Referee Is Strict

Duke Willis, the "neutral" referee from Hamilton, had the affray under control at all times and the result was greeted rapturously by 5,000 customers—but not by Steele.

Earl McCready practically stole the show while "wrestling" to a thirty-minute draw with Rugged Roland Kirchmeyer, the scourge of old Oklahoma. Earl had been given the assignment of taming Roland who had showed undue truculence in recent bouts. McCready, ordinarily a staid citizen, earned heartfelt plaudits by "hanging" Kirchmeyer between the first and third strands of the ring-ropes.

Here are the complete results of last night's matches:

Whipper Billy Watson, 218, defeated Ray Steele, 219, with a Canadian Avalanche in 19:12.

Earl McCready, 237, and Roland Kirchmeyer, 251, wrestled to a thirty-minute draw.

John Katan, 230, defeated Len Macaluso, 226, in 17:23 when Macaluso conceded a fall.

Jan Gotch, 225, defeated Pete Managoff, 212, by butting him out of the ring in 17:30.

John Demchuk, 195, and Pat Flanagan, 198, wrestled to a twenty-minute draw.

Another Joe Gordon

Here's a new second-sacker for the New York Yankees, 1962 vintage. It's Joseph Michael Gordon, whose daddy is the slickest thing in second-basemen the baseball world has seen in many a year, and leading hitter of the world champions this season. Joseph Michael was born July 24. Holding him is Mrs. Gordon.

Rascals Fail To Field Team

PORT HOPE, July 31.—(ENS).— The Rascals were unable to field a team last night for the second game of the semi-finals of the Town Baseball League and it is expected that the executive will award the game to the Royal Grill.

Two members of the Rascals unexpectedly had to work, a third was called out of town, and their manager, Harold Blow, is in camp at Connaught Ranges with the Second Midland Regiment.

So as not to disappoint the large crowd which had gathered to see the game, an exhibition game was played, in which Woods and Nelson were the battery for the Rascals, while Rafter pitched for the Grill.

It was a hard fought game, with the Royal Grill winning.

The next game of the series is called for August 4, at King's Field.

Angott Gunning To End Robinson Streak

NEW YORK, July 31.—(AP). — The longest winning streak in modern fight history— Ray Robinson's run of 121 in a row—collides with Sammy Angott in Madison Square Garden to-night, and there's more than an outside chance that the collision won't do it a bit of good.

Although the skinny Harlem hammer is 1 to 2 in the betting to stay on the track that has left him all-victorious ever since he first drew on a glove as an amateur—especially since he already holds a decision over Angott—Sammy is a specialist at upsetting guys in return matches. And to-night Angot has one distinct edge—a style of bashing beaks that Ray definitely does not like.

Sammy likes to fight from a half crouch, crowd his way in close and then boff his opponent about the mid-section at short range—the shorter the better. Robinson, on the other hand, is a long, lean string-bean who wants to stand off a way and pitch his high hard ones.

Sammy's lightweight crown won't be on the line in this one—yet. Promoter Mike Jacobs expects a crowd of some 15,000 of the faithful, representing a gate of over $50,000.

Carmichael Buys Quebec Senator's Stable

HAMILTON, July 31. — It was learned at the Hamilton Jockey Club track yesterday morning that Harry Carmichael, well-known figure on the Ontario tracks for many years and former vice-president and general manager of General Motors of Canada, Ltd., has entered the ranks of owners and has purchased the entire stable of the Hon. Senator D. Raymond of Vercheres, Que. Senator Raymond's horses raced in the name of the Vercheres Stable. Mr. Carmichael has chosen the name of the Garden City Stable and the horses will race under that nom de course at the session which opens here on Saturday.

The Vercheres Stable thoroughbreds number fourteen in all, consisting of the following: Blasco, Sister Pat, Brulot, Loure, Off Step, Brother Pat, Stippler, Balma, Logman, Stand Easy, Strickler, Banff, Belstone and Miss Varenne. It is Mr. Carmichael's intention to add a few more to his string and will negotiate for a couple of handicap performers to round out the stable, which will be one of the most extensive and powerful in Canadian racing.

Senator Raymond's decision to retire from racing is to be regretted, as his colors have been well known on all tracks in Eastern Canada for years and the Vercheres Stable was one of the most popular establishments in Canadian racing, but the news that Mr. Carmichael is to enter the sport will be welcome among all racing interests.

French Lesson For Admirer

Red Sox Fumble 4-3 Decision To The Indians

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fans probably don't pay a great deal of attention to the baseball standings these days because New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers are making runaways of the major league pennant races.

Maybe it will be a surprise, therefore, to point out that the Dodgers have won 70 games and lost only 29 for a percentage of .707 and stand a good chance of becoming the first team in 33 years in the National League to finish above the .700 percentage level.

The record was set by Chicago Cubs in 1906 when they won 116 games and lost 36 for .763. They also were above .700 the next year and Pittsburgh Pirates topped that level in 1902 and 1909. In the American League the great Yankee clubs of 1927 and 1939 and Philadelphia Athletics of 1931 are all that have ever turned the trick.

The Dodgers added another scalp last night with a 9-2 conquest of Chicago Cubs, who were crushed with a six-run rally in the fifth inning.

The champs were held to one hit for four innings by Lefty Verne Olsen, while the Cubs took a 2-0 lead, Olsen himself driving in a run with a single and Lou Novikoff notching his sixth homer. But then the Dodgers let loose with seven quick hits and the game was turned into a rout.

This increased Brooklyn's lead to 8½ games over the idle St. Louis Cardinals. The Yankees also were idle, but their American League margin was increased to 12½ games as Boston Red Sox dropped a 4-33 decision to Cleveland Indians.

Washington Senators captured their third straight from St. Louis Browns 11-6. Washington made 13 hits, including a two-run homer by Jim Vernon.

Pinky Higgins drove in six runs as Detroit downed Philadelphia Athletics 11-5 in the firs tgame of a doubleheader, but the A's slugged their way to a 7-6 triumph in the nightcap.

Cincinnati Reds were held to four hits by Earl Naylor and Ike Pearson and lost a 4-2 verdict to Philadelphia Phils in a night game. Bucky Walters gave six hits in losing.

Orioles Wallop Wings Twice

By The Associated Press

The fortunes of Baltimore Orioles have ebbed and flown like the tide this International League season.

But since July 16 the Orioles have been going one way—ahead at a torrid pace. They've won 15 out of 21 games, including a double-header over Rochester Red Wings last night. The Orioles have ousted Buffalo from fifth place and are only three games out of second, held by Jersey City Giants.

A misjudged fly ball by Outfielder Hank Edwards deprived Elmer Burkhart of a no-hitter as he blanked the Red Wings, 3-0, in the seven inning lil-lifter. Steve Gro? mek scattered eight hits as his mates pounded nine off the offerings of Ed Wissman for a 7-3 victory in the nightcap.

Newark Bears showed the fans at Buffalo why they are leading the league as they turned in a great performance of hitting, fielding and pitching to defeat the Bisons, 12-1. Bill Johnson and George Stirnweiss got three hits each.

Montreal Royals ended their five game losing streak by defeating Jersey City 3-1 and 12-1 in a double header. All three Montreal tallies in the first game came as a result of home runs by Gene Moore and Jack Graham. Ed Albosta also gave up only three hits in the second game.

Syracuse Chiefs defeated Toronto hit tossing of Nate Andrews. An Maple Leafs, 6-2 behind the threedrews had a shutout until the ninth when the Leafs scored both their runs.

Sport Shots From Britain

By ALLAN NICKLESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, July 31 — (CP). — Baseball is hitting the high spots these days as an up-and-coming sport in this nation of cricket lovers.

Just as in the last war it's been introduced by troops and the sports-loving Briton gets a big kick from the incessant chatter of the players in comparison with the rather staid atmosphere of the cricket pitch and its "well bowled, sir."

The rules are a bit perplexing to the populace, but they're willing to learn. For instance, the good people of Croydon streamed into the local reference library for books on baseball. The reason? There was to be a game played between members of th Canadian and American Armies and the worthy citizens didn't want to plead ignorance.

Along the same lines, Canadian soldiers are teaching baseball to the Edmonton residents during the Edmonton Stay-at-Home-for-Holidays drive.

Fashion note for gasoline-rationed Canadian golfers:

Scotland's Hilton Park Golf Club, five miles from the nearest bus stop, has bought an ancient horse bus and two horses to convey players to and from the links. That brings the suggestion that for big matches, handicappers would have a stabling problem added to their woes.

Cleaning the Drawer: There'll be no such thing as the London League next football season. The 16 clubs of last season will carry on under the name of Football League South and two new clubs, Southampton Luton Town, will be admitted providing certain obligations are fulfilled....As a test run for the classic St. Leger of September 12 the King's Big Game will compete in the Champion Stakes at Newmarket on August 25 over a mile and a quarter....Lambert Simnel, winer of the 2,000 Guineas last year, has been retired to stud.

The Scottish North-Eastern Football League will restrict membership to eight clubs in the coming season, Edinburgh City, Leith Athleic and St. Bernard's were excluded. Hearts and Hibernians will replace the last two clubs....Lieut. B. D. Carris, of the Scots Guards, former Cambridge cricket and golf blue and Middlesex batsman, is missing in Libya.

Cambridge gained a dramatic victory over Oxford in an Inter-Varsity cricket match as Lord's. With but five Oxford wickets down, Cambridge claimed the extra 30-minute play. In the closing minutes G. L. Robins dismissed three men in an over and A. Austin with the seventh ball of the last over, won the match by bowling the Oxford captain.

Whirly Seeking Arlington Gold

CHICAGO, July 31 — (AP). — Whirlaway, already turfdom's leading money winner with a $454,336 bank roll, goes after another $23,000 tomorrow in the $25,000 added Arlington Handicap, which will climax the most successful meeting in Arlington Park's history.

The race at a mile and a quarter, Whirlaway's best distance, may prove to be nothing more than a romp for the handicap champion. No eastern horse has dared to challenge him, and the opposition, such as it is, will come from horses that have been running at Arlington for the past 34 days.

Outstanding of these, perhaps, is Best Seller, winner of the Equipoise mile, and the Australian-bred Reading II., entry of Louis B. Mayer, Hollywood motion picture producer. A three-year-old that may make the race interesting is the Valdina Farm's Rounders, an Irish-bred horse.

Best Seller will carry 120 pounds, with Whirlaway top-weighted at 130.

Sport Snapshots Across Canada

TORONTO, July 31.—(CP)—The difference between the National and International leagues for Mr. James Ripple is the difference between a fruit salad and a sirloin steak. Mr. Ripple takes the steaks—and the International League—without a second's hesitation.

The noted fat man currently is covering left field like a heavy but efficient blanket for Toronto Maple Leafs and he may eventually be the difference between second or third place and the pennant for the honor-hungry Toronto club. Because James is shedding flesh, and when he can see his toes without a periscope he is one of the best baseball players on this continent.

Leafs got Ripple in a slightly confusing deal—confusing because they got him from the Rochester Red Wings, who are in last place and need the kind of hitting Jim comes up with regularly each autumn. He wasn't hitting when he came, but he is now. Batting sixth, he's the man opposition pitchers fear most on the club. You can see them really bearing down when Ripple is at bat, and so they should.

Ripple is 33. He played seven years with Montreal in the International before 1936, when New York Giants took him up to share in their palmy days. Giants sold him to Brooklyn Dodgers in 1939, and were sorry. Jim started to click in the last month of the season, as usual, and the Brooks finished ahead of Giants. Jim hit 1.000 in the Mashed Potato League the next winter, and Dodgers sent him to Montreal. As usual again, it was only a temporary setback.

Late that year Cincinnati Reds needed an outfielder who could hit in the clutches. They got Ripple, and they got more than a hitter. Ripple was the standout of the world series against Detroit that fall, and his fieldnig was just as brilliant as his hitting. Last year Jim started slowly again, and Reds sent him down-river to Rochester. With Rochester, Ripple hit .378 in 52 games. This year he suffered his usual complaint. But now he's really moving.

At the present rate, Ripple will be in his best playing shape in another three weeks—just when the pennant drive heat will be on. Last night he made the best fielding play of the game as Leafs were beaten 6-2 by Syracuse. He took a liner over his shoulder in deep left, cut off a sure triple. Later he tried an almost impossible diving catch of another liner. He's hustling. And he got one of the only three hits tne Syracuse pitcher, Nate Andrews, gave during the game. If Leafs win a penannt this year, Ripple will be the most important single factor.

Street Repairs Neglected Aldermen Say

Repair of streets should be a primary war effort, especially those in the vicinity of industries engaged on war work, Alderman Sands contended at last night's meeting of the Board of Works. He mentioned particularly and as a "horrible example" that part of Wolfe street between Monaghan road and aPrk street, which he said was pitted with a lot of holes, some of them a foot deep.

"We are going to have five thousand people walking or riding to work," Aderman Sands said, with obvious reference to the Canadian General Electric Company. "Frank Mitchell was here this afternoon and admitted that the buses will not be able to handle all the workers. The condition of streets around the plant are going to put a lot of cars out of use six months or more before they should wear out. I think we ought to be ashamed of ourselves for the condition of some of our streets. Every effort should be made to fix them up; make it a priority job."

Alderman Sands said that local transportation was now essential to important war industries, and that the streets should be considered from he standpoint of their every day use by men engaged in war work.

Alderman Dutton, chairman of the Board, explained that two major projects ,the construction of the incinerator and the laying of the sewer in the northwest end of the city to Park Hill Road, had occupied men who would otherwise have been available for street improvement. "We are not unmindful of the condition of the streets," he added.

The sewer was to have been completed in four months, Alderman Bradburn observed ,but the work has been in progress for eight months, since last November.

Alderman Dutton said the sewer was nearling completion ,and its crew of workmen would be released for other work within the next two weeks.

Alderman Curtis said he had a list of seven streets, four of which are in Ashburnham, and a fifth Wolfe street ,all of them in bad condition. "When we vote money for street work the public is entitled to the benefit of having the money spent for that purpoe."

"Show us how we can get the work done?" Alderman Dutton suggested, presumably meaning the Board could not get the number of men required.

"Three of the Board's truck drivers were working as carpenters on the incinerator," Alderman Curtis said.

"I understand we could have got three or four carpenters from the Eastwood Construction Company," Alderman Swanston commented.

"I get four or five calls nearly every night about holes in the streets and that sort of thing," said Alderman Curis, "and what can I tell them? There may be others calling when Im not there. And the worst of it is, I was up in Lakefield the other day, and they had their streets oiled."

Alderman Bradburn mentioned the market square as being "in bad condition" and nothing done on it.

City Engineer Parsons gave the information that his department has a present payroll of 62 men.

"Why can't we put about three-fourths of them on the roads first and put them in shape?" Alderman Curtis asked.

Mr. Parsons said that Albert street, on the south side of the C.G.E. plant, had been patched and repaired twice this summer. Men doing patching work and using the small roller have been out most of the season. Alderman Bradburn said he wondered where they had been.

Alderman Swanston touched on the question of laborers' wages. He said one man helping on the incinerator chimney was paid 50 cents an hours for a few days, while city employees were paid 40 cents.

Mayor Hamilton explained that the city's men received an additional eight cents an hour bonus.

"I hear Chestnut and McCracken are paying 60 cents an hour on the Dominion Woollens job," Alderman Curtis said.

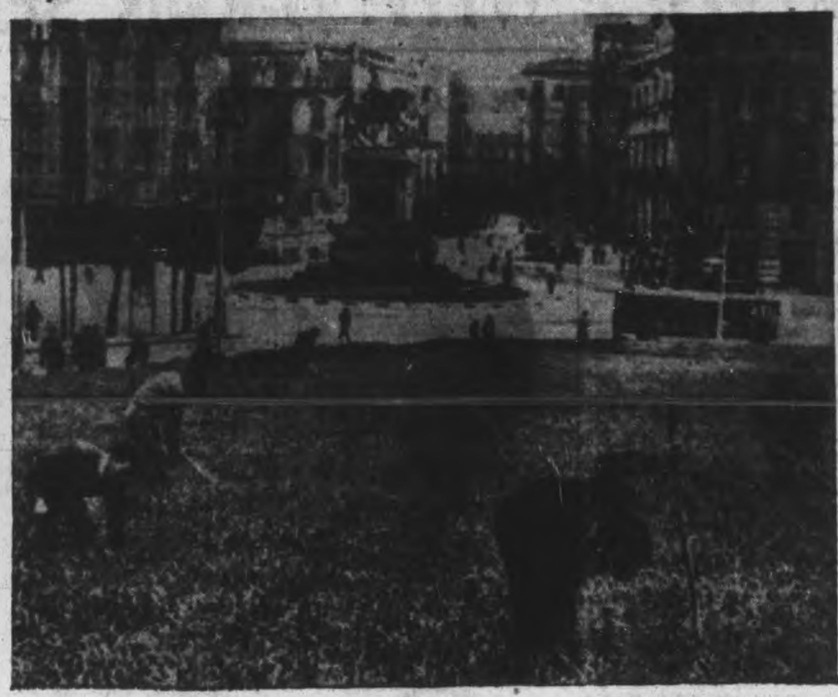
"You can't expect to get men at 40 cents an hour in competition with 50 and 60 cents," Alderman Glover added.

Mr. Parsons said that 22 of the Board's men are working on the northwest end sewer. He also said that he had a standing order with William Mellis of the government employment, bureau for workers. Alderman Dutton told the members that the men working on the Utilities Commission's water main on Bethune street might be available within the next week ,although R. L. Dobbin had told him also, that they might be retained for some other work the Commission might do.

Alderman Sullivan suggested that possibly the Board might be able to get additional laborers by advertising for them, an idea proposed a month or so ago by Alderman Swanston. Mr. Parsons replied that he had tried it and got three men who would hardly qualify as efficient laborers.

Members of the Board apparently satisfied themselves with their strictures about street conditions; and the prospect of some extra helpers turning in within the next week or so.

Italy Grows Wheat In City Flower Beds



This photo, made in Naples, Italy, shows a "farmer" tending his grain in one of the big flower beds in the Piazza del Municipio, principal street of the Italian city. Every piece of available land is now cultivated in Italy as the dread spectre of war famine stalks the land. Crop experts say that this year's crops in Europe are far below par.

Red Star charged that Red army uniforms had been used by the Germans for attacks in two sectors, but said the deception was discovered and the attacking forces, totalling three battalions, had been wiped out.

White tabs, not worn by the Russians, had been placed on the collars, the army newspaper said.

Red Star said Soviet forces had smashed tank and infantry charges in two sectors southwest of Kletskaya, itself 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad, and forced the invaders to retreat over steppes littered with bodies and wrecked machines.

In one of these the flying-wedge formation received a bloody test, Red Star reported.

Soviet riflemen held their fire as the concentration lumbered up. Artillerymen concentrated on nine tanks which formed the forward point of the triangle. Volley after volley wrecked the tanks and the Nazi infantry was left exposed, Red Star said.

Russian troops dashed into the breach, the dispatch reported, and routed the Germans in hand-to-hand combat.

Nazi airmen were said to be seeking to bomb crossings of the Don by which the Red Army is feeding supplies and reinforcements to the divisions within the river bend.

Nazi Field Marshal Fedor von Bock is moving up additional men and machines to bolster both his holding action in the Voronezh sector, 300 miles below Moscow, and the southward thrust at Stimlyansk, the communique said.

Must Stop Trading

In one of a series of official exhortations to Russia's millions, the Communist party newspaper Pravda declared grave days were upon the Soviet Union and that defensive trading of space for time must end.

"Every inch of Soviet territory given by us weakens our forces and lessens our possibilities," it said.

'Southwest of Kletskaya our troops repelled enemy attacks and, in some sectors, pressed the enemy back," the Soviet Thursday midnight communique reported.

"Several enemy tank groups and two infantry regiments attacked the positions of one of our units. Our men beat off the attacks, detroyed nine tanks and annihilated several hundred enemy officers and men. Our fighter aircraft shot down 14 German planes in a day."

The midnight communique presented on details on the combat at Tsimlyansk, but field dispatches said Russian tanks drove into a Nazi formation and killed 1,500.

(Vichy dispatches which declared that German parachutists and ground troops had landed on Taman Peninsula of the Caucasus in a thrust from the Crimea yesterday remained unconfirmed.)

The exchange on Saskatchewan wheat pool operations came as the House was discussing trade and commerce department estimates. Dr. Donnelly claimed that wheat pool purchases of capital stock would mean that in 25 years all the capital stock would be bought up.

In that event, said P. E. Wright (C.C.F. Melfort), the farmers who had patronized the pool elevators would own it.

Dr. Donnelly replied that "four or five men at the head" would own the stock, and added:

"Something should be done with this, the same as something was done in connection with the grain growers grain company not so long ago."

Rev. T. C. Douglas (C.C.F. Weyburn- said Dr. Donnelly had been allowed to libel "an organization whose shoe laces he is unworthy to loose."

John Diefenbaker (Con. Lake Centre) said that government-owned elevators were being rented by private corporations and were being used to store government wheat which the government could store more cheaply if it were to operate the elevators.

Storage Profit Example

"We had an example of that very recently where one corporation was able to rent from the government one elevator at Fort William, store it almost to capacity throughout the year with government wheat, the government paying for the storage ....and the private corporation able to make a net profit at the end of the year of more than $400,000," said Mr. Diefenbaker.

Trade Minister MacKinnon said he would deal only with a grain elevator at Port Arthur, Ont., leased to a company by the board of grain commissioners which came under his department. This lease had been granted when there was no grain available and it was realized that to make a profit on storage an elevator at the head of the lakes must have feeders on the prairies.

The lease would come up for renewal in 1944 and consideration would be given the situation then.

Mr. MacKinnon told J. R. MacNicol (Con., Toronto Davenport) that the National Research Council had been reimbursed by the Dominion Magnesium Co. for its cost plus 50 per cent. for investigations in connection with the production of magnesium. If new patents were as valuable as expected a further sum of $50,000 would be paid by the company.

Munitions Minister Howe said money had been needed to test the process devised by the Research Council and the work was done by private interests who developed the process and secured a patent under an agreement with the research laboratories. This process was later required by the Government as a war development. A Government plant was built, and the quarry from which material was taken was also owned by the Government.

There was no profit to Dominion Magnesium from use of the patent.

Mr. Howe told Victor Quelch (N.D., Acadia) that the synthetic rubber plant being built by the Dominion at Sarnia, Ont., would use a percentage of wheat alcohol. It was expected to use the produce of two or three distilleries together with certain components of petroleum. About 2,000,000 bushels of wheat a year would be used when the plant was in production.

No bombs fell on London itself, but the city's secret new anti-aircraft guns again were in action.

British offensive gestures included a foray over northern France last evening by a strong force of Spitfires and Hurricane bombers, which attacked a German airdrome near St. Omer.

Enemy fighters rose to challenge the British planes and a series of violent dogfights ensued, during which, the air ministry said, five Nazi aircraft were shot down.

Two other German fighters were reported destroyed by Spitfires and Hurricanes during sweeps along the French coast yesterday afternoon, in which an enemy tanker was set afire off Britanny and a small motor vessel was damaged severely.

Thirteen planes were lost in the afternoon and evening operations.

OBITUARY

JOHN ARCHER.

MARMORA, July 31.—(ENS).—Resident of Marmora township for the greater part of his life, John Archer passed away peacefully at his home about 2.30 a.m. on Thursday at the age of seventy-five.

A native of Nanthead, Cumberland, England, and son of the late Edward and Mary Archer he came with his parents to this country at the age of four. His family lived in Deloro for several years.

Engaged in construction work, the late Mr. Archer spent a period of his life in Toronto, but returned to his pleasing disposition, coupled this district several years ago, where with a bright outlook on life, made him popular with all who came into touch with him. Even up to recent years, he could delight an audience in his home or that of a neighbor, with a recitation or a song. Until stricken in the spring, he had always enjoyed good health.

He is survived by his widow, who before marriage was Sarah Knox, and three children, William, Marmora, Mrs. Roy Shepherd (Mamie), Toronto, and Mrs. Thomas Young (Sadie), Marmora township. Also surviving is one sister, Mrs. Charles Phillips, Marmora township, and three brothers, William, Grafton; Harry, California; and Thomas, Toronto.

The funeral leaves the residence of his son, William E. Archer, Marmora, on Saturday, for service at St. Paul's Anglican church at 1.45 p.m. with Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell officiating. Interment will follow in Marmora Protestant cemetery.

63,000 CONCHIES

LONDON—(CP).—More than 63,-000 conscientious objectors have been registered since the start of the war, Labor Minister Bevin said in a written answer in the House of Commons.

Not Considering Calling Up Married Men Yet

OTTAWA, July 31—(CP). — The War Services Minister, Hon. J. T. Thorson, told The Canadian Press last night that no consideration had yet been given by the government to the question of lowering below 20 years the age limit within which single men and childless widowers would be liable for compulsory military service in Canada.

The Minister added the cabinet also had not considered extending compulsory service to married men. These questions were not immediately pressing and would be considered in due time after parliament had adjourned.

Such steps as the government may decide to take depended on so many factors it would be impossible to prophesy what they would be, he said. One important factor was how many men the Defence Department ould require from month to month.

When the July requisition for 15,000 came in during June the age limit for single men and widowers without children liable to be called up was extended from 30 to 35 years. In July when the August requisition for 25,000 came the age limit was lowered from 21 to 20 years and raised from 35 to 40 years.

This was expected to take care of several months. The requisition for September has not yet been submitted by the Defence Department and doubtless the cabinet will at least await it before considering further extensions.

Chicken Demand Holds Up Well

TORONTO, July 31 — (CP). — The fresh dressed poultry market continues steady with quotations to producers and country shippers unchanged, the Dominion Department of Agricuture reports.

Spring chicken are arriving in good volume with more heavy birds, 5 lbs. and over, which are clearing well under local demand. The largest percentage are of B milk-fed quality.

Supplies of broilers are plentiful for which there is a fairly good demand ,any surplus being packed for storage.

Fowl of good quality are arriving in quantities in excess of demand an dalthough there is good enquiry for this kind of poultry some is going into the freezers.

Generally the demand for poultry is fairly good. Summer resort trade is showing an increase and local business is slightly better. Movement to eastern points is not so good as formerly, a few fresh frozen fowl moing and some small shipments of frozen turkeys going to Newfoundland and Halifax. Local demand for frozen turkey is quiet.

Dealers are quoting producers and country dealers:

Broilers—Grade A milk-fed, 25 to 26c; Grade B milk-fed, 24 to 25c; Grade B, 23c.

Chickens, roasters—Grade A milk-fed 28c, Grade B milk-fed 27c; Grade A, 26 to 27, Grade B 25c, Grade C, 20c.

Fowl.— Grade A, 5 lbs. and up, 22c; 4 to 5 lbs. 21c; 3 to 4 lbs. 20c Grade B, 5 lbs and up, 20c, 4 to 5 lbs. 19c; 3 to 4 lbs. 18c.

PETERBOROUGH MAN CHOSEN

Word has been received from Sergt. J. S. Mann of the 3rd Field Park Company, Canadian Engineers, somewhere in England that Sapper Tommy Cheel, a Peterborough member of the unit, had been chosen as one of the smartest soldiers in the outfit to represent the 3rd Field Park Company in the Canadian celebration of Dominion Day in London. The celebration included a special service in Westminster Abbey.

GOOD NUMBER.

Eighteen interested men applied for enlistment at the Armouries Thursday and this morning. This group will be taken to the Training Centre to-day for their medicals. The Recruiting Officer reported that the rallies that have been held in the district throughout the past week have been bringing results and that a fair number of men have been coming in from these outlying places.

ARRIVES IN ENGLAND

Canadian Press news cabled from England today, announcing the arrival of more troops from Canada, mentioned Sergeant Frank McNulty of Peterborough as one of a group who expressed eagerness "to be assigned to bomber squadrons flying big kites." He is a son of Dr. and Mrs. F. P. McNulty, Hunter street.

STONEY LAKE BASS.

Osborne Johnston of the Regent Theatre, spending a holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Dunkerly at Stoney Lake, demonstrated to the colony up there that there is good fishing in its bays. He hauled out a green bass weighting 5½ pounds and measuring 20 inches in length and 13 inches in girth. That was only a week-end incident, as Mr. Johnston has caught his bass quota any day he took the notion.

LOOTING THE SALVAGE

Two young boys, around 12 years of age, have evidently a keener eye for business than they have in regard to Canada's war effort. They have been looting the salvage stored in the old lacrosse arena by the local Salvage Committee and carrying off empty bottles which they have been selling to local merchants. They were developing a ready market when the police broke up the racket.

Emmett L. Downs Is Brought Home To Rest In Mt. Carmel Cemetery

HASTINGS, July 31.—Surrounded by his friends and playmates of former years at the old Downs' homestetad on the Cobourg Road, Emmett L. Downs, who has resided in Akron, Ohio, for the past ten years with his sister, Mrs. Clayton Greene, was laid to rest in Mount Carmel Cemetery, near his childhood home.

A well-known contributor to "Colliers Magazine," "The Saturday Evening Post," the "Akron Beacon Journal," and many other magazines Downs was the 'poet' of the neighborhood. For more than three years his Akron neighbors paused daily to chat with the young man as he lay on his cot bed on the verandah or sat in his big chair, and drew courage and comfort from his cheery smile.

Although a sufferer of tuberculosis Emmett Downs was noted for the rythmical and lyrical poetry he could produce, and his handicap seemed to give depth to his work that gave pleasure to many. Thursday, the day before his death, he and his sister spent the day pouring over travel literature, for they were preparing to take a trip to the Rockies, in the hope of improving his failing health. But he failed to get further than conjuring up a mental picture of the grandeurs he was to have seen, for he died early Friday morning, July 24, and his father, Thomas Downs, found him lying where he had fallen asleep.

Accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Clayton Greene, he was brought back to the old farm home near Hastings for burial. One of a large family, the late Mr. Downs is survived by four sisters: Mrs. Regis Collins, Mrs. Clyde Miller and Mrs. Clayton Greene of Akron, and Mrs. George Brownrigg of Ottawa, and two brothers, Dalton Downs of Akron and Harold Downs of Hastings. His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Downs, are both residents of Akron, Ohio.

The funeral took place Tuesday from the homestead to Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, where his cousin, the Rev. Father Leo Cleary, preached the funeral sermon and said the requiem mass before a crowd of sorrowing friends.

Emmett Downs was a man who made friends easily and was beloved by everyone whom he met, and his passing leaves a place that will not be easily filled.

Young Aldermen Get Action In Tree Trimming

Impatience and impulse Thursday night thrust the Board of Works into more action on tree trimming than three or four years of careful approach, consideration, and the other variations of protocol.

Alderman Curtis demanded that something be done by the Board, and its members finally transferred to his parks committee their unspent appropriation and virtually told him go and attend to the trees himself.

Eighteen months in the council, Alderman Curtis said, and almost continuous 'headaches' by citizens wanting a tree trimmed or removed. "That's no Parks Committee work," he said "and we don't seem to have got anywhere on this question since I've been in the council."

City Engineer Parsons said he had 135 tree telephone calls on his desk list.

Alderman Sands said he had been in the council as long as Alderman Curtis, "and we have been talking about a tree trimming policy but we've never done a darn thing about it. Mr. Parsons says he hasn't a man who is able to climb trees. Well, why can't we pick a man and train him in tree work, and we'll be able to to get something done."

Alderman Curtis mentioned three or four property owners who have been trying to get something done for a couple of years, and apparently as a new man he had drawn their hopeful attention.

Mayor Hamilton and Alderman Cotton recalled that the Hydro-Electric Commission had volunteered to co-operate with the city by accepting a chosen employee for training in tree trimming and even paying his salary during that apprenticeship.

"Well for goodness sake why can't we get a man, surely we can get one man, and send him to the Hydro, and if they are willing to pay him a wage at the same time that is so much the better," said Aldermen Sands and Curtis in almost identical words. Their idea was get a man, never mind asking the Hydro to pay him, but let them teach him how to look after trees and then we are set.

A resolution by Cotton and Sands directed the chairman and Mr. Parsons to confer with the Hydro and at the same time select a man to learn the "art of tree trimming."

The council laughed heartily at Alderman Curtis when he said he was willing to do almost anything to satisfy those four citizens who have been trailing him telephonically. "That's the biggest headache I have, and something has got to be done."

Alderman Bradburn proposed that the Board of Works appropriation for tree details be transferred to the parks committee account. Alderman Sands seconded a motion to that effect and Alderman Curtis fell in with it as chairman of the parks committee.

City Engineer Parsons mildly remarked that some members of the council seemed to think nothing had been done in tree trimming this year. He said Alderman Bradburn's motion should relate to the remainder of the tree trimming appropriation and not to the entire sum, because a considerable part of it has already been spent.

This switch of authority for this year, is only an expedient for this season. The council has in its mind a broad program of tree planting, nursery planning, and all the rest of it, something that has been in the books for a long time, and possibly they may get around to definite action on that enterprise this fall.

$28,460 Assessment On Fleming Place

Assesment of the Fleming Place properties is $5,590 on land and $22,-870 on buildings, W. J. Henry, city assessor, reported to the Board of Works Thursday night. Owners are Dr. Gallivan of Hastings, Henry T. Hickey and the Sandford Fleming Estate.

Residents of that recessed and somewhat seclusive residential neighborhood recently asked the council to fix up their road with a surface drain and street oil.

"If they are assessed at their full value I think they should get consideration," Alderman Sullivan said.

Some of the members expressed the opinion that the assessment values of Fleming Place seemed to be on parity with other assessments in that section. It was also felt that the ratepayers in their petition were probably within their rights. The request has not finally been disposed of.

New Iran Cabinet

Six-Cent Item Debated For 30 Minutes

In its finest mesh the Board of Works caught Thursday night a six-cent item that cost them twenty minutes or more until they decided to let it ride along for the present.

E. J. McCarthy of the Queen's Hotel applied for permission to open a coal hole in the sidewalk in front of the premises on the south side of Simcoe street. The Board was about to express approval of that request as a routine item, but City Engineer Parsons remarked that a charge of a cent a square foot a year, some trifle like that, would have to be levied as a rental against the hotel, the total being about six cents. "It should be 50 cents or $1 a year," Mr. Parsons remarked, intimating that the nominalism of the rental had been carried too far in the minimum direction.

The Board agreed that a six-cent annual rental sounded rather ridiculous, but how could the city charge the Queen's $1 a year and leave so many other spots around the down town area on the old six-cent basis. The discussion was actually on a question of principle rather than of petty price.

And that minor bit of business reached out to mention the fuel areas under sidewalks that are escaping rental charges altogether, the local practice of unloading coal on main street sidewalks and women who had spent an hour or more getting ready to come down town becoming "black as a nigger" passing through a coal barrage on the main street.

Alderman Bradburn said the fuel man could hardly be expected to complete delivery of their coal orders prior to 10 a.m., as required in a bylaw that is honored mainly in the breach. "You can't get 40 tons of coal into a basement between 7 and 10 in the morning," and Alderman Glover said that, any way, the public was entitled to get in the coal it needed for the winter, and Mayor Hamilton commented that any one would could not pay a dollar for the coal chute convenience should not be in the business, and finally after all that talk about the six-cent item it was hung up for the present until the bylaw is amended, unless it passes out of official memory.

Omemee Driver Has Costly Experience

When a car driven by E. Millen of Omemee became involved in a traffic accident at McDonnel and Gilchrist streets a few days and after a collision with a truck driven by W. J. Robson ran over the curb, knocked down 20 feet of fence and damaged a number of flowers, the driver realized that it was a costly experience.

This morning he found that it was even more expensive than he imagined for he faced a charge of careless driving in police court and when he entered a plea of guilty Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., promptly fined him $20 and $2.50 costs.

Millen told the magistrate that he had arranged to pay for the cost of repairing the damaged fence. "It might cost $10," he said.

His machine received some damage in the accident so that all in all it was a costly experience.

Westmount Youths On Cycling Tour

Two young Westmount boys have solved the problem of cheap transportation. The youngsters, James D. Hannaford, 16, of 698 Grovesnor avenue and Philip Capreol, 15 of 4663 Grosvenor avenue, arrived in town Thursday evening on bicycles after having ridden all the way from their home town. They left Westmount on July 23 at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, and have been riding their wheels since that time, sleeping out-of-doors every night and looked to be in the pink of condition when they arrived in Peterborough.

Each of them had a pack strapped behind the saddle of his wheel, carrying a ground sheet and blanket and articles of clothing. The boys said they had enjoyed their trip thoroughly. They left this morning for Bobcaygeon where they are to visit Capreol's uncle, G. Senior. They spent Thursday evening, taking in a movie.

Production Fight Won

MONTREAL, July 31.—(CP). —John C Patteson, Canadian born director general of supply services, British Ministry of Supply, saaid here in an interview yesterday that thet battle of production had been won in Britain, the United States and Canada, but there remained the priblem of 'what should be produced first and rushed to fighting forces on the most vital fronts of the war.'

Three Brothers In Midland Regiment

The three sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Puffer of R.R. No. 2, Havelock, and formerly of Norwood, are all serving in B Company, 1st Midland Regiment, on the West Coast. They are, from LEFT to RIGHT, C.S.M. Charles I. (Chuck) Puffer, Corporal W. B. (Mickey) Puffer and Sergt. G. R. (Steve) Puffer, who has already spent six months in Britain taking a special course. The boys are all well known in hockey, lacrosse and baseball circles. Their father served as a sergeant in the last war.

'Gun Shots' Total Now $454 For War Victims

With Arthur Kittson as editor, a weekly tabloid known as "Gun Shots" has been published in Genelco, Ltd., a subsidiary of the Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., since last October ,and its circulation is foremost and chiefly among the employees, who contribute one cent or more per copy, and in this manner a nice sum of money is raised, the gross proceeds of which are given to war service funds.

At the present time, on a monthly basis these total proceeds are divided equally between five funds of which the Peterborough and District British Jar Victims' Fund is one.

Ever since "Gun Shots" first came into being, this fund has shared in the good work that it has been doing, for it was the recipient of the first week's returns which at that time netted $3.25, which have since then advanced so rapidly and well, that for the month of June, each of the five funds benefitted to the extent of $55.00, this amount appearing in today's list of receipts for the fund.

This marks the eighth donation that has come to the fund in this manner ,and including the amount received today makes a grand total of $454.26, a splendid return, particularly when one considers that it forms only a part of what "Gun Shots" has been able to do collectively for the war service funds of the city.

It is always a pleasure to report personal donations, they speak of the interest that emphasizes an individual concern both for the welfare of those who are suffering through air raids over Britain, and also of a personal backing of a cause which aims ot overcoming the dire threat to our Empire, should the forces of evil prevail. One such personal donation is listed today from W. Robertson Davies.

Children Work

In widely separated parts of the city, groups of children are at this moment working on behalf of the people of Britain and the fund, and in every instance, all have worked previously to help, giving ample proof that former efforts gave desire to continue that help as being something worth-while.

At the corner of Perry and George street a group of girls among whom are Joyce Heath and her sisters, and Barbara McCulloch have a booth. Four boys have a fish pond on Homewood Ave.; Rosamond O'Keefe and Mona Martin are holding a bazaar at 247 Park street on Saturday and aBrbara Hall, Barbara and Lilian Luther have a stand at 593 Park St., while it is expected that the staff on the farmers' market will be in operation this Saturday.

68 Take Training

RAWDON, Que., July 31.—(CP). —Sixty-eight brothers and priests of the Roman Catholic church are training as cadet instructors at St Anselme College here in this Laurentian village 50 miles north of Montreal. When their four-week training period is concluded Aug. 5, the clerics will lay aside rifles, shirts, shorts and sun heumets, and dresed as churchmen again, return to their parishes, equipped to train cadets by methods approved by the army and the cadet service of Canada.

Parking Bylaw Enforcement Being Sought

No parking on the south side of Charlotte street from Water street to Aylmer street and a stricter enforcement of the bylaw against double parking were two suggestions at a meeting of the transportation committee of the council, of which Alderman Sands is chairman, Thursday afternoon. Frank Mitchell, head of the Peterborough Bus Lines, told the committee that traffic obstacles on Charlotte street frequently hold up the buses, causing delays which result in employes of factories on war work being late for work.

Time lost in the industrial plants, it was said, is too serious a matter to be regarded lightly in the enforcement of traffic regulations, Alderman Sands told the council Thursday night in a brief report of the afternoon conference.

Trucks and also automobiles clog the traffic lanes by double parking, especially on Charlotte street near George. Mr. Mitchell told the committee that his proposed ten minute bus service could not be put into effect unless something was done to prevent these obstructions, some of which have blocked the street for three minutes and even more.

Alderman Bradburn said that the Police Commission could be a help if the traffic bylaw, especially relating to double parking, were enforced in the light of the Alderman Sands' statement.

Mr. Mitchell was asked to prepare a written report for later considered by the council.

Training At Connaught Ranges Though Strenuous Not All Work For The Rangers

(Special to The Examiner).

CONNAUGHT RANGES, July 31. —Bronzed and somewhat weatherbeaten after nearly two weeks under canvas at this Ottawa Valley military camp, the 2nd (Res.) Battalion, Prince of Wales Rangers—Lieut.-Col. M. H. Park, V.D., commanding—will return to Peterborough this coming week-end, fully convinced that the training received through the supply of new arms and equipment made available generally to the Reserve Army has vastly improved individual fighting efficiency.

One of 14 units of the reserve fighting force of Military District No. 3 not attached to the 33rd Brigade Group, the Prince of Wales Rangers has spent many sunny days on the ranges, acquainting itself with the machanism and operation of weapons used by machine gun battalions. This training has been supplemented with intensive studies in map-reading, field-craft, organization, military law and other allied subjects. Frequent route marches, coupled with early rising, excellent rations and organized sports has toughened the unit as a whole and there is no doubt officers and men alike will return to their civilian occupations substantially healthier as a result of their 14 days in the open.

"A gratifying success" is the way Colonel Park describes his battalion's stay at Connaught. And this sentiment is echoed by all other officers commanding the more than 2,500 officers and men on the strengths of the various units not at Connaught.

The P.W.R.'s, whose lines and orderly room are to the rear of the camp administration building and "right under the gun of brigade headquarters," are within a stone's throw of the 2nd Midland's; the Lanark and Renfrew Scottish, the Prince of Wales Own Rifles, the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, the Brockville Rifles, the Argyll Light Infantry (Tank); 1st Field Ambulance, 5th C.C.S., 1st Armored Div. Ordnance Field Park, "A" Troop Cavalry Signals; 43rd Field Regiment, R.C.A., and 44th Field Park, R.C.A. All of these units took over at Connaught a few hours after the 33rd Brigade Group, which is comprised of units in the Ottawa area command, broke camp following a similar two weeks' period of training.

Tour of Camp

This special Examiner reporter, who mingled with the officers and men during training, meal hours and recreation periods, was given an insight into happenings at Connaught by Colonel Park himself, and was taken on a tour of the unit's activities on the ranges, parade grounds and neighboring fields.

Everyone agrees that, while the training has been strenuous, all has not by any means been hard work and no play. Everything possible has been done, in fact, by the unit itself and by the brigade staff under Colonel L. W. W. Slack, commander of the 33rd Brigade Group and Camp Commandant, to make the lives of all ranks comfortable.

Shortly after its arrival in camp permission was obtained to set up a battalion dry canteen where the men could purchase soft drinks, chocolate bars, cakes, milk and tobacco. The canteen is in charge of Captain Monkman, who is assisted by Cpt. Turner and Pte. Spearer. The younger members of the battalon, acording to Major V. M. Eastwood, M.C., battalion second-in-command and adjutant, found the canteen a happy addition to the camp establishment. Major Eastwood emphasized that despite the generous and varied meals served, open-air activity increased appetites and for this reason the canteen soon became a popular institution. He said that the tremendous consumption of milk would astonish most Peterborough mothers.

Following hard training during the day, entertainment flourished at night, and on more than one occasion concert supplied by the District Auxiliary Services officer, Lieut.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, formerly of Peterborough and now of the district staff at Kingston, were presented for the troops.

At the start of the second week in camp Colonel Park instituted competition among the companies for the best kept tents, lines and equipment and at the time of writing the daily decisons were as follows: July 23, C Company; July 24, C Company; July 25, B Company; July 26, A Company, and July 27, Headquarters Compan.

Rangers' Band Chosen

The brass band of the Prince of Wales Rangers was chosen from all bands in camp to play a special concert during a dinner given by the brigade staff, and Captain W. H. Peryer, the unit's bandmaster, was similarly honored, as the senior bandmaster in camp, when he was chosen to lead the massed bands of the different units during church parade held on Sunday, July 26.

Three practice fire alarms held at the camp resulted in the unit winning the distinction on one occasion of being the first to report for duty, and according to Colonel Park "the men have been doubling out smartly enough to suit even Fire Chief Gimblett." On another occasion, Captain Gordon Dobbin was despatched in command of "C" Company with picks and shovels to the scene of a supposed fire, arriving in record time.

In addition to the regular training being given the unit, several members have been receiving special courses. Sgt.-Major J. Miller of the battalion's administration and training staff, has proceeded to Long Branch for a four weeks' course on weapons and will specialize in three-inch mortar work, while second lieutenants W. G. Bailey and W. R. C. Perry are taking the officers' qualifying course. In addition, Sgt. A. E. V. Gallon and Cpl. T. C. Whitton completed a course in chemical warfare, while Sgts. W. M. Comstock and C. H. Harvey, who completed a course on the Reising gun, have been instructing the men in the use of the wapon.

One of the most outstanding events in the unit's absence from Peterborough was its participation last Sunday in the placing of the colors of 2nd Battalion, C.E.F., in the Public Archives at Ottawa. The Prince of Wales Rangers perpetuate jointly the name of this famous battalion with the Governor General's Foot Gaurds and they, with the Guards, were detailed to form the Guard of Honor, which was under the command of Major J. P. McGrath. Sgt. A. E. V. Gallon was the non-commissioned officer with the party.

The P.W.R.'s training officer is Major J. P. McGrath; the quartermaster is Lieut. D. J. McLellan, whose kitchen staff is headed by Sgt. Marshall. Lieut. Robert Nott is battalion medical officer; Sgt.-Major T. Thomas, the camp sergeant-major, was at one time on duty as instructor at Peterborough.

The battalion itself was inspected on July 28 by the Inspector General, Major General R. O. Alexander, accompanied by Brigadier F. Logie Armstrong, Officer Commanding M.D. 3, and Colonel L. W. W. Slack.

5-Foot Ogopogo

CALGARY, July 31—(CP).—A five-foot long "ogopogo" has been slain in the big lagoon at Bowness Park near Calgary. After a terrific struggle in which a pitchfork and an axe were used, the capture was effected by John McDonald, Park superintendent. It was identified as a ling, a creature with a head the size of a football.

Aerial Experts Favoring Air Freighters

WASHINGTON, July 31—(AP).—Strong support from aeronautical experts within the administration was claimed to-day by Senator Josh Lee (Dem.-Okla.) for his proposal to divert shipbuilding facilities to construction of giant cargo and transport planes for the speedy movement of troops and supplies.

Lee cited Grover Loening aircraft designer and technical consultant for the War Production Board, as "just one" of a number of experts he said were convinced of the desirability of shifting percentage of transport production to flying boats similar to the 70-ton Mars.

A Senate Military Affairs Subcommittee of which Lee is chairman as well as the Special Defence Committee headed by Senator Harry Truman (Dem.-Mo.) turnd to-day to Henry J. Kaiser, West Coast shipbuilder. for advice in their search for an answer to the submarine menace. Kaiser was to explain to both committees his proposal for the production of huge aerial freighters by nine shipyards including some of his own.

Loening and Harold E. Talbot, W.P.B. director of air transportation, told committeemen yesterday that lack of airplane engines presented the greatest obstacle.

Bring In The Food Drive

TORONTO, July 31 — (CP). — Conference yesterday between Mayor Fred J. Conboy and several members of the Ontario Legislature has resulted in the formation of a "bring-in-the-food" campaign in which men will be asked to spend part of their holidays on farms where crops lay in the fields unharvested.

Storms have gnarled and knotted the grain, making the work too arduous for schoolboys, whose assistance has been willing and efficient, the Mayor said.

All work will be on an unpaid voluntary basis.

Battles Over Biscay

LONDON, July 31—(CP). — The British attacks on submarines in the Bay of Biscay area far from shore are being countered by German fighter formations, and dog fights between R. A. F. bombers and Nazi Messerschmitt and Arado fighter patrols are becoming almost daily occurrences, informed air sources said.

The Arado 196, the type encountered, is a multi-purpose two-seater seaplane, heavily armed with two cannon and at least three machine-guns. It can carry small bombs under the wings.

Three In Family Injured In Crash

KITCHENER, Ont., July 31 (CP) —Three members of one family were rushed to St. Mary's Hospital here last night with undetermined injuries received in an automobile accident on the Breslau-Conestogo road.

Mrs. William Jackson, Fred Jackson and Sylvia Jackson, all of Kincardine, were the persons injured. Mrs. Jackson is believed to be the most seriously hurt in the crash which took place about a mile north of Breslau.

The three injured people were in a car driven by Orland MacFarland of Kincardine. Edna Jackson and William Jackson were other passengers in the same machine. The driver of the other car was Lorne Mosser of Kitchener.

Ontario Provincial Police are investigating.

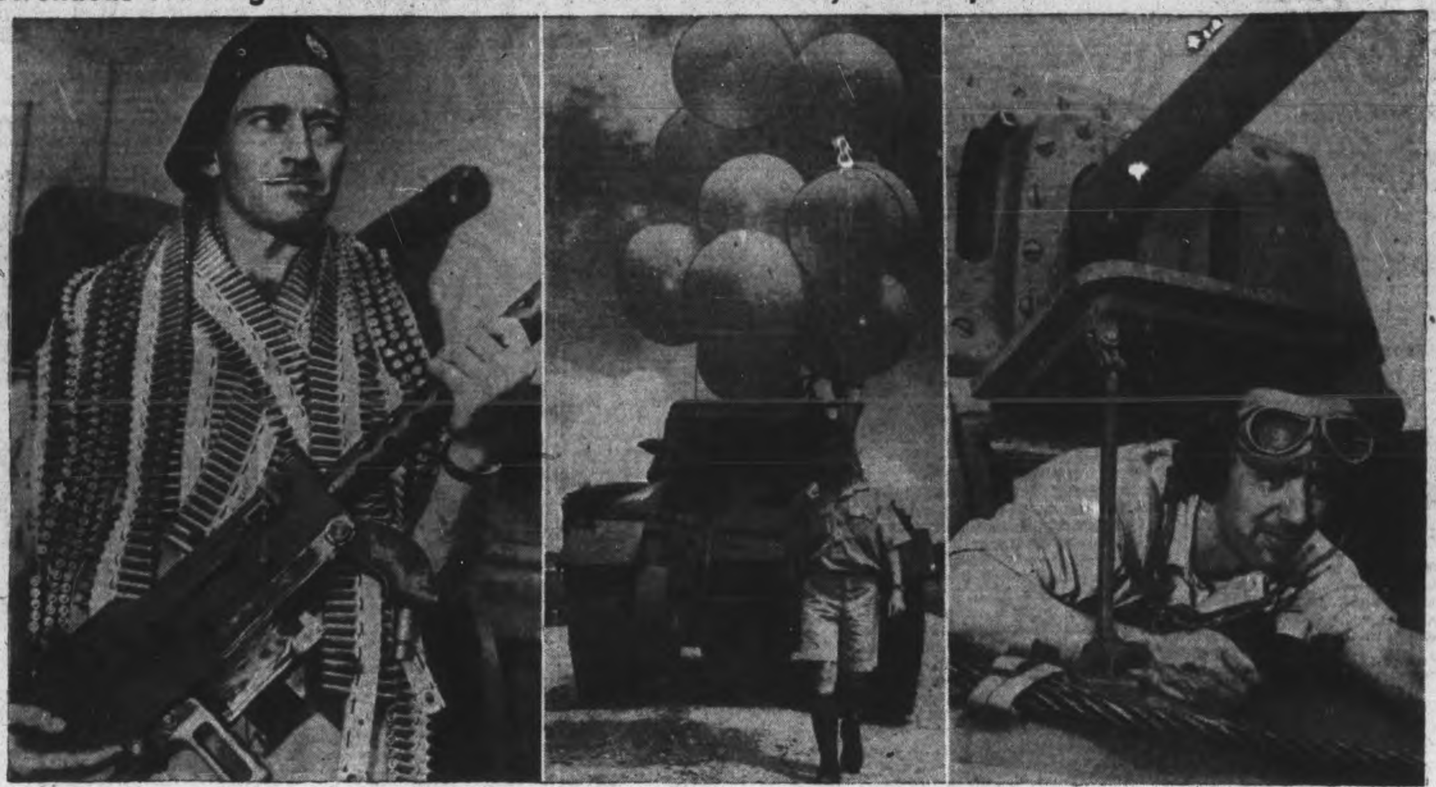
Strenuous Training For Tank Crews Of The Canadian Army At Camp Borden



Tank crews for the Canadian army are a highly trained, highly effiicent group whose drilling includes every phase of tank combat which they are likely to encounter when they send their steel minsters against the Hunt or the Jap. These pictures, taken at the army tank school at Camp Borden, Ont., show men of the armored divisions going through their paces. At LEFT a gunner, well vested with belts of ammunition for his anti-tank gun, walks out to board the tank. CENTRE shows a group of the balloons which are released over the gunnery range to serve as targets for anti-aircraft gunners plowing across the rough terrain, around Camp Borden. At RIGHT the tank driver takes a last look around before pulling the door shut behind him. Goggles will cover his eyes and the headset and mouthpiece of his shortwave intercommunication set are in place. Orders will come to him over this apparatus when tank is in action.

Britain To Boost Pension Money

LONDON, July 31—(CP Cable.) —The Governments proposal to increase supplementary pensions was approved by Commons Wednesday after a long and stormy debate at the close of which Labor members forced a division on an amendment resulting in the largest adverse vote in the Government's existence.

The amendment which appeared in the names of Arthur Greenwood (Labor, Wakefield), Frederick William Pethwick-Lawrence (Labor, East Edinburgh' and George Dag gar (Labor, Abertillery-. said the proposals to increase the pensions two shillings, sixpence (56 cents) weekly and make other allowances for winter fuel and clothing, could not be accepted, as "an adequate step toward meeting the difficulties of old-age pensioners and widows."

After Ernest Bevin, Minister of Labor and National Service, assured the House that the increase was not the governments final say on the matter, Mr. Greenwood intimated a willingness to withdraw the amendment, but Emanuel Shinwell (Labor, Seaham), who engaged Mr. Bevin in a heated debate across the floor, refused to allow it to be withdrawn.

The amendment was rejeced, 223 to 63, and the government motion was agreed to without division.

Shortly before the House divided on the amendment there had been a division on a motion for closure of the debate, moved by the government whip. This was carried, 203 to 77.

Campbellford Council Sets Civic Holiday

CAMPBELLFORD, July 31. — (ENS). — Citizens of this town will observe August 3 as a holiday, according to a proclamation which Conucil authorized the Mayor to issue when they met in special session on Tuesday afternoon. The resolution setting the date for the holiday was moved by Reeve Calver and seconded by Councillor Oscar Mason, and in its text urged all citizens to observe the day.

Since the Council itself meets on the first Monday of the month a second resolution moved the date ahead to August 10, and was passed.

Stalin Astounds Hopkins In '41 With Red Might

PHILADELPHIA, July 15—(AP). —Premier Stalin "unlocked the inner chamber of Soviet defence secrets" for Harry Hopkins, personal adviser to President Roosevelt, a year ago this month, and promised to "stand firm against Nazi aggression," an article in the August issue of the Ladies' Home Journal relates.

The article, entitled "How War Came" and written by Forrest Davis and Ernest K. Lindley, Washington writers, says Hopkins first communicated the vital secret information to the President, who passed it on to Prime Minister Churchill in their historic Atlantic conference.

"The President, optimistic by nature," the article continues,, received the detailed circumstantial news of the magnitude of Russia's forces and her effort with something like elation. Churchill, too, was rejoiced."

But, the writers add Anglo-American military and naval leaders at the conference "still dazzled by Brauchitsch, found it hard to accept Stalin's announcement that the Nazis could not take Moscow in 1941." Field Marshal Walther Von Brauchitsch was former commander-in-chief of the German army.

By the third day of the meeting, however, the article says, "it was agreed that Russia, by holding out through the winter, would enormously assist the western powers."

Exactly One Year Ago

The article relates that Mr. Churchill first suggested that Hopkins go to Russia at his second visit to London in July, 1941. President Roosevelt approved and Hopkins arrived in Moscow a year ago tonight.

In two sessions at the Kremlin, Stalin paraded "before Hopkins' astonished sight endless tables, charts, reports and other evidence of Russian armed and industrial might."

The Soviet chieftain also told Hopkins, the article adds, that he could go anywhere he wished—to the front or to factories—"and find out if what I have shown you is true."

It quotes Stalin as saying: "They will never get to Moscow this year," and says Hopkins was inclined to agree.

Stalin then handed Hopkins the note to Mr. Roosevelt in which he promised to stand firm against the Nazis and asked Hopkins "not to disclose the secrets he had just learned to anyone short of President Roosevelt. The president could then do as he liked with the information."

Grew Refuses To See Kurusa

LOURENCO MARQUES, PORTUGESE EAST AFRICA, July 24.—(Delayed)—(AP).— United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew was reliably reported to-day to have declined an audience with Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, former Japanese ambassador to Washington, when the two envoys were in this neutral port for exchange.

Grew was said to have passed Admiral Nomura and special Japanese Envoy Saburo Kurusu on the transfers but his only greeting was dock here during repatriation a formal tipping of his hat as he walked past.

It was understood that Nomura later sought a personal meeting but that Grew would not see him. Why the Japanese envoy wanted the meeting was not disclosed.

Japs Blocked FDR 11th Hour Wire To Tokyo Envoy

By MAX HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LORENCO MARQUES, Portugues East Africa, July 23—(Delayed) — (AP).—The usually cordial voice of Ambassador Joseph C. Grew came cold and reserved over the telephone that sunny Sunday morning in Tokyo last December.

I had called to ask the American envoy about a message I had just received telling of President Roosevelt's personal appeal to Emperor Hirohito to intervene to save the peace.

"There's nothing I can say; absolutely nothing at this time," he said. The call gave him the first inkling of the critical turn in the Japanese-American negotiations.

The Japanese military had played its usual calculating hand and stopped Washington's message to Grew telling him of the President's 11th-hour action.

But Japanese censors slipped somehow in permitting correspondents to receive theirs.

The Embassy's first message was received in Tokyo at 10 a.m. but was not delivered until nine that night short hours before Pearl Harbor was attacked.

Thus did the warmakers make sure that no last-minute effort by the United States could head off the conflict.

Lights burned brightly that night in the Embassy offices and residents as Grew and Eugene H. Dooman, Embassy counsellor, conferred in the Envoy's library. Dooman called Foreign Minister Togo's secretary.

Dooman explained that an important communication had just come from Washington and that, regardless of the hour, Grew must see Togo that night.

Grew read the Presidential message to Togo and left in 25 minutes

It was understood that Grew saw a look of surprise on Togo's face.

From all indications the military had not informed the Foreign Office of its plans to attack Pearl Harbor—which started almost at the moment Togo was with Grew.

Togo seemed to think the midnight hurry and bustle was unnecessary; that a morning conference should have been adequate.

Believe Indians Could Take Over Without Trouble

By PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW DELHI, India, July 27. — (Delayed).—(AP). — A transfer of government in India from Britain to the Indians could be carried out without "chaos" because the British authorities would be expected to stay on until a provisional Government could be formed, Abdul Kalan Azad, president of the All-India Congress Party, said today.

"The British administration would stay until such a government could be assembled, free of interference," the party leader told a press conference. He asserted that the Congress Party would not insist that power be given to it, but would be willing, if the British chose, to have the Government transferred to the rival Moslem League.

"What we are concerned with," he emphasized, "is what is being given, not to whom it is given."

His statement came on the heels of publication here of an appeal to the United States by Sir Stafford Cripps, whose independence mission to India failed, to back Britain up in "whatever is necessary."

The Cripps speech shared front-page attention with Mohandas K. Gandhi's disavowal of any disposition to allow the Japanese to move into India.

Despite Gandhi's apparently rigid determination to seek independence for India now instead of waiting until after the war as Britain proposed, both Azad and Pandit Jawaharlal Pehru, second only to Gandhi in influence in the Congress Party, have intimated that the door still is open for negotiations.

Indict 2 Firms On Fraud Counts

DETROIT, July 31—(AP). — A United States grand jury indicted two companies and four individuals here yesterday on fraud charges growing out of the sale of 1,400,000 shares of stock in the bankrupt Le Reine Gold Mines, Limited, also known as the Le Reine Molybdenum Mines, Limited.

John C. Lehr, United States District Attorney, estimated that stock purchasers, principally residents of New York, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin, had been defrauded of $280,000.

The defendants are charged with violating United States mail fraud statutes and the fraud provisions of the Securities Act.

Individual indicted are Charles V. Anderson of Toronto and Ottawa, organizer and secretary of the company; John C. Cox, Toronto, president; John Herck of New York and Toronto, owner of the Investment Underwriters Co. ,and Robert O'Neill of Toronto, a salesman for Herck.

The mining company and the Investment Underwriters Company also were made defendants.

Government investigators said the mining company was organized in 1936 and gold stock was sold from 1937 to 1939. When Britain went to war the company's name was changed, it was charged, and stock was sold representing production of Molybdenum.

Investigators said the mine, consisting of 12 unpatented claims of 1,200 acre at Abitibi, Que., never was in production, although the operators drilled about 6,000 feet and sank two shafts prior to July, 1939.

Dehydrated Food, New Industry Makes More Room For Munitions

By JAMES MONTAGNES

There will be more room for munitions and equipment in the ships going to the war zones because agricultural scientists have found out how to cut a ton of potatoes to 300 pounds, have learned how to reduce a hundred pounds of cabbage to six pounds, and to reduce the weight of pork and beef by nearly three-quarters. The food which goes to the soldiers on the front line will be less bulk to transport, will be more varied in content than heretofore, and will be as palatable and nutritious as the fresh food from which it came.

The process of taking the moisture from foods of all kinds and thus cutting the bulk and weight of the food has been the subject of experiment in agricultural laboratories everywhere for some years. Powdered and dried milk are well-known examples of dehydration processes, among the first to have proven successful. The war has pushed the need for new methods of rilding fresh food of moisture so as to be able to send more fresh food to Britain, for the armed forces on the battlefield and to overcome the shortage of tin cans which resulted with the conquest of Malaya.

In Canada most of the work on dehydration has been on vegetables, while in the United States agricultural scientists have worked on dehydration of meats, and in New Zealand work is being conducted on dehydration of butter because of shortage of refrigerator space for shipping butter to Britain.

In the last war the dried vegetables served out with army rations were not favorably received because at that time dried vegetables were just vegetables that had been dried. They were tough and tasteless; ther vitamin value was probably nil, and if the vegetables had been kept for a year they were only used as a last resort. Developments of recent months have changed all that.

Taste Fresh.

Recently a demonstration was given in Ottawa of dehydrated vegetables processed in Canadian factories for and under the direction of the Agricultural Supplies board. Carrots, turnips, cabbage and potatoes (mashed, French fried, pan fried and riced), were served and the consensus was that they tasted the same as and could not be distinguished from fresh-cooked vegetables. Some of the persons who tasted them maintained that the dehydrated products were even better than home-cooked vegetables. In the process of dehydration the vegetables had lost but little of their original vitamin content and nutritive value.

In the United States a similar demonstration fas given recently on meat which had been dehydrated. Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard was served with pork and beef croquettes and stew from which 90 per cent of the water had been removed, and which had been processed so as to keep the meat still pleasantly edible. The meat was so tasty that the secretary told the scientists to go ahead and see if they could do the same work on lamb and mutton.

Before the dehydrated meat was served agricultural scientists had fed it to rats who grew fat on it. They had tried it out for weeks at a time to heat such as it would receive in the Tropics or on the desert, had inoculated it with deadly organisms which had either died or been unable to feed on it. They had tested it in many ways and found it satisfactory.

The dehydration process has been worked out by government scientists and those of provate business. At present, besides Department of Agriculture experimental plants there are in Canada five companies supplying dehydrated vegetables and fruits to the armed forces and for civilian consumption in outlying settlements and camps. Soups have also been placed on the market in dehydrated form in paper packages to save tin cans, and dog food is another important food which this year is coming out of cans and into paper and cardboard containeds in a dehydrated form.

Selected for Fitness.

When vegetables are dehydrated they are first selected for verital suitability and maturity fitness. Then they are washed, trimmed and cut into the form in which they are best processed. They are first cooked for an exact time in steam or water at an exact temperature. This cooking preserves the characteristics of the vegetables. They are then spread on trays which are tacked on trucks and rolled into the dehydrator where they are subjected to a blast of hot air until they have been dried to an exact moisture content, the velocity of the air-flow, the temperature, and the humidity being carefully controlled. Each species of vegetable requires a different treatment. Some will stand higher temperature, and others require higher humidity, but all are dried as rapidly as possible to a final moisture content of from 4 to 7 per cent.

After the dehydration process the vegetables are immediately packed into metal containers and hermetically sealed. In the case of some vegetables the air is exhausted from the sealed containers and replaced with oxygen-free gas such as nitrogen. When required for use the dehydrated vegetables merely have to be soaked in sufficient cold water for a few hours to "refresh them," following which they are cooked as fresh vegetables.

Meats are treated the same way, come out in dry powdered form, have to be soaked in water for an hour, then boiled and simmered for short periods, when they are ready for use. Experiments have shown that dehydrated foods can be kept upwards of a year without losing any of their nutritional value.

In New Zealand where dehydrated butter is being produced, the process allows the butter to be placed in sealed cans and to be shipped as general cargo on ships. The dehydrated butter can be used in its dry state by pastry cooks and ice-cream manuacturers, and the reconversion of the dried butter fat into butter is achieved simply by adding water and salt. It keeps better than tinned butter, and is being used in New Zealand for shipment to soldiers and prisoners of war by individuals, while it is going in large quantities to Britain.

While the entire need for dehydrated foods is one dealing with shortage of shipping space and the shortage of containers for canned foods, it is likely that after the war the industry will remain to supply countries with inadequate shipping facilities and as a space-saver for domestic consumption in cities rural communities, and outlying settlements.

No War Statement

LONDON, July 21 — (CP). — Sir Stafford Cripps, Lord Privy Seal and leader of the House of Commons, announced today that Prime Minister Churchill will not make a statement on the conduct of the war before Commons recesses for the summer. Sir Stafford told the members parliament would be recalled if the Government decides later that a statement is necessary.

Date of the recess was not made public because of security regulations.

800 Refugees Land

BALTIMORE, July 31 — (AP).— The 8,000-ton Portuguese steamship Nyassa docked here to-day with nearly 800 refugees from Europe and the Middle East.

Naval intelligence officers said the passengers included a party of about 150 Polish technicians and their families en route to Canada; 38 refugee children from France; and about 160 children from other nations.

She was attended by Miss Eleanor Sweet, Toronto, who wore a deep pink silk jersey dress, with hat and corsage of similar design. Mr. Norman Barlow, Toronto, was best man.

After the ceremony a lovely reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jamieson. The rooms were beautifully decorated with pink and white streamers and baskets of roses and snapdragons. Later the happy young couple left on a honeymoon trip to Port Dalhousie and Niagara Falls, the bride travelling in a tan and white ensemble with white accessories.

On their return they will spend the week-end with theb ride's mother, Mrs. R. Scott, before taking up residence in Toronto.

Mid-Season Hat Style

By ALICE ALDEN

The off-the-face hat silhouette is slated for continued attention. A fashion that is so becoming to so many girls isn't likely to pass out of the picture quickly and usually it returns each season in a new form and fabric. Alexis Smith wears a becoming model that is set extra far back on the head to form a flattering frame for coiffure and face. It is of quilted white crepe and is made without any ornamentation beyond the stitching.

Seymour West W.I. Holds Lawn Social

CAMPBELLFORD, July 31 (ENS)—With a softball game, supper and bingo as highlights of the Seymour West Women's Institute held their annual lawn social at Connelly's School Thursday evening and drew a crowd estimated at well over 400 people. In spite of the rationing of such things as gas and sugar, the Institute president, Mrs. R. A. Rutherford was confident they would exceed last year's net proceeds of well over $150. And they were well on the way to this objective shortly after the supper hour when Robert McCulloch tallied approximately $115 at the gate.

The ladies got around the sugar problem nicely as each of the forty odd members contributed a cup in addition to the items supplied for the supper.

The supper conveners, Mrs. Gordon McCulloch, Mrs. Raymond Free, Mrs. Fred McCullouch, Mrs. Frend Hendy, and their assistants were still serving hungry people from Campbellford and Seymour West at nine o'clock, three hours after the first group moved up to the flower-decorated tables. Biggest part of the evening's proceeds, all of which will be used by the Institute in their war work program, came from the 72-card bingo game operated by F. G. DeCarrol with the assistance of J. F. R. Douglas and several others from Campbellford and Seymour. Here they expected to clear considerably more than a hundred dollars.

Softball Game

For the first time this season busy farm youths took time off to have a round of softball and considering the fact there has been no Township league to keep the boys in trim during the summer, they gave a fine performance. The game was billed as Seymour West vs. Seymour East, but most of the latter group came from that vicinity known as the English Line. Tam Chadwick mustered the English Line team, but had to call in reinforcements from Campbell—Ken McMullen, Joe O'-Sullivan, and Bruce McComb. Cliff Anderson, redoubtable pitcher from Seymour West captained that team and like the opposing outfit drew E. Wilkes and F. G. DeCarrol from Campbellford and J. Hardesty from Trent River. Thanks to the consistent hitting of M. McKeown, who collected two doubles, a single and a walk in four tries, the final score was 9-8 for the Line at the end of the 6-inning game.. Most effective effort of the entire contest came from Seymour West's Hardesty, collected a circuit clout in the fifth with three on, thereby giving his team a one run edge which was nullified by McComb and McKeown in the succeeding inning. Catcher Joe O'Sullivan got the only other four bagger of the game in the initial inning and he brought in two runs.

English Line.—K. McMullen, ss; M. McKeown, 1b; J. O'Sullivan, c; T. Chadwick, 3b; H. Bedford, cf; A. High, lf; T. Lee, rf; M. Smith, 2b; B McComb p.

Seymour Weet.—E. Wilkes, c; W. MacKenzie, 1b; N. Hooper, ss; C. Anderson, p; K. Bartley, 3b; H. Brown, lf; D. McCulloch, cf; J. Hardesty, rf; F. DeCarrol, 2b.

Score by innings:

Seymour West	201 140—8
English Line	301 032—9

Will he defend it this year?

Seagram Gold Cup and Defending Champion, Sam Snead —a Three-time Winner

The smiling gentleman is "Slamming Sammy" Snead holding the Seagram Gold Cup he won last year at Lambton as Canadian Open Golf Champion. Last year was Snead's third victory in the Open and he would like nothing better than a victory this year to tie the record of four open wins now held by Leo Diegel.

The defending champion's entry has not yet been received at local golf headquarters, and for a very good reason. Snead is in the United States Navy, and permission must be secured from his superior officers to allow him to take part in this tournament. A request for this permission has been despatched through the proper channels and it is confidently expected that Snead will tee off with the field at Mississauga on August 6th in quest of his fourth win.

Since the House of Seagram first presented the trophy in 1936, the names of some of America's outstanding golf stars have been inscribed on the parchment scroll. First there was Lawson Little, then "Light Horse" Harry Cooper. Snead's victories came in 1938, 1940 and 1941, with the 1939 crown going to Harold "Jug" McSpaden who is again entered this year.

Standing twenty-two inches from base to top, the Seagram Gold Cup is one of the most coveted trophies in golfdom. It rests on a massive base of onyx which contains a gold casket within which is the inscribed parchment scroll of annual winners. The gold casket is mounted on heavily chased silver feet with a Corinthian column at each corner. Two beavers act as supporters of this casket and the Canadian coat of arms is beautifully executed on the front. The cup itself is of Grecian design and made of gold. The superlative workmanship and exquisite design make this trophy, which was made entirely in Canada, one of exceptional beauty seldom seen in athletic trophies.

The winning players receive a miniature of the cup for permanent possession and have their names inscribed on the parchment scroll which reposes in the base of the trophy.

First prize money in the Canadian Open is $1000.00, with an additional $200.00 if the winner is a Canadian. In all, $3600.00 is alloted to be divided among the first fifteen.

The Canadian Open this year will be held at Mississauga, just outside of Toronto, on August 6th, 7th and 8th, and as in previous years the field will include many famous United States and Canadian Golfing stars.

The entire net profits of the 1942 Canadian Open and all Royal Canadian Golf Association's operations for this year will be donated to the Canadian Red Cross Society.

C.W.A.C. Secures Twelve Recruits

The C.W.A.C. which finishes up its recruiting campaign in Peterborough today, has had a most successful week, Lieut. Claire Mason reported. Lt. Mason is delighted with the response they have had, and the fine type of girls who have been answering the call. Several girls were excellent stengraphers and a few were university graduates. In all, in the four days, the C.W.C.A. has gotten about 12 new recruits.

A number of the girls will not leave immediately, because it is not the polcy of the C.W.C.A. to rob industry and the business world and so the girls decide on the length of time it will take to get someone new in their positions and it may be a month or two before they are ready to go. Others are prepared to go at once.

With the exception of the girls who wish to be stationed at the Training Centre all the girls are sent to the barracks in Kingston and they are stationed there until the Training Centres can handle them for their basic course. This course is expected to move much faster now since the new training centre has been etsablished in Alberta for western girls. This means that Ste. Anne de Bellevue, which has been handling the girls from all over the country, will be able to take eastern girls in much larger numbers. Those who have expressed a preference to remain in Peterborough can go down to the Camp and they will be sent from there for the basic training as soon as possible. Where it is feasible, the girls are sent where they have a definite preference, but of course this may not always be possible immediately.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Small and children Wilbert and Agnes, of Hamilton, are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Smith. Other guests of Mr. and Mrs. Smith include Mrs. J. T. Mallon of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Small and family of Norwood.

Mrs. Kennard Harvie and children, Arlene and Mylwin of Acton are staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blodgett.

Mrs. Alex Foster of Cobourg spent a few days this week with Mrs. Earl Thackeray and other relatives.

Mrs. A. Kirkcaldy of Peterborough is a guest of Mrs. D. McGrath.

Miss Phylis Heath has returned to Peterborough following a visit here with Mrs. D. McGrath and Mr. and Mrs. E. Noonan.

Carl Thompson of Campbellford is visiting his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Brown.

One day—each week,
The Boy who delivers your Examiner calls to collect
He has so many customers he can't afford to give credit for he must pay for his papers on fixed dates and counts on his collections to make his payments. Your courteous carrier boy assumes a financial burden he cannot afford to carry when you ask him to wait for his money. He collects on the same day each week — you know which day — and when he has to "call again" to collect from you, delivery of his whole route is delayed on several days. Have the money ready for the boy the day he collects—the correct change, if convenient. Help him to meet his financial obligations promptly, and to make delivery on time every day.

DOROTHY DIX

GIRL, DESERTED BY DAD, TELLS NEED OF 2 PARENTS

Couples Are Asked to Read Her Letter Before They Seek Divorce.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl, 16 years old. My father left my mother when I was 5 and my brother a baby. My mother has slaved ever since to support us. Although she provides us with everything we actually need, I realize that I have been terribly cheated in not having a father. It is a source of embarrassment to me, as well as of loneliness.

My friends ask me continually about my father, and I have to tell them that he is not with us, that my parents are divorced and that my father is married again. They ask if I ever see him and I have to explain that I seldom do. I do not feel that I have done anything to deserve all this because he chose to roam. If my mother was good enough for us to be left with and good enough to give up her whole life to making ours as complete as possible, why wasn't she good enough for him?

My friends have their fathers who go with them to school affairs and pal around with them. I have to go alone, or with mother if she is able to go. My brother and I need a father to give us advice. We have none. We do not even know what kind of a man our father is.

All men and women who have children who are thinking of divorce should put themselves in the children's place and realize that their selfishness in taking their happiness at the expense of their children's puts great sorrow on the children and changes their entire lives.

Need Two Parents

Life today is hard for us who are growing up. We need both a father and a mother to help us go right. I am doing the best I can with the pieces that are left of my life, trying to fit them together so that I will make a good woman, but I could do a far better job if I had the backing of two parents and had a mother who did not have to devote her whole time to supporting us.

What a privilege it must be for a child to go home and find a smiling and happy mother and father there!

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT.

ANSWER: Attention all of you disgruntled husbands and wives who are thinking of breaking up your homes and half-orphaning your children, because you have discovered that your Maria isn't as glamorous as seen across the breakfast table as she looked through a cocktail glass when you were courting her, or because your Jim has turned out to be a tired business man, instead of the great lover you thought you were getting.

Read this poor bewildered young girl's letter and weep, and then take a fresh grip on your courage and your sense of right and justice, and forget about Reno, and start in to make a success of your marriage instead of letting it go on the rocks.

Maybe you did make a bad choice of a mate. Maybe your husband or wife has faults that get on your nerves. Maybe you are bored and dissatisfied. Maybe you have seen somebody who comes nearer to your heart's desire. It is too bad if you have. But you have children. If you were childless, you might talk about your right to happiness and the folly of not retrieving a mistake.

Hostages to Fortune

But you have children. You have given hostages to fortune. You have brought helpless little creatures into the world. You have thrust life upon them and you are in honor bound to do everything possible to help them make their lives worthwhile. You have assumed a responsibility that you cannot escape.

You know that children need a stable home in which they can strike down their roots, just as much as flowers need a sun-shiny garden in which to bloom to perfection. You know that they need both a father and a mother to tend them and train them into developing into the kind of men and women they should make.

And you know that the children of divorced parents are almost invariably blighted by the experiences they have been through. Their idealism is slain. Their natures warped. Their belief in the true and the beautiful shattered. And they grow up moody and bitter, with a sense of belonging nowhere and feeling that they are little pariahs because they are not like other children.

How could it be otherwise with children who are shuttled back and forth between their father's house and their mother's house without having any permanent home, who have perhaps four parents, yet none of which they are proud to boast of as my father or my mother?

Read this girl's letter. It will tell you better than any moralist or preacher how children feel about their parents' divorces. Then don't wish that fate on any hapless child.

EXPECTANT MOTHER FALLS IN LOVE

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a young wife of 17 and am expecting a baby soon. My husband is in the army. He went away five months ago and I have had no word of him since, but I have heard through others that he is going around with another woman. Last week I met a young man who has fallen in love with me and I am very much in love with him.

I have told this boy my troubles and he says he will take good care of me and the baby when it comes. What do you think I should do? Should I talk it over with my husband, or just get married to the man I love?

ALICE.

ANSWER: My poor child, don't add bigamy to your other blunders. Surely you can't be so ignorant of the law as not to know that if you marry one man while you are still legally married to another you commit a crime for which you will be severely punshed. No matter how much you love this second sweetheart of yours, you can't legally become his wife until you get a divorce from your husband.

For a girl of 17 you seem to have gotten yourself into a lot of trouble, so I urge you to be more certain of your own feelings and a lot more certain of the characters of the men you bring into your life before you enter into another marriage. You thought you loved Number 1, but in a few months your fickle fancy has turned to somebody else. Don't run that risk again. Be sure of yourself and reasonably sure that Number 2 won't walk out on you as Number 1 did.

Charm Friends by Telling Fortunes

Exciting Meaning in Every Card

The oracle speaks! That's you, foretelling the three main events of your beau's life for the year — and maybe weaving yourself in!

Three fateful cards hold the secret of his future, if you tell it the gipsy way, "Fortunes by Nines!" Seven of Diamonds? Lucky! He'll get money—where he least expects it! Two of Spades? Bad luck—a separation, maybe from you; but all's well, for the Seven of Hearts promises success in love!

Choosing these three fateful cards is part of the excitement and mystery. "Fortunes by Nines," like all card fortunes, has its special way to shuffle and cut.

You easily learn such tricks and the meanings of the cards, too. Most hearts are happy cards, telling of love; diamonds are the cards of worldly affairs, clubs of business. Spades are gloomy! Prize card to get is the Ten of Hearts—romance AND wealth!

In tea leaves and in the "crystal" you also can find fortune thrills!

Our 32-page booklet explains 85 tea-leaf meanings, has the meaning of every card in the deck, and some thrilling gipsy card-reading methods. Also has a horoscope for each month, fortunes in dice, the "magic crystal."

For your copy of "Fun With Fortune-Telling" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write your name, address, and the name of booklet.

The Experts Say . . . .

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, July 31—(CP).—Strategy for the wartime home front, drawn up by folk who should know:—

Kitchen Fats.—Laura Pepper of the Agricuture Department's consumer service says Canadian housewives can help beat Hitler with fats. ...Salvage edible fats for cooking and send the surplus to salvage deports so the glycerine can be extracted for use in high explosives. ...The consumer kitchen has proved that chicken and pork fats are excellent cooking agents...Don't use lamb fat for baking because it has a too-distinct flavor, but it's useful for meat dishes...Smoked pork fats are good for pastry in meat pies and sausage rolls...One cup of butter can be replaced by three-quarters of a cup of chicken fat clarified (double the amout of salt in the recipe), seven-eights of a cup of beef fat clarified, or one-half cup of suet plus one-quarter cup of liquid.

Quality.—Byrne Hope Sanders—"Mrs. Consumer" of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board—wants Canadian women to keep an eagle eye on the things they buy; not only on the price but also on the quality....If a dress remains at the same price but is reduced in quality, the price ceiling has been broken just as if the price went up. ...The prices board is anxious to hear of any violations of the quality rule.

Flour.—Apartment dwellers who have small storage space are finding the prices board regulations eliminating two-pound bags a bit of a headache...Flour is only to be sold in seven-pound parcels...The prices board recommends that neighbors co-operate and split one of the big bags among several families.

Cotton.—Even the supply of cotton isn't unlimited in wartime and Cotton Administrator J. G. Dodd urges careful laundering to conserve garments now being used...Soaking cotton overnight loosens dirt, saves time and lessens wear...Cover garments with water and use a good mild soap ..After washing rinse well—as often as three times—with the last rinse in cool water.... Squeeze dry...A small amount of starch will keep the material clean longer, and save washtub deterioration.

Coolness.—Marion Harlow of the Pensions and Health Department's nutrition services gives these hints for eating to keep cool: For appetizers use celery, carrots, thin slivers of green beans, turnips or parsnips which keep your temperature down and add to your mineral and vitamin quota...Jellied salads also are good summer foods...Remember that heat destroys Vitamin C, and heat only a small part of the tomato juice to dissolve the gelatin, then add the rest cold...The salad jellies quicker too.

Tools.—More hints for making your kitchen utensils last longer, now that they're harder to replace under wartime manufacturing regulations: Never allow enamelware to boil dry and don't pour cold water into a hot pan. Don't scrape pots with anything sharper than a wooden clothes-pin...Soapy water boiled in pans will loosen obstainate burns without cracking or chipping the surface...Dry iron cooking utensils carefully to avoid rust... Never scour tin utensils or the top thin coating of tin will wear off... After removing burned food by soaking, stand your pans in a warm place to remove all trace of moisture before putting them away.

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, August 1

THE REIGN of swift-moving and exciting events leading toward exceptional progress and accomplishments is found presaged by the rule of powerful stars and is most promising to happy relationships. It should be a time for applying the exceptional and highly stimulated faculties and forces to advanced ideas in response to original, audacious and original creative urges. It may demand sudden changes, travel, renewed plans and programs.

Those whose birthday it is may have a splendid year of progress, adventure, and romance, with change, travel, and the expression of much exceptional talent and versatility, all to culminate in financial gain, public approbation, enhanced personal popularity with gratifying social or emotional pleasures.

A child born on this day should have great versatility with much inventive genius. Applied successfully in the chosen field, it may culminate in public recognition.

Obituary

STEPHEN O'CONNOR.

The funeral of Stephen O'Connor, life-long resident of Otonabee township, who died in the early hours of Tuesday, was held from his late home, lot 23, con. 9, Thursday morning to the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

Rev. Monsignor OSullivan offered Requiem Mass and also delivered an appropriate address to the large gathering of relatives and friends who were present to assist at the services and pay tribute to one who during life had been an outstanding member of the church, a kind father to his family and a good neighbor.

Monsignor O'Sullivan spoke feelingly of the loss of Mr. O'Connor from the parish and extended his sympathy to his wife and family. Many spiritual and floral offerings presented to the family added further tribute to his passing.

Interment was made in St. Peters cemetery where Rev. James Walsh conducted the services at the graveside.

Pallbearers were James Sweeney, Daniel Corkery, Fred LaJoie, Michael Ross, Joseph Leahy and George Hynes.

Among relatives and friends from a distance who attended were Mrs. Fred Derocher of St. Catharines, Mr. Murphy and daughters Agnes and Loretta of Windsor, as well as many from Hastings, Norwood and Ennismore.

Campbellford Boys Quit Connaught

CAMPBELLFORD, July 31. — (ENS).—Two local lads who went down to Connaught Ranges with the Midland Regiment (Reserve Force) made an unscheduled appearance in town yesterday. According to the story they didn't like the life in the N.P.A.M. camp so decided to go home. However, the military authorities, who are taking the training a lot more seriously than these boys wanted to take it, were soon in touch with the pair and they were picked up by local police. When last seen they were both back in uniform and headed towards Cobourg with Constable G. Hardy.

"The Authority on Authorities"

KILL THAT VITAL ENTRY

ENTRIES to dummy are usually of vital importance if it also contains a suit or suits of fairish length which may possibly become established. Killing one of those, before the long suit gets led, may often constitute the only way to beat a contract. Enabling the declarer to work on the long suit first, before that entry is disturbed, may enable him to make a No Trump contract, and give him a chance to drop trumps and then work the success of a suit project.

North: ♠ 10 5 ♥ K 10 3 ♦ Q 10 8 ♣ A Q J 4 3

West: ♠ A J 9 8 7 4 ♥ 9 ♦ A K J ♣ 9 7 2

East: ♠ K 3 ♥ Q 8 6 5 2 ♦ 9 7 5 2 ♣ K 10

South: ♠ Q 6 2 ♥ A J 7 4 ♦ 6 4 3 ♣ 8 6 5

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	1♠	2♣	2♥
Pass	2♠	Pass	3♥
Pass	3♠	Pass	4♠

Seeing the club K in dummy after he led his A, North decided to try to prevent club ruffs, so switched to the spade 5. The K won this, the J was finessed and the A dropped the Q. The diamond A and K were followed by the J to the Q. The heart 3 was next sent to the A, last trick which the defenders could get. West was able to ruff the next heart and lead to the club K as an entry to dummy to use the diamond 9, now established as a thirteener, to get a discard of the remaining club in his own hand.

If North had sensed the danger of that club K as a late entry to dummy, and had led his club Q to the second trick, that line of play would have been impossible. If the declarer then got spades out, it would have done him no good to set up the thirteenth diamond, as there would have been no entry to dummy for using it. If he had switched plans and tried to ruff out the third club from his hand, he would not have been able to drop all the trumps. If he tried the diamond finesse, that would fail, too. In a nutshell, the knocking out of the club K on the second trick would have defeated his contract, no matter what he did.

North's response of 3-Diamonds to South's opening 1-Diamond on this deal should cause South, on his second turn, to take what action?

Plainville News

At the Plainville United Church on Sunday eleven new young members were admitted to church membership in an impressive service conducted by the pastor Rev. M. C. Fisher. These young people were Misses Audrey McKinlay, Doreen McKinlay, Audrey Wilson and Shirley Halligan, MacLean Herriott, Ronald and Murray Manley, Ross McKinlay Maurice Buttar, Earl Linton and William Cameron. Two ladies joined by certificate.

During Rev. M. C. Fisher's absence through August on holiday, Rev. Mr. Miller will be the preacher for the first two Sundays. Mr. Miller and family are spending holidays at the parsonage in Gore's Landing.

An ice-cream social, an annual event sponsored by the Young People's Society of Plainville, was held in the church shed on Monday evening, when a goodly crowd attended. This event closes the Y.P.S. meetings for the season, recommencing in one month's time, in September.

Pouliot Objects To Ralston's 'Friend' Label

OTTAWA, July 31 — (CP). — J. Francois Pouliot (Lib., Temiscouata) n the House of Common Thursday protested against being called "my honorable friend" by Defence Minister Ralston, and during the remainder of a brief interchange was referred to as "the honorable member for Temiscouata."

Mr. Pouliot rose to ask about a question which has stood in his name on the order paper since June 12. It asked information about the service, age, origin and rank of army officers at Ottawa defence headquarters.

Mr. Pouliot said the Minister had declared much work was involved in answering the quqestion. He expresed belief there should not be further delay in obtaining a reply.

Mr. Pouliot went on to speak of an editorial critical of himself which appeared in the Ottawa Journal and said it was evidently inspired by the Defence Department.

Col. Ralston rose on a point of order and said he had the right to discuss the question of whether the editorial had been inspired.

Mr. Pouliot said no other member had the right to interrupt him on a point of privilege, and Col. Ralston replied:

"My honorable friend has no right to abuse people whose names are not on the record and who are not here to defend themselves."

"I am most dissatisfied when he calls me his friend," said Mr. Pouliot.

Col. Ralston started again with "my honorable friend . . ." But Mr. Pouliot interjected "No!"

"All right," said Col. Ralston, "I withdraw the chagge. The honorable member for Temiscouata had no question of privilege. The question will be answered in the usual way and will take its turn."

The Minister said he did not regard the answer to the question as important as other work to be done, but it would be completed.

Col. Ralston said he was not responsible for the Journal editorial, and it had not been inspired by anyone in the National Defence Department.

Canadians 'Attack' With Tanks Behind Barrage

By ROSS MUNRO
Canadian Press War Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, July 31—(CP). — Broadening out battle training, all formations in the 1st Canadian Corps are practising sharp, co-ordinated attacks by tank, infantry, artillery and machine gun units.

There is nothing phoney about these exercises for they are being carried out with an actual artillery barrage laid down by more than 70 field guns and protective fire with live ammunition from Vickers machine guns.

Apart from combined operations manoeuvres with the Royal Navy, this is the big feature of current Canadian training overseas. It marks new trends in closer co-operation between the different fighting units.

One of these thundering attacks was carried out by the Ontario Tank Battalion, the Royal Winnipeg Rifles, the Regina Rifles, the Canadian Scottish from Victoria and machine gunners of the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa. It was watched by Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, corps commander, and Maj.-Gen. C. B. Price, a divisional commander, and 200 officers.

The spectators stood on a high hill overlooking a valley and watched the attack like a Martian football game in the green fields below.

At zero hour, the infantry's three-inch mortars opened up on targets hundreds of yards away. The bursting mortar bombs churned up the brown earth and sent clouds of dust whirling into the wind. Squadrons of Churchill tanks broke from cover in a forest with roaring engines and clattered forward.

Highlanders in Barley

From a barley field, where the Cameron Highlanders were hidden, machine guns spurted lead along the front of the attack covering the advance.

Behind the tanks, the Regina Rifles and the Royal Winnipeg Rifles fanned over the fields and through the groves of trees. The men were running to keep up with the tanks.

Smoke bombs were pumped out by the mortars far ahead of the tanks and infantry, screening them adequately as they moved over open ground.

The troops were being given the feel of battle in preliminary stages but the real innoculation came when the artillery opened up. From a couple of miles behind the advancing force, the field guns fired in unison and thunder rumbled up the valley.

Over the heads of the spectators, shells screamed and burst away out in front. High explosives tore acres of land apart and great billows of brown and grey smoke reared in the air. The artillery added smoke shells and broad blankets of smoke stretched along the valley.

A few minutes after the heavy artillery barrage lifted, the Churchill tanks crashed over the shelled area, which was an objective, and the infantry was close behind them. White Verey flares slowly arched in the sky—the success signal from the forward elements.

Another objective was a mile farther on, and the Canadian Scottish, supported by the tanks, pushing through the other two infantry battalions and under another resounding artillery barrage, went through their attack.

Bren gun carriers followed the leading units and over all was the sound of heavy artillery and machine gun fire and the patterns of smoke screens.

Several times the infantry commanders called for artillery fire on special targets and the guns blasted them to pieces within a few minutes.

As the tanks and infantry consolidated, anti-tank guns and light anti-aircraft guns rolled forward to help the forward Canucks maintain their gains.

Trotting Races Purses Raised

CAMPBELLFORD, July 31. — (ENS).—Directors of the Seymour Agricultural Society have begun final organization work for their annual fall exhibition to be held in Campbellford and at a special meeting held in the township council chamber they went over the prize list, dividing up the special prizes in various classes. President W. A. Hume presided for the meeting and he saw little need for any substantial changes in the list. However one thing they did which is of interest to those who will enter in the traditional trotting races, was to raise the total purse from $200 to $250. Secretary G. G. Stephens read a communication from the Department of Agriculture in which it was suggested that the prizes in various sheep classes should be increased this year as a means of creating greater interest in this branch of farming and thus encourage sheep raising. Looking over their list of special prizes the Society decided they were already making this section attractive enough to the showman.

Another letter told members that the judge for the oat crop compeition would be in this vicinity in the near future. It was recalled that Charles Hutcheon of Seymour East won the contest in 1941. There are ten entries this year which is the same number as a year ago.

Judge Calls Doctors T.B. Mothers' Rights

CHICAGO, July 31 (AP)—A group of physicians was called in by the Superior Court today to pass upon a tubercular mother's right to see her child.

Judge John F. Bolton wants the doctors to help him decide whether monthly visits to the Cook County Hospital's tuberculosis ward would endanger the child's health, and whether the visits would aid the mother's recovery.

Principals in the usual case are Leroy Ritzmann, a defence worker in Grand Rapids, Mich.; his estranged wife, Marguerite, 27; and their three-year-old daughter, Florence May.

The little girl is living with Ritzmann pending trial of his wife's separate maintenance suit. Claiming he was afraid his daughter might contract tuberculosis, Ritzmann has asked the court to modify an order permitting the child to see her mother once a month.

The hearings will be resumed next Friday.

Today's salesman WORKS FOR CANADA...

THE COMMERCIAL TRAVELLER today is doing a full time job for Canada. In days of peace his major job was the selling of goods. Now, it is his responsibility to see that wartime regulations and restrictions are understood and efficiently carried out.

His wide experience helps retailers function efficiently under trying conditions. His aid in the equitable distribution of rationed goods is invaluable and a definite insurance against shortages in isolated and rural areas and a check to panic buying and hoarding.

His keen judgment is at the disposal of the purchasing agents of rapidly expanding plants. He devotes much time to the problems of conservation so that the life of existing equipment may be prolonged and replacements curtailed. His ingenuity in suggesting alternatives for non-available standard materials averts many a production crisis.

Yes, the salesman today works for Canada, shepherding his territory so that all may share alike in the goods that are available, interpreting government regulations and policies from one end of the Dominion to the other.

Private Trucking Forbidden Over 35 Mi. After Nov. 1 Except By Special Permit

Move To Conserve Available Equipment To Hit When Services Available Outside The 35-Mile Ring—Order Names On

OTTAWA, Aug. 1—(CP).—In a move to conserve available trucking equipment, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board ruled today that no private truck or trailer may operate more than 35 miles from its registered address without a special permit after November 1.

After August 1, Services Administrator James Stewart said, every vehicle affected by the order must have "attached, or painted on both sides of the body," letters and figures of not less than one inch in height indicating the name of the owner and the registered address of the machine.

Summing up the provisions of the order and its exemptions, Services Administrator James Stewart said:

"Generally speaking, permits to operate beyond the 35-mile limit will not be issued where it appears that there are public transportation facilities available which are capable of handling the movement and the private vehicle owner is unable to satisfy us that capacity or near-capacity load will be carried both ways."

Some Exemptions.

Exempt from the order are trucks or trailers registered or licensed by any province as a public vehicle opeating for hire August 1; vehicles owned or operated by the Dominion Government, any province or municipality; and such "essential services" as ambulances, trucks used for repairing disabled motor vehicles fire fighting services, vehicles used for sanitation and health purposes, civilian defence, police services and transportation of tools and equipment for repairing farm implements, boilers, boring machinery, threshing machinery grain elevators or manufacturing plants.

The exemption also apiles to vehicles whose primary carrying capacity is occupied by mounted machinery or by mounted tanks designed to carry bulk liquids, and to vehicles owned and operated by a public utility used exclusively in services essential to its construction and maintenance.

Farmers using trucks or trailers for transporting agriculture commodities from or two a farm are not subject to the 35-mile restriction. Vehicles used only in work necessary for highway construction or maintenance, the transportation of pulpwood and other lumber and lumbering equipment to the site of logging operations are not restricted, although this exemption does not apply to transport of finished or semi-finished lumber in a private commercial vehicle.

Requests or permits to operate more than 35 miles must be filed before September 30.

Patrols Keeping It Hot For Subs In St. Lawrence

By HAROLD FREEMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ABOARD A CANADIAN WARSHIP, Aug. 1.—(CP)—A heavy concentration of anti-submarine ships is operating in the St. Lawrence area, waging relentless warfare against U-boats trying to cut the River supply line to the sea.

Corvettes and little Fairmiles combine with the hitherto "hush-hush" bangor-class vessels to make submarine attacks highly dangerous propositions.

Naval men aboard these ships are confident that they can maintain the upper hand in the "Battle of the St. Lawrence," but they are quick to warn that further sinkings this summer are quite possible, even probable although the price the enemy will pay for such sinkings is likely to be a high one.

Japs Widening Grip In Solomons

Allied Headquarters, Australia, Aug. 1 —(CP)—The Japanese have extended their hold on the Solomon Islands east of New Guinea by establishing themselves on Guadalcanal Island, a suitable site for air bases, Allied Headquarters reported today.

The disclosure was made in a communique relating that Japanese installations at Kukum on the north shore of the island were attacked yesterday by Allied planes which also damaged a large enemy cargo ship offshore.

Other bombers operating far to the northwest attacked and "probably hit" a Japanese cruiser in the Banda Sea south of Amboina in the Dutch East Indies, the bulletin said.

The Japanese began moving into Guadalcanal about six weeks ago, apparently with the intention of

10,000 Jap Troops Massed On Three Aleutian Isles

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 (AP)—Harassed Japanese forces on three western islands of the Aleutians and in earby waters have been estimated at 10,000 men by an American naval official who indciated reports of enemy landings on the Pribilof Islands were unfounded.

About 5,000 Japs have landed on the islands of Attu, Kiska and Agattu of the Aleutian group, North Pacific tip of American territory and gateway to Alaska, the navy spokesman declared.

An equal enemy force probably is aboard warships and transports in the area, he said.

The navy spokesman, who declined to be quoted by name, said last night that aerial reconnaissance so far had failed to disclose any enemy landings on the undefended Pribilofs, 250 miles northwest of Dutch Harbor.

"We aren't in a position to say that they aren't there, but have no evidence that they are," he said, adding that American naval fliers had "seen no Japs" during observation trips over the Pribilof Islands.

Delegate Anthony Dimond of Alaska had reported receiving 'slight circumstantial evidence' of Japanese activity in the Pribilof Islands, the world's richest sealing grounds.

Army and navy aircraft have bombed Japanese land installations on the three occupied islands repeatedly, the naval spokesman said, but results have not been determined. American planes and submarines have sunk eight Jap ships and damaged 10, one of them so badly it probably went to the bottom.

Agattu Seized in July.

Kiska, object of the most intensive bombing in the Aleutian area, and Attu were seized by the Japs early in June. Agattu was occupied early last month.

The main Japanese force at Kiska is 585 miles west of Dutch Harbor, which the enemy bombed June 3 and 4. A move by the Japs into the Pribilofs, reported here for some time, not only would bring the enemy much closer to the Alaskan mainland but would putsthem in a strategic position for a flanking attack on Dutch harbor.

Many officials questioned, however, whether the Priblofs could be used for very extensive sea and air operations. The four rugged Bering Sea islands—St. Paul, St. George, Otter and walrus—have no harbors. Naviation experts at the Navy Department saiad he Bering Sea waters afforded anchorage only when the wind was blowing from the land.

Several hundred inhabitants of the two main islands, St. Paul and St. George, were removed several weeks ago.

Stalemate In Alemein Bottleneck Till One Side Gains Definite Edge

Writeed For The Canadian Press
By Major.-Gen. Sir Charles Gwynn

LONDON, Aug. 1.—(CP Cable.)—In the recent fighting in North Africa, Field Marshal Erwin Rommel has shown a disinclination to rely on Ialitan troops even to hold ground and his German forces have been used for static defence as well as for counter-attacks.

This fact, with the labor he is expending consolidating his positions, seem to indicate he has no immediate intention of resuming his offensive. For such a move he would husband his German troops.

The comparatively short width of the El Alemein bottleneck gives little scope for armed manoeuvre. Whichever side attempts a major offensive almost certainly will require absolute superiority in numerical strength as well as in armor.

A superiority in total strength would be necessary to maintain he momentum of an attack. The defences would not be dispersed sufficiently along the front to allow the attackers to exploit fully their usual advantage of being able to concentrate superior forces at selected points.

The problem of ensuring reserves for defences being available at the point of attack hardly arises when the front is short and deliberate methods are necessary for any offensive action on such a line. There would seem, therefore, to be evry prospect of a stalemate as far as the question of major operations is concerned.

Gen. Auchinleck's Policy.

Gen Sir Claude Auchinleck's attacks along his entire front which started the night of July 21 and continued with fierce fighting during the two following days gained a little ground and some points captured were lost to Axis counter-attacks.

As far as is known, the operations had only limited objectives and were designed to obtain tactical points for which Rommel would be obliged to fight, thus disturbing the recuperation of the German troops and entailing the expenditure of reinforcements of men and material which Rommel presumably was trying to accumlate for a renewed offensive.

The strategical object of the attacks would seem to be attrition and the tactical object is improvement of the British position for still further attacks.

A lull of four days followed while Rommel worked hard improving his defences. Then Gen. Auchinleck moved forward again in the northern sector though the attack seems to have been in the nature of a large-scale raid. It was directed against small but dominating features which often are much less difficult to capture than to hold.

Such points, if left undisturbed, are a great help for observation purposes but unless they can be well supported from the surrounding ground are apt to be weak, rather than strong, points for they invite great concentrataions of artillery fire covering infantry attacks.

If captured, they offer some facilities for recapture by counter-attacks, unless the attack can be pushed and consolidated well beyond them.

Crisis in Russia.

The Russian situation is more acutely disturbing than that in Egypt and much depends upon the degree of exhaustion of the German effort.

Fighting in the Donetz Basin and Rostov evidently has been heavy, and the German success is undeniable. Still, if that were the only danger point the distances from it to further objectives of vital importance would be so great that there would be a good chance that German momentum would be lost before they could be attained.

The chief fear is that Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's armies on his left flank must have been badly mauled in their struggles. Reinforcement is difficult. The naval base of Novorossisk is threatened, if not by land at least by air attack.

At Tsmylylansk there seems to be no doubt but that the Germans have gained a substantial footing across the river although many attempts to widen the front have failed and have been very costly. The bridgehead that has been es-

Battle Nears Taganrog Gulf Beaches

Reds Still Hold Own Before Stalingrad Say Nazi Push Eases

By EDDY GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 1.—(AP).—German divisions fanned out against Red army defences below the Lower Don today, reaching toward the Azov Sea coast and pressing ever deeper into the West Caucasus, but Soviet soldiers defending the river bend before Stalingrad were reported holding their own and counter-attacking.

Bloody hand-to-hand engagements marked some of the battles southwest, south and southeast of Bataisk—itself 15 miles from Rostov—and Nazi pressure forced further Russian withdrawals.

Russian shore batteries and marines were reported in action southwest of Bataisk, indicating the invaders were within striking distance of the southern beaches on the Gulf of Taganrog if not the Azov shores.

Soviet observers insisted that German armored strength had been so depleted as to force another revision of Nazi offensive strategy and the newspaper Red Star declared editorially that "the Red army has no right to retreat any longer."

"The people will never forgive the army for a further retreat," the newspaper said, and pictured the nation's defences as a great chain with no link weakening.

Acres of Wheat Flattened.

Mechanized equipment crushed hundreds of acres of wheat and the flames scarred the countryside in the widening battle for Caucasian oil, railways and seaports. Cossack cavalrymen were reported striking savagely from the Old Hills, or the Kurgans, where warriors of past centuries are buried.

North-eastward, an area miles in depth and the width of the Don elbow, was cut by tanks as Red Army men with strong air support, were reported holding the Germans from the western bank of the river with a fury that in some sectors forced the invaders back.

The Soviet Information Bureau said Soviet armored detachments destroyed the headquarters of two Nazi forces how large was not set forth) and killed at least 1,500 men.

(A Berlin broadcast said strong Nazi fighter, dive bomber and heavy bomber squadrons attacked Red Army forces "cut off from retreat across the Don" at Kalach, 50 miles west of Stalingrad, and split them into various groups.)

6 Mines At Once

MOSCOW, Aug. 1—(AP)—A six-barreled German mortar was reported today to have made its debut on the Bryansk front.

The Soviet Information Bureau said one of these mortars, presumably intended to lay down a pattern of six mines where the standard would hurl but one at a time, was among damaged and destroyed Nazi equipment found by Red army men after a four-day battle southwest of Moscow in which they killed about 300 Germans.

Cairo Bombed 2nd Time; Little Fighting

CAIRO, Aug. 1—(AP). — The Cairo area was bombed last night, the second time this week, and five persons were killed and 12 injured, it was announced today.

The several bombs that fell, however, caused only slight damage.

Warnings also were sounded in Alexandria and the Suez Canal area and several provinces of Upper and Lower Egypt.

Dust storms reduced land activity on the El Alamein front to a minimum yesterday but British patrols were active in all sectors the preceding night and there were occasional artillery duels in some areas, British headquarters reported today.

The storms also hindered aerial activity although British fighter bombers attacked an enemy headquarters and blasted at transport vehicles, the bulletin said.

Three Axis planes were shot down last night during light raids on the Alexandria and Cairo areas. Another was shot down over Malta, the communique declared.

Harbors Well Blasted.

Numerous Axis harbor facilities in several areas of the Middle East war zone as well as Axis Mediterranean convoys were targets of the United States Army Air Force bombers during the week ending to-day according to an announcement.

Included in the operations was a daylight attack on a large transport under the convoy of seven destroyers and one cruiser off Southern Greece. At least one bomber scored hits on the transport.

U.S. bombers set many medium fires in the Tobruk dock area earlier in the week. One blaze which spread over a large area was believed to have been a gasoline storage dump.

Several ships were hit in a raid on Suda Bay in Crete.

"Repair facilities in Eritrea are beginning to show results," the comunique said. "Many planes are now flying again after being wrecked in operations."

The United States started erecting a vast supply and repair base in Eritrea many months ago.

Hundreds of Thousands Of Fire Bombs; 30 Bombers Lost

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 1--(CP). — The Air Ministry announced today that the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. dropped 150 two-ton bombs and "hundreds of thousands" of incendiaries on Duesseldorf in 50 minutes last night.

"It was probably the most concentrated attack the bomber command has yet made," an Air Ministry news service bulletin stated, and reconnaissance confirmed that "many fires" still were burning at 11 a.m. today.

At least two Canadian squadrons were engaged. Other Canadians took part as members of R.A.F. squadrons, Flying Lancasters loaded with incendiaries and Britain's devastating 4,000-pound bombs.

There was no suggestion that this was another 1,000-plane operation but an official R.C.A.F. statement said "a very strong force" was employed.

On the basis of average losses and the Air Ministry announcement that 30 bombers are missing, it was indicated that 600 planes were involved.

They streamed across the Channel through the bright light of the moon's last quarter for better than an hour—then streamed back to their home dromes.

One fighter also was lost during the night, in which operations in northern France and the low countries.

The raids were carried out in good weather, a communique said, and apparently were highly successful.

Hun Thoroughness Big Supply Secret

Strip Countries As They Go—Shortage Of Gas Telling On Perfect Feeder Setup

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The amazing efficiency of the German military supply system, which permits of the blitz tempo in such far-reaching operations as the present great offensive deep in Russia, has brought me requests for an explanation of the Nazi secret.

Well, there really isn't much secret about it. First off, the thoroughness on which efficiency must be based is a racial characteristic of the Germans. Then the Prussians are a militaristic people who from the time they can walk are trained in the art of making war. Last but not least, barring the brief life of the republic after the last war, the Germans long have been under dictatorial rule, and it has been demonstrated that absolutism often can produce efficiency, because there's only one cook to spoil the broth.

Hitler spent years of intensive preparation for this war. He did little else from the time he came to power in 1933 until he lashed out at Poland in 1939. Every ounce of national effort was directed to this end. To illustrate:

My colleague, Alvin Steinkopf, who has just returned home from internment in Germany after many years in Europe as Associated Press correspondent, tells me that the Nazis showed him some of their army food reserves when the Polish campaign began. Colossal supplies had been amassed. In Berlin, for example, great halls and even half a dozen skating rinks were filled with wheat. There were similar sights throughout the Reich.

As to gasoline, Steinkopf was informed that every can in Germany was full, and there were instances of trans of tank-cars being held up for lack of storage facilities.

Examples of the meticulous care with which the Germans prepared every move would fill a library. For instance, not only were their troops given fiercely rigorous physical training to make them hard as nails for campaigning, but they even rehearsed difficult military operations which they were to undertake against the enemy. Thus fortifications in Czecho-Slovakia's Sudetenland served to represent the French Maginot Line for Nazi storm troops to experiment on.

The supply system has been a marvel of perfection, though it has deteriorated because of lack of gasoline for highway and air transport. But at the beginning of the war it was as near perfect as things come.

The Fuehrer has pursued the scheme of living off the invaded countries so far as possible. He has bled them white, and forced countless thousands to die of starvation.

But efficiency can't continually pull rabbits out of an empty hat. Hitler has been sowing dragon's teeth, and tomorrow armed men will spring up to destroy him.

Yanks Fix Japs At Hengyang

Down 9 Of 29 Raiders Over 'Drome Without Loss

CHUNGKING, Aug. 1—(AP). — United States army pilots tore into a formation of 29 Japanese Zero planes over Hengyang airdrome yesterday and shot down nine in a fierce air battle without losing a single pilot, Lt.-Gen. Joseph Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

A 10th Japanese plane was reported damaged and was believed to have crashed, although its destruction was not officially confirmed.

The engagement was described as the biggest aerial battle in this theatre since "Flying Tigers" of the American volunteer group were absorbed by the U.S. Army Air Force on July 4.

It brought to 17 the number of planes lost by the Japanese in attempts to raid the Hunan Province airdrome during the past two days.

Four of nine Japanese bombers which approached the airfield before daylight Thursday were shot down by American fighters and four Zero fighters were destroyed later in the day.

The night air battle was described as "particularly noteworthy." It was the first time any Japanese planes had been shot down over China at night.

Refugee Grand Duchess Dies

Mraie Anne, 81 Of Luxembourg, Passes In N. York

NEW YORK, August 1 — (AP)—The Dowager Grand Duchess Marie Anne of Luxembourg, 81, who fled her tiny land between Germany and France as Nazi armored forces swarmed over it in May, 1940, died at Doctors Hospital last night.

She had been seriously ill for five weeks after an abdominal operation.

Two of her five living daughters, the Grand Duchess Charlotte and the Princess of Scharzenberg, were with her when she died. The Grand Duchess Charlotte is the present ruler of the Duchy, an area of 999 square miles with a population of about 300,000, and heads the government in London.

The daughter of King Don Miguel of Portugal, she married the Grand Duke William IV, of Luxembourg in 1893. The Grand Duke died in 1912 and since that time, she had led a retiring life in Luxembourg, devoting herself to her daughters.

One of her daughters, Marie-Adelaide, abdirated as Grand Duchess of Luxembourg in 1919 and the Grand Duchess Charlotte succeeded her. Marie-Adelaide died in 1924.

Adjournment until Jan. 27 was confidently expected to-day, after good progress yesterday when the members in a long session discussed communists and Indians, judges and prospectors, wheat acreage reduction and the responsibilities of future generations.

Justice, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, national revenue and mines and resources departmental estimates were approved and the income war tax bill was given third reading.

When the House rose just after midnight, Resources Minister Crerar said it was hoped the order paper would be cleared this afternoon.

The sitting was extended past the usual hour of adjournment at 11 p.m. as members debated the care of Indians and soldier settler problems under the Mines and Re-

Ira Dundas Moved To Pumping Station

Friends of Ira Dundas will be interested in his appointment to a vacancy in the operating staff of the waterworks pumping station by the Utilities Commission Friday. His transfer from the Utilities outdoor maintenance and construction crew does not take effect until September 1.

Mr. Dundas is well known to the sports fraternity of Peterborough as one of the stars of the lacrosse team of recent years. He also played a pretty fair game of hockey.

In recommending Mr. Dundas for this position at the waterworks, R. L. Dobbin, manager of the Utilities, said he had proved himself a reliable and industrious employee, and had expressed a desire to accept the change when it was suggested to him. He is a married man and will occupy one of the Commission's houses north of the pumping station.

Mr. Dundas was given a low "C" physical rating some time ago, partly on account of what athletes refer to as a "bad" knee, probably a disability from his long years in two comparatively rough games. Those days of his are now definitely ended, and in fact have been since the war extinguished lacrosse, dispersing the smart team of five or six years ago.

The Stars Say

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE
For Tuesday, August 4.

This should be a very promising day, judging by the benefic transits of the moon and the mutual aspects as well. There should be much accomplished in the direction of attaining cherished goals and desires, with opportunities for increasing the finances and credit and enhancing personal prestige and popularity. However, there may be pitfals to guard against.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a productive and pleasant year in which all business as well as personal associations prove profitable as well as happpy, providing there are no long chances taken.

A child born on this day should be versatile and efficient with lofty ambitions, although it may be led into dubious transactions.

Army Driver Guilty Of Reckless Driving

COBOURG, Aug. 1—(ENS).—Appearing in court on a charge of reckless driving, Corporal Ruby H. Pearson pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs.

She was arrested Thursday night by Constable T. Houghton, as a result of his investigation of an accident occurring at William and King street. She was the driver of an army station wagon and was accompanied by Sergeant A. Jewitt and Pte. E. Smith, Veterans' Guard, Peterborough. The two men were on a recruiting mission and had visited Bowmanville and Port Hope, and were being driven by Cpl. Pearson.

According to police, a car driven by J. Erskine turned off Ontario street on to William to make the turn on King, when it met in collision with the army vehicle driven by the accused. Damage to the light truck consisted of a bent right rear fender. The car was slightly damaged. Corporal Pearson was taken to the police office and later locked up.

How War Has Affected Business Is Discussed By Kiwanis Club

The Kiwanians opened a new series of talks on Friday about the problems that the war has created for the different business firms, and Kiwanian Charles Saunders led off with the problems that have arisen in the retail business since the start of the war. During the talk considerable discussion and questioning took place, and it is hoped that from the information presented in this way that the men will come to have a broad view of the whole situation.

One thing that has hit everyone is the increased number of forms that must be filled out all the time," Mr. Saunders said. "But the people in the retail business have received their instructions not to hedge, but to obey orders to the very best of their ability, and although it is very difficult to check on anyone who might veer from the law a little, nearly all the business men and consumers made things easy by being very honest and playing the game."

Thought Impossible.

He pointed out that with the price ceiling, Canada had done something that most people had thought was impossible, particularly in the United States. Not only has it been made work but on the whole it has worked quite successfully. It does mean that the business man must be on his toes, because of the changing prices and rules, and a man must be very conversant with his stock to handle the changes that are being made almost daily.

"One thing that is very difficult to explain to the consumer is that five different stores almost next to each other may be selling the same article at a diferent price. The price variance was sealed at the storeowner's price, and at the time the ceiling went on, these articles were varying in price at different places. There are so many changes about price rulings, that it is utterly impossible for the customers to keep up with the situation."

The far-seeing idea of the legislators of having the charge accounts paid quickly with the idea of reducing the purchasing power of the public has meant that the charge accounts are turning over much more quickly and so the firms have not as big an investment on the charge accounts in the books, Mr. Saunders said.

"In the very near future Mrs. Peterborough will have to get used to seeing herself on the street, because the patterns for the cloth have been reduced by a third, the same is true of the designs in dresses and the dress patterns, too.

The speaker was introduced by L. J. Pettit, who explained about the new series and the vote of thanks was moved by Milf Hardill.

Dr. C. B. Waite made an appeal to the Kiwanis members on behalf of the Blood Donors Clinic to try and locatee more people who would be willing to give tranafusions to help Canadian soldiers.

tablished may, however, be of sufficient extent to provide a base for a drive on the Stalingrad-Novorossisk railway which passes nearby, and which is of vital importance as a line of communication for Timoshenko's forces south of the Don.

The bridgehead moreover, will engage so large a proportion of Timoshenko's men that it is bound to facilitate further crossings. Here the situation is especially critical.

At the Don elbow near Stalingrad the fighting apparently is still on the right bank of the Don. No German claim to have crossed the river has been made. It seems probable that the Russians at this point have been strongly reinforced and it is possible that the Germans on this flank of their great drive may be experiencing difficulties in maintaining a communications system adequate for the needs of such a powerful force.

It is evident, however, that Stalingrad and the traffic on the Volga must now be subject to air attacks. On the whole, however, the situation at this point doesn't appear as critical as a Tsimlyansk.

The sum total of the German effort on all these points must be immense but only in the Rostov area is there any indication that the Russian power of resistance is approaching the breaking point.

Glancing Back 25 Years

The whole weight of the British forces under the command of Sir Douglas Haig was thrown against the German legions in Belgium July 31, 1917. Known as the third battle of Ypres, this drive lasted until mid-November when it was climaxed by the Canadians in the costly but triumphant battle for Passchendaele.

The campaign little in territory but secured domination of part of the Flanders Plain and cut deep into enemy manpower while the French to the south were in process of reorganization under their new commander, Robert Nivelle.

Famed Canadian Ace Missing

LONDON, Aug. 1.—(CP Cable.)— London evening paper to-day carried a report issued by the Press Association that Wing Cmdr. John (Moose) Fulton, of Kamloops, B.C., leader of one of the best known Canadian bomber squadrons, is missing.

It is not not known what happened to him. He was seen heading for home after the big raid on Hamburg last Tuesday night when the opposition was exceedingy heavy and the weather bad. He had competed his mission of slapping bomb loads on the vital target assigned him.

Fulton was idolized by his squadron. On his last flight he flew his pet Wellington bomber which once before he had nursed to its base after it was badly damaged, and crash-landed without injury to any of the crew.

One R.C.A.F. official said: 'If he didn't come back it couldnt have been his fault. 'If the aircraft had an ounce of flight left in it, Moose would have brought it close enough to England to keep it from falling into the hands of the enemy.'

U.S. Tank Crews Ready

LONDON, Aug. 1—(CP).—United States army tank crews are training only a few miles behind the fighting front in Egypt preparing for actio alongside the British 8th Army, Reuters news agency reported today from 'somewhere in Egypt.'

The Americans from all sections of the United States will use American tanks which the British forces have found to be more than a match for German armor, Reuters said.

300 French Freed

BERLIN, (From German Broadcasts), Aug. 1.—(AP).—A group of 300 French war prisoners, released from German prison camps, arrived in Paris yesterday and 200 prisoners passed through the French metropolis in their way to unoccupied France, the Berlin radio reported to-day. One thousand French workers, men and women, were reported to have left Paris in the past several days to work in Germany.

Discusses Cargo Planes

Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker world war 1 air hero, is shown as he appeared before the senate committee investigating the use of cargo-carrying planes to transport men and material to the farflung battlefronts of the globe. In answer to the proposition of Henry J. Kaiser, west coast shipbuilder, who intends to convert his shipyards to the building of cargo planes, Rickenbacker threw a wet blanket on the idea when he stated that shipbuilders should build ships and plane builders should build planes. Rickenbacker also stressed the need for more air mechanics.

4-Months-Old Pullet Laying Gore's Landing

GORE'S LANDING, August 1—(ENS) — A four-months-old pullet with youthful ambition to become a champion hen laid her second egg this week in Mrs. Harry Hastings' chicken house. Not content with this early start in laying eggs, this pullet's egg, which was the size of an ordinary hen's egg, contained three fully-formed yolks. Mrs. Hastings had raised this chicken from an incubator and the pullet was one of the first group to be hatched this spring.

MORE ABOUT—Patrols Keeping

The five merchant ships definitely torpedoed so far this summer in the River and Gulf areas represent less than three-quarters of one per cent of the ships that have reached their destinations in safety, and the protective force now in operation gives a pretty good indication that a decrease in this "casualty rate" is more likely than an increase.

Nevertheless, a complete elimination of losses is considered an improbability.

Advent of the Bangor-class ships has increased the odds against the submarines, for the Bangors are anti-sub ships of the highest order, with the latest equipment designed specially for such work.

Fairmiles Look Like Tubs.

The fairmiles are the little fellows of the convoy job, sleek, speedy river craft usually in command of eager young officers whose enthusiasm combines with the experience of the men on the senior ships—the Corvettes and Bangors—to make an efficient combination.

There's just one trouble with the Fairmiles— their startling resemblance to submarines in certain light conditions. Many a reported submarine location turned in by airplane pilots or shore watchers has been traced back to a Fairmile half-buried by rough seas.

Every once in a while a ship gets a chance to go out on an offensive patrol. Then she operates alone, sweeping the water for a contact,' always hunting.

During my stay aboard this vessel we took part in two convoy jobs and did one offensive sweep. There was no doubt as to which the crew preferred.

'Attack, attack, attack,' is the slogan of the captain and it is the doctrine his officers and crew like best. He was a Royal Navy commander in the First Great War who gave up a $22,000 a year shipping executive's job in New York and accepted a lieutenants rank to get back to sea.

Quints In Ireland

Dublin, Aug. 1 (CP)

THREE of the quintuplets born yesterday to Mrs. Thomas Leydon of Breaghwy in County Sligo were reported "doing well" today although each weighs only three pounds or less. The other two—both girls—died shortly after birth.

The Irish Red Cross sent doctors and nurses to the farmhouse where the quintuplets were born to assist the attending physician. The surviving children—two boys and a girl—will be removed to a Dublin hospital.

The Leydons have three other children, the youngest two years old.

After Second Jap Raid On Dutch Harbor

U.S. soldiers and marines battle a fire set by Japanese bombing planes in the second Nipponese raid on Dutch Harbor naval base. Damage was slight, only a few buildings being destroyed and an old boat used as a barracks hit.

Christ's Wonderful Claim Caused A Bitter Division

REV. E. R. JAMES

I have power to lay down My life and I have power to take it again. This commandment I have received of My Father.—St John 10:18.

"He that wonders shall reign" is a traditional saying of Our Lord's not found in the Gospels. It is a profound truth. Christians who read the Gospels shall never forget it. This tenth chapter of St. John contains the wonderful statement of the Good Shepherd laying down His life for His sheep. You have read it often But have you been startled and amazed when you read this extraordinary claim of the Carpenter of Nazareth: 'I have power to lay down My life and I have power to take it again?' It caused a bitter division among His hearers. It is one of 'His hard sayings.'

There is no other passage in which Our Lords human and divine personality is more clearly revealed. Men have always stumbled at it for He claims to have power to rise from the dead His disciples knew that His teachings gave great offense to the ecclesiastical authorities. The chief Priests and Pharisees were determined to put Him to death as a dangerous teacher. When He spake of His laying down His life for His sheep His disciples were filled with pain at the thought of His departure and separation. Yet He goes on to make the still greater claim that His death is not only a voluntary sacrifice: 'No man taketh My life from Me, but I lay it down of Myself'—but that He has power in Himself to rise from the dead.

Over and over again in the Epistles of St. Paul and St Peter the statement is clearly and definitely made that God the Father raised Jesus Christ from the dead. Yet when we read the Gospels we find Our Lord stating that His resurrection is an act distinctly His own. 'The third day He shall rise again' are His own words as recorded by St Mark and St. Luke. Moreover in His famous visit to the Temple when He cleansed its courts of the markets and money changers Our Lord utters the puzzle, which His enemies deliberately misinterpreted 'Destroy this Temple and in three days I shall raise it again.' 'He spake of the Temple of His Body' is the inspired writers explanation. So we see that both at the beginning and towards the close of His ministry He makes the same claim, 'I have power to take My life again.'

An apparent contradiction. The explanation is that Our Lord is truly the Son of God and His will was in perfect union with His Father's. Constantly He reminds us of His single princpile of His Life: 'I am come to do the will of Him that sent Me.' His words and acts are the Fathers words and acts. The union between the Father and the Son is so complete that Our Lord claims that 'as the Father has life in Himself so hath He given to the Son to have life in Himself. His life is the Father's life; His power is the Father's power. What the Father does He does It is based on Our Lord's tremendous claim: 'I and the Father are one.'

We have an apparent contradiction in the Ascension of Our Lord. In one Scripture Our Lord says: 'I ascend unto My Father and to your Father.' He ascends by His own act and right as the perfect Son of Man and the Son of God. 'He entered in once for all into the Holy Place, even Heaven itself to appear before the Face of God for us. He sat down at the right Hand of God.' In other Scriptures we read: 'He was taken up into Heaven. God hath highly exalted Him. In these passages we see the mystery of the union of the Father and the Son, that Jesus Christ is perfect God as well as perfect Man and that His resurrection is His own act.

I am He that liveth and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for evermore, amen.

Group Honors Leader

MILLBROOK, Aug. 1—(ENS). — A picnic, attended by approximately sixty guests ,and featured by pure enjoyment from start to finish, for which Mrs. Percy Stinson extended the hospitality of her home, Centre street ,on Thursday, at 3.30 p.m., brought to a happy climax the Home Reserve Nursing classes carried on locally for the past three months, under the capable leadership of Mrs. Lloyd J. Byam, Reg.N.

Rev. A. L. Sisco, B.D., president of the local branch of the Red Cross, acted as chairman, emphasizing the regular attendance at the nursing classes, for which over seventy students had been enrolled, and later presenting certificates to 59 who had qualified for this reward. Mrs. Byam's excellen qualifications for leadership were mentioned with keen appreciation, together with the fact that she had spared herself neither time nor trouble, for lectures and demonstrations, in order to make the course the success it turned out to be.

Assisting Mrs. Byam with three of the lectures and demonstrations had been her sister, Mrs. (Dr.) Greico (Viola Cardwell), from New York, and this contribution was also given its well-deserved tribute of gratitude since Mrs. Grieco was home after at least three years of absence as head of the public health nursing department in Beirut, Syria, and was on her honeymoon. As guest speaker for the afternoon, Mrs. Grieco gave a travel talk, vividly portraying scenes from her field of service in Beirut, interrupted by the outbreak of war, and of the trip home which occupied more than three months and included stops at many points of interest in the Holy Land, as well as in South Africa, Venezuela, and other places in South America, before New York was finally reached.

A highlight of the picnic was arrived at when the chairman invited Mrs. Byam and her sister to come forward the members of the nursing classes showing their appreciation of their instructors by presenting the former with a handsome walnut table, with magazine rack at either end, and Mrs. Greico with dainty, embroidered, pillow cases, Mrs. H. A. Kerr making an informal address, and the gifts being offered by Dorothy Armstrong and Aileen Argue.

Overtaken quite evidently by surprise, the recipients of the girts expressed their gratitude briefly and feelingly, and shortly after adjournment was made to the tea tables for the abundant picnic supper, the committee in charge including the hostess, Mrs. Ross Edmunds, and Mrs. J. W. Hilton.

The chairman pointed out the debt the nursing classes owed to Dr. Moffatt of Peterborough, Dr. M. E. Hobbs, Dr. H. A. Turner, and Dr. J. W. Wright who gave, in turn, the opening lectures of the course, presenting a wealth of material in practical and instructive form.

Mrs. Greico left on Friday morning to join her husband in New York where they will carry on their professional career together, Mrs. Byam accompanying her sister as far as Toronto. A visit with their father, Mr. R. Cardwell, Toronto, will be made before going on to the American city.

Air Cadet Unit In Havelock

HAVELOCK, Aug. 1 — (ENS) — Douglas Boyd, Toronto, the organizer for air cadet units, was present at a meeting here this week, to discuss the formation of a squadron and explained its functions. Those present were Chairman Ernie Leeson and Messrs. Lancaster, Grayling, Lade, Holdcroft, Ferguson, Hubbel, McKenzie and the boys of the unit.

Mr. Boyd dealt with various phases of the work and explained that only boys between 15 and 18 could be enrolled after their parents' consent, and they have to pass a medical examination. They are then on probation for three months before a uniform is issued. The basic training received is similar to that of a recruit in the R.C.A.F., which includes drill, discipline, physical training and lectures in conjunction with aviation. The squad is permitted to visit a nearby airport to see and hear what's going on. Some of the equipment that will be furnished includes special .22 rifles, 1 for every 2 boys, 2 targe rifles and ammunition, 1 bayonet for drill, 1 pistol for demonstration, stretcher and first aid equipment, signal equipment, an air frame, and an aeroplane engine, which will be kept in an orderly room and will be inspected twice a year by the R.C.A.F. Any boy interested and wanting particulars, should see O.C. Archie Grayling.

Hold Meat Supper

YOUNG'S POINT, Aug. 1.—(ENS).—Over two hundred guests enjoyed a cold meat supper on Wednesday evening at St. Aidan's Anglcan garden party, held in their parish hall, Youngs Point.

As the weather man did not favour St. Aidan's with his sunny side, the fancy goods booth, children's fish pond, etc., were held in the hall.

The highlight of the garden party was the drawing of a 'seven point star' quilt, donated by Mrs. William Bland. Mrs. Hutchins of Toronto, drew the ticket and Miss Ruth Thompson, of Toronto, was the lucky person.

Later in the evening a jolly dance, music being furnished by the Irwn Brothers of Lakehurst, concluded an annual event, which excelled all other years, both socially and financially.

Personals.

Miss Aileene Young is spending a few days with friends in Toronto.

Miss Marjorie Brennan, Mr. Wm. Mearns and Miss Margaret Barff, R.N., have returned to their home in Montreal after spending their vacation with the latter's sisters, Mrs. W. Bristow and Mrs. H. Young.

Abram Was First Pioneer Of Faith In God's Help

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for August 2 is Genesis 11:31-12:9; Hebrews 11:8-12, the Golden Text being Genesis 15:1, "Fear not, Abram, I am thy shield, and thy exceeding great reward.")

Abram was the son of Terah and his wife was Sarai. Terah took Abram with him from Ur, their old home, to journey to the land of Canaan. With him also was Lot, son of Haran, Terah's other son, who had died. The location of Ur was a mystery to us until a few years ago, when archaeologists uncovered evidence that it is the modern site known as Mugheir. It was ao great centre of pagan worship, we are told ,and while Abram lived there, was a town of large commercial activity, and highly developed civilization.

Terah never reached Canaan, however. He and his family arrived at Haran, in northwestern Mesopotamia, and there they settled until Terah's death.

"Now the Lord had said unto Abram, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will shew thee:

"And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and thou shalt be a blessing. And I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee: and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed."

Abram Obeys the Lord

How many people have left their homes and their kinfolks and all that was familiar to go to strange lands and make their home in the wilderness. Not all of them have been goodly men, perhaps, like the Pilgrims and the Puritans who journeyed to the New World that they might worship their God according to their conscience. But all must have had faith that by their own efforts and God's help, they could make new homes and found new nations, maybe. Faith, coupled with works, may, indeed remove mountains of difficulties.

So Abram (you notice it is not spelled Abraham until some time later) did as the Lord had told him, and with him went Lot, his nephew, and Abram's wife Sarai, and all their possessions, and the people who had joined them in Haran; and they all went into the land of Canaan. But first Abram passed through the land unto a place of Sichem, in the plain of Moreh. "And the Canaanite was in the land." Whether the Canaanites opposed Abram and his people at this time we are not told. Apparently not, for it is stated that "the Lord appeared unto Abram, and said, Unto thy seed will I give this land: and there builded he an altar unto the Lord."

Then he went on "unto a mountain on the east of Bethel, and pitched his tent...and there he builded an altar unto the Lord, and called upon the name of the Lord.

"And Abram journeyed, going on still toward the south."

The whole world has been blessed by the children of Israel, who are now scattered over the earth. Jesus was born of this nation — an inestimable blessing. This nation it was that had the first knowledge of the One God, and how many famous scientists, poets, writer, physcians and surgeons of this race bless the world with their achievements? Nations who have been kind to them have prospered, and those who have not have perished. Surely not only a lesson of faith, but of tolerance and brotherly kindness should come to us from this lesson of Abram, who was so close to the Lord that He "appeared unto him."

In Hebrews 11, the eighth verse, St. Paul wrote to his friends, "By faith Abram, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went."

"After these things the word of the Lord came unto Abram in a vision, saying, Fear not, Abram: I am thy shield, and thy exceeding great reward," which is our Golden Text, and our assurance that if we live as God wills we need fear nothing.

Abram: A Pioneer in Faith — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Genesis 11:31—12:9; Hebrews 11:8-12.

Terah, Abram's father, took Lot, son of his son, Haran, his son Abram, Sarai, Abram's wife, and they went from Ur to go to Canaan, but they tarried in Haran, and there Terah died.

Then the Lord told Abram to get out of that county into a land the Lord would shew him, and "I will make of thee a great nation and thou shalt be a blessing."

So Abram took his wife, Sarai, and Lot, his brother's son, and all their substance, and the souls they had gotten in Haran, and they went to Canaan, as the Lord told them.

The Lord appeared to Abram and said, "Unto thy seed will I give this land." And Abram there built an altar, later pitching his tent near a mountain near Bethel. (GOLDEN TEXT—Genesis 15:1)

Face It Now

He would indeed be an optimist who assumed that he would live as well this coming winter as he did in the winter past. Mr. Ilsley has presented his Budget to Parliament; the necessary alterations have been made; now it is up to us to provide the money to meet the expenses set out in that Budget. It is not going to involve us in want or hardship, but it is going to make us think twice about every dollar we spend. The time to do that thinking is now, and as the country has its great war Budget, so every household must have its smaller budget, and only by adhering to the latter shall we be able to meet the demands of the former.

• • •

This is a good day to face this matter. Having faced it, we shall have a week-end in which to recover our equanimity. It is a good day to face it, also, because it is today, August 1, that counter-sales of War Savings Certificates begin in all chartered bank branches in this country. It is no longer necessary to collect stamps and send them to Ottawa in order to get your certificates. You may now buy them at your bank whenever you wish to do so.

• • •

Possibly you have felt that, because of the increased taxes, you would decrease the amount of your regular buying of War Savings Certificates. Let us face facts: during the coming fiscal year this country must have $1,755 millions of dollars which will not come out of taxes, and a part of that money must come from you. Possibly you may feel inclined to leave this voluntary loaning of money to people better off than yourself, but the Finance Minister in his Budget Speech made it clear that such a course was not open to you. "No great fraction of this can be provided by individuals with incomes of more than $3,000 or $4,000. Individually they must do their share, but the total of their subscriptions will be limited by the smallness of their numbers. It must be provided by people of lower incomes, especially those in families whose incomes have increased during the war." That puts the matter squarely up to all of us.

Many times since 1939 we have been told that the war is approaching a crisis. That has meant that we have had to steel ourselves for a blow, and we have done so. Now a crisis greater than any is coming, and this time it is our side which will strike the blow. We cannot let the great Allied offensive which is almost certain to come soon fail for lack of effort on our part. The establishment of a Second Front will be a military feat of the most exacting and difficult kind. It will be immensely costly. We have got to find the money for it; we cannot fail now. We have weathered bitter storms before this, and all that we in Canada have been called upon to do was to bear anxiety; in the coming struggle our own men will be in the field, for a great part has been assigned to them, and we shall feel the bitterest shock of war when they take the offensive. We must support them with our money; cheers are not enough.

Our coming taxes will be heavy. Let us not make that an excuse for cutting down our voluntary contributions. Rather let us increase them. This coming year will be a year of destiny for us and if we fail any money which we may have kept for selfish uses will be no more than dust in our hands.

Peterborough Traffic Problem

At a recent meeting of the Traffic Committee of the Council problems were discussed relating to traffic congestion in this city, and particularly the unsatisfactory conditions on Charlotte Street during business hours. The head of the local bus service told of the difficulties which his vehicles encountered in attempting to keep to their schedule, and he mentioned Charlotte Street as being a special hazard. It was suggested that parking might be forbidden on the south side of Charlotte, between Water and Aylmer, and that the bylaw against double parking be more strictly enforced.

All citizens who use Charlotte Street know how crowded it is and how confused the traffic becomes during rush hours. They probably wonder, as we have wondered, why there is not an efficient police patrol of this area. One policeman on the job would be able to do much to avoid these hold-ups which prevent the buses from getting through, and could stop double-parking altogether. He would have to be an active, assertive patrolman, not afraid to deal promptly with difficult situations as they arose; Charlotte Street would keep him busy.

Indeed, traffic regulation by the police might be improved all over the business section of the city. In spite of the rationing of gasoline and rubber there have been 600 more automobile licenses issued this year than last year, and the parking problem in the evenings, and particularly at the week-ends, is a serious one. We should like to see the police take this matter in hand and deal with it firmly, as the present chaos wastes time and energy.

A Swiss Birthday

Today the Swiss Federation is 651 years old, a venerable old age for a democracy. The three mountain cantons of Uri, Schwyz, and Unterwalden entered into a perpetual pact of mutual protection on the first of August in 1291, and they have stood by it ever since. Of course, they have added to their number, particularly in the fourteenth century, when the success of the Federation in battle attracted other cantons into the fold; it was not until 1815, however, that all the twenty-two cantons of Switzerland were included in the Federation, and it was in that year also that the Peace of Paris guaranteed the country an everlasting neutrality.

The Swiss are an eminently practical people, and the guarantee of their neighbors, for which they were grateful, did not discourage them from evolving their own efficient army and system of national defence. Their wisdom has been shown since. We in Canada should have a fellow-feeling for the Swiss, for Pierre Laval has requested that, after the Axis victory on which he builds all his hopes, Canada and Switzerland shall be placed under French control. If he should ever try to enforce his will upon the Swiss, he will regret it.

In Switzerland every able-bodied man between 19 and 48 is kept in training for military service, and those from 49 to 60 are retained for auxiliary services. They keep their rifles and uniforms, and 200 rounds of ammunition in their homes, and their system of mobilization is so efficient that they can be ready for action on very short notice. They were effectively mobilized on September 1, 1939, and have kept an army (not at full strength) under arms ever since. Switzerland is a country which offers a remarkable argument for the theory that the best defence is to be prepared for any eventuality.

In the midst of war we may spare a few moments to wish the Swiss Federation a happy birthday. It is of inestimable value at present as a neutral country in the midst of a warring continent, and as the headquarters of the Red Cross, which is doing magnificent humanitarian work under difficult circumstances. Though not at war, we know that Switzerland is on the side of liberty, where she has taken her stand for 651 years.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A movie critic suggests that Hollywood would be well advised to shoot fewer pictures. And more actors.

A baby girl with two heads has been born in Panama. Doubtless she will grow up to be a perfect secretary.

"Hamilton Boy Hurt Trying To Ride Manure Spreader," says a headline, and the Windsor Star comments, "Let this be a warning to budding politicians."

On his 79th birthday Henry Ford expressed a hope that the future would bring peace and unparalleled prosperity. Is it possible that increasing age makes optimism of this sort simpler than it is for those who will have to face the period of reconstruction?

Schools in this province will not open until September 21 this year in order that pupils may help on farms, in canneries, creameries and cheese factories. A couple of weeks extra added to the holidays makes even life in a cheese factory look bright.

The pains which are being taken to give the eight Axis saboteurs every advantage in their trial reflects credit upon the fairness of the U.S., but it also displays an unfortunate tendency of democracy—to spare no pains in fighting against yourself merely to show what a broad-minded fellow you are.

Bringing It Up To Date

By
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SINCE the latter half of the eighteenth century the Encyclopaedia Britannica has been an invaluable compendium of expert opinion on almost every subject which has provoked the curiosity of mankind. But five years ago the publishers of this mighty work decided that if it was to retain its value in a rapidly changing world it must be kept constantly up to date, and as yearly re-publication is obviously impossible it was decided to issue each year a supplementary volume which would supply any information which had become available during the twelve months period. This device has proved most successful, and only a few days ago I received the latest volume, which records the events of 1941. It is interesting to turn over the pages and see what has happened in that time.

The volume begins with an article on Abrasives, which will not interest most of us, but rapidly we turn to Accidents, and learn to our surprise that very nearly as many people were kiled by automobiles in the U.S. as were killed in air raids in Great Britain. Some new matter on Disorders of the Alimentary System is available and the American Bible Society has distributed 3,700,000 copies of Holy Writ in its own land. American Literature has been active, if not precisely flourishing, and the Apple Crop in Canada was 20 per cent less than in 1940. An article on the Bank of England informs us that there has been a steady growth in banknote circulation because a larger portion of the national income is in the hands of people who have no bank accounts and so do not use cheques. These are all matters upon which we might speculate with profit, but the tendency to continue turning the pages is too great.

DRY BEANS, which the E.B. tersely describes as "a traditional army food," reached their largest production on record in 1941 in the U.S.; 18,226,000 bags had been accounted for by October, and there were more to come. There was an increase of 16 per cent in the birthrate of Canada and a notable increase in marriages. Book collecting, we learn, does well in spite of war and a first Folio of Shakespeare brought $22,000, though it was bought for $60,000 in 1926. When Joe Louis knocked out Conn in June, the gate receipts were $451,743. An impressive article on Canada At War is contributed by Professor Stephen Leacock, and it might be a good thing if some of the people who delight to knock our war effort would read it. We may not be doing our utmost yet, but we have done a great deal all the same.

◆ ◆ ◆

The Dance, we find, has been progressing steadily in spite of war. There has been a surprising increase in the popularity of ballet both in the U.S. and in Britain. The usualy staid E.B. also prints a picture of Eros Volusia, a Brazilian, doing a primitive witch dance, which is definitely hot stuff; what fun these encyclopaedists have, in their quiet way! Boogie Woogie is also touched upon with scholarly reserve. Eire, of which we hear little these days—it has withdrawn from the main stream of history — paid tribute to the heroes of the Easter Sunday Rebellion of 1916 by laying scores of hideous wreaths under glass covers on the grave of Michael Collins. English Literature has produced few works, but those few are of surprisingly high standard. The arts do not suffer as much in wartime as we might suppose.

FASHIONS and Dress are more fluffy and elaborate than severe, and college girls, we find, made a fad of a coiffure of pigtails adorned with bows. Folk Dancing has not flourished; the folk have been altogether too busy in other directions. Foreign Investments in the U.S., says the E.B., conservatively, were less than usual. During 1941, it appears, there was a net loss in the world's attempts to reduce illiteracy, and China has been forced to give up her attempt to teach her people a simplified alphabet of 1,000 characters. Under Intoxication we find matter which might advantageously be studied by advocates of total abstinence; the alcoholic, we learn, is not to be cured by taking drink from him; he needs more constructive treatment.

And so we might go on, rambling through the volume, but this column draws near its end. Here we are, just about to touch on Intestinal Disorders, and there is no more space. Motion Pictures, Motor Vehicles (do you remember them?), Munitions, Neutrality (do you remember it?), Radio, Rabindranath Tagore and the long section on World War II must remain untouched by us, for the time being at least. We have not even time for Zoology, the last article in the book, and one which appears to be of great interest; it has some new matter about the effect of carbon dioxide in water as it affects salmon. But now that the book is out we are all free to consult it or browse in it. The editors of the E.B. have done another good job.

Reds Rallying Behind Stalin

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press War Analyst

SPURRED by Stalin's no-retreat appeal, Russian forces along the Don from Voronezh to the southern elbow of the Don bend appear standing firm against their Nazi foes. West of the Don elbow, however, Moscow admits a further Red retreat and Berlin pictures a huge Nazi bulge across the Lower Don into the Caucasus, 150 miles wide and 112 miles deep at its central apex.

The Germans speak of a disorderly Russian rout. This boast is backed up by a Berlin claim of the capture of Kushchevka, 30 miles south of Bataisk on the Rostov-Baku rail and pipelines, and the investment of Salsk, rail-junction on the Krasnodar-Stalingrad system.

Both Salsk junction and Kushchevka are important. The loss of Kukshchevka, if it has fallen, seems the greater immediate threat, however. It also is a junction point givng rail and road access westward to Yeisk on the Azov seacoast of the Caucasus.

With Nazi forces between Rostov and Kushchevka outflanking them to the east and probably also pushing westward from Kushchevka toward Yeisk behind them, any Russian troops still in the Rostov-Kushchevka-Yeisk triangle are in deadly peril. The region has been well guarded up to now because it offered short routes for Nazi flanking invasions across the upper arm of the Sea of Azov from Taganrog. Its evacuation would throw those sea routes into the Caucasus wide open for German use, thus adding immeasurably to the peril of the Russian left flank.

The voice of German propaganda from Vichy, never reliable, says such an invasion of Taman isthmus, on the Caucasus side of Kerch Strait, has already been accomplished from the Crimea. There is no confirmation. It seems obvious, however, that the Nazis are trying to sweep back down the Rostov-Baku railroad below Kushcheka to free the whole Azov seacoast to and beyond Kerch Strait. Nor is there a discernible strong east-west natural defensive line above the Kuban River on which Marshal Timoshenko may hope to stand.

Provided Marshal Timoshenko can safeguard his Kerch Strait front and hold Taman isthmus, the Kuban does offer him an opportunity to halt the German drive on the west flank of the vast Don-Caucasus battlefront, just as it appears slowed down if not halted from the Don bend to Voronezh. The Kuban well may be the line upon which Timoshenko ultimately intends to stand.

Salsk, junction point for a branch line that connects the Krasnodar-Stalingrad railroad with the Rostov-Baku main Caucasus system at Bataisk, also represents defensive possibilities for the Russians. It stands on the edge of the vast reach of salt marshes that cover much of the northeastern Caucasus below Stalingrad to the Caspian. The Nazi claim to have laid siege to the town represents a grave danger that the Russian centre can be forced before Timoshenko's left flank has an opportunity to settle down behind the Kuban. The river runs less than 100 miles southwest of Salsk.

Nevertheless, the Nazi bulge below the Don with its apex presumably near Salsk is narrowing and will be confined to the long central route, north of the Caucasus range, if Red forces succeed in holding on or above the Kuban in the west and along the Don bend and the Caucasus salt marshes below it in the east. It is only in the centre that good terrain for blitzkrieg operations is available.

Capital Closeups

By JOHN DAUPHINEE, Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Aug. 1—(CP).—Last-minute oddments from Parliament Hill:

Hopes of speedy adjournment tumbled momentarily when T. L. (Tommy) Church (Con., Toronto Broadview) said: "There's no quorum, Mr. Chairman."...If a count had proved him right the House would have had to adjourn to next day...But Conservative House Leader Hanson interjected, "Couldn't we call it one o'clock?"... The regular luncheon adjournment was only a minute or so away and Deputy Speaker Thomas Vien jumped at the suggestion...No count was made and the House resumed at 3...P.S.—There actually wasn't a quorum, either.

Things got pretty confused sometimes with the House on the last lap, and one day Mr. Hanson got worried..."Does anybody in the committee know just what he's doing?" He wanted to know. "Does the chairman know?"...And Mr. Vien came right back with: "I do not."

Agriculture Minister Gardiner mentioned a narrow field which women have still to conquer ...His Department employs some artists who go into the fields and forests and among animals to make their drawings..."It was thought advisable," said Mr. Gardiner, "to have them male."

MISCELLANEOUS INTELLIGENCE

One of our operatives brings back a report on a visit to the East Block, headquarters of Prime Minister Mackenzie King, and the External Affairs Department...One of the officials was explaining how the heavy felt-covered doors made things quite soundproof so the most confidential meetings could be held in absolute secrecy...Our operative looked into one of the rooms where a meeting had just been held and noticed a window open, over a sidewalk...The official blushed a trifle but had a comeback... "The Mounties would grab anybody listening outside," said he.

Senator J. A. Calder (Con., Saskatchewan) is Parliament Hill's leading stamp collector...He has one of the finest collections of Canadian stamps in the Dominion, is a member of the Royal Philatelic Society in London which boasts royalty among its members, and has at least one noted philatelic publication to his credit.

Gordon Ross (Lib., Moose Jaw) and John R. MacNicol (Con., Toronto Davenport) got into a bit of an argument over who knew most about farming..."I wager," said Mr. MacNicol, "that I can shock two sheaves to my honorable friend's one"...The discussion ended there...After all the House was discussing post office estimates.

CUFF NOTES

Few men have been in elective offices longer than A. W. Neill (Ind., Comox-Alberni), who mentioned in the House that 40 years ago he was a member of the British Columbia Legislature.

One of Jean Francois Pouliot's favorite subjects is the difference between gin and compound gin and he was going great guns one recent day..."Perhaps," said J. H. Leclerc (Lib., Shefford), "it would be more interesting if we had a sample."

Call of the north—John MacNicol telling the House he was going back to the northwest this summer for a trip; and J. H. Sissons (Lib., Peace River) half-complaining because the war expenditures committee was going to sit after adjournment and he wouldn't be able to get home where "such a lot of big things are going on these days"

There must be some new girls on the Government switchboard...We asked the other day for "The Hansard office," and a sweet voice said: "You want to speak to Mr. Hansard?"...Not only did the namesakes of the official record of House proceedings live in England but the Hansard brothers have been dead these many, many years.

A Bible Message For Today

Another parable spake he unto them; the kingdom of heaven is like unto leaven, which a woman took, and hid in three measures of meal, till the whole was leavened. All these things spake Jesus unto the multitude in parables; and without a parable spake he not unto them: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying, I will open my mouth in parables; I will utter things which have been kept secret from the foundation of the world.—Matt. xiii, 33-35.

And I saw another mighty angel come down from heaven, clothed with a cloud: and a rainbow was upon his head, and his face was as it were the sun, and his feet as pillars of fire: and he had in his hand a little book open: and he set his right foot upon the sea, and his left foot on the earth, and cried with a loud voice, as when a lion roareth: and when he had cried, seven thunders uttered their voices.

And when the seven thunders had uttered their voices, I was about to write: and I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Seal up those things which the seven thunders uttered, and write them not.

And the voice which I heard from heaven spake unto me again, and said, Go and take the little book which is open in the hand of the angel which standeth upon the sea and upon the earth. And I went unto the angel and said unto him, Give me the little book. And he said unto me, Take it, and eat it up; and it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shall be in thy mouth sweet as honey.—Rev. x, 1-4, 8, 9.

Letter To The Editor

ANTS IN WARTIME HOMES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Once more I call upon your power of the press to help the sorely afflicted residents of Jackson Park wartime homes in their struggle against red ants. If there is an entomologist in Peterborough his services are solely needed by the residents of the Jackson Park wartime houses.

Never in the history of Peterborough was there such an invasion of private homes. Never was the housewives' patience strained to the breaking point or the temper of the menfolk tried beyond endurance, as at this present time due to the terrific invasion of tiny red ants.

One housewife was seen outside her home the other day with a kettle of boiling water pouring it around the entrance, and when asked why she was doing that, replied: "My men folk are getting very fed up and disgusted with the ants running all over their food, so " thought I'd try to boil them out."

It surely is not very conducive to increased man-power in the war plants when the men have to be greeted on homecoming by swarms of red ants all over their food. No matter what method Mrs. Housewife uses to get rid of them, still they come.

The answer seems to be entomology and its resources, for only if the ant-hills are destroyed outside the homes will peace be restored. As it is, precious food is constantly being wasted because ants have swarmed in it.

One homemaker told me last night that she could not stand the constant effort to get rid of the ants much longer as they were even in the refrigerator, and, mind you, in her purse. They are so tiny that they can get in anywhere. — Sincerely,

BLANCHE A. DRAPER.

Men Of Repulse Anxious To Fight Anew

AN EAST CANADIAN PORT, Aug. 1—(CP). — Bearing searing memories of the inferno in the China Sea that saw Britains Repulse and Prince of Wales blasted to the bottom, a group of Royal Navy officers and ratings from the Repulse are now safely in Britain after travelling three-quarters of the way around the world. They sailed from this port with the Canadian troops whose arrival was announced yesterday.

Many of them still bore marks of the battle in which the two big ships were sunk by Japanese warplanes.

One sailor had been blasted from his gunpost by the force of the explosion of one of the dozens of torpedoes that ripped into the mighty battleship. 'I was tossed about fifty feet into the air, and landed in the oil-covered water,' he recounted. 'That probably saved my life though, because, only brief moments later, the old lady reared and went down.'

Others had equally close shaves from death in the hurtling rain of explosives and shrapnel whirling about them. Cast into the water, they clung precarious hours to bits of flotsam until picked up by already over-loaded British destroyers.

None of the group was willing to have his name used, because of security regulations, but all had only the one idea, to be posted to another ship, and give those yellow so-and-sos a taste of their own medicine.'

Plan To Speed Up Smaller Air Freighters

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1—(AP).—Senate advocates of a fleet of giant cargo planes to speed war delivveries set as their immediate goal today the expanded production of smaller air freighters now under construction for the army and navy.

Chairman Josh Lee of a military subcommittee seeking support of a resolution to set up a separate board to produce 70-ton flying boats said the smaller cargo planes should be built "in far greater numbers" than projected.

Lee termed the testimony yesterday of Henry J. Kaiser, West Coast shipbuilder, "a real shot in the arm" for the committee, particularly Kaiser's assertion he could produce the first big ship "within six months" after receiving plans, if "given the green light and a steady flow of materials."

"In the meantime ,we are hopeful that something will happen to stir aviation authorities of the army and navy out of excess caution, and to desperate daring needed in this grave hour."

Yanks Cut Seven Out Of Raid Upon Hengyang

CHUNGKING, Aug. 1—(CP). — The Japanese in two separate attempts to raid Hengyany airdrome yesterday, lost four bombers and three new Zero-type fighters, headquarters of the United States Air Force reported to-day.

In addition, a communique said, a number of Japanese aircraft probably were destroyed,

Yesterday's communique had told of only one raid on Hengyang, Hunan province, and credited two American pilots with shooting down three bombers from a nine-plane enemy squadron.

To-day's communique disclosed there were two raids and heavier toll of invading aircraft and added that one American plane was lost. The pilot, however, was saved.

The three enemy fighters were destroyed during the second attack to bring the score to seven, the biggest single day's bg since the regular United States Air Force succeeded the American volunteer group on July 1.

Aylmer Woman Found Slain

AYLMER, Ont., Aug. 1—(CP). — Mrs. Frank Ackard, elderly Aylmer woman, is reported by police to-day to have died from axe wounds and her husband, also an elderly man, is in St. Thomas Memorial Hospital with badly cut throat and wrists. His condition is critical.

The tragedy was revealed when a niece of Mrs. Ackard, Mrs. Wilson Rockey, arrived at the Ackard home on Queen Street to take care of the day's housework for the aged couple. When she arrived at the home she is said to have found both persons in bed. Mrs. Ackard was dead at this time.

The couple were in poor health, neighbors reported, both of them suffering from heart trouble.

Mrs. Rockey said she spent all of Thursday at the Ackard home doing housework or the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Ackard had gone to bed before she left the house and Mrs. Rockey said this morning that when they retired last night both appeared to be in their usual health and spirits.

Provincial Police Constables J. H. Marsland and E. A. Niles of the St. Thomas detachment are investigating but they declined to make any statements.

The Ackards are retired farmers who came to Aylmer to live about two years ago. Formerly they farmed in the Mount Salem district near Aylmer.

New Army Branch To Handle Special Problems Of Soldiers

Canada's army now has an agency with a full-time morale-building job. The Directorate of Special Services is concerned with anything and everything that will give the soldier greater peace of mind and a stouter heart for the job in hand.

National defence headquarters has long since recognized the fact that good morale cannot be improvised. It must be thoroughly planned and systematically promoted.

In the branch of the adjutant general there has been established the Directorate of Special Services. This organization, with Col. C. R. Hill, D.S.O., E.D., as director, is equipped to ferret out the pet hates and fondnesses of the men in Canada's army.

Situation Studied

Perhaps the soldiers are inclined to grumble because a certain condition exists. Sooner or later, and it is usually "sooner," Special Services hears about it. The situation is studied, by experts, from the psychological and the practical side. And steps are immediately taken by the directorate and any other department which may be concerned. The result is that the soldier is becoming more acquainted with his army, an dmore appreciative of the machinery needed to make it run.

There are five sections in the directorate. They come under the general headings — research, information, French Canadian, military and social action section.

The work of each of the sections is just about what the names would imply. If the workings of the sections are understood fully, however, a real appreciation of the advantages of such a directorate, to the army and the Dominion, immediately developes.

The research section is vital. One of the first jobs undertaken by it was in the form of a questionnaire to the troops. In it they asked many questions. They were not required to sign their names to the papers, and because of this the answers were probably 100 per cent. to the point.

At the bottom of the sheet, provision was made for the entry of general remarks. The result was most gratifying, and about 90 per cent. of the criticism was constructive.

Surveys are being made all the time by the research section. It might almost be called the army's bureau of public opinion. It is just that. Analyses are made. The handwriting on the wall is studied. No article in any paper which deals, even remotely, with conditions among servicemen escapes the clippers. Reports are made out and received from time to time. This section concerns itself with everything which might reflect the thoughts of soldiers and anything which might affect him in any way.

The information section is the publicity branch of the directorate. It specializes in publicity directed at the soldier. Various media are used, radio, the press, movies, camp newspapers and others. Booklets are being prepared to tell the soldier, in interesting form, some of the things most intimately concerning him and his army. This is the section that executes the morale building plans developed by the others.

Bi-lingual Aspect

The French Canadian section is interested in bi-lingual aspects of all tasks and problems. Its special concern is the French Canadian personnel in Canada's army.

In this section, all the work of the directorate is considered as it applies to the French Canadian personnel of the army. Special problems of that personnel are also handled here.

The military section comes into play when tasks of the directorate require liaison with other army branches. It develops new ideas for the promotion of the army.

Just before the armistice in the last war, the great Canadian soldier, General Sir Arthur Currie, one night was heard to say "Thank God they're singing."

He was speaking of the Canadian troops who were singing as they marched up to the line for 100 days and nights of the fiercest kind of fighting. One of the enterprises upon which the directorate is working at present is a serviceman's song book. The director is anxious that Canada's army be a singing army.

The question of income tax for officers serving in Canada has been considered by this section, and certain recommendations have already been made.

The question of leaves and furloughs has been, and is being considered.

To put it briefly, the military section works for the soldier. Anything that is in his interests of his efficiency is "pushed" by it.

The social action section is the one that conducts liaison and other work between the army and civil organizations and individuals. Other Government departments which are not military branches are also contacted by it.

Because the welfare of the dependent or next-of-kin is one of the greatest concerns of the soldier, special efforts are made to look after them.

Committees Formed

With the co-operation of the Dependents' Allowance Board and the Dependents' Board of Trustees, civilian committees have been formed to aid, not only dependents of soldiers, but their relatives as well.

Registration of relatives of soldiers has been promoted, and work in this direction is continuing.

As an example of the work being done by this section: Some dependents of soldiers have raised their voices, asking for a cost of living bonus.

The claim is being studied carefully by the social action section, research is being done. And when it is completed, if the request is deemed to be in the best interests of the public, certain recommendations will be made through the proper channels. In other words, the directorate will "go to bat for it."

Many of the personal problems of the soldier are handled, with great success, by this section.

The directorate of Special Services is the soldier's own directorate. It has been created, and it operates for him. The soldier's problems are the problems of the directorate.

It is a certainty that the fruits of its labors will be still tasted in Canada many years after the Axis has been forgotten.

Late Shift Workers To Get Protection

TORONTO, August 1—(CP).—Assault of one woman war worker on her way home from a late shift does not warrant taking women off late shifts in munitions plants, an official of John Inglis Company, Ltd., said today.

The official was commenting on the report that the Toronto Trades and Labor Council would renew its efforts to place women on early shifts following an attack on a girl worker here early Wednesday morning.

Mayor Fred J. Conboy has ordered extra police protection at night shift factories employing girls.

Admit 'Dromes Raided

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), Aug. 1—(AP).—The German high command said today that German bombers attacked several airdromes at Cairo with heavy-calibre bombs Wednesday night, starting big fires in hangars and supply dumps.

"Direct hits between closely-parked planes caused serious destruction," its communique asserted.

(The British authorities reported some bombs dropped in the Cairo area Wednesday night and recalled that Prime Minister Churchill had threatened to bomb Rome if Cairo, a holy city to the Moslem, were bombed.)

Police Hunt Nets Just 24 Bananas

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 — (AP). — Brooklyn police hunted yesterday on foot, in radio cars and by telephone for ripe bananas to aid an ailing child—and came up with 24.

The police had been called in by Mrs. Mitchell Gottlieb, who said she could find no bananas, of which there is a shortage due to the U-boat campaign against shipping, to feed her child, Helene, 15 months old. The child is suffering from celiac, an infant disease best treated by a diet of the tropical fruit.

About 200 children in New York city have celiac. Last week, 25 pounds of bananas were flown from New York to Montreal to aid celiac-stricken Margo Bradley, 22 months old.

The United Fruit Company said it would make every effort to supply bananas to celiac cases.

The disease is caused by inability to take fat and carbohydrates.

Red Enthusiasm Cooling On RAF

By EDDIE GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 1—(AP).—News of the R.A.F.'s recent raids on Germany is being received by the Russians with appreciation but without any particular enthusiasm or excitement.

(This dispatch, evidently written to pass rigid censorship, implied a Russian conviction that air attacks alone do not satisfy Russia's need for second front action.)

While fighting what are probably the bloodiest battles of the war, the Red army also has been able to bomb Germany, having made at least four recent attacks on Kienigsberg, East Prussia.

This has made a considerable impression on those whom foregn correspondents meet here. Until the Koenigsberg raids the Moscow citizens believed it impossible to carry on large-scale land fighting and also bomb German cities.

Now the Koenigsberg raids are fully reported as the Red army fights for its life on the southern front and R.A.F. activities are not evoking the enthusiasm of the past.

Alexandria Raided

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 1 — (AP). — Axis bombers raided Alexandria last night, killing four persons and injuring 13 and causing slight damage to property, the Egyptian Interior Ministry announced to-day.

Air raid alarms also sounded in the Cairo area and other points in Egypt, the ministry said, but it made no mention of bombs falling in Cairo target of a light raid on Wednesday night.

On Advisory Board

OTTAWA, Aug. 1—(CP).—Labor Minister Mitchell yesterday announced the appointment of Mrs. Gordon Kirkpatrick of Toronto and Mrs. Florence Martel of Montreal as Dominion Government representatives on provincial advisory boards being organized for the establishment of day nurseries.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick will represent the Federal Government on the Ontario Board and Mrs. Martel on the Quebect Board. Other members will be appointed by the provincial governments.

When Bombers Got Aussie Transport At Port Moresby

For two days Japanese bombers hammered at Port Moresby in New Guinea and this is what they accomplished. An Australian transport hit by bombs drifted onto a reef where it is shown afire. A small rescue launch is seeking survivors in the foreground. The lifeboat hanging from the ship's side was damaged by an oil explosion before it could be launched.

Propose Larger Department Of Intelligence

OTTAWA, Aug. 1 (CP).—A separate directorate of military intelligence has been established at national defence headquarters to meet the increased demands on the intelligence section as a result of war development, it was disclosed Friday.

Previously intelligence work was carried on by the joint directorate of military operations and intelligence. Now that directorate has been split into two independent ones —a directorate of military operations and plans and a directorate of intelligence.

Details of the change were made public after Defence Minister Ralston said in the House of Commons today that steps had been taken to strengthen the intelligence branch.

Col. Ralston also said supplies of weapons, including tommyguns, have been sent to the Pacific Rangers, guerilla defence force on the west coast. Everything possible was being done to bring the Rangers' equipment to the point desired.

The operations and intelligence directorate previously was headed by Col. J. E. Lyon, now brigadier general staff at Pacific command headquarters. He was recently succeeded by Col. John Henry Jenkins of Vancouver who now heads the directorate of military operations and plans.

Lt.-Col. W. W. Murray, previously general staff officer, grade 1, in charge of intelligence, heads the new intelligence directorate.

In his reference to the intelligence branch, Col. Ralston was answering a suggestion by Howard Green (Con. Vancouver South) that there was a great need for strengthening the intelligence section by increasing its personnel to bring it more into line with British and United States systems and to deal with the Pacific coast as well as elsewhere.

Mr. Green said the minister should give this developme early consideration.

Gold In Ontario Hits New Low Port Hope Lawn

TORONTO, August 1—(CP).—"Production by Ontario gold mines during the first half of the year was down to a new recent low," Hon. Robert Laurier, Ontario Minister of Mines, said in releasing the report of Ontario gold mine production today.

The mines, in the first half of 1942, produced $53,896,532 from the milling of 5,554,565 tons of ore for recovery of 1,397,481 gold ounces and 218,971 silver ounces. In the same period last year 6,127,351 tons were milled for recovery of 1,577,902 gold ounces and 261,531 silver ounces. The percentage drop was 9.34 per cent. in ore milled, 11.43 per cent. in value.

Five Ontario mines stopped producing during the six months. They were Sachigo, Patricia Area, St. Anthony, Thunder Bay district, both closed during January, Faymar, Porcupine Belt in May, Nakhodsas in the same camp in May, and Golden Gate, Kirkland Lake district, at the end of May.

The Minister of Mines reported production for the month of June was not any more encouraging. The mills treated 5.35 per cent. less ore than they treated in May and gold recovery was down 5.09 per cent. Grade of ore was slightly improved from $9.69 in May to $9.71 in June. Daily average production during the month was $299,504 as against $305,564 in May.

The value of production in June was $53,896,532 compared with $60,857,331 in June, 1941. Tonnage milled amounted to 5,554,565 tons compared with 6,127,351.

Canucks Headed For British 2nd Front Camps

A BRITISH PORT, Aug. 1. — (CP).—Thousands of Canadian soldiers and hundreds of ground crewmen for the Royal Canadian Air Force were dispersed to-day to their various centres of training for a second front.

The Canadians, arriving in a convoy which slipped into port at dusk, brought with them Royal Navy officers and ratings from the battle cruiser Repulse which went down in the China Sea under the weight of Japanese aerial bombing and torpedo attack. All wanted one thing, to get another ship and 'give those yellow so-and-sos a taste of their own medicine.'

The convoy crossed smoothly from Canada. The escort dropped a few depth charges but it was not known defintely whether the ships were pursued by submarines.

The army contingent included officers and other staff members for the headquarters of a Canadian armored division expected to reach Britain before the end of the year.

Almost every Canadian unit got reinforcements from this convoy.

"Eighty-four Canadian firefighters for Great Britain were among the personnel.

As the ship were warped to their berths civilians aboard a ferry cheered and the Canadians, ignorant of the fact they will be limited in their ration of gift cigarettes, tossed packages of Canadian smokes to dock workers and sailors ashore.

Modestly but eagerly, Sgt. Ralph Leonard of Sudbury, Ont., an airman expressed his and his colleagues' feeling when he said: 'Maybe it sounds as if we're shooting off our faces, but we're out to see some action—and quick.'

Visitors who went aboard the troop ships and met the men were swamped by one repeated question: 'When is the Canadian army going to Europe?'

Dog Is Fed 3 Raw Eggs As Part Of Menu

GORE'S LANDING, August 1—(ENS—A strikingly marked black and white Russian Wolf Hound, Prince Peterhof of Glenwild, is spending the warm summer days in this village with his owner, Mme. Fantechi Tavanti du Bois of Toronto.

Born five years ago in Chicago, and later brought to Guelph, Ont., Prince Peterhof is registered in both the United States and Canada. In 1939, he was declared Grand Champion in the United States, winning 15 prizes. This Russian Wolf Hound has already had a distinguished career, for besides being a champion, Peterhof has been in the movies and has been used as a professional model because of his exceptional markings, a very distinct black and white.

The Russian Wolf Hound originated in Russia a few centures ago. Towards the end of the 18th century, a craze was started in Russia of breeding these dogs with all kinds of other dogs, such as Irish Wolf Hounds, Great Danes and Newfoundland dogs. They had come to the point where there was no pure strain with interbreeding.

In the middle of the 19th century, a Russian nobleman discovered a dog of an unbroken line in a St. Petersburg auction. This dog was Serdetschny whose daughter bred to Golub, another pure bred, produced Almax of Perchino, gold medal winner of Moscok. This dog is a direct ancestor of Prince Peterhof.

Peterhof has a graceful long body about 54 inches without his bushy tail and stands 33½ inches at the shoulder. He has an exceptionally long narrow skull which measures 13 inches. He is an American bred Russian Wolf Hound which is different from Canadian Wolf Hounds as the latter have larger bones and the lines are not so finely cut at the American breed. Peterhof's coat is long and silky and he is a wonderful runner and jumper.

The Russian Wolf Hounds hunt by sight and not by scent. They also never bark except at the kill. Their bark is something like that of a pekinese.

Prince Peterof has a special diet as well as a special tooth brush to keep his teeth clean. In the morning he has two raw eggs; about 2 p.m. dog food and Gaines dog meal and at night one raw egg and raw carrots. This dog also eats green grass like a pony. In the wintertime he is given vitamin B 1 pills and throughout the warm weather gets one pill occasionally for his nerves. Once a month his owner sends him to the veterinary where he is washed with special soap and carefully looked over. Pups bred from this dog are sold for $250 when 6 months old and a written guarantee accompanies each pup that they would become champions or money would be refunded.

Cooling Out A Very Hot Pitcher

Deacon Bill McKechnie, Cincinnati Red manager, takes a sponge and water bucket to cool out his crack hurler Johnny Vandermeer, after the pitching star had completed a two-hit job against the Phillies. ATHLETES AT WAR

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

(News of Canadian athletes in the armed forces will we welcomed for inclusion in this weekly feature and should be sent to 'Athletes at War,' The Canadian Press, 44 Victoria St., Toronto).

TORONTO, July 31.—(CP).—Lieut Robert H. Talling, now serving with the Royal Navy in the Suez Canal area was among the first of a group of Vancouver athletes who joined the R.C.N.V.R. in September, 1939. Bob was an ardent fisherman, hunter, skier, oarsman and for several years prior to going overseas in April, 1940, was on the famous three-quarter line of the Vancouver Rowing Club rugger team that included such stars as Steve Covernton, Tangye Moran and Rod Bell. All are serving in the Royal Canadian Navy now.

Friends of Roger McMahon, of Montreal, will be pleased to learn that he has been promoted major in the dental corps in England. Reg. was a well known golfer and a former hockey player with McGill and Knights of Columbus.

An Halifax correspondent writes in with news of some well known athlets in the services there. He mentions Al Korman(24 year old Toronto wrestler who joined the navy as a stoker and Lieut. Hugh Little of the Canadian (Active) Army. Little was a hockey and tennis star in the maritimes. Boston Bruins were interested in him at one time.

Bill (Regina Leader-Post) Good drops us a line with news of Moose Jaw athletes in the services. One he mentions is Orv McGowan, who held the Moose Jaw city golf championship last year. McGowan is training for air crew in the R.C.A.F.

Lindsay Guild, Strome, Alta., lightweight boxer, is a corporal with the R.C.A.S.C. He is a boxing instructor at Aldershot.

Milt (Stratford Beacon-Herald) Dunnell gives in a letter the names of some of the best-known Stratford athletes in the services. He mentions Bruce (Buzz) Given, who played on three O.B.A. championship baseball clubs in Stratford. Given is in the R.C.A.F. and his home is in Ailsa Craaig; Chuck Males, a member of the Nationals, and last seasons batting champion in the Intercounty Baseball Association, who is in the Ordnance Corps. Males played for London before coming to Stratford; Willard Snider (basketball and baseball), who is a member of the Royal Canadian Navy. His home is in Stratford; Lloyd (Dutch) Davey, a member of Stratford's O.R.F.U. intermediate champions in 1940, who is chasing subs aboard a corvette in the Royal Canadian Navy; and Hal Stade, a member of last year's Stratford Nationals, who is in the Navy. He played goal for Seaforth Beavers, winners of the O.H.A. intermediate title in '40-41.

Sport Snapshots Across Canada

By SCOTT YOUNG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Aug. 1.—(CP)—Feuds between athletes and fans or sportswriters crop up once or twice a year in most Canadian cities. Sometimes the general public doesn't hear about an athlete-writer feud because it's usually over something that can be settled without fisticuffs or acid verbosity.

But the public has a ringside seat in the latest and hottest feud in these parts—one between the Toronto Star sports page and Bob Bowman, right-handed pitcher with Toronto Maple Leafs. It started when Bowman felt comment on one of his pitching jobs a few days ago was not up to the literary standard of other items in his scrapbook. He beefed, and the battle was on.

The Star replied with mild innuendo about Bowman's aspiration to become a sports page censor, but the more interesting angle of the feud is how it will turn out. Last time a professional athlete playing in Toronto fell afoul of the press, life became exceptionally bitter for him. Gorden Drillon was the unfortunate. He was benched in the Stanley Cup final with Detroit while the papers rang with statements that he wouldn't play for Leafs again.

It seemed for a while that he wouldn't, but he probably will. He changed his mind about going home to Moncton for keeps, and is to be seen almost any afternoon at St. Andrew's Golf Club here. Bowman's case isn't quite the same, because Drillon is a far better hockey player than Bowman is a pitcher. But unless the argument stops soon, the Toronto club will have to decide whether it will back Bowman against the papers, or otherwise. The decision probably will depend on how well Bowman pitches in the next few weeks.

Incidentally:

Art Rice-Jones, goalkeeper for Calgary Stampeders for the last three seasons after 10 years of roaming the hockey world, has enlisted in the R.C.O.C. and surprise, surprise, he'll be posted to Edmonton, not Ottawa...Rosy Ryan, former Giants and Dodgers pitcher, told Eddie (Winnipeg Free Press) Armstrong some background on the famous New York-Brooklyn series of 1934 after Bill Terry's famous crack: "Is Brooklyn still in the league?"... As even the women and children know, Dodgers swept a series, did Giants out of the pennant...Ryan's story: A week before the series Manager Casey Stengel called his players together, told his four best pitchers they would be rested until the series with Giants and told all other regulars that if they wanted to take a few days off, they could...He said he didn't care what happened for a week as long as everyone was fit and ready for the New York series... The strategy worked, Giants lost the pennant, and one of the greatest stories in baseball's history had been made.

To The Harbor Board

OTTAWA, Aug. 1—(CP).—Appointment of Joseph Emile St. Laurent, chief engineer of the St. Lawrence River Ship Channel for the Department of Transport, to succeed Lt.-Col. A. E. Dubuc as a member and vice-chairman of the National Harbors Board, effective next Oct. 1, was announced today by Acting Transport Minister Howe.

The appointment is for a 10-year term.

Pitcher Lewis Passed Five In Ninth

Luckies eliminated Royals as a first place possibility in a postponed City League battle at Riverside Park Friday night, but it was a tight squeeze. Manager Fred Griffin's club won the argument by 9 to 8 after Pitcher Bill Lewis developed a wild streak in the ninth inning that almost tossed away a three-run lead. The southpaw passed five Royals in succession in that final frame to force in two runs and leave the bases still loaded with only one out, but Lewis got rid of the next two batters.

The Luckies' pitcher was shy on control in the first two innings when Royals registered four runs, but levelled away after that until the ninth. Altogether he issued 13 bases on balls, but the Royals could do little in the hitting line. Lewis held them to five scattered singles, one of which was a gift.

On the other hand, the Luckies' bats were busy all night at the expense of Ron Akers, who pitched for the Royals. They hammered out a total of 16 hits, including a homer by Maurice Caccavella with two on the bases and a four-master by Grant Patterson with one on. Holly Mowry set the pace with three hits in four times up and every player on the winners' lineup had at least one safe blow.

There was a lot of nice fielding with George Hawks' work at third for the Royals standing out. He had two prize plays in one frame, a one-handed pickup of a roller and a jumping catch of a line drive, and later started a lightning double-play.

Luckies started the scoring in the first inning. With two down Lewis singled to centre. Joe Stewart doubled over third, sending Lewis to the difficult corner. Al Courneya singled through short, scoring Lewis and Mowry got the fourth hit in a row, a ringing single to right on which Stewart and Courneya galloped home. M. Caccavella ended the innings by striking out.

Royals got one back in their half. McNabb walked and A. Caccavella missed a double-play ball on George Hawks to put two on. Leether singled on the ground into right, scoring McNabb. Pryde walked, filling the bases, M. Caccavella made a nice catch of Parnell's fly back of second, L. Holmes' roller forced Hawks at the plate and McCormick made a nice catch of Crowe's drive to left, leaving three base-runners stranded.

The losers came back in the second inning to take the lead. With D. Holmes out of the game, Akers drew a pass and advanced on a wild pitch. McNabb also walked. Hawks' single through short scored Akers and a wild pitch by Lewis sent McNabb in. Niziol drew a pass, but on an attempted double steal Hawks was out at the plate. Niziol going to second. Pryde's single over third scored Niziol with the third run of the inning. Parnell fouled to the catcher to end the frame.

The Royals' lead did not last long. With one out for Luckies in the third, Stewart singled through the box. Courneya flied to Pryde, but Mowry strolled, and he and Stewart ran home ahead of M. Caccavella when the Luckies' shortstop drove a homer over Pryde's head in centre field. Patterson's fly to Pryde wound up the fun.

Luckies made it 7 to 4 in the fourth. Jamison opened with a single past second and ran to the middle station after A. Caccavella's long foul fly had been caught by D. Holmes. McCormick singled through short, to send Jamison in. Lewis also singled, but Stewart struck out and Courneya flied to Giardino.

With two out in Luckies' fifth Grant Patterson made it 8 to 4 when he drove a long homer to deep left centre field, and in the seventh the winners added another counter when Courneya doubled through short and scored on Mowry's single into left. M. Caccavella flied out and Patterson was thrown out by Hawks.

Royals were blanked from the second until the eighth when they got a couple of easy runs.

With one out Bob Crowe got a life when his pop fly was allowed to drop between M. Caccavella and McCormick for a hit. D. Holmes walked. On a double steal Crowe scored when A. Caccavella threw low to the plate. Akers was safe when Jamison missed a throw and Holmes slid home on the error. McNabb forced Akers on a rap to short and Hawks flied to Stewart.

Then came the exciting ninth. Lewis got rid of Niziol on a bounder to Courneya, but he walked Pryde, Parnell and Giardino in succession to fill the bases and then passed Crowe to force in Pryde and D. Holmes to send Parnell home. The bases were still full with only one out, but Akers was called out on strikes and Earl McNabb raised a pop foul to Courneya to end the innings and the game.

Luckies—A. Caccavella, 2b; McCormick, lf; Lewis, p; Stewart, cf; Courneya, 3b; Mowry, rf; M. Caccavella, ss; Patterson c; Jamison, 1b.

Royals—McNabb, 2b, ss; Hawks, 3b; Leether, 1b; Niziol, 1b; Pryde, cf; Parnell, c; L. Holmes, rf; Giardino, 2b; Crowe, ss, rf; D. Holmes, lf; Akers, p.

SPORTS – DAY BY DAY

By FRED D. CRAIG

Luckies knocked Royals out of the running for first spot in the City League race and gave Plazas the top shelf last night when they nosed out Manager Parnell's club 9 to 8. A Royal victory would have given the runners-up a chance to tie the hockey squad if the latter dropped their final game to the Soldiers. But it was Luckies who won and as a result Plazas finish in first place, whether they win or lose in the game with the Military Training Centre club next Tuesday night. But the last game is decidedly important nevertheless for it will decide whether a playoff will be necessary to settle third and fourth positions. Luckies' win makes it possible for Manager Griffin's team to tie Soldiers for third place, if the Plazas come through with a win, and in that case Luckies and Soldiers would have to meet in a sudden-death game to decide which outfit is to take third slot. Here is the league standing with one game left to play:

Plazas	8	3	.727
Royals	7	5	.583
Soldiers	6	5	.545
Luckies	6	6	.500
Juveniles	2	10	.167

Final game in schedule Tuesday night, Soldiers vs. Plazas.

The Plaza-Soldier battle should be a ding-dong affair despite the fact that the hockey squad are now sure of first place. The Military team will work their heads off for a win, both for the pleasure of pinning the leaders' ears back and because they need a victory to cinch third place. On the other hand Plazas are not anxious to lose any prestige by a loss to the Soldiers in the final scheduled game and the Starr-Ellis outfit will have all hands and the cook in uniform Tuesday night hoping to beat the Camp gang. They may run into a tough pitching proposition or word comes from the Soldiers that they have located a new pitcher who is going to be sent into action against the leaders in this important battle. The Military team haven't announced his name but they intimate that the new hurler has got what it takes. The pitching reinforcement has turned up when the Soldiers needed help badly. Pitcher Ken Fleming was moved out of here some time ago on other duties and now Irish Kilfoyle who pitched for the camp team last year and this is due to leave next Tuesday and his services will be no longer available. Kilfoyle was one of the few members of last season's club with the Soldiers this year and his departure will be regretted by the fans who liked the lad's style. Tom Parsons will likely do the twirling for Plazas. Fans are reminded that Tuesday's game is a benefit for the Navy and every cent collected will go to the Navy fund. A Kenwood blanket offered as a draw prize will go to some fortunate fan and one of the best crowds of the year should be in attendance.

Last night's Luckies-Royals game had an exciting finish thanks to the fact that Pitcher Bill Lewis lost his control in the final frame and came within an ace of tossing away a ball game that had looked to be in the bag ever since the third inning. Holding a three run lead going into the final session the left-hander got rid of the first batter and then suddenly lost his moorings and five Royals in succession went to first on passes. That of course forced in two runs and left the bases full, one out and the Royals needing only a counter to tie up the ball game and two to win it. A hit would have meant a Royal win or a continuance of the Lewis generosity would have had the same result. However the wavering left-hander finally steadied down, struck out his pitching rival Ronnie Akers and then forced Earl McNabb to hoist a foul fly that Courneya took to end the argument. Royals did little or no hitting as against sixteen blows for the winners but in spite of that difference in power, lack of control on the mound nearly cost the Luckies the verdict. Lewis gave 13 bases on balls but Royals couldn't come through with hits to cash in on the complimentaries. It was an exciting ball game, with a lot of good fielding and the fans enjoyed it.

Williams Is Hitting

Joe DiMaggio and Charlie Keller of the Yanks each hit his 15th homer of the season the other day and apparently Ted Williams regarded the occurrence as a chalenge. Anyway the long lean hitting star of the Red Sox went out Thursday and knocked off his 22nd homer of the campaign and yesterday he repeated the feat to give him a total of 23 and put him well ahead of the field. Williams, four-master helped the Red Sox take a fall out of Detroit Tigers 7 to 6 yesterday with Tex Hughson grabbing off his 12th win of the season as against three loses. At that Hughson did not finish the game. Williams' circuit clout was not the only one. Ulysses Lupien, Jimmy Foxx's successor at first base banged one and the veteran Charlie Gehringer got his first homer of the year for Detroit. Benton was the losing Detroit pitcher.

* * * * * *

In the National League yesterday afternoon the Cincinnati Reds defeated Boston 5 to 2 in a game in which Junior Thompson and Beggs held the Braves to three hits while the winners banged out ten off the offerings of Early, Tost and Hutchings. The Pittsburg and Philadelphia game was postponed and these were the only games scheduled in the senior loop yesterday.

St. Louis Browns, after a tough passage at the hands of the Washington Senators had still enough power left yesterday to outscore the Yanks 9 to 8 in a heavy-hitting first end of a double-header but relapsed in the second game when Spud Chandler held them to three hits and the Yanks won 8 to 0, with homers by Joe Gordon and Charlie Keller featuring. At Cleveland Dick Fowler of Toronto and Phil Marchildon of Penetang put an Ontario polish on a Philadelphia victory over Cleveland 6 to 4. Fowler who pitched all the game until Marchildon went to his aid in the ninth got credit for his third win of the season.

That Ray Robinson-Sammy Angott fight in New York last night must have been a honey. History was reversed in this second bout between these two battles. The first time they met Angott was floored early in the fight but finished like a whirlwind and came close to earning the decision by his strong windup. Last night Sammy had all the early fighting to himself but Robinson came back with a thrilling finish and took the decision. He was given the last six rounds, Angott the first three, and the other round was scored as even. It was one of the best bouts of the year and made friends for both boys.

Sporting Chili Con Carne: Knights of Columbus and St. Peter's had a regular knock-him-down-and-drag-him-out battle in the Catholic League last night with Knights winning 23 to 19. Indian Wizard Turnbull Boots Seven Winners Over SALEM, N.H., Aug. 1.—(AP).—A 90-pound youngster, who learned part of his riding tricks from his Indian ancestors, is the newest sensation in United States riding circles.

Little William Jackson Turnbull—he's only five foot two inches tall—yesterday rode seven winners on a nine-race program at Rockingham Park and was foiled in his attempt to become the first rider to pilot eight in a single day by a camera decision in the seventh.

The apprentice, a native of Texline, Tex., but who now makes his home at Hot Springs, Ark., was out of the money in only the first race in which Career Girl finished fourth.

He came back on Rough Biscuit ($5.80) in the second and followed with Manipulate ($10 for $2), Ample Reward $3.40), Lou O'Neill ($15.20) and Two Kick ($14.20) before being placed second on Mad Crusader behind Waddy in the seventh.

Turnbull then ran out his day's string on Valdina Joe ($4.20) and Siganar ($4.60).

Racing records show that it has been almost 12 years since a jockey in the United States had ridden seven winners in a single day, J. Sylvester making that many trips to the judges' stand at Ravenna Park, O., on Oct. 18, 1930. Sylvester had eight chances.

W. Thomas had all seven winners at Townsville, Australia, on July 29, 1929, and Albert Whittaker was up on all seven victors at Huntley, New Zealand, on Feb. 18, 1910.

Ray Drops Three Then Outslugs Angott In Last 7

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 (AP)—Without taking a thing away from Sammy Angott and his "good old college try" at Ray Robinson, it occurs to us fans today that it's about time Freddie-the-Red Cochrane took his welterweight championship out of cold storage so Ray could at least get a shot at it.

Ray may not be the greatest fighter ever to come down the pike, but Harlem Hammer came from far back last night, after losing the first three rounds, to punch Angott around for a 10-round decision last night in the Garden—inspite of the best performance Sammy ever gave in these parts. And with that victory, witnessed by 12,073, Ray has just about cleaned up the entire lightweight and welterweight divisions.

The win was his 33rd in a row as a professional, his 122nd straight in an unbeaten career including his amateur days.

He is slated to take a shot at Cochrane on Sept. 10, after disposing of Reuben Shank, the Denver performer, on Aug. 20. The only hitch there is that Freddie, now a sailor boy, will leave his welterweight title safely in port when he goes to the post.

And since Ray not only has swept up everything in sight under 147 pounds—he scaled 144¼ to Sammy's 139¾ last night—but has done it in a manner that leaves no room for argument, you figure it's about time Cochrane put his title on the line. After all, titles are won—and lost—in the ring, and the best man is supposed to be boss.

Red won the bauble from Fritzie Zivic exactly a year ago last Wednesday. One of Robinson's handlers said last night Red had turned down an offer for 60 per cent of the gate for a title brawl — in which case Robinson would fight for nothing—and wanted $50,000 on the barrelhead to defend the bit of bric-a-brac. When the welterweight crown can be traded in for that kind of sugar, you'll probably see Jimmy McLarnin and Mickey Walker running over each other trying for a comeback.

Knights Defeat St. Peter's 23-19

In a Catholic League slugfest Friday night at Memorial Park Knights of Columbus defeated St. Peter's 23 to 19. There was heavy hitting by both teams with the Knights hitting when they were needed most.

St. Peter's went into the last inning with a five-run lead but when the fireworks had died down the Knights had scored ten runs and the best the Saints could do in their last half was a single counter.

There were no individual stars for the Knights as they all played a bang-up game while Rochetta, Fr. Wolfe and Tompkins looked best for the Saints.

The line ups:

Knights: Reilly, 1b; Tracey, 3b; Mongraw, p. ss; Galvin, c; Masterson, lf; Anthony, ss, p; Mills, 2b; Mattucci, cf; Baldwin, rf.

St. Peter's: Rochetta, ss; Fr. Wolfe, 2b; Tompkins, 3b; Conroy, lf; Herr, cf; Condon, 1b; Perdue, c; Wade, p; Sullivan, rf.

Score by innings:
Knights	350 320 (10)—23		26	1
St. Peter's	346 005 1—19		15	1

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

There will be no bowling on our greens this evening. This is being don so that the greens will be prepared for the big tournament on Monday.

The games committee met early last evening and have decided on the program that is to follow just as soon as the present schedule is completed. It's to be another rink schedule, with each rink playing ten games. Each bowler will play with his own rink as before, but their opponents will be different. Prizes will be awarded to winners and it is all billed to begin on Monday, August 17. The schedule will be entirely independent of the previous one.

Please take notice that there will be no mixed tournament on the afternoon of Wednesday, August 5. There is no half-holiday that week.

One of the biggest crowds of the season turned out on Friday night in our week-end tourney. It was a great night to bowl. The usual two ten-end games were played. The following skips were the winning ones: J. Cullen, T. McMillan, H. Martin and H. Clegg.

Now about this tournament on Monday. We have made this appeal so many times that you would think the boys would get tired reading it, but it is necessary nevertheless. "Please be on time." If there is one thing that will kill a tournament it is those chaps who are everlastingly dragging their feet.

Give the committee your co-operation. It's going to be a long, hard day for those who are trying to put this event over. Think of the other fellow. 10 o'clock is the hour for the tournament to start.

Urge C.A.H.A. Keep Rule Upon Pros

OTTAWA, Aug. 1.—(CP)—Cecil Duncan, secretary of the Ottawa and District Hockey Association, said last night he has received a letter from Frank Sargent, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, urging C.A.H.A. branches to stand by an agreement with the National Hockey League which requires a reinstated professional to obtain N.H.L. permission before returning to amateur hockey.

Duncan said the National League has made representations to the C.A.H.A. special committee in this respect. If the agreement is adhered to, it would prevent any N.H.L. player now in the armed forces from playing with a civilian club without first obtaining permission from the professional club.

Sentry Go Easy For Reeve After Mat Tilts

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SOMEWHERE ON CANADIAN WEST COAST, Aug. 1.—(CP). — Stars of Canada's athletic world who have given up games for guns now stand on guard on the west coast under one of the outstanding sports figures of them all—Major Conny Smythe, former manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League.

In their ranks is a man who chronicled many of their doings—Gnr. Ted Reeve, former sports columnist of the Toronto Telegram. Reeve claims that his experience as a sports writer has stood him in good stead as a soldier, particularly when he's on sentry duty.

"I learned to stay awake during wrestling matches, so now I can stay awake during just about anything," he said.

Major Smythe said his men are living within earshot of the pounding Pacific swells. Among those who were prominent in Ontario hockey, box lacrosse and softball circles prior to their enlistment are Bdr. Jack Williams of Mimico and Gnrs. Archie Dixon, Jessie James, Doug. Gillespie and Nossy Attanasoff of Toronto.

There is also Bdr. Dan MacKenzie, who formerly played for Toronto Argonauts, and Gnr. Clair Chenery and Capt. Jim Boeckn, well-known golfers. Gnrs. Johnny Krycia and Gordie Gill were prominent in Toronto baseball circles and Sgt. Fred. Brown and Gnr. "Spoke" Wychnenkatky were well-known athletes.

It's a democratic encampment. Most of the officers and men knew one another prior to the war, and many of those in the ranks gave up highly-paid jobs to join the army.

A cheery bunch, the unit is working hard and training constantly in defence tactics. Gnr. Reeve says he's found the perfect camouflage for himself and his companions after a spell of west coast rain—they just have to step off the broadwalk into the mud and nobody can see them.

Whirly Tip Top For Arlington

CHICAGO, Aug. 1—(AP).—This was the race in which Whirlaway expected to match noses at the finish with Alsab. But the game little Alsab was on the sidelines until Monday's opener at Washington Park and today's $25,000 handicap, closing event on a 36-day program at Arlington, was between the long-tailed Whirly and "eight other horses."

A total bankroll of $31,600 was in the offing, if all nine horses start. Whirlaway's all-time earnings of $454,336 have a chance to be swelled by additional $24,000 should Warren Wright's perennial champion come through today.

By admission of Trainer Ben Jones, Whirlaway is in tip-top shape for the Arlington windup. But anxious to test this declaration were Rounders, which finished second to Whirly in the Massachusetts handicap; Sirocco, 1940 Arlington classic winner; Louis B. Mayer's Reading II., No Competition, Staretor, Pumpgun, Best Seller and Equitable.

Called up to provide the timing for Whirlaway's usual late rush to the front was Eddie Arcaro, who brought Shut Out home to win the Arlington classic last Saturday. Arcaro flew here from Saratoga Springs for today's assignment.

Whirlaway himself goes to Saratoga Springs tomorrow for a series of eastern engagements which may include the Whitney, the Wilson and the Saratoga Cup races. His handlers expect Whirly to boost his earnings to $500,000 in short order.

Remember When—

Percy Williams was eliminated from the 100-metre dash in a semi-final at the Los Angeles Olympics ten years ago today. Eddie Tolan, United States Negro, won the heat, equalling the Vancouvr star's world record time of 10.3 seconds set in 1930. Williams finished fourth.

The baseball world was shocked two years ago today by the suicide death of Willard Hershberger, 29-year-old catcher of Cincinnati Reds of the National League. Hershberger, in his third season with the Reds, was apparently despondent over his recent play and was found dead in a downtown Boston Hotel.

Boston Red Sox Hit Tigers 7-6; A's Down Indians

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer.

"Twi-night" double-headers, baseball's wartime contribution to the working man, may mean a boost at the box office for most of the teams, but they're a pain in the neck to the New York Yankees.

Even when they win, which is most of the time, the champions of the world still are old-fashioned enough to believe that double-headers are for Sundays and holidays, and that night baseball is for the minor leagues.

But this unnatural distortion of the national pastime is particularly displeasing to the Yankees for the simple reason that they find themselves now and then on the short end of the scores.

In their own park, equipped with all the modern conveniences except a set of lights, the Yankees do about as they please. But in recent westward journeys the champs have bumped into bargain bills that start before supper.

After they took the field at St. Louis yesterday to play the Browns in one game at 5 p.m. and a second at 8:30, they blew a five-run lead as the Brownies handed them their third straight loss, 9-8 in the opener. They had to call on Spurgeon Chandler to put an end to such foolishness by blanking the Browns on three hits in the afterpiece, winning 8-0 and running his consecutive shutout innings to 23.

His 12th Victory.

Charlie Keller and Joe Gordon helped Chandler hang up his 12th win against two defeats. Keller walloped his 16th homer with a man on base in the second frame. Gordon added a two-run homer in the seventh.

In the opener, the Browns came from behind with a 17-hit attack which routed Hank Borowy and brought Johnny Murphy to the mound just in time to save Borowy's record of 10 victories and one defeat and absorb the loss himself, his fifth in a row.

A six-run rally in the sixth inning, in which George McQuinn homered with a man aboard and Mike Chartak clouted a four-bagger with two on base, put the Browns ahead to stay.

The Boston Red Sox cut the Yankees' American League lead to a dozen games by nipping the Detroit Tigers, 7-6, in an afternoon game and the Cleveland Indians dropped a full game behind the second-place Red Sox when they bowed to the Philadelphia Athletics 6-4, in a night affair.

In the Boston-Detroit game Charley Gehringer hit a pinch home run with a mate on base for the losers, and Ted Williams smacked his 23rd homer of the year for the Red Sox. Tony Lupien also hit a homer for the winners.

Bob Johnson's three-run circuit smash provided what proved to be the winning runs for the Athletics.

Seven-hit pitching by Johnny Humphries carried the Chicago White Sox to a 7-2 triumph over the Washington Senators in another night contest with Myril Hoag hitting a triple and double and Taft Wright a triple and single.

In the only game played in the National League, the Cincinnati Reds tightened their grip on third place by bumping the Boston Braves 5-2 on a three-hit pitching job by Gene Thompson.

Lindsay Loses Bout

VANCOUVER, Aug. 1.—(CP)—Tony Olivera of San Francisco punched his way to a decision over Kenny Lindsay of Vancouver, Canadian bantamweight boxing champion, in a fast 10-round bout here last night.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Mike Chartak and George McQuinn, Browns, and Spud Chandler, Yankees — Chartak and McQuinn sparked winning rally with homers good for five runs in first game, and Chandler won three-hit shutout in second.

Bob Johnson, Athletics — His three-run homer provided margin of victory over Indians.

Tony Lupien, Red Sox—Hit homer, double and single in triumph over Tigers.

Gene Thompson, Reds—Stopped Braves on three hits, although he had to have help in ninth.

Johnny Humphries, White Sox — Beat Senators on seven hits.

Bethany Downs Millbrook 12-6

MILLBROOK, Aug. 1.— (ENS)— An exhibition game of softball was played between Bethany and Millbrook at the local diamond on Thursday at 6 p.m., with the former winning by a score of 12-6.

B. B. Dawson was plate umpire and Stanford Sloan on bases. A fair number of fans were on hand for the contest, including a representation from the Manvers town o cheer on their home team.

The players were as follows:

Bethany—C. Sisson, p; J. Wilson, c; M. Page, 1b; J. Hannah, 2b; A. Neals, 3b; G. Jarvis, ss K. Moncrief, lf; F. Rowland, cf; E. Jarvis, rf.

Millbrook—G. T. McPherson, ; A. Stewart, c; Grant Henry, 1b; W. Skitch, 2b; H. Oulette, 3b; R. Stewart, ss; Teddy McDowell, lf; D. McKnight, cf; K. Jarvis, rf.

Thursday's game was in the nature of a return contest with the local squad, the Bethany boys having won out at the tussle on their own diamond the previous Friday evening by a total of 15-8.

Chiefs Lambaste Leafs 13-2 Under Delacrug

By the Associated Press.

Its strange how some clubs in the International League have the same qualities of their major league operators.

For instance, Syracuse Chiefs. The majority of fans say the Chiefs have the best pitching staff in the league in Ewell Blackwell, Red Barrett, Nate Andrew and Tom Delacruz.

That is exactly what major league fans claim about the Cincinnati Reds, who have a working agreement with Syracuse. Both the Red Legs and the Chiefs have a weak attack.

Last night proved an exception as the Chiefs came up with 14 hits and 13 runs to allow Delacruz to coast to his 12th victory. Delacrus scattered 9 Toronto hits in notching a 13-2 triumph. Hank Sauer homered in the fifth inning with the bases loaded.

Rochester Red Wings split a double-header with the Baltimore Orioles, winning the opener behind the four-hit pitching of Ira Hutchinson 9-1, and dropping the night cap 8-6. Hutchinson's triumph was his 10th for the last place Wings. A great relief job by Pete Center won the aftermath for the Orioles. Center relieved starter Joe Krakauskas in the fourth and was touched for only one hit in the last 5 1-3 innings.

In the only other game, the Bears defeated Buffalo Bisons 5-2 behind the four-hit tossing of southpaw Tommy Byrne his 13th victory. Hank Majeski led the offence with four hits.

The Sports Round-Up

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sport Writer.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1 — (AP). — Connie Mack comes up with the idea that the major leagues will have to reduce their player limits next season "for the simple reason that there won't be enough players" ...Connie figures that such a reduction, particularly in pitching staffs, will improve the game... Pacific Coast League tried cutting the limit this year and about the only result was a phony "suspension" every time a player was hurt so another guy could be put on the active list...Our idea is that enough minor leagues will fold up before next summer that there will still be a plentiful supply of players still out of the army, but that the clubs likely will have to take a few that wouldn't ordinarily be major leaguers.

Feminine Figures

Bob Hooey of the Ohio State Journal tells one about a feminine baseball fan who protested that his story of a game had credited the Columbus pitcher with too many strikeouts...Bob looked up his score book and verified that Preacher Roe had whiffer 11 rival batsman that particular night..."Yes, he did," admitted the fan, "but at the same time he struck out twice himself. So doesn' two from 11 leave nine?"..Maybe she had something there.

Experience Counts

Felix V. Rozniecki and Sinjo Ryen, two fliers from the "Little Norway' training camp in Canada who have been racing in the Larchmont, N.Y., regatta this week, must have felt right at home when they stepped into one of those litle Snipe Class boats...They escaped from Nazi-occupied Norway in a small boat and were picked up by a British destroyer far at sea.

U-Boat Seizes American Ship Captain

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1 — (AP). —Seizure of an American ship captain as a German submarine's prisoner of war, the first incident of its kind publicly reported since the United States entered the conflict was disclosed yesterday in the Navy's announcement of the loss of a medium-sized American merchant vessel.

Brazil's announcement also of the sinking of her 3,942-ton freighter, Tamandare— attacked by an Axis submarine off Trinidad July 26— boosted to 404 the Associated Press unofficial score of united and neutral nations' sinkings in the Western Atlantic since Dec. 7.

Meanwhile, the captain of the Mexican mercantman Oaxaca revealed in Mexico City that the torpedoing of the ship last Sunday occurred only seven miles off the Gulf Coast, near Corpus Christi. The captain, Francisco Rodriguez, arrived in Mexiso City with thirty-five other survivors of the attack.

Captain Henry Stephenson, of Larchmont, N.Y., 66 year old skipper of the American ship sunk July 9 in the South Atlantic, was ordered aboard a German submarine, survivors reported at a United States East Coast port.

The seamen said the English-speaking U-boat commander manoeuvred his craft alongside their lifeboat, asked for the captain, and then told him:

'You are a prisoner of war. I want you to come aboard. I am very sorry.'

To their pleas that the captain be permitted to accompaly them home, the survivors said, the submarine officer answered: 'We'll treat him well. He'll be aboard only about eleven days.'

Three crewmen were killed in the encounter, but forty-three others escaped. Two American ambulance drivers in the group of fourteen persons in another lifeboat were said to have reached safety at another port.

The Tamandare, Brazil's tenth merchant ship lost since the submarine sinking of the 5,152-ton Buarque off Capt Henry, Va., on Feb. 15, went down in forty minutes with four crewmen killed. Forty-five surivvors were landed at Port of Spain, Trinidad.

Great Fires Left In Saarbruechen

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 1—(CP Cable). —Canadian bomber crews who took part in Wednesday night's attack on Saarbruecken reportel that he city was given 'a good pasting.'

Wing Cmdr. J. D. Twigg of Ottawa, led one R.C.A.F. squadron and his navigator, Flt.-Lt. Gordon Fisher of Regina, said billows of smoke could be seen and even smelled at a considerable altitude.

Po. A. W. Wood of Toronto, saw 'great fires' rising from the city; fires which members of a Canadian Halifax squadron reported were visible for 75 miles.

Sgt. Donald West of Edmonton, captain of a Halifax bomber, described the raid as 'the pilot's pipe-dream.' His crew, which included Flt. Lt. Norman Coull of Cornwall, Ont., and Sgt. H. G. Howard of Albion, Ont., said: "We just went in and came out again without any trouble.'

Flt. Sgt. Joe Stewart of Calgary, who flies with Po. H. G. Shockley, of Vancouver, and Sgt. W. G. McCron, Toronto, said his crew saw a big explosion which they believed was a gas tank.

'There was a hell of a big explosion,' he said. 'First a white flash, then a red one. It lit up the sky for about 20 miles.'

Indians Jap Guards

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1. (AP). —Indian soldiers formerly in the British Army at Hong Kong now are being employed by the Japanese for sentry and guard duties, China news service reported today in a Chungking broadcast received by its San Francisco agency.

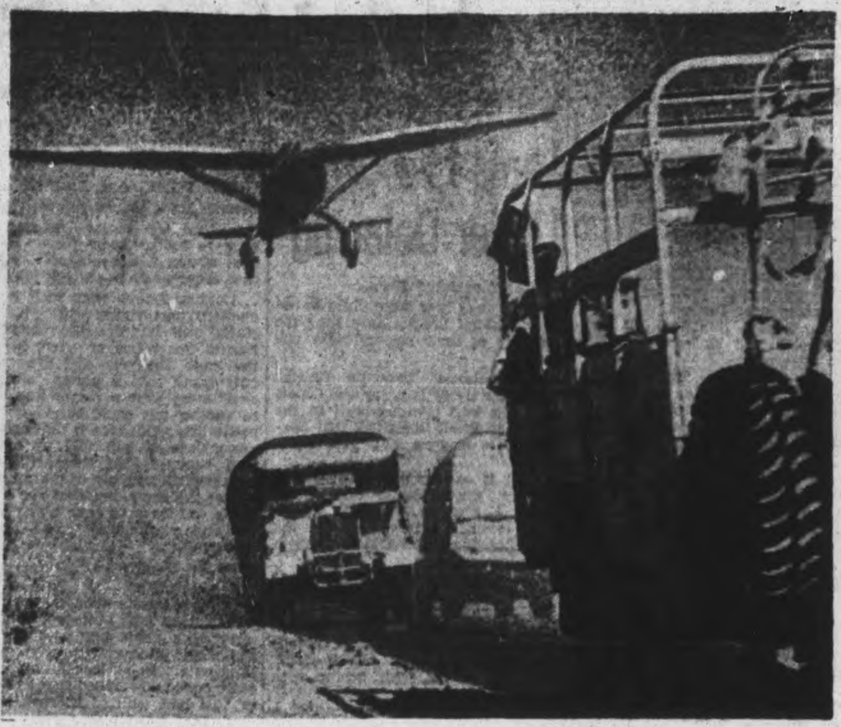
The report, from Kweilin in southern China, was credited to a Mrs. Gaston, Hong Kong-born Indian woman who escaped from the captured island.

Mrs. Gaston was quoted as saying that all Indian nationals at Hong Kong have been compelled to register for military service or be denied their food rations.

Shot Down German

LONDON, August 1 — (CP). — Gunners of a merchant ship shot down into th sea yesterday a German Messerschmitt plane which attacked the vessel, the Admiralty announced to-day. A second Messerschmitt was driven off and the ship continued her voyage unharmed.

Planes Convoy Trucks With Supplies For El Alamein



A British truck convoy, moving up to the front with supplies near El Alamein, in Egypt, is closely guarded by planes to prevent raids by Axis aircraft. One fighter plane is shown here as it swooped low over the convoy. In the desert battle for Egypt, even water has to be transported many miles. Convoys of both sides take terrific batterings, but the United Nations have won air superiority here.

Ottawa Extends List Of Goods Due For Subsidy

OTTAWA, Aug. 1—(CP).—New schedules classifying goods eligible or ineligible for subsidy from the Commodity Prices Stabilization Corporation were announced today by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

The list of goods eligible for subsidy when the importer has entered into a prior agreement with the Corporation has been extended to include cereal grains and products milled from cereal grains, feeds, molasses, paper bags and paperboard containers, pharmaceutical preparations, petroleum, petroleum products, tearaethyl lead, automobile parts and accessories and buttons and buckles.

The new schedule of goods specifically excluded from subsidy consolidates previous ineligible lists and includes products exempt from the price ceiling and certain raw materials and foodstuffs imported by government agencies because of the great difficulty of obtaining supplies. Goods accorded special tariff concessions in lieu of subsidy assistance, certain manufactures made of vital materials and many other goods not considered essential imports also are excluded.

Some Excluded

Some important additions to the list of items excluded from subsidy are: soap, olive oil, electric light bulbs, sundry metal goods, cut and crystal glassware, carpets and linoleum, fancy leathers, boots and shoes, luggage and purses ,and unenumerated manufactures of paper, plastics, asbestos, lead, zinc, brass and copper, aluminum, nickel plate, tin, wood and leather. Tea, coffee, cocoa beans and sugar also appear on the list but are not new additions, having been regarded as ineligible for some time because of special import arrangements.

"A proviso of the schedule of non-eligible goods clarifies the position of parts for repair or replacement and for original meaufacture," the Board said. "Interested persons are asked to bring to the attention of the Board any essential imports which threaten to disappear from the Canadian market because inadvertnetly excluded from subsidy through being classified under basket tariff items in the schedule."

In an outline of policy, the Board said:—

"If import prices rise to a degree which cannot be absorbed by trade and industry, or if difficulties connected with supply and transportation threaten to interfere with the orderly flow of necessary goods in adequate quantities, action by direct goernment purchase, by the reduction of duties or taxes on imported goods or by the payment of subsidies may be taken."

Smoking Them Up

LONDON, Aug. 1—(CP Cable).—Crews of two Canadian squadrons shared in coastal command successes in attacks on enemy shipping off the Frisian Islands last night, the Air Ministry news service announced.

One medium ship was left enveloped in a cloud of smoke and another vessel was seriously damaged. Explosions and smoke were seen after attacks on others, although accurate observation of the result was impossible because of concentrated flak.

The Canadians were credited with a supply ship while pilots of the "Dawn Patrol" squadron reported "an enormous cloud of black smoke" came from the ship they attacked.

Vancouver Jail Break Solved

VANCOUVER, Aug. 1 — (CP).— Police yesterday wrote a jail-breaking came off their books as completed with the surrender of John F. Dow, alias Dillon, 22, and capture of John Pethick, 38, and redoubled their efforts to solve a bank holdup and slaying.

Police announced that Dow walked into the city police station and surrendered himself. He had been hunted since early Wednesday when he escaped from a city jail cell with John Pethick, 38, after police said the pair had sawed their way through bars and lowered themselves to the ground by means of blankets. Pethick was captured in an east end hotel.

Meanwhile, a reward notice was posted by the Canadian Bankers' Association for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any persons or persons concerned in the $56,505 holdup of a Bank of Montreal branch office at Main and Prior streets yesterday.

Police also are investigating the robbery and murder of Mrs. Alexia Sloan here Monday night.

They announced a search is under way for a Revelstoke man who registered at an east end hotel, where the body of Mrs. Sloan, 42, was found.

Brewery Gifts On Banned List

OTAWA, Aug. 1—(CP). — Promotion of beer sales by distributing as premiums any articles advertising brewers or their products will be prohibited after September 1, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announced today, along with the practice of supplying equipment to beverage rooms free of charge.

The Board said the new order, which the brewing industry had agreed to, also prohibits use of containers designating any "particular season, holiday or other special event or occasion."

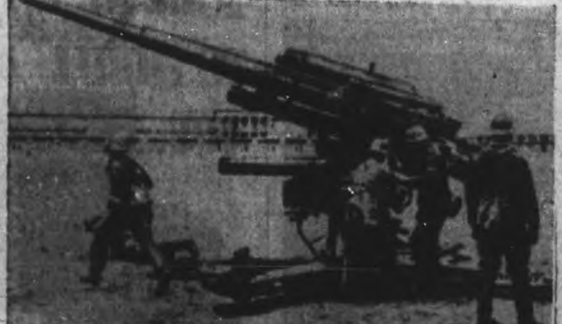
Elaborating on distribution of premiums and tokens, the Board said:—

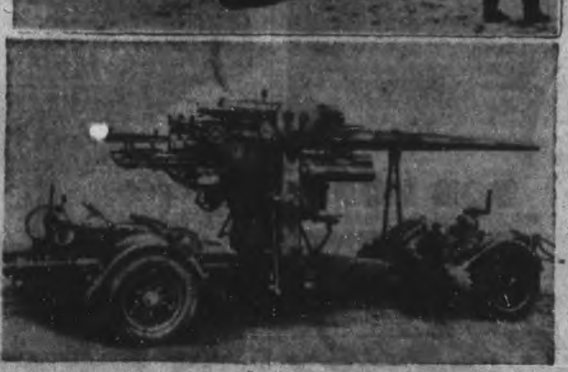
"No brewer is permitted to donate, supply or distribute as a gift, token or premium any article, commodity, substance or thing of any shape or form which in itself or by means of any printing ,engraving or stamping of any name, trade mark or design thereon designates or is capable of designating the name of such brewer or the trade mark or design of any product produced by him."

The order also prohibits any brewer from directly or indirectly donating, loaning, renting, supplying, selling or deliering to any licensed vendor any equipment, furnishings, fixture, electrical apparatus, glasses or other accoutrements ordinarily used in a beverage room, beer parlor or other place where beer is sold for consumption on the premises.

No prohibition is provided against any provincial association or organization of brewers donating such equipment to any wet canteen operated by the armed forces.

Here's That Pesky Nazi 88MM Gun





Here are two views of the famous 88-millimetre dual purpose gun used so effectively by Rommel's armies in North Africa. British and U.S. experts say the gun is good, but not unbeatable and that this gun or Allied anti-tank guns can stop tanks—if the tanks let themselves get into position to become targets. This gun is best known as an anti-tank weapon, but is equally effective as an anti-aircraft piece. At TOP a German gun crew is seen handling the weapon, and BELOW, the 88mm. gun is pictured on wheels for rapid movement.

None After Aug. 15

OTTAWA, Aug. 1—(CP).—Manufacture of vacuum cleaners after Aug. 15 has been prohibited, except by permit from the Supplies Controller Alan H. Williamson, it was announced today by the department of munitions and supply. Retail selling of vacuum cleaners is not affected.

The new order amends a previous one which permitted vacuum cleaner manufacture up to 75 per cent of the monthly average rate during 1940.

Soldier Is Killed

ORILLA, Ont., Aug. 1—(CP).— One soldier was killed and two more injured today when an army truck collided with a fruit truck about two miles west of here on Highway 11.

The dead man is Pte. Bernard Charles King, 26, of Toronto. Pte. Jack Rawson, Bracebridge, Ont. suffered internal injuries, possible fractured ribs and head cuts, and Pte. Alfred J. Rossingal of Grand Falls, N.B. suffered severe face cuts and possible fractured ribs.

TREASURER'S SALE OF LANDS FOR TAXES

COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH.

TO WIT:

BY VIRTUE OF A WARRANT made under the hand of the Warden and Seal of the County of Peterborough and to me directed, bearing date the 8th Day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Forty-two, I am commanded under the authority of the Statutes in that behalf to levy on the land hereinafter mentioned and described for the arrears of taxes due thereon with the costs as hereinafter directed by the said Act. Therefore I give notice that unless the said arrears and costs are sooner paid I will proceed to Sell by Public Auction at the Court House in the City of Peterborough on the Sixth Day of October, 1942 at the hour of Ten o'clock (D.S.T.) in the Forenoon, the said Lands or so much thereof as may be necessary for the Taxes, and all lawful charges incurred in and about such Sales, and the collection of the Taxes.

A List of the Lands for Sale for Arrears of Taxes will be published in The Ontario Gazette on Saturday, July 4th, 1942. Copies of the List of Lands for Sale may be had in my Office.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

MEET ON TUESDAY

The August meeting of the City Council will be held Tuesday evening, transferred from Monday's holiday.

MDSUMMER BLUE.

Blue sailors, the lovely flower of the wild chicory, is touching some of the city streets with patches of color. And that may be a signal to some of the city fathers to get out the sickles and lay the weed by the heels.

JULY BOWS OUT.

And so comes August 1942, the thirty-sixth month of the world war of virtualy universal destruction. On the Peterborough surface it seems to be much the same as all other incoming Augusts for the last hundred years.

BIG COAL PILE

The Utilities Commission has accumulated a two years' supply of coal at the gas plant. She purchase has "taken money out of the bank," but it is regarded as provision against possible future straits in supply or transportation.

AIR GUNNERS GRADUATE.

D. S. Milne of Campbellford was among the air gunners from nearly every province in Canada who graduated on Friday from No. 4 Bombing and Gunnery School of the Royal Canadian Air Force at Fingal. "Sparks" were presented by Wing Cmdr. D. D. Finlay, commanding officer of the school.

TWO VEHICLES SIDESWIPED.

No one was hurt and little damage was done when an automobile driven gy Dr. C. M. Scott and a newspaper truck, driven by Ralph Pierce, Toronto, sideswiped each other early this morning in passing each other south of Kendry on Highway 28. Dr. Scott's car skidded off the road after the accident but was not extensively damaged. Fenders on the newspaper vehicle were crumped.

THEY WANTED SUCKERS

Two young boys had a wonderful time Friday night on George street, just above Brock as they hid behind the billboard and waited for some unsuspecting soul to appear on the scene. On the sidewalk below them there was a small black purse attached to a slender black wire and the boys were almost beside themselves with glee every time they saw a possible customer approaching. However they rather spoiled their chances, because as people approached their mirth would get the better of them and the escaping snickers served as a warning.

NO ROTARY MEETING

As Monday is Civic Holiday there will be no meeting of the Peterborough Rotary Club. The next luncheon will be held on Monday, August 10.

GETS SEVEN DAYS

Norman Gawley, 19, pleaded guilty before Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court this morning with having control of a motor vehicle while intoxicated and was sentenced to seven days in jail. The youth, who told the court that the car involved was the property of his father, was arrested by city police early this morning on Brock street.

DRUNKENNESS CHARGES

Three persons were charged with drunkenness before Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court this morning. A local man pleaded not guilty and was successful in securing an adjournment. The other two, one a transient who winced when the magistrate asked him if he wanted 30 days and the other a woman both entered pleas of guilty and were fined $10 and costs.

BRING MAGAZINES.

A barrel is being placed outside of Howard's Men's Store. 326 George Street for magazines of every type. The Y's Men are sponsoring this movement and they will send the magazines collected to the Prince of Wales Rangers stationed at Prince George, British Columbia. These Peterborough men are a long way from home and the reading material collected will be a great boon to them as a means of entertainment.

CIVIC HOLIDAY — POST OFFICE

The public lobby at the Post Office will be open from 6.30 a.m. to 8.00 p.m. The General Delivery, Registration, Postage Stamp, Money Order and Savings Bank wickets will be open from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. No letter carrier delivery will be given. There will be the regular delivery by the rural route couriers. The regular afternoon and evening letter box collections will be made. All mail posted at the Post Office will be despatched as usual. All special delivery letters received will be delivered as usual.

Harvest Apples 50 Cents Basket

Have your apples of the Hesperides, if you may, and thats exceedingly unlikely; Arthur Stenson's Red Astrahkans will do for the rest of us. And nn the market this morning they were only 50 cents a basket, similar in their color and markings to the Astrahkans of boyhood plunder. That is a word which wouldn't find favor with Mr. Stenson, especially when related to apples, but still it represents the fact, although with considerable exaggeration. Probably the Stenson fruit also has 'water cores,' proof of the ultimate in Astrahkan goodness and also beyond any popsickle comparison.

Duchess apples were 35 cents the basket and local field grown tomatoes 10c a pound.

The Bickells of Pleasant View Gardens, Bowmanville were showing a mass of bloom of seedling gladiolus. It is a pale lemon color, and should be of interest to the 'glad' growers.

Potatoes were $2.25 a bag, no change from last week. Herb Doig brought a huge load of garden products to the market a week ago, and apparently he had doubled everything this morning.

Driver Remanded On Three Charges

Arrested on Highway 28 Friday night by Provincial Traffic Officer L. A. McClure, following an accident near Scott's Corners, George Tapscott of Port Hope faced three charges before Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court this morning.

He was charged with drunk driving, failing to remain at the scene of an accident, and driving a motor vehicle while his driving permit was suspended

Tapscott pleaded guilty to failing to remain at the scene of an accident but not guilty to the other two charges.

"I was not driving," he told the court.

At the request of the Crown he was remanded until Wednesday with bailed fived at $500.

Arrives In Honolulu

Miss Vera Clarke, daughter of Mrs. Robert Clarke of Norwood, has been reported safely arrived in Honolulu with the fifth and last contingent of almost 100 American Red Cross nurses sent in recent months from the mainland. They will be stationed in civilian hospitals operated under the supervision of the United States Army. Miss Clarke received her trainini at the Beth Israel Hospital School of Nursing, New York City.

July Building Totals $58,820

The $35,000 job at the Dominion Woollens helped materially in rounding out the total amount of the building values for July. $74,764 as compared with $58,820 for Forty-four permits aggregated July last year.

Although last month showed an improvement in the record, the total for seven months this year is $194,075 against $784,172 for seven months last year.

July's activities at City Engineer Parsons' office were: 4 garages, $1,130; 9 dwellings, $29,800; 31 miscellaneous, $43,834.

And for the seventh month last year: 5 garages, $545; 9 dwellings, $42,940; 15 miscellaneous, $58,820.

117 Boys Attended Vacation Club

The Vacation Club at the Y.M.C.A. ended with a bang Friday after two weeks of interesting activities and instruction that included finger painting and modelling under Miss C. Wagar, costume jewellry and coping saw work under the direction of Miss Lena Dewart, and both were asisted by Miss Dorothy Grady. Gordon Minty and Doug McPherson were in charge of the learn-to-swim-and-play-baseball groups, and the number in each group varied from between 20 to 25 and close to 30 in the other activities. Both Miss Marion Best and Miss Frances Wells helped out with the piano.

Besides visits to the Examiner, the Peterborough Canoe Company and other places of interest the boys had stunts, sing-songs and movies. On Thursday the boys had a play day at Nicholls Oval and during the games pictures were taken, to be sent overseas.

The total number of boys enrolled were 117 and only 42 of these were actual Y.M.C.A. members. The attendance averaged between 80 and 90 a day and all the boys had a wonderful time during their two weeeks. They had good wholesome activities along with educational projects and all were reluctant to see the club stop.

Music Critic Dies

NEW YORK, August 1—(AP). — The death of Edward Irenaeus Prime-Stevenson, 74, music critic and author, in Lausanne, Switzerland, on July 23 became known here tody. Prime-Stevenson founded the music department of the old Harper's Weekly, was music critic for many years of The Independent, and served on the editorial staff of Harpers and Brothers. He was a native of Madison, N.J.

They Left Anyway

RUEEKA, Calif., Aug. 1—(AP).— County grand jurors said the Ferndale city jail was in deplorable condition, but the Ferndale Chamber of Commerce replied: There were only two prisoners in the past year; and the jail was "more comfortable than the butter from which the men were removed." Anyway, said the Chamber of Commerce, the jail door was left open and when the prisoners found out about it they skipped town.

JOBE'S TOMATO GARDEN

It was rumored along Simcoe street today that as the Peterboroug Lock Company employees are taking their annual vacation next week that Jack Jobe, who has gone into the growing of tomatoes, would appreciate any of the boys who are remaining in town if they would help him to stake up his new variety. And there lies a "tale."

Utilities Plans To Continue New Water Main

Continuation this year of the laying of the new water main on Bethune street from its present upper terminus at Park Hill Road to the corner of Aylmer and Wolseley streets was authorized by the Utilities Commission Friday afternoon.

Estimated cost of this additional link in the 18-inch force main is $18,000, according to the report to the Commission by R. L. Dobbin, manager.

Funds for the work will be available from a $10,000 surplus of the money borrowed by issuing debentures for this year's project plus $8,000 from the expected revenue for 1942.

G. S. Matthews presided at the meeting, the first in nearly a month, as arranged for the "dog days of the year, and the two other Commissioners, G. A. Macdonald and Fred Hills, were present.

Costing $9 A Foot

Mr. Dobbin informed the Commission that the present work on Bethune street should reach Sherbrooke street by the middle of August. The approximte cost, charged to capital, will be about $40,000.

"We figured it would cost $10 a foot, and actual costs are running under $9," Mr. Dobbin said, "so we think our estimate of $18,000 for the extension to the north this fall is fair."

"We sold debentures amounting to $50,000 to pay ofr this work, and, in addition, we set up a reserve of $15,000 in previous years to take care of part of the cost.

It is apparent that we have about $25,000 available to continue further extension of this main. Its full use will not be realized until we complete the main to the pumping station, and to do this will necessitate the laying of about 8,000 feet more. Our original estimate of cost for this part was $80,000."

An Autumn Job

Mr. Dobbin recommended that the Commission authorize the undertaking of the northern link from Park Hill Road to Wolseley street this fall. At that corner it will connect with a 12-inch main running up Barnardo avenue.

"The 18-inch main on Bethune street is now in use to Charlotte street, but we have not been able to form any close estimate of the effect on pressures in the critical areas at the time of high pumpages. It is, however, beginning to be apparent that pressures in the vicinity of Hunter street and Armour Road will not be increased to a satisfactory point until we construct an additional main of a large size crossing the river. Some improvement could be gained by increasing the main on Armour Road from Dufferin street to Douro street from 6 inches to 8 inches. This would cost about $3,000. The logical place to cross the river would be at Park Hill Road with a ten or eight-inch main. This would connect at Water street with an existing 12-inch main."

The Commission, considering Mr. Dobbin's report, decided first to defer the Armour Road main until some time late, and also the extra main across the river, which Mr. Dobbin was asked to give some further study.

Opinion was unanimous for proceeding with the Bethune street main northerly to Wolseley street this year.

Ned Priority Order

"We have got to get authority from the metal controller for more 18-inch pipe," Mr. Dobbin said, "and that will likely take considerable time."

The 1,800 feet extension is planned for the autumn, depending on the assent of the metal controller.

It has been suggested that the long link from Wolseley street to the pumping station be laid partly across the city property adjoining the Isolation Hospital, and Mayor Hamilton had been consulted about laying out a street on that property, now used for community gardens, on which the main would be constructed on its way to the pumping station. The city owns the property; it is a desirable location on the northern boundary, and the Commission believed that some day it might be built up with houses. For that reareason it was felt that the main might as well be laid on a street which will likely come into being and use some time.

Only Rosy Figures To Be Published

No customs collections news this month, at least for July. Practice at the W. M. Lang office at the corner of Charlotte and George streets dictates publication of only rosy news. If the total collections for a month are less than the amount for the corresponding month last year, they hang up the mum sign. W. D. Parker of the customs staff, replying to a Canadian Press request for the July total this morning, said the Examiner had looked into its 1941 files a month or so ago and dug out the comparative information, and for that offence the Canadian Press can get its Peterborough customs news from some other source, may be.

1,500 Cheese Boxes Weekly Are Promised For Quinte District, Price Remains Same

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Aug. 1.—(CP) —Timber Controller A. S. Nicholson of Ottawa yesterday informed the Belleville Cheese Board that 1,500 cheese boxes will be shipped into the Bay of Quinte district each week to relieve a shortage and the ceiling price will remain at 35 cents a box.

The announcement followed a near-ultimatum by cheese box manufacturers they would stop production unless the price on boxes was increased to 45 cents to take care of the highest cost of veneer and heading for boxes. The Board appealed to the timber conrtoller for a ruling.

The controller said the price ceiling would not be changed because there is no shortage of cheese boxes in Eastern Quebec or the western provinces.

Maxwell Tully Hurt In Crash

Tossed out of his automobile after it collided with another car at the junction of Sherbrooke street and Highway 28 Friday night, Maxwell James Tully, 37, of R.R. 3, North Monaghan, is in St. Joseph's Hospital, suffering from severe concussion, shock and abrasians.

Harold M. Ryan, 183 Stewart street, with Bruce Meredith, 490 Sherbrooke street, as a passenger was driving in from the Kawatrha Golf and Country Club. At Sherbrooke street Mr. Tully, driving out of Peterborough, came along and Ryan told police that as the two vehicles were about to pass, Tully's car seemed to veer into the side of his machine.

Tully was thrown out of the automobile by the crash and was under the rear wheels when rescuers went to his assistance and extricaed him. He was uncohscious.

After the impact Ryan's car ran off the highway into the ditch but did not upset. Neither Ryan nor his passenger was injured and the automobile was not badly damaged.

The car driven by Tully, however, suffered considerable injury from the impact. The injured man was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by ambulance and attended by Dr. Bob Young who said that Tully's condition was better to-day, al though he remained unconscious for abont' 12 hours after the accident, indicating heavy concussion.

Herbert E. Barnes Dies In Strathroy

TORONTO, July 31. — H. C. Boulier, general passenegr agent, Canadian National Railways, announces with much regret the passing of Herbert Evan Barnes, travelling passenger agent, assigned to military duties, who died at Strathroy on July 29 in his 38th year, after a short illness.

Born at Hamilton, Mr. Barnes entered the service of the company at Windsor in 1927 and was appointed city passenger and ticket agent at Peterborough in 1939.

In 1940 he enlisted with the Royal Canadian Air Force, attaining the rank of flight lieutenant subserank of flight lieutenant. Subsequently he returned to the railway in July 1941, as travelling passenger agent, with particular asignment to military work.

During his association with the Canadian National system and the R.C.A.F. Mr. Barnes made many friends, and his untimely loss will be greatly felt by those with whom he had formed such happy relations.

738 New Homes

Perry St. Group Makes $15 For War Victims

The work of children to help the sufferers from air raids over Britain though the city and district fund since the recess from school began is gaining momentum, for in no less than five different points in the city, efforts of a varying nature are being carried on by them to-day, report of which will be following in a few days' time.

To-day's report also chiefly concerns an effort by a group of Perry street children, all girls, four of which belonged to one family, and they have been working for the past three days ,two of which were not at all favorable from a weather standpoint for their open air stand at the corner of George and Perry street.

They had an assortment of wares to offer, which included homemade raspberry pies made by one of the mothers, and they tell how they sold like hot cakes.

This same group turned in a similar effort a year ago, at which time they made $12, and setting out to beat their former record, this year they amply fufilled their objective by raising the nice sum of $15.76, this probably being indicative of their nature, and one cannot but help add ,that children who set out to beat their own previous record in well doing, will be sure to turn out better men and women.

One box collection was made from Northam's Bakery, which has been closed for a few days to get a new decorating job done, and will reopen this Tuesday, the amount being larger than its former collection with $3.85 appearing in their name today.

Carnival August 21

The Range Pals is a group of young people in the surrounding district who meet weekly on Friday at homes of the various members, whose activities since the war began have been largely concerned with assists to war services, many of which have enriched this particular fund. Their latest effort will culminate with a carnival ,to be held at the farm grounds of Arthur Sayer, adjoining the Rifle Range on R.R. No. 7, on Friday, August 21, in the evening. An attractive program has been arranged which will include games of bingo, a sale of aprons, moving pictures, a wheel of fortune,a fish pond and the service of lunch.

Some time ago Mrs. P. W. Hagerman of 555 Water street, made a very fine afghan for the fund, upon which she had herself sold quite a number of tickets, and this group has undertaken to finish out the job, and the draw for this will be made at the carnival that night.

Port Hope Man Held By Police

George Tapscott of Port Hope, was arrested on Highway 28 Friday night by Provincial Traffic Officer Lloyd McClure, following an accident near Scott's Corners, in which a Toronto-bound car was sideswiped by another machine travelling toward Peterborough that did not stop after the crash.

The Toronto car was driven by Abraham Schacht, who had with him as passengers his wife and two children, his sister and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lovat of Toronto.

When the Peterborough-bound automobile sideswiped the other machine, no one was hurt. Schacht, however, called the police when the other vehicle went on wihout stopping and Officer McClure, making a quick run, arrested Tapscott two two miles from the scene of the accident.

Queenie Holden Is Wed To William Jordan

The marriage took place in St. James' United Church on Saturday, August 1, of Queenie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Holden to Ordinary Seaman William Jordan, R.C.N.V.R., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jordan, the Rev. F. W. Craik officiating. The church was decorated with bouquets of gladioli and the music played by Mr. Cecil Lapp. During the signing of the register, Mrs. E. Frost, the bride's aunt, sang "Oh Promise Me."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a gown of forget-me-not blue lace with full pleated skirt and V neckline, with matching blue picture hat and white acessories. She wore a corsage of Bettertime roses. Miss Joyce Dorrell, bridesmaid, wore a gown of pale pink sheer, with bishop sleeves, a shirred waistline, and white accessories. She wore a corsage of Bettertime roses. The best man was Ordinary Seaman John Jordan, R.C.N.V.R., brother of the groom and the uhsers were Mr. M. Holden and Pte. W. Holden, P.W.R., brothers of the bride.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother received wearing a gown of navy blue crepe with white accessories. The groom's mother, who also received, wore a gown of navy blue crepe with white accessories. Later the bride and groom left for Toronto. For travelling the bride wore a dress of green linen with white accessories.

Choir Honors Mrs. Roy Armour

Mrs. Roy Armour, formerly Jean Clarkson of Lang, was guest of honor at a reception given by Mrs. Wallace Wood and Mrs. Cameron on Thursday evening at "Lakeview," Keene. The occasion was a presentation by the choir of Knox Presbyterian Church of a wedding gift to Mr. and Mrs. Armour, in appreciation of the latter's help not only in singing but as organist.

A delightful evening was spent in games and singing. Summer visitors Mrs. Brooks of Bracebridge and Mrs. Joyce of Penetanguishene, with Mrs. Johnstone contributed to the enjoyment of the guests in Brahms and Schubert numbers as well as Scottish favorites.

Paul Family Are Honored

A pleasant entertainment was held in Gilmour Memorial Church, in honor of the Paul family, who are taking up residence in Peterborough on Thursday evening.

The community of S.S. No 2 united with the church in planning this "au revoir" party, and an interesting evening was enjoyed by the large number present.

After games on the lawn under the direction of Miss Phylis Moore, the company assembled in the church, where Dr. M. C. MacLean presided over a short program. Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe of Peterborough contributed two pleasing solos. Mrs. Clayton Telford was accompanist for the evening, rendering a vocal solo and leading the community singing.

C. E. Moore read an address to the guests of honor, expressing appreciation of their great helpfulness in the church and neighborhood, which was followed by the presentation of several gifts; a handsome floor lamp, a two-burner electric plate and an electric iron. The Young Women's Bible Class remembered Miss Jean Paul with a dainty boudoir lamp, and Mr. Gilmour Paul received a pocket flashlight and a bill-fold from the young men.

Acknowledgment of these presents was made by Miss Jean Paul and Gilmour Paul in short speeches.

Dr. MacLean spoke in appreciation of Miss Mabel Paul's long years of service to the church

Later, tea was served from tables artistically arranged, the lace cloths centred with crystal bowls of pink cosmos and petunias, completed with tall green candles in crystal holders. Mrs. Alex Scott and Mrs. Joseph Mann poured tea, while assistants included the Young Women's Bible Class. The general conveners were Miss Isabel Scott and Mrs. Max Archer.

The address follows:

Miss Mabel Paul, Miss Jean Paul,
Mr. Gilmour Paul.

Dear Friends,—Your neighbors of S.S. No. 2, Smith township, have united with the members of Gilmour Memorial Church to entertain you this evening, as guests of honor

On the eve of your removal to Peterborough, it is fitting that we should express to you, our appreciation for your helpfulness in the church and community through many years.

Your home has been a house of hospitality to all, and its spacious rooms were the scene of many happy gatherings.

The musical gift of the Paul family has long been dedicated to the enrichment of services in Gilmour Memorial Church and all its departments.

In you, Miss Mabel Paul, we have had an organist whose place will be hard to fill. Your constant interest, your knowledge of the hymnary and your patient service have been an inspiration to your pastor, your choir and your fellow-members.

To you, Miss Jean Paul, we wish to extend our thanks for the generous contribution of your time, your musical talent and means to further any good cause or to give friendly entertainment in the neighborhood.

To Mr. Gilmour Paul we offer our best wishes for success and happiness.

Every undertaking of the church and community has had your hearty support, the Sunday School, the Mission Circle, the Red Cross have all shared in your usefulness, and in asking you to accept these gifts we are conscious of a distinct loss in our midst.

It is our fervent wish that you may have many friends in your new surroundings.

"For tho' to the utmost ends of the earth
Your duty may bid you fare,
If you go with truth and a friendly heart
You will find friends waiting you there."

(Signed)

Jarvis Airwomen Have Lot of Fun In Evenings Off

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

JARVIS, Ont., August 1—(CP).—Evening on an R.C.A.F. station, and what do the airwomen do on their evenings off?

They have a lot of fun, if Jarvis is an example; even more fun, probably than when they were civilian working girls or living quietly at home.

The airwomen here certainly did not look regimented or standardized after dinner. They appeared suddenly in cute playsuits and bright slacks with little resemblance to the young women who had gone about their duties at No. 1 Bombing and Gunnery School earlier in the day.

From 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. there was "P.T."— physical training — with Sergt. Kay Milligan directing. 'It's fun, and it keeps down the waistline," said the sergeant who comes from Vancouver and who was a brilliant agriculture graduate of the University of British Columbia. "You eat so much better here that you need it."

After P.T., as the sun was slanting down across the lush Norolk County countryside, the girls scattered to do pretty much as they wanted. Their time was their own till bedtime at 10 p.m.

Some members of the R.C.A.F. women's division got back into uniform and trooped off with airmen to the station movie that runs three times a week. As many as the courts others were playing badminton in the big gymnasium. And some, in sun suits were lying on a sheltered piece of grass getting the last rays of the sun.

Over in a field there was a baseball game and an airman was coaching the girls for their league game against W.D.s from Hagersville the next evening. Small, brunette Corporal Mary Pound of Winnipeg, in brown slacks and white sweat shirt, was catching.

The team's best rooter is Airwoman Flora Glass a cook from Calgary. In bright pink slacks and sweater, she was talking a fine baseball game and the team members said they couldn't play without her.

Girls who take their fun a bit more quietly were reading or writing in the airwomen's recreation centre and some had been invited into the airmen's mess where they were chatting or reading. When the girls came to the station, the airmen voted that the girls should be invited to use the library as a common meeting ground. The arrangement doesn't seem to be a hardship on anyone.

Two nights a week the girls ask the men to their own recreation hall. On Thursday there's a dancing party there and on Sunday, games and a sing-song. The library is a popular place in the evening. The airmen and airwomen prefer to read humorous books and murder mysteries, said AW2 Doris Spring of Hamilton, the station's librarian.

But it's not all fun and games on the air station at night and there was plenty of work going on. AW2 Nano Pennefather of Ottawa was wandering about as duty airwoman, relieving the N.C.O.'s. Her job, she said, was to be available wherever she was wanted, to keep things running smoothly. At the minute she was carrying an armful of extra blankets to someone who had been cold the night before.

Eats for Fliers.

It wasn't an off-duty hour for the kitchen staff either. AW M. N. Woodworth of Oliver, B.C.— she said she's called "Blitz" around here — was cooking up a fine hash of meat, vegetables and onions for the night fliers who would be bringing their planes down soon. Preliminary preparations or breakfast were also being made. Corporal Harold Cormier of Moncton, N.B., by his own admission is a "hard man,' and he makes sure the girls keep their white chef's caps on and their white smocks clean. A girl with straggly hair loses a month's leaves.

Girls are slower and steadier in a barracks kitchen said Cpl. Cormier as he prepared a big pan of pumpkin pie for the late fliers. It takes two girls to handle some of the big pots and soup cauldrons where one man could do it, but the girls are faster on the steam table from which the food is served.

The girls clean up better, he said, and pointed to AW. Florence Nightingale from Vancouver, who was sweeping the floor. She stopped long enough to say she thought she was a relative 'distantly removed" of the famous Florence Nightingale. The golden tan she had, she said, resulted from a 48-hour leave at Port Dover, Ont. The people of Port Dover have opened their homes to the airmen and airwomen and give them a chance to spend leaves on the shore of Lake Erie.

Townsend-Outram Nuptials At All Saints' Church

All Saints' Anglican Church, decorated with gladioli and fern, was the scene today for the wedding of Florence Helen Outram, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Outram, Chamberlain street ,to Sidney Walter Townsend, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Townsend, Centre street. Rev. Mr. Spence conducted the marriage service, and Mrs. W. A. Logan presided at the organ and played "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, was gracefully attired in a gown of white taffeta fashioned on princess lines, with a yolk of chantilly lace, leg-of-mutton sleeves ,and a long full skirt falling into a train. Her veil of French silk net fell to the floor in graceful folds from a Mary Queen of Scots head-dress, and she carried a cascade of red gladiolus and bouvardia.

Mrs. Lewis Barry, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor is a princess-style dress of yellow chiffon with three-quarter sleeves. Miss Mildred white, cousin of the bride, and Miss Phyllis Hill, bridesmaids, wore similar dresses of pink and blue net over taffeta. Miss Barbara Outram, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid, wearing a long blue frock of taffeta, with a juliet cap, and carrying a nosegay of roses and sweet-peas. Mrs. Barry carried a cascade bouquet of deep mauve gladiolus, and the bridesmaids sheaves of mixed gladiolus.

Mr. Alex Watson was best man and the ushers were Mr. Lewis Barry and Mr. Archibald Townsend.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Empress Hotel, where the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of navy flowered American crepe with white accessories and a corsage of sweet-peas. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a dress of navy sheer with navy accessories and a corsage of sweet-peas.

Afterwards the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to points east, the bride travelling in a green wool redingote over a flowered silk dress, with matching green hat of the same material, and beige accessories. They will live in Montreal.

Marjorie Tinker Is Bride In Pretty Ceremony

Blue and white gladioli and ferns adorned George Street United Church this afternoon when Rev. H. L. Roberts united in marriage Marjory Helen Tinker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Tinker, Burnham street, and Balfour Duder, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Duder of St. John's, Newfoundland. Mrs. Charles Renaud presided at the organ and during the signing of the register, Mrs. R. Goldie sang "Because."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely frock with a torso length bodice of white silk jersey with V-neckline and three-quarter sleeves, and a long bouffant skirt of white net. Her finger-tip veil of white silk net fell from a halo of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of premier roses. She wore a pearl necklace.

Mrs. S. K. Smith, sister of the bride, was matron of honor in a floor-length gown with a powder blue silk persey bodice and a full net skirt. Miss Catherine Joyes and Miss Helen Wellman were bridesmaids, gowned respectively in lovely frocks of petal pink and turquoise blue over taffeta, made with basque bodices and full skirts. They wore matching flowers in their hair and carried bouquets of supreme roses.

Mr. Sydney Phillips attended the groom, and the ushers were Mr. T. DeBlois and Mr. S. K. Smith.

After the ceremony the bride's mother received the guests at a reception at her home, wearing a gown of rose beige with brown accessories and a corsage of talisman roses.

Church Year Of All Saints' Meets For July

The July meeting of the Women's church year was held in the Parish Hall of All Saints' Church on Thursday afternoon, with 60 members present. The president was in the chair, and the meeting was opened with the singing of a hymn, after which the president led in prayer. She thanked the ladies for turning out in fine numbers on a summer day. Mrs. Ken Jarvis read the lesson from St. Matthew 25, 14-30.

The months then came forward with the money collected and the doxology and National Anthem were sung. The minutes of the last meeting were read and Mrs. R. N. Jones reported for the Navy League Forty articles were knit for the month. Miss Orma Lacheur favored the meeting with two delightful solos accompanied by Mrs. W. A. Logan.

The treasurer reported another gratifying sum had been collected.

Mrs. Joseph Detcher introduced Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, who was guest speaker, and who gave an inspiring address on the subject "Acceptable Discipleship."

A vote of thanks to speaker, soloist and accompanist was moved by Mrs. Albert Watkins, Jr., and this was seconded by Mrs. Ford Warren. The president announced that the next meeting would be held on August 2 when Mrs. Haddow of Bolivia would be guest speaker.

Another hymn was sung, after which Rev. Mr. Sutcliffe closed with prayer. Refreshments were servel by Mrs. Jarvis and her assistants.

Theatre Highlights In Manhattan

By DON GILBERT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, August 1 — (CP)— Lining up production schedules for the new season Broadway producers are turning their attention to an influx of plays by Soviet dramatists.

Public interest in modern Russian life, stimulated by the Red Army's virile fight against Hitler's armies, has been amply demonstrated by the acclaim accorded the Western Hemisphere premiere of Dmitri Shostakovich's Seventh Symphony.

Several scripts of new Soviet plays now are in producers' hands. Best known of these is "Distant Point," by Alexander Afinogenov, outstanding young writer who lost his life in the war. This work already has been produced in London.
after Wednesday's meeting.

Next month it is to have its North American premiere at Kingston, Ont., where it will be presented by Queen's University Summer Theatre with William Angus directing. It is possible that interested Broadway producers will journey up to Kingston, or sent representatives, to inspect the new work.

Two other prospects for the new season are from the pen of Konstantine Simonov. One of them, "Russian People," has been popular in Moscow. The other, "A Fellow from Our Town," deals with the life of a Red Army tank driver.

Phylis Thaxter, formerly of the Montreal Repertory Theatre, has taken over the title role in "Claudia" the Rose Franken Comedy playing a return engagement on Broadway. Miss Thaxter headed the Chicago company for many months, and now takes over from Dorothy Maguire in Manhattan.

Producer John Golden has always found the part of "Claudia" difficult to cast. It calls for a girl who does not look more than 19, yet has the acting ability to portray a young wife who matures from flighty, irresponsible thing into a woman face to face with the graver aspects of life.

Miss Thaxter who did six plays with the Montreal group, carried off this assignment magnificently, her performance at the Chicago opening winning critical bouquets such as "startling discovery" and "radiant young actress."

The vogue of culling play titles from Shakespeare continues. Last season Macbeth provided a title for John Steinbeck's story of occupied Norway, "The Moon Is Down," while from Julius Caesar came "The Strings, My Lord Are False," Paul Vincent Carroll's play dealing with the Clydeside blitz.

September will see the arrival of "The Damask Cheek," which John Van Druten has written as a starring vehicle for the English actress, Flora Robson, last seen on Broadway in the spine-chiller, "Ladies in Retirement."

"Damask Chief" is from Twelfth Night the context being:

"She never told her love, but let concealment like a worm i' the bud, feed on her damask cheek."

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, August 2

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds auguries for very favorable and pleasant activities suitable to the relaxations, enjoyment and sociability of the holiday. The spiritual and intellectual faculties are under impetus to accomplishments of a high order in Sabbath meditation, inciting to writings, preaching and profound teachings.

Those whose birthday it is may have an enjoyable and profitable year, with the intellectual and social talents under excellent stimulus for doing successful work in either direction. Writings, particularly of a serious or serviceable quality, art, music, not forgetting business publicity or newspaper work, are bound to be lucrative.

A child born on this day should have much versatility, with its pen and in speech, inclining to writings of wide diversity, being idealistic and optimistic as well as serious minded.

For Monday, August 3

Monday's astrological augury is a rather conflicting one, with much of promise of achievement in launching major activities under high tempo, but with lack of support or approbation from superiors, employers or the public. Nevertheless, industry and sterling character should break down such resistance.

Those whose birthday it is, although they might encounter opposition and total lack of co-operation from superiors and the public or community, may by force of indomitable will, skill, ingenuity, originality, perseverance and patience succeed in putting over projects of very high order. There may be much nervous strain and emotional upset, but there may be social, domestic and affectional satisfactions.

A child born on this day should have excellent constructive ability, energy, ingenuity and skill.

Trousseau Tea In Honor Of Mary McKerchar

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 1—(ENS). —Mrs. J. I. McKerchar entertained at a delightful trousseau tea on Thursday evening, in honor of her daughter, Mary, whose marriage to Wilfrid E. Lee of Peterborough takes place on Saturday.

The guests, numbering about seventy, were greeted at the door by Miss Mary Goodhand, and ushered into the living room where they were received by Mrs. McKerchar, Miss Mary, and the groom's mother, Mrs. E. E. Lee of Peterborough.

Refreshments were served in the dining room. The table was beautiful with a lovely lace cloth which had been made by Mrs. W. J. Charlton. Vases of zinnas, sprays of slver grapes, wth slver bells cascading from the chandelier, combined to form an artistic setting for the dainty refreshments. Punch was served by Mrs. Harry Sherin, Mrs. Wil Charlton, and Mrs. W. W. Leonard. Misses Doris Charlton and Phyllis Lee assisted.

Miss Cora Charlton displayed the lovely trousseau, and Miss Viola Lee showed the guests the wedding gifts.

DOROTHY DIX

YOUNG GIRLS ARE SLOPPY IN BEHAVIOR AND CLOTHES.

Their Mothers, Too, Are Found Lacking in Good Manners.

When women think about making themselves attractive, they think only about their figures, their clothes and their hair-dos. If they can achieve a stringbean silhouette and wear the latest little number from a specialty shop and have an eruption of freak curls on their heads, they consider themselves perfectly irresistible. Apparently it does not enter their minds that they need manners to complete the ensemble, as salesladies say. Yet, after all, the thing that we admire most in a woman is not her looks, but the graciousness of her personality.

Occasionally of course, you come across a woman who is gentle and tactful and respectful of the rights of others and who handles all those with whom she comes in contact with velvet gloves, but such conduct rates her as belonging to an older generation. The average young girl of to-day would rather be accused of breaking all the Ten Commandments than of having good manners. She is as sloppy in her behavior as she is in her clothes, and if the general public doesn't like it, she can tell them in no uncertain terms where they can go.

This seems a hard indictment to bring against the young, but if you will check it up against your own experience with them, you will see how true it is. Invite the average young girl to spend a week-end with you. Does she consider for a minute that you have spent time and work and money in trying to give her pleasure, and that the least return she can make for your efforts in her behalf is to fall in with the ways of the household and to pretend to be having a good time even if she is bored stiff?

Not she. Not at all. If she does not want to get up for breakfast she lies abed, no matter how much it disrupts your day's schedule and makes the cook threaten to leave. If she doesn't like the food, she says so with frankness that appalls you. If she doesn't like your guests she doesn't bother even to be polite to them.

She Is Good Riddance.

If she thinks she looks well in a bathing suit, she continually wonders why you don't have a swimming pool. And if she doesn't want to, she won't play golf or tennis, or do any of the things you have arranged for her amusement. She is as openly glad to go home when the visit is over as you are secretly glad to have her go.

She practically never troubles to write a bread and butter letter unless her mother nags her into doing it. Nor, for that matter, do brides often make the gesture of gratitude for wedding gifts that is so appreciated when it comes spontaneously and hot off the griddle, so to speak, and that falls so flat when it is postponed for months and months until you have forgotten when it was that you sent Marybelle for a bridal present, and whether she married the Jones lad or the Smith boy, or somebody you never heard of.

Of course, respect for one's elders is an outmoded sentiment that has gone into the discard long ago with stocks and bustles, but nevertheless it does give you a shock when you hear a young boy flatly contradict a man old enough to be his grandfather, and telling him he must have gotten his opinions out of the moth balls.

Mothers Lack Manners.

On the contrary, when we see a young girl sitting down and having a nice chat with an old lady, we think she is so sweet and dear we want to go out and buy her a present, or make her the queen of May or something.

But the young girls are not the only ones who lack good manners and disdain to use any suavity in dealing with others. There are their mothers. Stand in line in any queue, as we have to do so often in these days and some husky woman will elbow you out of your place and crash in ahead of you. Go to a restaurant and you will see women combing their dandruff into their neighbors' soup plates and making up their faces, with a total disregard of the nausea it induces in the beholders. Give a party and your guests will smear your embroidered towels with lipstick and ruin your mahogany with wet glasses.

Listen to wives bawl out their husbands in public, and you will think that what this country needs more than anything else is a revival of good manners among women. Perhaps women don't like to be called the gentle sex any more, but no woman is so attractive as the one who speaks softly, who is sweet and gracious in all her ways, and who says to us the pleasant things that make us purr, instead of feeling like committing mayhem upon her.

"Manners maketh the man," says the old proverb. It does all of that, and more, for a woman. It makes her adorable.

Jolly Games for Your Next Party

Your Guests Go A-Hunting

What's this? Big game hunters routed by a toy mouse? These hilarious goings-on are called "On Safari" and it's a grand game to play at your next party.

Give each guest a toy gun—or one cut from cardboard—and announce a prize for the largest bag of game to be caught in 30 minutes. Lions and tigers count 25, elephants and giraffes 10, mice one point.

You have previously hidden about the room pictures of animals cut from inexpensive children's books. But more fun to have the mice mechanical ones, let them scuttle suddenly on the scene! For the biggest kill, award a toy elephant.

Another rollicking game is "Who Am I?" Pin the name of a famous person on the back of each player and let him learn his identity by asking questions: "Am I dead yet?" "What's my claim to fame?" Give a tin horn to the first to guess his name.

And did you ever try "Magic Writing," "Card Toss Fortunes?"

They're great fun—like the dozens of other games and stunts given in our 32-page booklet. Has ice-breakers, team games, guessing contests, fortune games to make you the most popular party-giver in town.

For your copy of "Party Games for All Occasions" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to the Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE
WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

A CHANCE THAT PAYS

AN "ALMOST stopper," such as three cards headed by a jack or a doubleton queen, or perhaps four little cards, may be considered enough to hazard a No Trump game contract, in preference to a minor suit game, if your partner has indicated pretty fair general strength. That is especially true if your hand is of a balanced pattern, containing no very pronounced suit-length value or any ruffing advantages such as are afforded by a singleton or void suit. Taking 11 tricks at a minor is in such cases a greater gamble than chancing your partner's having the cards that turn your quasi-stopper into a positive one.

	♠ 7 5 ♥ Q 8 7 ♦ A K 10 9 3 ♣ A 10 4
♠ Q 8 3 2 ♥ A 5 4 ♦ 7 5 4 ♣ J 7 3	N W E S	♠ K J 10 9 ♥ K 10 9 2 ♦ 8 ♣ 9 8 6 2
	♠ A 6 4 ♥ J 6 3 ♦ Q J 6 2 ♣ K Q 5

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
4 ♦	Pass	5 ♦

No matter what South tried on this deal, he could not make his contract after West led the diamond 4. There was bound to be one loser in spades and two in hearts, and the defenders got them, to beat the contract a trick.

After the 3-Diamonds by North, South, with his evenly balanced hand, positive stoppers in spades and clubs, and almost a stopper in hearts, should have bid 3-No Trumps. His reason for not doing so was his fear of the heart suit. North's big bid, however, which could not possibly be based entirely on diamond strength, but had to guarantee a certain amount of power in other suits, made it extremely likely he held something in hearts. Even the Q and a single guard would have been enough, or four to the 10, or possibly any four at all, possibly even any two if the longer opponent had no more than four. As it is, nine tricks could not have been stopped.

Your Week-End Lesson

What do veterans of the game mean when they speak of a "combination tenace?" Can you give an example of one with which the declarer can finesse by leading the suit himself? Also an example of one which will work to his advantage only if he can force a defender to lead the suit to him? Can you recall or construct a single hand in which both are exemplified in different suits?

Theft Of Tire Casings

TORONTO, July 31 — (CP). — Four Toronto men in Police Court here yesterday pleaded guilty to chargest of accepting sale and delivery of tire casings from Earl Holmes or agent without a permit and were remanded to August 17 for sentence.

They were E. G. Fessenden, A. W. Mitchell, A. F. Jarmen, and J. A. McNeil. The four were charged under the Department of Munitions and Supplies Act.

Queen Accepts Kitchens

LONDON, July 31 —(CP)—The Queen Wednesday accepted seven mobile kitchens donated by the Canadian Women's Conservative party and presented by Viscount Bennett, former Prime Minister of Canada.

The Canadian Press Wednesday attributed the gift to "the women of Canada," following the wording of a press release which did not identify the women's organization in detail.

This Week In Radio

Britain to America, the variety program featuring Britons from all walks of life and with Leslie Howard as narrator, will be broadcast over CBL at 5.30 Sunday.

Bob Hope and his gang will take Victory Parade to one of the U.S. army camps on Sunday, August 2, at 6.30 p.m., WEAF. With Hope will be Vera Vague, Frances Langford, Jerry Colonna, the Six Hits and a Miss and the orchestra of John Scott Trotter.

Beginning on Sunday, L. W. Brockington, K.C., former special adviser to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and now with the British Ministry of Information, will broadcast a series of talks over CBL at 9.00 p.m. Mr. Brockington is a most gifted after-dinner speaker and is a former chairman of the governors of CBC.

Violinist Jasch Heifetz will be the principal soloist in an all-Russian concert to be heard Monday over WEAF at 9.00 p.m.

Monica Mugan is back from her vacation to tell women listeners about the interesting people and places she visited. She may be heard at 11.15 every morning over CBL.

Thursday and Friday of this coming week at 6.30 p.m., CBL will give a commentary on the day's play at the Canadian open golf championship. On Saturday, August 8, at 4.32, the finals will be broadcast from the Mississauga golf course.

"Second Husband" and "Amanda of Honeymoon Hill," two series which formerly were broadcast over WJZ, will now be heard over WABC, Monday through Friday., "Second Husband" to be heard at 10.30 a.m., and "Honeymoon Hill" at 11.15 a.m.

Just Mary is back again, and there will be rejoicing in many homes, as stories for the very young will be heard again Sundays at 1:15 p.m. —CBL.

Allan Prescott, who has won for himself one of the largest feminine audiences in radio during his Monday through Fridays "Matinee," will be pleased to hear that he will also have a program Saturday nights at 10.00 p.m. over WJZ. Anyone who has heard his kitchen hints and Wife Saver series, will be glad to tune in on this mirth-provoking program.

Shorthand Course for Home Study

Practise For Promotion

Chances do come in business, but only those who're ready can profit by them. A way to be re[illegible] is to learn a skill, shorth[illegible] in your spare time.

[illegible]orthand isn't difficult. You ca[illegible] learn it in simple home lessons. Then when an opportunity comes you're trained, ready to step in—with an advantage over unskilled workers.

In Pitman shorthand, you write symbols based on the sounds of words, instead of on their spelling. The word "pay," you learn, is a light slanting stroke followed by a heavy dot. "Say" is a light curve and a dot.

There aren't many sounds in the language, so you soon master the symbols. And for common phrases like "in order that . . . as soon as," you have abbreviated time-saving symbols, easy to learn.

Then for regular practice each day—with someone dictating to you, slowly at first. Before you know it you'll be taking real office-speed dictation.

Our 32-page booklet gives the essentials of the famous Pitman system in easy step-by-step lessons. Includes exercises; abbreviated symbols for words and phrases; pointers on acquiring speed, accuracy. Helpful as an aid to a business college course.

For your copy of "Self-Instruction in Shorthand" send 15 cents in coins or stamps to The Peterborough Examiner Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

"COMBINATION" TENACES

NON-TOUCHING honors which are in the same hand are usually called tenaces, as something to hold and "lead toward" rather than something to lead or "lead from." When they are in opposite hands, such as declarer's and dummy, or in the hands of the two defenders, veterans describe such combinations as "combination tenaces." Sometimes a player can profitably lead the lower honor or honors of such combinations himself, toward the higher honor or honors. In other cases, however, the combinations develop their potential only when the opponents lead the suit.

North: ♠ A J 9 2 ♥ Q J 5 ♦ Q 8 ♣ 10 7 5 2

West: ♠ 8 5 ♥ 9 6 4 2 ♦ K 7 4 ♣ A K Q 4

East: ♠ 7 3 ♥ K 8 7 ♦ J 9 6 3 2 ♣ 9 8 6

South: ♠ K Q 10 6 4 ♥ A 10 3 ♦ A 10 5 ♣ J 3

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♦	1 ♠
Pass	2 ♠	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

Following the club K and Q, West switched to his spade 5, and South had a chance to use the two essentially different kinds of combination tenaces. In hearts he had the sort which he might profitably lead himself, since he held several lower honors in sequence in the dummy. In diamonds he had the kind which possessed no potential value unless the defenders could be forced to lead the suit. So he planned accordingly.

The third trick was taken by the spade A and the club 2 led, to get East out of the suit so that West would be the only one able later to win a club trick. He ruffed it with the spade K, led the spade 6 to the 9 and brought the heart Q through. East covered the heart J with the K, and the A won, then the 10. The spade 10 to the J enabled him to lead the club 10 and discard on it the diamond 5. West had to win this with the A.

If West now led a heart, dummy could ruff while South discarded his last losing diamond. Leading a diamond was just as bad, as the guarded Q in dummy won his small card, the A being ready for the twelfth trick and a spade for the thirteenth. If West had led the diamond K, the A would have won and the Q would have been good for the twelfth trick. As South played, West had no alternatives except harmful ones.

Tomorrow's Problem

North: ♠ 10 9 7 4 2 ♥ 9 5 2 ♦ K J 2 ♣ A J

West: ♠ Q J 8 5 3 ♥ K 6 ♦ Q 10 4 ♣ K 7 3

East: ♠ None ♥ 10 8 7 4 3 ♦ 9 8 6 5 ♣ 8 6 4 2

South: ♠ A K 6 ♥ A Q J ♦ A 7 3 ♣ Q 10 9 5

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

If West overcalls South's 1-Club on this deal with 1-Spade, what should North do?

Rev. P. J. Galvin Parish Priest Of Grafton Dies

GRAFTON, Aug. 1—(ENS).—The whole community was saddened yesterday by the sudden death of Rev. Father P. J. Galvin, parish priest of St Mary's Church here for the past ten years. The popular cleric was well-known and revered all over the diocese He was about 64 years of age. Death was due to a heart seizure.

Rev. Father Galvin was born in Ennismore township, near Peterborough, and received his education at Ottawa College, where he was for some time editor of the college magazine, "The Owl" He graduated with a B.A. from Ottawa College and then attended the Grand Seminary at Montreal. He was ordained in December of 1903 at St. Martin's Church, Ennismore, by the late Bishop R. A. O'Connor.

After his ordination he was assistant priest at St. Peter's Cathedral in Peterborough, and was also assistant some time later at St. Joseph's in Douro. He was successively parish priest at St. Patrick's in Kinmount, and principal for two years of St. Peter's High School in Peterborough. Then he went to St. Paul's at Norwood and later to St. Luke's at Downeyville. He was 17 years at Downeyville and was responsible for the construction of the parish hall there. He also took a keen interest in the lot of the farmer and lectured for some years on community welfare, throughout Peterborough and Victoria counties. From Downeyville he went to his charge at Grafton.

Father Galvin was an expert in languages, of which he spoke several fluently and was a keen student of Hebrew. While in Grafton he became known to everyone in the district and was admired and respected by all denominations.

Father Galvin is survived by three sisters, Mrs Frank Hurley of Peterborough, Mrs. William Hurley of Norwood, and Miss Clara of Toronto; three brothers, Joseph of Peterborough, Peter of Ennismore and Ronald in the States. A sister, Nellie of Peterborough and another sister, Sister M. Bernadette of St. Joseph's, Peterborough, predeceased him.

A funeral mass will be said on Monday morning at St. Mary's Church, and on Tuesday morning there will be a funeral mass at St. Peter's Cathedral in Peterborough, with interment in Peterborough.

Omemee News

Guests recently with Miss Parsons were Mr. and Mrs. Crerar of Peterborough, Miss Ethel Rehill of Peterborough, and Mr. and Mrs. O'Herne of Peterborough.

Miss Margaret James of Peterborough is enjoying a vacation with her parents.

On Wednesday Mrs. Herbert Jones had the misfortune to fall and break her hip. She was preparing the supper in her home when it happened. Medical aid was summoned, and Mrs. Jones was removed to Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, and is doing as well as can be expected. Her many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

C.C.F. and New Democracy members from the west urged that concessions should be made to soldier settlers now on the land to permit them to be rid of their debt burden and obtain title to their land.

Not Hounding Them.

Mr. Crerar said it was wrong to give the impression the settlers were being harried for payment of sums due. Of the settlers, 550 had benefitted to the extent of $155,000 last year under the War Veterans' Allowance Act.

The Resources Minister said development of fur-bearing resources for the Indians in areas set apart for the purpose promised growing success in providing incomes for the tribesmen.

The Senate gave second and third readings to a bill providing $22,360,000 for capital expenditures and indebtedness of the Canadian National Railways. Senator Louis Cote urged tht capital expenditures of the C.N.R. be kept to a minimum to reduce the burden of debt.

The Upper House also gave second and third readings to a bill amending the previous Metals Marking Act.

Taxing Women Officers

In Commons several amendments to the income tax measure were approved including a section dealing with the taxation of women commissioned officers in the forces. Commissioned officers are safeguarded against having their incomes reduced below $1,600 by taxation, to remove the possibility of commissioned officers income being made lower than that of a senior warrant officer.

Mr. Ilsley said the amendment was necesary because women in the forces were paid on the basis of two-thirds of the pay of men and it was desired to retain this system in respect to the taxation concessions. Under the amendment the governor-in-council may fix an amount below which a woman officer's income may not be lowered by taxation.

Taxation concessions will be allowed in respect to serial as well as lump payments by companies into superannuation or pension funds. Under the existing law, companies are allowed to deduct 1/10th annually on that lump sum for the following year from their income for taxation purposes.

On the section providing for tax concessions for persons bearing heavy medical bills in a year, the minister said the amount claimed might include the salary of wages paid a full-time attendant caring for a person throughout the whole of an illness confining that person to a bed or wheelchair, and also in case of case of a person totally blind during the taxation period and requiring an attendant's aid.

Members had protested taxation concessions for assistance to prospecting being limited to payments to registered syndicates, and Mr. Ilsley said the concessions would be granted for contributions up to $500 to associations, syndicates or mining partnerships registered or otherwise recognized by law.

When debate on the income tax bill opened Conservative House Leader Hanson said he believed the public did not realize the implications of the increased taxation provided for in the measure. Prosperity should bear part of the load and the cost should be passed on to a greater degree.

The supplementary estimates contained an item for $22,950,000 for wheat acreage reduction payments which was announced when a Liberal government in Saskatchewan was about to appeal for re-election

'Politics With People's Money'

'We are still playing politics with the people's money, that is the point I am making,' said Mr. Hanson. 'We are still trying to bribe the people of Saskatchewan with the taxpayers' money, taken from them under a staggering tax burden.

'The announcement of that supplementary estimate at this time undoubtedly is to influence the decision of the voters of Saskatchewan.'

Mr. Ilsley said it was impossible to shift the burden of taxation from one generation to another.

Increased borrowing to finance the war was not shifting the burden but simply effecting a different distribution of wealth.

Mr. Ilsley added: 'I just wanted to puncture this balloon about easing this hardship, which is being floated now by the leader of the Opposition and his associates. I would ask them not to do it because it is fallacious, dangerous and mistaken.'

There was no foundation for the claim the government was 'playing politics' with the expenditure of public money.

Mr. St. Laurent dealt briefly with a recommendation of a House committee on the defence of Canada regulations that the Communist party of Canada and other organizations be removed from the list of illegal organizations. The Justice Minister sad publicity on the recommendation had given the impression that if the ban on the party was lifted it would be the equivalent to legalizing it.

'I hold the view that the real communist doctrine is illegal here regardless of anything contained in the Defence of Canada Regulations just as it is in the United States,' said the Minister.

'I hold the view also that not everyone to whom the label of communist has been attached participates in these views.'

The committee report would receive careful consideration. There was no desire to detain anyone simply because he had certain political opinions and detention was only for action which could be looked on as subversive.

Russia's Tank Borne Infantry Moves Forward Over Fields Of The Caucasus

Tank borne infantrymen are often used by the Soviet armies, now facing terrific pressure from German columns smashing at defences of the Caucasus, and here they are shown going into action. Clinging to steel sides of the tanks the men are carried across ground which they could not traverse afoot except with heavy losses. Bombs from attacking aircraft can be seen bursting ahead of the tanks as they move forward.

HEALTH CHATS

By D. B. AVISON, M.D., D.P.H., Medical Officer of Health

This is a rambling talk touching on a number of subjects.

Aside from our Mumps epidemic, the first six months of this year have been relatively free from infectious diseases for a city the size of Peterborough. This is rather remarkable when one considers the large number of people that are constantly swelling our population.

Speaking of these new folks it is interesting to note how many of them have advanced ideas with respect to preventive medicine. Not only have we discovered in our Immunization Clinics that many of their children have already attended simlar clinics in the Wets but we have been pleasantly surprised to have a number of them, on first getting here, looking us up to ask that work started back home be completed. This is the spirit we need to get the maximum benefit from the measures of protection against communicable disease that are so freely provided for us. Why should the Health Departtment have to indulge in radio talks, newspaper publicity or house to house visits to get people to take advantage of the facilities offered? Our Clinics should be crowded, if not with eager children, at least with eager mothers.

Another thing we have noticed about so many of these westerners is their knowledge and appreciation of Well Baby Clinics. Some of them have sought us out and others have said they were glad we had clinics here like they had back home.

Much has been and is being said about socialized or state medicine designed to provide adequate medical care for everyone—rich and poor, and especially for the unfortunate many who fall between these extremes. There is a popular demand for such socialized medicine and there is strong opposition to it. Whether we like the idea or not it is surely coming and every type of health insurance is a step in this direction. While I feel that all these schemes are good, I have been greatly concerned, as I know both doctors and patients have been, because of their "limited" features. No doctor likes to feel that he is handicapped in treating a patient by limitations as to what he feels necessary to bring about most speedy recovery. What are these limitations? Well, they are many and varied. Sometimes x-rays are not included, drugs are often limited to those listed in a standard pharmacopoeia, so shutting out those newer preprations which are rapidly effective, and hospitalization is limited with respect to time allowed. State medicine will never be popular with doctors or patients while it is limited in any of the above respects.

While all essentials to the rapid recovery of the patient should be included in any health insurance scheme, it should be obvious that the frills should not be chargeable to public funds. By frills, I mean private or semi-private hospital wards or private nursing except under urgent necessity. Public ward facilities with all the care supplied to any public ward patient should be freely available for as long as necessary to everyone. X-rays and laboratory work helpful to a correct diagnosis and all necessary drugs, whether expensive or cheap, should be part of every health scheme.

47th Assault

the 47th assault upon that city, but the first since September 27, 1941. The raid represened a round trip of more than 600 miles.

Among the industrial plants situated at Duesseldorf are the Rheinmetal Iron and Steel Works, which compare in size and importance to the Krupp Armament works, and the Vereinigte Stahlwerke (United Steel Works). The latter is one of the four biggest plants of its kind in Germany.

Duesseldorf also is the site of large silk, paper and patent food factories and warehouses. It is Germany's third largest inland port and an important railway centre, with one of the Rhine's largest railway bridges.

6 Freighters Picked Off

Targets attacked by British bombers and fighters last night in occupied territory included airdromes in the lowlands and railway yards at Caens and elsewhere in Northern France. Six freight trains were reported shot up with cannonfire from low-flying raiders.

The night's plane losses included 30 bombers and one fighter.

While the R.A.F. was engaged over Germany, Nazi night raiders lashed at scattered points on the British east and north-east coasts, but preliminary reports indicated the attacks weer not heavy. Berlin broadcasts said the attacks were centred upon Hull.

One enemy plane was reported downed.

There was no activity over London, which was disturbed by early-morning alerts on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

The R.A.F. assault on Germany last night was the fourth of the week and followed a day of intense aerial activity over the occupied French coast in which hundreds of British including many Canadians, and German fighter planes fought bitter duels that continued until dusk.

The Air Ministry reported 11 Nazi planes including three of the powerful new Focke-Wulfe 190's — were shot out of the sky in these combats. British losses were eight aircraft.

Boston bombers which accompanied the R.A.F. fighters on their cross-Channel sweeps yesterday attacked the airdrome at Abbeville, the docks at St. Malo, and targets in Brittany.

U.S. Chief Acceptable.

Talk of the possibility of an Allied attempt to esablish a second front in western Europe was kept alive, meanwhile, by the assertion of informed British sources that appointment of a United States General as commander-in-chief of an Allied invasion force would be acceptable to Britain.

These sources, who could not be quoted directly, said the British people realized the part which American men and equipment must play in such an operation and were keenly alive to the necessity of placing the best possible man in charge, regardless of nationality.

Informed quarters mentioned Gen. George C. Marshall, U. S. Army Chief of Staff, in their discussion of the subject, which also has been touched upon in the press. Marshall's prestige is extremely high among British staff officers.

Both American and British official quarters declined to comment.

Battle Nears

Pravda said the Steppes were covered with German bodies and fragments of tanks and guns as large armored groups clashed head-on. It said a five-day fight in one sector cost the Germans 2,000 dead and 120 tanks.

Reds Get Tanks In.

It was obvious the Russians had been able to move considerable tank reinforcements into the field despite German strafing of the Don River crossings.

A dispatch from the Voronezh ront on the Upper Don said three German parachutists had been captured wearing Red Army uniforms bearing faked Russian documents.

The Russians were said to have made two more crossings to the west bank of the Upper Don after fighting their way through barbed wire and mine fields south of the city. Captives were quoted as saying the 168th Nazi Division was badly depleted and the morale of the Seventh Hungarian Brigade was shattered.

Flank attacks and the use of small tanks to protect river landings have supplanted frontal assaults by massed tanks in the German bid for Caucasian oil, the newspaper Red Star said.

The shift in the campaign in which Field Marshal Fedor von Bock has mixed power drives and encirclement attempts, the flying wedge and the psychological attack, was attributed by Red Star to the vast losses the invaders had suffered in machines as well as manpower.

Nazi Division Routed

German efforts to round out the ocupation of the Don River bend were reported thwarted repeatedly and the 113th German infantry division was declared routed and chased back several miles by Soviet tank crews in the district of Kletskaya, 80 miles northwest of Stalingrad.

The Soviet Information Bureau said Soveit armored detachments had destroyed the headquarters of two Nazi forces and slain at least 1,500 invaders in the battle of the Don River bend northwest of Stalingrad.

Soviet pilots fought German aircraft and strafed Nazi ground forces in the see-saw battle of the Steppes.

Red Star said that in a number of places the Germans were resorting to defensive use of artillery and mortars against Russian tanks which attacked beneath a cover of bombers and fighters.

New Shift Near Bataisk.

Despite official demands for an end to the withdrawals which have yielded at least 40,000 square miles of Soviet soil to the invaders in the last five weeks, a communique dsclosed that the Russians had been forced into a new retreat 'south and south-east of Bataisk,' itself 15 miles below Rostov.

'After bloody battles, our units fell back to new positions, it was announced. 'The Germans lost 13 tanks, 18 guns and more than 600 men killed.

Combat positions were not clearly delineated.

The Germans, however, claimed they had crossed the lower Don on a 150 mile front; captured Kushchevka, 30 miles south of Bataisk; cut the Stalingrad-Novorossik railway near Proletqrskaya, 100 miles to the east; and crossed the Calanized Manych river in force despite demolition of Russian dams which flooded the countside.

The Russians' Friday midnight communique said more than 1,000 Germans had been killed and nine Nazi tanks and 15 field guns destroyed in the Tsimlyansk theatre 120 miles up the Don from Rostov, where Red army men fought on against enemy groups which had crossed the south bank.

The bulletin told of two Nazi counter-attacks south of Voronezh in a battle of the upper Don, where the Russians have recently held the initiative. The Germans were reported 'repelled by artillery and mortar fire, suffering grave losses.'

Vain efforts on Soviet positions on the Leningrad front were reported.

British Labor Splits Over Pensions

LONDON, Aug. 1—(CP Cable).—A full meeting of the Labor party was called Thursday for Aug. 4 to discuss a split in party ranks caused by dissatisfaction over the government's increases in supplementary old age pensions.

A private meeting of the party's administrative committee opened an inquest Thursday into Wednesday nights House of Commons vote of 223 to 63 against a Labor amendment sayin gthe governments plan to increase old age pensions by two shillings and sixpence (56 cents) and to make allowance for winter fuel and clothing could not be accepted as 'an adequate step toward meeting the difficulties of old-age pensioners and widows. It was the biggest adverse vote the government has encountered since it was formed.

The administrative committee adjourned after a long discussion until Aug. 4 when it will be reconvened just before the full party meeting assembles.

Some political analysts said the split in the party, part of which voted with the government and part against it, is so wide that Labor leaders, including Dominions Secretary Clement Attlee, Labor Minister Ernest Bevin and Home Secretary Herbert Morrison, may threaten to resign on the grounds they cannot continue to take part in a coalition government without the full backing of the party. Most observers believe, however, that the dispute will be ironed out without such drastic action.

Forty-nine members of the party voted against the government and in support of the amendment. Their votes, with those of 14 others, showed the split in Labors ranks after Artur Greenwood, an original signatory to the amendment, expressed satisfaction with the terms of a government undertaking to reconsider the allowances later with a view to more generous treatment.

After Jap Bombers Attacked Dutch Harbor

Japanese bombing of the U.S. naval base at Dutch Harbor in the Aleutian Islands set fire to some oil supplies and high explosives dropped by the Jap war planes destroyed a few buildings and shacks. There were two attacks on successive days against this north Pacific outpost. The first did little damage. This photograph shows effects of the second day's call of the Nipponese. Hose lines snake over the ground in the foreground as firefighters battle blaze in a bombed building.

A cordial neighbourly welcome to a refreshingly different vacation this summer awaits you in old Québec! Though our people and our factories, like those of our sister provinces, are busy night and day turning out great streams of tanks, guns, planes, ships, munitions, for our common Victory, Québec's quaint charm remains unspoiled and her hospitality is as warm as ever; overseas and in Canada, her sailors, soldiers and airmen are gallantly doing their part in the war.

Québec is the ideal holiday land for complete change of scene: different customs, scenery, Old and New World ways of life combined. Economical, too, for Québec is only just next door! Enjoy sea bathing and every summer sport and relaxation; old-time courtesy and famous cuisine in Canada's finest hotels, inns, "pensions", camps (under Government supervision).

You can easily reach almost every part of Québec by rail, steamer, plane, bus and by good roads. No tolls on provincial bridges, no individual liquor permits required.

Tea and Coffee Are Rationed To About 12 Cups Per Week

OTTAWA, Aug. 4 (CP)—The Wartime Prices and Trade Board explained today how the rationing of tea and coffee works in the sale of tea bags, packages of tea containing fractions of an ounce and coffee concentrates and substitutes containing coffee.

The beverages are being rationed at the rate of one ounce of tea and four ounces of coffee per person per week—but not both. Children under 12 years of age receive no ration.

The Board said that in selling tea bags, retailers will use the following coupon values: Two coupons for a carton of 18 or 20 tea bags; four coupons for a carton of 40 or 45 tea bags; eight coupons for a carton of 80 tea bags; 10 coupons for a carton of 100 tea bags.

Retailers who have on hand packages of tea containing fractional ounces, such as 1¼, 1½, 2½-ounce packages, may ignore the fractional quantity so far as the coupons are concerned.

For example, a 1¼ or 1½-ounce package may be sold on surrender of one coupon, a 2½-ounce package on surrender of two coupons. However, if a customer buys a number of such packages, the nearest coupon value must be surrendered; such as, five coupons for four 1½-ounce packages.

To buy coffee concentrates or substitutes containing coffee, purchasers will surrender one coupon for a quantity of the concentrate or substitute sufficient to make 12 cups of the beverage. Fractions of 12 cups will be ignored. For instance, a package of concentrate sufficient to make 100 cups of coffee may be sold on surrender of eight coupons.

The Board also announced that orders given by merchants for the purchase of tea and coffee, placed or postmarked on or before August 1, may be filled without surrender of ration coupons.

Canadians now get the same amount of sugar but less tea than do the people of Britain, where the weekly ration basis per person is two ounces of tea and eight ounces of sugar, against one and eight ounces, respectively, in Canada. Coffee is not rationed for Britons, who are light coffee-drinkers.

The board estimated the ration allotment of tea or coffee for each person would make about 12 and one-half cups a week, but the quantities used by each individual would vary that figure somewhat.

For the next five weeks the ration coupons to be used are the "A-B-C-D-E" coupons on the top of the tem-

Fleas Not Bombs Biggest Worry Of Pilot Home From Malta

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE R.C.A.F SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Aug. 4—(CP).—Thousands of tons of bombs have fallen on Malta but that isn't what bothered Sgt. M. H. Buckley most. Back from the George Cross Island, the 22-year-old Spitfire pilot from Fonthill, Ont., attributed most of his worries to fleas.

"They were everywhere," he said with a sweeping gesture. "But after a while everyone gets used to them, or at least you get so they don't bother you much."

After a number of operational flights off the island, Buckley was struck down with fever which set in after sand fly bites. He returned to Britain after his recovery and has been posted to a Canadian fighter squadron.

Also back from Malta and posted to the same squadron is Sgt. Pilot R. J. Lawlor of Niagara Falls, Ont.

Battles Submarine.

A duel between a Nazi submarine and a British Whitley bomber of coastal command is reported by Sgt. Navigator G. J. McNally of Winnipeg. One member of the U-boat crew was shot overboard and others were washed off as the submarine submerged after a series of attacks by the aircraft.

The Whitley sighted the submarine on the surface and McNally straddled it with a stick of bombs before it could get more than a few feet under. Five minutes later the bow of the submarine appeared, tilted upwards at a 50-degree angle.

"It remained for about two minutes, sticking up like a shark's snout," McNally said. "Then the U-boat levelled up, and submerged again.

A few minutes later, the submarine surfaced again. Its conning tower was opened and five members of the crew ran to the deck gun. They opened fire on the Whitley.

The aircraft's front guns replied. Two of the gun crew fell and the rest scattered. As the Whitley swept above the U-boat, its tail gunner opened fire. His bursts caught the remaining members of the submarine gun crew and one fell over the side. Then the U-boat submerged slowly.

Subway Sleepers Allowed To Stay

LONDON, Aug. 4 (CP)—The government has cancelled an order which would have evicted 500 members of that strange war-born society—the subway dwellers who nightly gather below London's streets to discuss everything from an Allied second front to baby's new tooth.

Increased German aerial activity in the London area caused cancellation of the order which was to have gone into effect yesterday.

The underground population was relieved by this decision.

"That's fine," said Mrs. John Burford whose family of three daughters and a 11-year-old son sleeps on the Holborn subway platform. "We can all stay on here."

She and her family have spent every night since September, 1940, in the Holborn station. A German bomb destroyed their home. The only thing salvaged from the wreck was her husband's picture. He's fighting in Egypt.

She works 12 hours daily in a war factory. The soldier-father's picture is posted nightly over her son's cot in the subway.

More than 2,000 persons sleep on these subway platforms a few feet from the tracks. Another 3,000 in London's battered east end live in shelters beneath warehouses, banks and factories.

In the Strand station one woman, Lily Brider, who works in a printing office, was worried when the government first decided to close that station.

"It's real pleasant here," she said. "I've decided to move to the Trafalgar Square station, but I don't expect to like it. They have such funny people there."

American Godfather

LONDON, Aug. 4—(CP).—President Roosevelt had a royal prince named in part for him today.

The prince is Michael George Charles Franklin, infant son of the Duke and Duchess of Kent.

Born July 4, the prince, seventh in line for succession to the throne, is the first member of the royal family ever to have an American godfather.

The Duchess of Kent formerly was Princess Marina of Greece. The duke is the youngest brother of the King. They have two older children.

The prince will be called Prince George of Kent.

Eleven Perish When Cruiser Sinks In Lake

STANDISH, Mich., Aug. 4.—(AP)—A cabin cruiser which foundered Sunday in Saginaw Bay with 13 persons aboard was sighted submerged near Point Au Gres today and coast guards expressed belief that all but one known survivor had perished.

Fear that six men and five women still missing would not be found alive was voiced when coast guardsmen discovered the body of Cecil Day, 45-year-old pilot of the craft, 2½ miles east of where the craft, a converted tug, was located.

The cruiser, which left Sunday on a fishing party, founded 8½ miles southeast of Point Au Gres.

The only known survivor, Mrs. Louis Repke, 23, Bay City, Mich., who swam an estimated seven miles to safety, was recovering meanwhile from her experience.

Mrs. Repke told of having set out with her husband and a second woman in an attempt to swim to shore after the 30-foot craft, a converted tug, presumbaly struck a rock in mid-bay.

From about 3 p.m. until darkness, the three kept together. Then they became separated.

Mrs. Repke attained shore and struggled to an unoccupied hunting cabin, there to fall into an exhausted sleep.

Walked To Farm House

At noon yesterday she awakened and walked three miles to a farm house.

"I had lost all sense of time and all sense of direction," she said. "I only know that the sun was high. I had no idea where I was. I don't know how long I was in the water—it must have been more than eight hours but I don't know how much

New Bonus Is Effective On August 15

Food Price Increase Has Accounted For Most Of Jump

OTTAWA, Aug. 4—(CP)— The Dominion Bureau of Statistics announced today that the cost-of-living index was up 1.2 points between June and July 1, and simultaneously the National War Labor Board said a corresponding upward revision of cost-of-living bonuses will come into effect Aug. 15.

The bonus increase generally amounts to 60 cents a week except in the case of persons earning less than $25 a week who are generally to receive an increase amounting to 2.4 per cent. of their weekly wage rate.

The adjusted cost of living index on which the bonus payments are based stood at 117.0 at the beginning of last month, compared with 115.8 at June 1 and up 2.4 points over the index for last October 1, basic date for bonus payment calculations.

"Of the increase in the cost of living since October, 90 per cent. is due to increases in food prices, and beef and potatoes accounted for 87 per cent. of the total movement in food prices," said the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in a statement.

"These were seasonal movements which are in part a normal occurrence each year but were this year aggravated by special circumstances.

Seasonal Increase

"It is to be expected that by Oct. 1 the greater part of these seasonal movements will have been reversed, and the cost of living index will be much closer to what it was on Oct. 1 last year, prior to the establishment of the price ceiling."

The board said beef prices have already fallen from their July 1 peak and "are expected to decline further in accordance with the seasonal schedule of maximum wholesale prices issued by the board, and as a result of an increase in supply during the late summer and autumn." Potato prices also are expected to decline seasonally when the new crop "becomes available in adequate quantities."

They Never Stop

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts), Aug. 4 — (AP) — Japanese planes attacked airport and harbor at Port Hedland on the Northwest Australian coast today, Imperial headquarters reported.

The strength of the attackers was given as "squadrons."

(Port Hedland, 800 miles by air southwest of Darwin is the southernmost point yet reported raided by the Japanese on the west coast of Australia. It is about 600 miles from the Japanese base on Timor.

Mysterious Reptile

HUNTSVILLE, Ont., Aug. 4—(CP).—A 10-hour search for a mysterious reptile, reported floating in Beaver Lake, nearby Kearney, continued today, with Mayor Ralph Bice leading the searching party.

Residents reported seeing the creature at intervals for several years. They described it as having a cow's head and two front paws like the hands of a man.

Said Mayor Mice, leader of the Kearney expedition, "My first inclination was to shoot it, but now... I believe that the better judgment would be to leave it alone."

British House Holds Short Secret Session

LONDON, Aug. 4.—(CP).— The House of Commons held a secret session of almost an hour to-day to hear a statement by Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

In later open session the House completed parliamentary action on a bill permitting United States army courts to handle criminal cases involving its own men in Britain ,despite some protests.

The secret session was called without previous notice when Sir Stafford Cripps, Lord Privy Seal, announced that Mr. Attlee wished to make a statement which should be given in secret. Its nature was not suggested.

In discussion of the United States army court bill, Rear Admiral Tufton Beamish (Conservative Lewes) declared the measure was "astounding" and that the American ambassador's letter to Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden requesting it 'read like a polite ulimatum.'

What Kind of Co-operation?

Samuel Silverman (Labor Nelson and Colne) asked:

'Is this the kind of co-operation to which some people look after the war? Are all our affairs to be dictated from Washington?'

Other members asked whether British and American soldiers involved in the same offense would be tried in American or British courts.

Others, noting that the bill did not require jury trial, called it a constitutional innovation and counseled agains the speedy passage requested by the Americans.

Capt. J. J. Craik Henderson (Conservative Northeast Leeds) alluded to Hollywood picturization of the 'third degree' and inquired, 'What would be the effect on a country girl asked to submit to in-

Big German Reserve Force Tanks Are Supported By Clouds Of Dive-Bombers

Red Army Forces Have Fallen Back To New Positions In Ealsk Area 100 Miles Southwest Of Rostov City

By EDDIE GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Aug. 4—(AP).—A great weight of German tanks and reserve troops, actively supported by clouds of dive-bombers, pressed heavily on the entire Soviet southern front today, and a Russian communique acknowledged that Red army forces had fallen back to new positions in the Ealsk region, 100 miles southeast of Rostov "after repulsing fierce enemy attacks."

(The Germans claimed they had captured the town of Voroshilovsk, 100 miles south of Salsk and had reached the Kuban River at several points in that Caucasus area)

The Salsk withdrawal came after wild-riding Cossacks, volunteering to try to stem the German drive, had ridden into batle in an effort to save their villages.

West of Stalingrad, in the Kletskaya sector, the stiffening Russian troops threw back several attacks by Italian infantry supported by tanks and killed 2,000 enemy soldiers, the mid-day communique said. Red Star dispatches told of counter-attacks in that region in which the Germans had been driven from some of their strategic postiions and cut off from communications.

Break Through Lines.

An ominous note was sounded in a dispatch to the newspaper Izvestia which said that Germans 'in superior numbers' had broken through Russian lines and were attempting to cross the Don at Kletskaya, 80 miles north-west of Stalingrad.

All German attempts to establish bridgeheads were frustrated, however, the dispatch said. Russian units were reported to have moved around the flanks of the Germans and cut off their communications. The Russians now are attempting to wipe out the advanced German units before they can re-establish contact, the news-

Calais Area Is Heavily Raided

LONDON, Aug. 4—(CP)—Spitfires swarmed over the English Channel in a mid-day attack on the Calais area today while Nazi raiders damaged two English towns in scattered bombing forays.

A third English town on the South coast was saved from bombing by a blistering anti-aircraft barrage.

Observers at Folkstone reported the sky over the channel was dotted during the afternoon with Spitfires returning from the Calais attacks. Clouds kept the planes so low that some swept in at rooftop level.

Canadian Ace Now Missing Awarded D.S.O.

By LOUIS V. HUNTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 4—(CP Cable).—Wing Cmdr. John (Moose) Fulton of Kamloops, B.C., Canadian bomber ace missing since the last attack on Hamburg, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Order, it was announced today in the list of R.A.F. awards which also contained the names of seven R.C.A.F. officers who won the Distinguished Flying Cross and three non-commissioned officers whose gallantry earned them the Distinguished Flying Medal.

Distinguished Flying Crosses went to Wing Cmdr. John Fauquier of Ottawa, commander of a Halifax bomber squadron; Flt.-Lt. Jack Vincent Watts of Hamilton, Ont.; Flt.-Lt. Charles Stuart Dowie of Leader, Sask.; PO. Raymond Joseph Hardingham of Kingwood, Surrey; PO. Colin Summers Campbell of Vancouver; PO Bruce Darwin Croxton of Vancouver, and PO. John Kearns Tett, a native of Kingston, Ont.

Medals Awarded

Distinguished Flying Medals were awarded to Flt.-Sgt. Charles Edmund Darby of Harrow, Ont.; Flt.-Sgt. (now Warrant Officer) Thomas Henry Donnelly of Toronto, and Flt. Sgt. (now PO.) Secil Arnold Tobson of Colchester, N.S.

Thirty-three-year-old Fauquier, commander of Number 405 Squadron, was described in the citation as "a born leader" The citation continued: "Throughout the many sorties in which he participated, this officer has displayed the highest qualities of courage and leadership" and added "his ability and grim determination to inflict the maximum damage on the enemy have won the admiration of the squadron he commands."

Fulton's citation said in part: "This officer participated in attacks on industrial targets, dockyards, towns, airdromes and other important enemy targets. On one flight in April of this year he successfully attacked Kiel. On the return journey his aircraft was attacked by an enemy fighter while flying at a height of 1,500 feet. Fulton's aircraft sustained much damage.

"This officer's skill and determination were responsible for the safe return of his damaged aircraft and its crew after a hazardous flight of some 118 miles after the aircraft

Canadian Bomber Pilot Awarded Flying Cross

LONDON, Aug. 4.—(CP Cable).—FO. Donald Philip MacIntyre of Saint John, N.B., R.C.A.F. bomber pilot has been awarded the Distinguisher Flying Cross for his skilful emergency landing in Norway last April and escape, with his crew, to Britain.

The citation said the 27-year-old airman was shot down over Norway after a low-level attack on the Trondheim naval base.

The citation said: "During the operation his aircraft was hit. The outer portion of the wing caught fire and the fuselage and cockpit filled with smoke.

"Soon the aircraft was well alight and as it became uncontrollable, FO. MacIntyre decided to descend on a lake to which he was directed by his navigator. This he achieved by a feat of superb airmanship.

"After a perilous journey and suffering great hardships, FO. MacIntyre and his crew eventually reached England."

The bomber's crew plowed through mountain snows for three days and nights to the Swedish frontier. They were interned briefly at Falun, in Central Sweden.

Anglo-Indian Dispute Grave to Allies

Millions Of Nationalists Will Take Part In Great Civic Disobedience Campaign

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

As things now stand the coming week-end will see untold millions of Indian Nationalists committed to an effort to exact independence from Britain through one of those explosive civil-disobedience campaigns which heretofore have resulted in bloodshed and in the present instance may easily develop into one of the major crisis of the war.

Pandit Nehru, who next to Mohandas Ganhi is the most powerful Nationalist leader in India, declared today that the projected movement would be ratified by the All-India Congress which meets in Calcutta Friday, and that the campaign probably would start in a fortnight. Nehru says it will be 'short, swift and effective,' and that the fate of the country will be decided in about three months. Thus Friday is a day to which not only India but the entire world must look forward with deep concern. The Anglo-Indian imbroglio represents one of the great dangers faced by the United Nations, since this vast Empire is a strategical base which is vital to the Allied cause.

Gift to Japanese.

The beginning of this 'non-violent' revolution will be a gift from the God to the Japanese, who may be expected to take quick advantage of the situaton to stage an invasion if things look favorable. Indeed, Ganhi has warned the British authorities that unless they grant independence, a Jap invasion will be welcomed by discontented elements That probably is an accurate estimate.

Inveles 400 Millions.

An important and intensely interesting development in connection with this fight which involves the fate of nearly 400,000,000 people is Gandhi's appeal to the Indian Princes to share their powers with their people and not remain tied to the "Imperial Chariot Wheel." He warns the Rajahs that if British Imperial rule is wrecked in India they will disappear—unless they meantime have joined the rest of the country.

This bears the earmarks of being a shrewd effort on the part of Gandhi to institute a war of nerves among these potentates who represent about the last of the world's fairy-tale autocrats of fabulous wealth. Still, he is right in saying that if the princes cling to Britain, and imperial rule falls, they will go down with it.

Princes Been Warned.

What Gandhi might have added was that, whether imperial rule falls or not, the Princes are in the un-

US Labor Peace Is Imminent

Friendly Overtures Been Made By C.I.O. Leaders

CHICAGO, Aug. 4—(AP)—America's two great labor groups, the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations, are on the brink of a new peace movement.

Friendly overtures have been made by two influential leaders of the C.I.O., President Philip Murray and R. J. Thomas, head of the United Automobile Workers.

The next step, apparently, is up to William Green, president of the A.F.L., who is Chicago-bound to open a 10-day session of the Federation's executive council.

Thomas already is here, attending a convention of C.I.O. Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement Workers, and Murray is expected early in the day.

Possibilities of a reconciliation were revived yesterday when it was disclosed that Murray had written Green, informing him that a C.I.O. peace committee of three had been appointed. Murray suggested that the A.F.L. leader appoint a similar group to discuss "possible establishment of organic unity between our organibations."

Leaving Washington, Green said he would issue a statement on Murray's proposal when he arrived in Chicago.

RE-INFORCEMENTS RUN INTO NEW GUINEA BY JAPANESE NAVY

Ships Escape Watchful Allied Planes

Situation Unchanged As Japs Are Held Half To Port Moresby

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 4 (CP)—The Japanese have sent more ships down the New Guinea coast to the Papuan Peninsula, presumably with reinforcements for the Gona-Buna area, it was reported today.

These ships, which eladed Allied bombers, were believed to have carried only a small number of men and supplies. The original force put ashore on the Peninsula was estimated at between 1,500 and 2,500 troops.

When the Japanese made their first landing in the Gona-Buna sector on July 22 the invasion armada included two heavy cruisers, three destroyers and five transports, of which one transport was sunk and two others hit.

A headquarters communique said today that the situation remained unchanged at Kikoda, about halfway across Papua to the Allied base at Port Moresby. Allied planes strafed positions held by the Japanese patrols in that sector yesterday, starting numerous fires.

Other Allied planes raided the Lae-Salamaua area, some 150 miles above Buna, yesterday and hit an enemy cargo ship which the communique said later was beached and still burning today.

A separate headquarters announcement reported that a small British trawler escaped in an attack by a submarine the first reported enemy activity in the region since mid-une. Two of the trawler's crewmen were kliled and four injured.

The submarine came to the surface off the eastern coast of Australia within point-blank range of the trawler. Members of the submarine's crew could be seen on the deck in the moonlight, smoking cigarets.

Seamen on the trawler tried to get into a lifeboat while the captain of the vessel shouted the craft was unarmed, and on a fishing cruise.

The Japanese did not hear, or ignored the captain. The trawler was shelled and machine-gun bullets spattered among men trying t shove off with the lifeboat. Two of the crew were killed, four wounded.

Although hit by 12 shells the trawler remained afloat. The submarine then submerged. In 15 minutes it came up again to fire a few more shells, then vanished.

Hours later another trawer arrived, and with a dinghy ferried the dead and wounded aboard.

The shipping question was brought to the fore today by the Melbourne Sun in an editorial which charged "there is abundant evidence that in connection with this important aspect of the war effort a state of affairs exists which would be discreditable even in time of peace."

"Delays in dispatching ships, goslow methods in handling cargo and wholesale pilfering are three evils which call for drastic remedial action," it added.

The Sun said this not only is delaying essential supplies but is "gravely hampering efforts of the government to secure more ships from Uni d States authorities."

Sgt. J. B. Sheppard of the R...F., McMillan's radio observer, saw the Dornier strike the ground and explode.

In a later brush with another DO.-217, McMillan and Sheppard saw the flashes of hits as they fired at the machine. They pursued him as he rolled and dived away after the attack, but were unable to get another shot at him.

Courageous Navigator

Watts, 22, was hailed as "a courageous and highly-skilled navigator who has done much to ensure the success of the many sorties in which he has participated."

During an attack on a German naval base at Trondheim last April, he guided his captain through an intense barrage after an attack by a fighter and the objective was bombed from an extremely low level. His navigation the following night when same target was attacked was "brilliant," the citation said.

Dowie's citation said the 28-year-old member of Number 408 squadron of the R.C.A.F. is "a skilful, determined pilot who has achieved success against heavily-defended targets" in German and Nazi-occupied territory, and whose "courage in the face of enemy fire has set an inspiring example."

Hardingham, 30, is a squadron navigation officer of Number 408 Squadron. A native of London, he enilsted in the R.C.A.F. in 1940 and trained in Canada. He participated in many sorties, including one against the battleship Scharnhorst as it sailed north from France through the English Channel.

Campbell, serving in 103 Squadron of the R.A.F. was cited as "a fearless and reliable navigator," whose conducted under fire "proved of inestimable value to his crew." The citation added that this 28-year-old flier "has always endeavored to concentrate his attack on the point of aim and allows nothing to deter him from his purpose."

Old-Fashioned Gamblers' Justice Claims Lives Of Two Players

NEW YORK, Aug. 4—(AP)—Old-fashioned gamblers' justice—revenge with bullets for a double-cross in dollars—was the motive given by a Broadway bookmaker who admittedly slew two former associates as they sat playing cards.

Not since the notorious Arnold Rothstein paid with his life 14 years ago, apparently for welching on a bet, has New York had such a vengeful killing as that which yesterday left Robert B. Greene, 40, and Morris (Dimples) Wolenski, 54, dead, and Max Fox, 48-year-old ex-convict, behind bars.

"They did me dirt," Fox was quoted by Assistant District Attorney Louis A. Pagnucco as saying in confession he was the masked gunman who shot the pair in a Midtown bridge club Monday morning.

As Fox was booked on homicide charges, Pagnucco said the former bookmaker poured out a tale of how Greene and Wolenski had reduced him from a big-time bookie to a virtually destitute gambler with an office "in my hat."

It was on $350,000 of election wagers in the 1940 presidential campaign that Fox claimed Greene and Wolenski "double-crossed" him, their partner, by "hedging" bets without informing him and leaving him holding the bag.

Fox's story was that Greene had handled the placing of the election bets, announcing he was putting down $350,000 on Wendell Willkie at 3 to 1 odds against President Roosevelt. Fox said about $75,000 of this belonged to him personally.

But later, Fox went on, Greene must have decided that Willkie would lose, so he protected most of the bets by wagering on Roosevelt.

Fox said that after Willkie lost Greene told him the firm was wiped out. But, Fox added, he later found that Greene had lied to him and had squeezed him out to continue in business with Wolenski.

Fox, who in 1924 served a term in Sing Sing prison for attempted robbery, said he had a wife and three children and that being unable to make enough money as a lone gambler made his hatred of Greene and Wolensk rankle ever deeper.

Doctors Battle To Save Quints

By Joseph Dennigan, Canadian Press Correspondent.

DUBLIN, August 4. (CP Cable) — Maternity specialists fought to-day to save the lives of two survivors of the Leydon quintuplets in the National Maternity Hospital.

Little hope was held for the infants as they were born two months prematurely doctors said. The babies Terese, two pounds, and three-pounds Thomas, are housed in an electrically heated incubator and fed through pippets with preserved breast milk.

Dr. De Valera, a skilled maternity physician and son of Eire's Prime Minister, was aiding in the efforts to save the two survivors.

The 36-year-old mother, Mrs. Thomas Leydon, wife of a potato farmer at Breaghway, in County Sligo, once worked in Boston, Mass., and the father was employed by a railroad in New York for 10 years. They have lived in Eirie for the last eight years.

The five babies were born Friday in the Leydon's farm home. Two died shortly after birth. A third a boy died early yesterday in hospital here where he and his brother and sister had been brought Saturday.

When told of the death of the third child, the mother said, "it's the will of God. I have a lot to be thankful for. Two of my babies lived and I am quite all right myself."

The parents expressed surprise at the widespread publicity given the event. They were unaware of the big headlines until papers reached the farmhouse where they lived with three other children.

"I don't like publicity," said Mrs. Leydon "but I must admit I am a little proud."

Leydon also admitted he is proud of his babies and wife who worked their 20-acre farm, until a few days before birth of the quints. He said they both once worked in the United States but met only when they returned to their homeland.

The three babies were brought to hospital here Saturday ater a 200-mile journey during which they were fed evey hour with a mixtue of brandy, water and sugar, administered with an eye dropper.

Drastic Action Needed On Labor Shortage

MONTREAL, Aug. 4 — (CP). — The Gazette said today in a special dispatch from Ottawa that the shortage of labor for essential war industries has become so acute that "early and drastic action by national selective service is foreseen here to bring about urgently needed remedies."

"It is indicated that the recruiting, choosing and allocation of labor for all purposes, military and civilian, will come under one jurisdiction'," the Gazette said.

"It is probable that considerable numbers of workers may be shifted from one employment to another, but that every effort will be made to allocate individuals involved in advance of any such shift to other employment, including service in the armed forces.

"The insistent demands of essential industry and the armed forces, it is submitted, can only be met by extension of the age limits for war services, the stepping up of the utilization in industry and commerce of the services of women, older men and handicapped persons, and the cutting down of employment in non-essential industries.

"We shall shortly see labor being rushed to industry in some instances, and industry being rushed to labor in others. In the former case we shall witness housing projects springing up to accommodate the workers, and in the latter case plants erected for the workers to do their jobs.

"For the preparation of both men and women workers for their jobs, vocational instruction on a vast scale is visualized.

"Treatment of those in militarily eligible age groups who are barred from such service by remediable physical disability is expected to restore thousands of men to high categories.

"Before long it is expected no employer may discharge an employee, nor may an employee quit his jobs without the giving of due notice in writing, with a copy of such notice to be sent to the nearest employment office, and a subsequent investigation and intervention by national selective service officials."

50 Animals Are Destroyed In Circus Tent

CLEVELAND, Aug. 4 (AP)—Fire today swept the Menagerie Tent of the Ringling Brothers Circus, destroying at least 50 wild and trained animals.

Terrified animals were burned alive in their cages before the eyes of 5,000 persons at the circus grounds on Cleveland's lakefront.

Other animals, including an elephant and several giraffes, tore loose from their manacles. Police used riot guns to destroy the giraffes.

The death toll included:—

Ten camels.

Three elephants.

Three giraffes.

Several lions, tigers and leopards.

Many smaller animals.

The entire managerie tent was destroyed.

Animals Race at Large

The crowd watched the catastrophe with helpless fascination.

Some of the animals raced at large, aflame. At one point when the fire was at its height, an Ostrich with plumes blazing ran from the managerie tent. The flames were patted out by circus employees and the bird was captured by trainers.

An eye-witness counted 30 carcasses lying omid the embers of the menagerie grounds and 20 others, their pelts charred, lying in their cages.

At that time the fire was under control, although straw in the tent was still smoldering. No official estimate of the damage was immediately available, but the loss was believed to amount to tens of thousands of dollars.

The blaze apparently started on top of one of the animal cages and spread quickly through the rest of the menagerie.

All available squads of police were called to the scene to handle the noon hour crowd of 5,000 persons which was drawn by the heavy smoke and billowing flames.

Eight camels tethered inside the tent were burned to death, and 10 other camels were led from the flames with heir hair burned almost entirely from their backs.

A large elephant, terribly burned, was put out of pain by circus attendants, who fired eight revolver shots into the animal's brain.

Numerous monkeys, birds and dogs were among the other animals destroyed.

Gorilla Not Harmed.

The gorilla Gargantua, one of the main attractions of the 'greatest show on earth,' was not harmed.

There were scenes of indescribable animal agony. Lions, still alive, paced helplessly in their flaming cages, the hair burned off. A brace of Bengal tigers were similarly trapped.

A number of zebras created a near panic among the thousands of spectators when they broke loose from their halters and galloped on to he nearby New York Central railroad tracks before they were rounded up.

U.S. coast guardsmen, armed with rifles, and a city detective, shot some of the agonized animals as quickly as the circus veterinary indicated their cases were hopeless.

Girl performers in the circus joined toiling men in beating down the flames and doing what they could to quiet the animals.

Girls stepped into several of the bucket brigades formed by members of the circus' own fire-fighting force.

It was the second major disaster to befall the Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Baialey Circus in two years. Last season many of the show's elephants were poisoned.

The fire was confined principally to hte menagerie. The famed 'big top' itself escaped.

Commons Votes In Few Hours $150 Millions

OTTAWA, Aug. 4 (CP)—After almost six months of continuous session, parliament stands adjourned until Jan. 27, 1943, with assurance from Prime Minister Mackenzie King that in the interval some consideration will be given to a revision of the rules of the House of Commons.

The House put the finishing touches to its annual tour of work Saturday night by voting close to $150,000,000 in estimates, and laid aside a bill relating to Alberta natural resources for another session.

The question of revising the rules came up as members kept protesting about the rush of work at the end of the session, particularly the passing of estimates.

Speaker after speaker urged that at another session the estimates should be brought up for discussion earlier. C.C.F. Leader Coldwell suggested a committee to revise the rules.

Revision Needed

Mr. King at one stage said the rules needed revision from time to time but questioned the advisability of undertaking a general revision in wartime, when exceptional procedure adopted would not be suitable to peacetime.

"Perhaps because of the exceptional nature of procedure in time of war it might be advisable to give review to that aspect of the situation at any rate," he said. "I shall undertake to see that consideration will be given to that possibility between now and the re-assembling of parliament."

At another stage Mr. King said the present session was unusual in that there had been a long debate on the speech from the throne and then another long debate of similar character on the manpower plebiscite bill.

"I hope we will not have another referendum for some time," he remarked.

Father Galvin Honored In Funeral Mass

GRAFTON, Aug. 4.—Funeral mass for the late Rev. Father P. J. Galvin of St. Mary's Catholic church, Grafton, was held in the church yesterday morning where the body of the late priest lay in state before the alar The funeral was attended by clergy from all over the district, by his congregation and by many of his acquaintances throughout the township.

The celebrant of the Mass was Rev. J. V. McCauley of Campbellford. Assisting at the Mass were Rev. V. G. McFadden of Downeyville, Deacon; Rev. J. J. Garvey, of Hastings, Sub-Deacon; Rev. Leo Rishea of Wooler, Master of Ceremonies; Rev. D. G. Maher, of Cobourg, Thurifeer; Rev. J. Walsh, of Peterborough and Rev. Capt. S. J. Coffey of Bowmanville. Visiting clergy were Rev. J. Meehan, of Peterborough; Mons. S. J. O'Sullivan, Peterborough; Rev. R. Cary, of Gananoque; Rev. J. Guiry, Port Hope; Rev. J. Ryan, C.S.B., Bursar-General of St. Basil's, Toronto; Rev. D. Forestal, C.S.B., St. Michaels College, Toronto, and Rev. S. Perdue, C.S.B., Holy Rosary church, Toronto.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. P. J. Kelly of St. Michael's church, Cobourg, who took as his text, 'Now this is Eternal Life; that they may know Thee, the one true God and Jesus Christ, whom Thou hast sent.'

During the course of his remarks, Dr Kelly referred to St. Paul's statement, 'We have the mind of Christ.' St. Paul not only had the mind of Christ, declared Dr. Kelly, but lived it. He then went on to compare the life of the late Father Galvin to those attributes of Chrisly mind and life.

Alaskan Island Reported Occupied By Japs

According to a report received by Anthony J. Dimond, Alaskan delegate to the U.S. Congress, but unconfirmed anywhere else, the Japanese have made landings on the Pribilof Islands — four tiny volcanic isles—off coast of Alaska. The islands are only 200 miles from the U.S. naval base at Dutch Harbor. ABOVE is a view of the radio station and settlement on St. Paul, one of the islands. Sealing is the main industry. Only U.S. agents and Aleutians are permitted to live here.

Heavy Wheat Crop In Rice Lake Area

GORE'S LANDING, Aug. 4. — (ENS). — Threshing has started along the south shore of Rice Lake and heavy crops of wheat are still being reported. On the farm of Fred Wilson, which is situated between the Cavan Road and Rice Lake Drive, a 10 acre field of wheat was cut during the week. Over 40 loads were hauled from his field. Mr. Wilson has a 13 acre field of oats which averages over 5 feet in height.

Near the Camborne district a field of wheat was cut recently which was so heavy it took 50 pounds of twine to tie the sheaves.

Enthusiastic Crowd Welcomes Reservists

PORT HOPE, August 4 (ENS) — It seemed almost every citizen of the town was at the station on Sunday night when the special train from the east drew in at 9.30 p.m. with "C" Company of the 2nd Midlands, returning from camp at the Connaught Ranges, Ottawa.

The Port Hope Citizens' Band, under the direction of Mr. Fred Brooks, played many musical selections as the train approached and then led the parade of the uniformed men to the Armouries, where another crowd was waiting to welcome the campers.

American Visitors

COBOURG, Aug. 4 (ENS) — The holiday week-end saw the heaviest traffic through Cobourg this year, although it by no means approached the volume of pre-gasoline-ration days. Bus drivers reported that they were unable to handle the crowds which jammed bus stations looking for transportation. Trains operating through Cobourg were also jammed with passengers, some trains running in several sections. The local car ferries also did a record business. On Sunday, 1,000 passengers from Rochester came over on car ferry Ontario No. 1. Car ferry Ontario No. 2, following her sister ship across the lake from Rochester with 450 passengers on Sunday afternoon. Monday morning 1,000 people boarded Ontario No. 2 for the Legion excursion to Port Dalhousie, some 500 being turned away due to the passenger accommodations being sold out. They came from towns and citis all over the district to Cobourg for the trip sponsored by the Legion.

Cullen's Rink Wins At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 4—(ENS) —Peterborough and Belleville rinks were winners at a mixed rinks tourney arranged by the Campbellford Bowling Club here on the Civic Holiday. Twenty-two rinks took part in the playing, and although the attendance was slightly below 1941, officials put it down to the tire and gas problem when nobody showed up from Kingston. However, they were disappointed by the fact there were no entries from four nearby clubs in this dictrict—Norwood, Brighton, Hastings and Warkworth.

J. D. Cullen of Peterborough skipped the top scoring rink which tallied a score of 41 plus 48. Mrs. Cullen and Mr. and Mrs. W. Hepburn of Peterborough were on the rink with him.

Second for 3 wins was the Belleville rink skipped by Doug. Row with Mrs. Row, Mrs. Baker and Col. Bonsteel. Thir score was 35 plus 40.

First for 2 wins—Jos. Poulton,

Sticking To The Point

The report made by the Radio Committee to the House of Commons has provoked a great deal if comment in the press, some of which is favorable to the report, and some sternly critical of it. The papers which we have seen, however, show a tendency to stray in their discussion from what appears to us to be the main point of the matter. The CBC was instituted to do a certain job; that job was to provide Canada with broadcasting higher in aim, and at least as good in performance, as the work of commercial stations. The question is: has it done so?

The answer appears to be: No, it has not. That is the main point of the matter and that is why parliament appointed a committee to investigate the matter. In their report there were criticisms of the General Manager, and a suggestion that some other appointment be found for him in the Corporation. Several papers have tried to interpret this as a personal attack on Major Murray, and have put forward his splendid academic and military record, and his previous broadcasting experience as evidence that he is satisfactory in his present position. The fact remains, however, that CBC broadcasting is not satisfactory, and although this may not be all Major Murray's fault he is the head of the Corporation and he must take his considerable share of the blame.

It is unlikely that Major Murray would find himself in his present disagreeable position if, when first he was appointed and during the succeeding six years he had had the advice and guidance of an able, intelligent, competent Board of Governors. It has been suggested that the Governors resign in a body at their next meeting, and this certainly seems a solution to the problem which they create. The Government would have no difficulty in persuading the two or three among them who are fitted for such a position to resume it when the Board is re-organized. It is also possible that Major Murray found his path cumbered with department heads and permanent officials who work on the assumption that Canadian broadcasting must necessarily be inferior to work in the U.S. The present disturbance provides a good chance to get rid of them or to put them in jobs which fit their talents.

• • •

The Canadian public as a whole does not care what happens within the CBC. A revision of its economics and a new General Manager will mean nothing to them unless Canadian broadcasting is better. After all, the Corporation belongs to the people and they have a right to demand something of which they may be proud; they can take little pride in the present ill-co-ordinated tangle of programs. If a new Manager, a new Board of Governors and some new officials are needed to raise the CBC to the point where it compares with American and Canadian commercial broadcasting, let us have them all and as speedily as possible. The CBC is the largest entertainment and propaganda instrument in this country which is publicly owned, and for some time it has been evading its responsibilities. We want some new men who will keep it to the point.

Digging Up The Past

The death was announced last week of a man who must be counted one of the great ones of his time; he was Sir Flinders Petrie, the world-famous archoeologist and historian. He died in Jerusalem at the great age of eighty-nine.

The great body of his work was done in Egypt, but he began his archaeological researches in England when he was only twenty-two, with an investigation into the purpose and age of the great ruin known as Stonehenge. It was in 1881 that he first went to Egypt, and began work on the great pyramids at Ghizeh and Tanis. Later he discovered the lost city of Naucratis and two other ancient Egyptian towns. He wrote many books and specialized studies; his publications numbered nearly a hundred in all. In 1923 he was knighted, and for thirty years was Professor of Egyptology at the University of London; he resigned his professorial chair in 1933 but he continued work in Egypt almost until his death.

His life was a combination of scholarship and romance. In his later years he was like one of the bearded, venerable, immensely learned professor of an H. G. Wells romance. There is no question that he knew more about ancient Egypt than any man of his time, and his immense knowledge, combined with that intuition without which no archaeologist can go far, led him to astonishing discoveries.

Let no one imagine that his work was a mere toilsome delving into the past. Egypt was mistress of one of the greatest civilizations which this earth has seen, and by enlarging and revising our conception of that civilization Petrie did us a great service. Despite the seemingly overwhelming evidence to the contrary, man does learn by experience, and an examination of the strength and weakness of past civilizations gives us valuable hints for our own. Certainly even the most cursory examination of Petrie's books on Egypt will humble the rash man who thinks of himself and his century as the goal toward which all evolution has been struggling. There is little of what we know about Egypt which does not bear the mark of this devoted and imaginative scholar. During 60 years when the world wallowed in its own folly he worked tirelessly for the better instruction of mankind.

Quiet, Please

The city of Toronto is looking into the matter of unnecessary noise, which has been causing dissatisfaction in that city. People honk motor horns, birds sing, garbage cans rumble and a mild form of pandemonium reigns. War workers who have done their duty on the night shift are complaining, as they appear for a 4 p.m. breakfast, that they have been unable to sleep a wink all day. Officials mean to do something about it.

It might not be a bad idea if moves toward the restriction of unnecessary noise were made everywhere in the Province. We all waste a great deal of energy every day in trying to concentrate on our work while our senses are distracted by noises which might well be silenced. No one wants a silent world, but there is a vast gulf between oppressive silence and the din of a modern city.

Shortly before the war the city of London took steps to control noise which were sensible and effective. Motor horns were forbidden except those which gave a mellow hoot; roaring klaxons were outlawed and, as everyone used the same sort of horn, there was no trouble. It was forbidden to use a horn at all after eleven at night except in case of emergency, and this not only made for silence, but for careful and safe driving. At the same time steps were taken against noisy vehicles, horn-honking wedding parties and similar nuisances.

At present, when in most neighborhoods there are war workers sleeping at all times of day, it is inconsiderate to make unnecessary noise. The birds, we fear, are incorrigible, but humanity has an opportunity to demonstrate its superiority to the feathered world.

Yamashita In Manchukuo

Trustworthy information from China says that the Japanese commander, Lieut.-General Tomoyuki Yamashita, who led the victorious Japanese troops at Malaya and Singapore, has arrived in Manchukuo with a large body of troops and has taken a position not far from the Siberian border. Doubtless the Japanese attack in that region is not far away. The Japanese forces are estimated to be about 400,000 men.

We may be unwise to assume that a Japanese attack at Russia's rear is part of a gigantic Axis scheme to destroy our ally. Of course such an attack would please the Germans, but it is doubtful if it would give them any military advantage. Rather it is an attempt on the part of Japan to protect herself by seizing that part of Russia which lies nearest to herself in order that it may not provide convenient bases for Allied ships and planes which would be used to attack here.

Japan appears more and more to be playing a lone game in this war. Her ambitions are as inflated as are those of Germany, and she is not anxious to see a great Western power arise to replace the British and American power which she seeks to destroy. She will not make her attack on Russia merely to pull chestnuts out of the fire for Germany.

"Sir—" Said Doctor Johnston

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

THERE are men who become creatures of legend during their own lives; Voltaire was such an one, and Bernard Shaw provides a modern example. But of all the legends in English letters, none compares with that which grew up about the figure of Doctor Samuel Johnson. Not that Johnson did anything to encourage it; he was a modest man in his own curious way and cared little for notoriety. He was not indifferent to fame, but fame is a very different thing from notoriety; he was sure that fame would attend his memory because of his immense services to English literature, but for the notoriety which attended his daily life he cared little. Ungrateful though it may be to say so, it is rather a pity that Boswell wrote such a fine Life of Johnson, for that work has exalted Johnson the Personality above Johnson the Scholar. It is one of the most entertaining books in our language, for all that.

These reflections are provoked by news from England that new information about the great Doctor has become available with the publication of a notebook kept by Johnson's friend, Mrs. Thrale. The writer has not seen the book, for it has not yet reached this country, but the reviews published of it in British papers indicate that it is a work of unusual interest. Hester Lynch Thrale was a vivacious Welshwoman who was married—not too happily—to the son of a wealthy brewer. She made her home a rendezvous for the wits and scholars of her time, but Johnson was her particular favorite. In 1774 she wrote that he "is more a hero to me than any-one—and I have been more to him for intimacy than any man's valet de chambre." Let no one assume from that remark that there was a romantic attachment between the two. Whatever the movies and the best sellers may say to convince us to the contrary, there are relationships between a man and a woman which bind infinitely closer than love. One of these is the sharing of a dreadful secret.

IN HER "Anecdotes of the Late Samuel Johnson" Hester Thrale hints lightly at this mutual secret. She wrote, "Our stern Philosopher Johnson trusted me about the year 1767 or 1768 — know not which just now—with a secret far dearer to him than his life." What this secret was has been a subject for speculation ever since. Johnson, for all his great learning, had some very odd ideas; he could not bear loneliness, for instance, and he made no secret of his morbid fear of death. Great scholars usually court solitude at some seasons, and are able to steel themselves against an occurrence which is, after all, the common lot of man. Not so the great Doctor; he hated his own company. Why?

The publication of Mrs. Thrale's notebook does much to answer the question. Apparently the poor man lived in fear that he might go mad. Modern psychiatry is of the opinion that people who fear madness are comparatively safe from it; most mentally unstable people are obstreporously certain of their own sanity and doubtful of that of the rest of mankind. But in the eighteenth century little was known about madness, and it was regarded with horror. Treatment for it was remarkably crude; it was thought that flogging a madman was good for his ailment; George III was flogged regularly in order to relieve his delusions. It is possible that Mrs. Thrale secretly flogged Johnson at his request. The picture which this calls up is a pitiful one, and we may understand why the pair guarded their secret so closely.

FORTUNATELY when we think of Johnson this melancholy side of his character is kept in the background, and we recollect his wit with pleasure. For the old bear was a wit of the first order; it was no matter that he delivered his wisecracks with a scowl—they were as good and perhaps better than if he had spoken them with a laugh. It was his custom to preface many of his remarks with "Sir—," and a pause; those were the days when one preceded a remark to one's equals with that form of address, and put it at the end of the sentence when speaking to a superior. "Sir, I see you are a vile Whig," said the Doctor to Sir Adam Fergusson, and of his failure as a Parliamentary reporter he said merely "I took care that the Whig dogs should not have the best of it." "I do not much like to see a Whig in any dress, but I hate to see a Whig in a Parson's gown," said he. The Doctor hated Whigs almost as much as he hated Scotsmen.

His mordant wit even infects his great Dictionary. Oats he defined as "A grain which in England is generally given to horses, but in Scotland supports the people." And Pension he defines thus: "An allowance made to anyone without an equivalent. In England it is generally understood to mean pay given to a state hireling for treason to his country." Whig, of course, he dismissed as "the name of a faction." A great man and a notable wit, Johnson, and he is chiefly known for his crushing retorts and his dreadful table manners. But he is known to many as a great scholar as well, and it is upon this secure base that his more popular fame rests.

Unconsidered Trifles

Somebody has invented a game of bridge played without partners. This will take a lot of kick out of the pastime.

In a certain village there is a cottage with a door which must be raised a little to be opened, and for this purpose a hatchet is used. One night a knock came at the door and a youngster was sent to see who was there.

"Who is it?" inquired the boy.

"It's me," said the voice outside.

The youngster, recognizing the voice, shouted back, "It's Mrs. Murphy; get the hatchet."

Mrs. Murphy didn't wait.

A bishop had just been appointed to his diocese when he received a telegram of congratulations from the Mother Superior of a convent nearby.

The Sisters wished to present him with a motor, he read, and, if he would call, they would have a selection from which he could make a choice.

The Bishop-designate set out for the convent, visualizing a long string of desirable cars drawn up outside the gates.

Shortly after his departure another message arrived stating: "Telegraphic mistake—'mitre,' not 'motor'."

LIFE'S DARKEST MOMENT

Right Flank of Reds Holds Firm

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press War Analyst

MOSCOW'S claims that Russian lines below Voronezh and around the great Don bend to the rim of the vast salt marshes in the North-eastern Caucasus are holding well seem confirmed even by Nazi war bulletins; but Berlin reports another advance southwest of Salsk. It says a German "tank army" has pushed below Belaya Glinta to "approach the upper course of the Kuban River."

If that is true, a Nazi spearhead is within forty miles or so of the great bend of the Kuban where it turns west to empty into the Sea of Azov via the lakes of Taman Peninsula. The Kuban furnishes Russian defenders of the Caucasus with a strong 200-mile front eastward from the sea to the Kuban bend and covering all approaches to the Maikop oil fields. The obvious Nazi attempt in driving southwestward from the Salsk area via Belaya Glinta is to turn the Kuban line from the east before Red forces can reach it for a stand.

IMPORTANT OBJECTIVE

Berlin's mention of the upper course of the Kuban as an important objective leaves little doubt that the river plays a big part in Russian strategy. Moscow now reports that Cossacks of the Kuban as well as of the Don tribes are being thrown into action. They are the shock troops of the Red Army of the Caucasus, reserved until now. The implication is that Marshal Timoshenko is preparing to make a stand on his left flank above or upon the Kuban, as his centre has braced from Salsk northeastward to the Don bend and his right along the Don to Voronezh.

The immediate danger point, however, is on the left-centre sector of his indicated line. The weak spot is east of the bend of the Kuban at Temijbekskya. There is a fifty-mile span of open steppe country there, suitable for mechanized operations, down which the Germans are driving in evident hope of turning the probable Russian front along the Kuban.

The Kuban River is an ultimate defense front not only because it covers the Maikop oil field, the only Caucasus oil source as yet in jeopardy; but because it also offers protection from a Nazi flanking move from the Crimea across narrow Kerch Strait. It links up with the lake system on Taman Peninsula, east of the strait. North of it along the Azov sea coast of the Caucasus lie a bewildering maze of small inlets and islands, all but uninhabited, that appear to render that Russian flank impregnable to tank attack from the north.

PITCHED BATTLE IN PROSPECT

Even should the Nazi thrust from Belaya Glinta reach the north or east bank of the Kuban in the vicinity of the bend, the river has strong defensive possibilities. Its defenders, facing north-eastward below the bend and northward above it, would confront the foe with difficult barriers well served with roads and backed by the Caucasus foothills.

Southward, the terrain on the right bank, toward which the Germans are pressing, grows increasingly difficult. South of the Krasnodar-Stavropol railroad after it leaves the Kuban at Temijbekskya to swing on a wide southeasternly circle through the steppes a confusion of small streams tributary to the Kuban drains the right bank.

The steppes give way to more rugged land dotted with commanding heights of 500 to 1,000 foot altitude east and south of the Kuban bend. The most open country is west of the Kuban, within the bend. That also is the route of the Rostov-Kaku rail and pipelines after they cross the Kuban west of Temijbekskya.
